Benson Says Ike Undecided On Farm Bill

Report President To Give Decision Early Next Week

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today called the politically explosive farm measure "a bad bill" but said President Eisenhower still was undecided whether to sign or veto it.

The White House said, meanwhile, the President will announce a decision regarding the bill early next week, possibly Monday.

At a news conference after a long meeting with Eisenhower, Benson said he felt the President "is nearing his decision," but added:

"I am quite sure it has not been made in his own mind yet. It is a very difficult decision to make."

Earlier this week the President said he did not think the bill measured up to the standards of good legislation. But he had said still earlier that he would not insist on perfection if he could get farm legislation he considered generally good.

A reporter asked Benson: "With all the administration objections to this bill, do you really think there is a serious chance that the President might sign it?"

Benson smiled and replied: "I think there is always a serious chance until the President makes up his mind and makes his decision."

Eisenhower will end a week's working vacation here tomorrow afternoon and fly back to Washington. He plans to confer with Benson at the White House Monday morning. The chief executive's decision on the farm bill could be announced after that.

Benson said Eisenhower probably will accompany his decision with a public statement, but the secretary said there had been no decision yet on whether the President will make a television-radio address to explain whatever action he takes.

In reply to a question, Benson said he still regards the contro-

Kremlin Leaders Leave Moscow For Visit In Britain

The Russian leaders waved farewell to delegations of Soviet and western diplomatic officials at the Belorussian station and entrained for the Baltic port of Kalingrad where they will board the speedy Soviet naval cruiser Orjonikidze. The cruiser will sail Sunday and is scheduled to arrive at Portsmouth, Eng., next Wednesday.

The railroad station was bedecked with flags for the departure of the two traveling salesmen of the new Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich and Deputy Premier Georgi Malenkov were among those at the station to say farewell to the goateed premier and the portly party chief.

The Russian leaders are following in the trail-blazing footsteps of Malenkov, who made a hit with the British on his recent tour of electric power establishments in Britain.

Bulganin and Khrushchev, however, are faced with the chore of braving a barrage of British criticism over their 10-day tour. They themselves had complained that their schedule would prevent them from coming in contact with the British man in the street.

But their departure heralded a "We Like Britain" campaign by the Soviet press, radio and television.

All communications media poured forth lavish descriptions of British culture, and the government has been featuring British films and exhibits of British art.

Airliner Bombing

Trial Of Graham For Mass Murder Opens Tomorrow

DENVER, April 14—UP— John Gilbert Graham, 24, goes on trial in a state court Monday on charges of perpetrating the biggest mass murder in the history of the air age.

The slender, dark-haired, boyish looking defendant will appear in the court of District Judge Joseph M. McDonald at 10:30 a.m. CST on the specific accusation of causing the death of his own mother for her insurance in an airliner dynamite bombing that killed her and 43 other persons last Nov. 1.

The trial, which may last for weeks, is expected to be one of the biggest in Colorado history.

A panel of 600 prospective jurors, one of the largest ever called for a trial in Denver, has been summoned for the jury selection, a process which in itself may consume days.

The prosecution, which will be directed by District Attorney Bert Keating, has endorsed nearly 200 witnesses for the state. The defense, which will be conducted by three court - appointed attorneys, has indicated it will call only one, Graham's half-sister. However unlike the state, it need not reveal at the outset how many or what witnesses it will ask to testify.

Keating, 52, will be trying the Local Woman To Compete For 'Mrs. Louisiana' Title Here Next Friday

Mrs. Emmett L. Mitchell, 1200 Auburn, was advised by wire yesterday by the American Gas Association, New York, that she is the Monroe winner in the national "Mrs. America" contest, and will compete in the state finals, which will be held in Monroe next Friday.

Mrs. Mitchell, who entered the local competition with a number of other Monroe homemakers, was selected on the basis of her versatility and skill in various homemaking duties such as meal planning, cooking, sewing, housekeeping, her personal poise, personality and neatness.

Should Mrs. Mitchell win in the statewide contest she will represent Louisiana at the national finals to name "Mrs. America", which will be held in May at Ellinor Village, Daytona Beach, Florida.

The "cook-off" part of the state finals will start promptly at 8:30 Friday morning at the United Gas Service center on Louisville Avenue and the winner of the "Mrs. Louisiana" title will be named that evening and crowned by Mayor John E. Coon.

Junior College Student Held For $35,000 Robbery

JACKSON, Miss., April 14 (AP)—Federal bank robbery charges filed today against a 19-year-old Hinds County Junior College sophomore for the $35,000 armed robbery of the Bank of Flora.

Det. Chief M. B. Pierce identified him as Charles Anthony Jones of Jackson and said the youth admitted his part in this morning's robbery. Dets. R. T. Foster and W. T. Chapman, who arrested Jones at his home, said they found $3,950 in his trousers.

Two unidentified youths remained the object of a 75-man hunt that began shortly after the trio held up the bank 30 miles northwest of here and fled south.

The FBI entered the case because the bank is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC).

Officers said the masked bandits waited more than three hours in the unlighted bank until President F. D. Simpson Sr. arrived shortly after 8 a.m.

After binding and gagging Simpson and two employes, the bandits fled through the rear door but dropped two of their three shotguns and $3,500 in $1 bills.

Fingerprints lifted from the gunstocks indicated at least one man was an ex-convict, police said.

Police said they believed the men were from Jackson. Patrol-

State Revenues Second Highest Per Capita In U. S.

BATON ROUGE, April 14 (AP)—An independent research group said today Louisiana revenues were the second highest in the nation for the 1955 fiscal year on a per capita basis.

The Public Affairs Research Council said state spending was fifth in the nation on the same basis.

State revenues were $187.12 per person in 1955, compared to a national average of $101, PAR said. Revenues from mineral lease bonuses helped boost the total. Taxes paid were $105.31 per capita—fourth highest in the nation.

Total state revenues for 1955 were $539,300,000, increasing at a greater rate over the previous year than any other state, with mineral lease bonuses the main cause, PAR said. Only seven states in the nation had more income than Louisiana.

State spending was $164.97 per capita in fiscal 1955. The national average was $107.13.

State expenditures for the year were $475,500,000, eighth in the nation. PAR noted that Louisiana assumed many responsibilities handled on the local level in other states.

PAR said Louisiana's per capita debt, $79.58 as of June 30, 1955, ranked 15th among the states. Total outstanding state debt was $229,400,000, 16th highest total in the nation.

Candidates Of 2 Parties In Ward 10 Race

Three Police Jury Posts At Stake In Crucial Contest

The two-party system enters the Ouachita parish scene Tuesday, when three Republican candidates challenge three Democratic nominees for Ward 10 police jury posts in the general election.

Minority party candidates in the Ward 10 races are Robert H. Easterling, Clark C. Boardman and Emory C. Dansby. They are opposing Democrats L. U. Fourmy, Irvin W. Kilpatrick and A. E. Montgomery.

The candidates in their campaigns have created much interest among Ward 10 voters, who will choose three jurors.

Voters of Ward 10 may choose any three, possibly crossing party lines to elect one, two or all three Republicans on the ballot.

On the state level, voters Tuesday will elect a lieutenant governor, choosing between Democratic nominee Lether Frazar and Republican candidate Harry R. Hill.

Six Constitutional amendments will appear before state voters Tuesday, also. The amendments and their purposes are:

1—Provide for a two-thirds vote of the legislature required to levy new taxes or increase existing taxes.

2—International House and International Trade Mart in New Orleans would be exempt from paying a property tax as a non-profit institution promoting trade, travel, and commerce.

3—Tax authority for the Orleans Levee board would be reduced from five mills to three mills, except where service of bonds issued in earlier years would require more three mills.

4—Revenues from royalties, rentals and bonuses up to $15 million a year would be dedicated to highway construction.

5—The Monroe city school board

Legislative Fight Looms Over Laws On State Runoffs

BATON ROUGE, April 14 (AP)—Two Louisiana legislators, contrary to Gov. designate Earl K. Long's wishes, said today they will ask the 1956 session to require runoffs for lesser state officers no matter what happens in the race for governor.

Reps. J. Marshall Brown of New Orleans and Robert Munson of Cheneyville will sponsor the runoff bill.

Long, on March 23, said in Winnfield he wants the Legislature to make clear runoffs will not be necessary for such offices in the event a candidate for governor wins in the first primary.

It all started, of course, when the Democratic State Central Committee, under Long's direction, interpreted the existing law to mean a second primary is not required for lesser state officers when the governor wins in the first primary.

As a result, the committee named Long's candidate, Jack P. F. Gremillion and Sidney McCrory, Democratic nominees for attorney general and agriculture

Additional Six Million Expected To File Income Tax Returns By Deadline

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—With the income tax deadline only two days away, the Internal Revenue Service today estimated that between six and seven million individual taxpayers still must file their 1955 returns.

The service expects that around 3½ billion dollars more will pour into the government coffers before Monday midnight.

There were no exact figures today on how many returns or how much money has been received to date at the 64 district offices where the mail is increasingly heavy with late filings. However, one official estimated that perhaps 10 per cent of the approximately 60 to 65 million individual taxpayers have not yet filed.

Although the official deadline is midnight of April 15, taxpayers are getting an extra day of grace this year. Because April 15 falls on Sunday they will get an extension until midnight Monday April 16.

The penalty for late filing is 5

Neville Student Named President Of State Scouts

NEW ORLEANS, April 14 (Special)—Nancy Starr Breard, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Breard, 801 Auburn avenue, Monroe, was elected here today as the new Girl Scout president of Louisiana.

Delegates from over the state arrived Friday to begin the sessions, the last of which will close Sunday afternoon.

Miss Breard is a member of the Senior Girl Scout Troop of the Silver Waters Council formerly known as the Ouachita parish council. Her troop leader is Mrs. Robert H. Easterling.

The new state president has been connected with Girl Scout work for about 10 years, beginning as a Brownie Scout in 1946.

Frazar Only Candidate To Have Opponent

Republican Seeks To Capture Post Of Lt. Governor

BATON ROUGE, April 14 (AP)—Louisiana elects a governor Tuesday, but most voters are more interested in the next governor's fight to beat a constitutional amendment that would make tax raises tougher to pass.

Gov.-designate Earl K. Long, unopposed in the general election, is stumping the state in opposition to a proposed amendment, passed by the 1955 Legislature, that would require two-thirds approval of the Legislature for new taxes or tax increases.

Long contends the proposal would mean "'the curtailment of our state's educational system and the ham-stringing of municipalities, police juries and all public bodies in our state."

Long stirred opposition from all three New Orleans newspapers and even some of his own supporters when he opposed an amendment which would trim the Orleans Levee Board tax from five to three mills.

"I'm against anyone telling New Orleans how the levee board ought to be run," he says, adding he thinks the subject should be covered in a strictly local election, not on a statewide basis.

Four other amendments are up for voter consideration, including two key proposals in the long range highway program approved by the 1955 Legislature.

Neither has campaigned actively. Frazar joined other Long leaders in stumping the state against the tax amendment.

In addition to Long and Frazar, other Democratic nominees include:

Education Supt. Shelby Jackson, nominated for a third term.

William D. Dodd, state auditor.

NATCHITOCHES, La., April 14 —UP—Funeral services were to be held today for Emmett J. McCart, commercial fisherman, who drowned after his car plunged into Flat River near Powhatan Thursday.

McCart narrowly escaped death two weeks ago when three Negroes drowned in the Red River near Powhatan. He was with the victims on a fishing expedition when their boat overturned.

ALGIERS, April 14 —UP— Bitter hand-to-hand fighting between French forces and "Army of Allah" rebels raged Saturday in the mountains of western Algeria.

French army headquarters reported the rebels have suffered "high losses" and that the battle is continuing.

At least 70 guerrillas were killed in sporadic clashes Friday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14 —UP— The prosecution, just two days before the opening of the murder trial of David Fred Hagler, said Saturday it will not ask for the death penalty.

Owen Watts, assistant attorney general, said the state's decision was based on the fact that the evidence against Hagler is "mainly circumstantial."

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— Rep. James T. Patterson (R-Conn.) said Saturday the forthcoming H-bomb test in the Pacific will be "the most devastating explosion ever known to mankind."

Six Amendments Up For Vote Tuesday; Provisions Of Each Analyzed By Par

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following discussion and explanation of the six proposed constitutional amendment was prepared by the Public Affairs Research Council. The Morning World publishes the report so that voters may familiarize themselves with the amendments before they are voted upon next Tuesday. The Morning World has endorsed all six amendments.)

AMENDMENT NO. 1 -- Would provide for a two-thirds vote of the elected members of each house of the Legislature to levy new taxes or increase existing taxes. (Act 140 amending Article X by adding Section 1a).

Looking at the proposal's background, it is found to be similar to one that failed to pass in the 1950 legislature.

Among measurers now requiring a two-thirds vote of elected members of each house of the legislature are those to propose constitutional amendments (many of which are for the purpose of issuing bonds), remove public officials from office (except the Governor), override the governor's veto of a bill, and establish educational or charitable institutions.

All other measures to become law require a majority vote of the members elected to each house. Twenty-eight other states have a similar requirement, with most of the other 19 requiring only a majority present, or present and voting.

Practically all states treat revenue bills as ordinary legislation with regard to the size of vote required for passage; however, the constitutions of Mississippi and Arkansas include restrictions on tax measures. In Mississippi three-fifths of the members present and voting must give their approval to a revenue bill, or any bill providing for assessments of property for taxation, before it can become a law. This could quite easily be less than a majority of elected members, since a quorum consists of a majority of each house. The Arkansas constitution provides that tax rates cannot be increased by the legislature until approval is given by a vote of the people. In case of an emergency, a measure may be passed by three-fourths of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

The intent of this proposal is to curb tax increases or the levying of new taxes. Based on present

Report President To Give Decision Early Next Week

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today called the politically explosive farm measure "a bad bill" but said President Eisenhower still was undecided whether to sign or veto it.

The White House said, meanwhile, the President will announce a decision regarding the bill early next week, possibly Monday.

At a news conference after a long meeting with Eisenhower, Benson said he felt the President "is nearing his decision," but added:

Benson smiled and replied: "I think there is always a serious chance until the President makes up his mind and makes his decision."

Eisenhower will end a week's working vacation here tomorrow afternoon and fly back to Washington. He plans to confer with Benson at the White House Monday morning. The chief executive's decision on the farm bill could be announced after that.

Benson said Eisenhower probably will accompany his decision with a public statement, but the secretary said there had been no decision yet on whether the President will make a television-radio address to explain whatever action he takes.

In reply to a question, Benson said he still regards the contro-

CLIMBERS REACH SNOWBOUND HORSE—Elijah, a horse snowbound on a lonely 12,800-foot ridge in the Rocky Mountains near Buena Vista, Colo., since February, finally has company. A party of five men organized by the Denver Post fought through 60-foot snowdrifts in climbing the mountain and reached the marooned steed Thursday. Aviators first saw Elijah in February and have been dropping feed to him regularly since. (AP Wirephoto)

Additional Six Million Expected To File Income Tax Returns By Deadline

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—With the income tax deadline only two days away, the Internal Revenue Service today estimated that between six and seven million individual taxpayers still must file their 1955 returns.

The service expects that around 3½ billion dollars more will pour into the government coffers before Monday midnight.

There were no exact figures today on how many returns or how much money has been received to date at the 64 district offices where the mail is increasingly heavy with late filings. However, one official estimated that perhaps 10 per cent of the approximately 60 to 65 million individual taxpayers have not yet filed.

Although the official deadline is midnight of April 15, taxpayers are getting an extra day of grace this year. Because April 15 falls on Sunday they will get an extension until midnight Monday April 16.

The penalty for late filing is 5

Neville Student Named President Of State Scouts

NEW ORLEANS, April 14 (Special)—Nancy Starr Breard, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Breard, 801 Auburn avenue, Monroe, was elected here today as the new Girl Scout president of Louisiana.

Delegates from over the state arrived Friday to begin the sessions, the last of which will close Sunday afternoon.

Miss Breard is a member of the Senior Girl Scout Troop of the Silver Waters Council formerly known as the Ouachita parish council. Her troop leader is Mrs. Robert H. Easterling.

The new state president has been connected with Girl Scout work for about 10 years, beginning as a Brownie Scout in 1946.

Frazar Only Candidate To Have Opponent

BATON ROUGE, April 14 (AP)—Louisiana elects a governor Tuesday, but most voters are more interested in the next governor's fight to beat a constitutional amendment that would make tax raises tougher to pass.

Gov.-designate Earl K. Long, unopposed in the general election, is stumping the state in opposition to a proposed amendment, passed by the 1955 Legislature, that would require two-thirds approval of the Legislature for new taxes or tax increases.

Long contends the proposal would mean "the curtailment of our state's educational system and the ham-stringing of municipalities, police juries and all public bodies in our state."

Long stirred opposition from all three New Orleans newspapers and even some of his own supporters when he opposed an amendment which would trim the Orleans Levee Board tax from five to three mills.

"I'm against anyone telling New Orleans how the levee board ought to be run," he says, adding he thinks the subject should be covered in a strictly local election, not on a statewide basis.

Four other amendments are up for voter consideration, including two key proposals in the long range highway program approved by the 1955 Legislature.

Neither has campaigned actively. Frazar joined other Long leaders in stumping the state against the tax amendment.

In addition to Long and Frazar, other Democratic nominees include:

Education Supt. Shelby Jackson, nominated for a third term.

William D. Dodd, state auditor.

Miscellany In The News

NATCHITOCHES, La., April 14 —UP—Funeral services were to be held today for Emmett J. McCart, commercial fisherman, who drowned after his car plunged into Flat River near Powhatan Thursday.

McCart narrowly escaped death two weeks ago when three Negroes drowned in the Red River near Powhatan. He was with the victims on a fishing expedition when their boat overturned.

ALGIERS, April 14 —UP— Bitter hand-to-hand fighting between French forces and "Army of Allah" rebels raged Saturday in the mountains of western Algeria.

French army headquarters reported the rebels have suffered "high losses" and that the battle is continuing.

At least 70 guerrillas were killed in sporadic clashes Friday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14 —UP— The prosecution, just two days before the opening of the murder trial of David Fred Hagler, said Saturday it will not ask for the death penalty.

Owen Watts, assistant attorney general, said the state's decision was based on the fact that the evidence against Hagler is "mainly circumstantial."

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— Rep. James T. Patterson (R-Conn.) said Saturday the forthcoming H-bomb test in the Pacific will be "the most devastating explosion ever known to mankind."

Six Amendments Up For Vote Tuesday; Provisions Of Each Analyzed By Par

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following discussion and explanation of the six proposed constitutional amendment was prepared by the Public Affairs Research Council. The Morning World publishes the report so that voters may familiarize themselves with the amendments before they are voted upon next Tuesday. The Morning World has endorsed all six amendments.)

AMENDMENT NO. 1 — Would provide for a two-thirds vote of the elected members of each house of the Legislature to levy new taxes or increase existing taxes. (Act 140 amending Article X by adding Section 1a).

Looking at the proposal's background, it is found to be similar to one that failed to pass in the 1950 legislature.

Among measurers now requiring a two-thirds vote of elected members of each house of the legislature are those to propose constitutional amendments (many of which are for the purpose of issuing bonds), remove public officials from office (except the Governor), override the governor's veto of a bill, and establish educational or charitable institutions.

All other measures to become law require a majority vote of the members elected to each house. Twenty-eight other states have a similar requirement, with most of the other 19 requiring only a majority present, or present and voting.

Practically all states treat revenue bills as ordinary legislation with regard to the size of vote required for passage; however, the constitutions of Mississippi and Arkansas include restrictions on tax measures. In Mississippi three-fifths of the members present and voting must give their approval to a revenue bill, or any bill providing for assessments of property for taxation, before it can become a law. This could quite easily be less than a majority of elected members, since a quorum consists of a majority of each house. The Arkansas constitution provides that tax rates cannot be increased by the legislature until approval is given by a vote of the people. In case of an emergency, a measure may be passed by three-fourths of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

The intent of this proposal is to curb tax increases or the levying of new taxes. Based on present

Six Amendments

membership in the legislature , approval would require the votes of 68 representatives and 26 senators. At the present time, tax measures imposed by the legislature require a simple majority of the elected members — 51 in the house and 20 in the senate.

Supporters of the amendment contend that its adoption would result in more careful consideration of tax measures. It is felt that such a restriction would lead the legislature to a more careful appraisal of executive programs requiring new or increases taxes. Opponents of tax increases would be encouraged in their stand since fewer votes would be required for successful opposition. Because of their very nature, tax measures are regarded as a special type of legislation and should require a greater degree of unanimity than a mere majority. However, in most cases, revenue measures enacted since 1940 received a two-thirds or more vote. The war emergency sales tax passed in 1942 is cited as a tax measure which received only 51 affirmative votes in the House.

The opposition points out that the proposal is a negative approach to more responsible legislative action regarding state fiscal operations. The objective could be achieved by having closer legislative review of executive programs and budgets, by requiring more comprehensive budgeting and reporting by government agencies, and by reducing dedicated funds. Furthermore, new tax measures could be blocked by just over one-third of the elected members of either house — 34 representatives or 14 senators. The opposition further contends that the governor would be subjected to increased bargaining pressure in order to obtain a favorable vote on tax measures.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 — To extend the exemption of property of non-profit corporations devoted to the promotion of trade, travel and ommerce from property taxation. (Act 139, amending Article X, Section 4, by adding Subsection 18).

A background note on this proposal points out that at the present time the constitution provides exemtpions from taxation for public property and for property of religious, charitable and educational organizations. Exemptions for a specific number of years are given other properties, such as natural gas facilities, bridges, new manufacturing establishments, electric cooperatives, and others. This amendment would add organizations such as International House and the International Trade Mart in New Orleans to those exempt from state and city properyt axation.

International House and the Trade Mart were founded in the mid-1940's as non-profit corporations to promote and faciclitate world trade.

Plans are underway for the construction of a new building to house the two organizations and their facilities at a probable cost of four or five million dollars. Preliminary inquires made last year by officers of the corporations indicated that it would be impossible to finance the proposed plans without tax exemption, since the special purpose building contemplated would not be as attractive to lenders as an ordinary commercial office building.

The amendment is framed in general terms, but is applicable to International House and the International Trade Mart in New Orleans and to other groups which may be formed with similar organization, purposes, and investment. The descriptive language used in the amendment is taken from the charters of the two organizations. The property must be owned by non-profit corporations which are organized under the laws of the state of Louisiana and which have assets devoted to such purposes of at least $250,000.

AMENDMENT NO. 3—A proposal to place a maximum ad volorem levy of three mills for the year 1956 and thereafter by the Orleans Levee Board is advanced by this amendment (Act 38, amending Article XVI, Section 2.)

The background on this proposal shows that in November, 1954, a constitutional amendment was approved by the voters which would have reduced taxes authorized for the Orleans Levee Board from 5 to 3.5 mills for the years 1955 through 1959 and 2 mills thereafter. Subsequently, the amendment was challenged in the courts. On the basis of the wording of the levee board amendment, the Louisiana Supreme Court ruled that the 1954 amendment grants the levee board 3.5 mills taxing authority for levee construction, maintenance, drainage and related purposes, but does not remove the board's authority to continue the levy of previously authorized taxes which have been used in part for bond redemption. Such limitation, the court held, would diminish the value of contracts previously made with bond holders. This decision was upheld by the United States Supreme Court by its refusal to review.

At the time that the 1954 amendment was approved, the Orleans Parish School Board was authorized to levy an additional 1.5 mills for the years 1955 through 1959 and 3 mills thereafter, thus absorbing the millage that was to be released by the levee board.

The Orleans Levee District has been relieved of much of its primary responsibility for levee construction and maintenance. Other functions of the district are lakefront reclamation and land development and operation of the New Orleans Airport. The tax rate for 1955 was 4.75 mills.

This proposal is the result of a compromise reached at the 1955 fiscal session of the legislature. It is an attempt to reduce the taxes imposed by the Orleans Levee Board in line with the intent of the 1954 amendment which was approved. To service bonds outstanding on May 1, 1955, the board would be permitted to levy up to 5 mills. Based on present assessments and retirement schedules, not more than 2 mills should be required for this purpose. An additional levy is authorized for current operations and for servicing debt incurred after May 1, 1955, but the total for all purposes is not to exceed 3 mills.

The board is given specific authority to refund its present debt and its obligations to the Port of New Orleans.

AMENDMENT NO. 4 — Would dedicate $5 million to highways from royalty and leasing revenues (Act 42, amending Article IV by adding Section 2c).

A look at the background reveals that, at the 1955 regular session of the legislature, a comprehensive long-range highway program was adopted, of which this amendment is a part. This program is a result of a study of Safety Foundation and a study of highway needs by the Automotive Safety Foundation and a stud yof highway financed by the Division of Research, College of Commerce, Louisiana State University. The legislation was drafted by a Joint Highway Committee, created by concurrent resolution at the January, 1955 special legislative session to study the reports and to make recommendations to the legislature.

This amendment would dedicate to the highway program $2.5 million from royalties and $2.5 million from bonuses and rentals derived from leasing state owned lands and water bottoms. These funds would be paid into the highway fund after complying with dedication of such revenues already made and after deductions of any appropriations made for payment of expenses of the State Mineral Board. At present, 10 per cent of royalties received from state-owned lands is credited to the parishes in which production occurred, to be used for roads and related purposes.

Approximately $250,000 plus interest is required to service the institutions bonds, which have a prior claim on royalties.

This amendment should be considered in conjunction with Amendment No. 6 since both are designed to emplement the long-range highway program.

The proposal would provide for further dedicating of state revenues and thereby lessen legislative review and control of state fiscal matters. Louisiana ranked second among the states in dedication of state taxes during fiscal 1954, having dedicated 84.6 per cent of its tax revenues for particular purposes. No cut-off date is given for this dedication to the highway program.

Supporters of such a dedication of funds maintain that the highway department would be assured of definite revenues and would be able to make long-range plans. This planning would be expected to result in overall savings.

Such a dedication of funds may affect the financing of other state programs. A reduction of revenue going into the general fund by $15 million may cause a curtailment of some of the activities supported by this fund. However, appropriations for highways from the state general fund averaged more than $15 million a year during the past seven years. (During the same period occasional dedication of funds other than gasoline tax s produced a total of $31.2 million for highways.)

During fiscal 1955, $18.5 million from royalties and $98.4 million from rentals and houses went into the general fund. This amendment would dedicate $12.5 million of the former and $2.5 million of the latter amount to the general highway fund. By taking five-of the total appropriation from royalties, a much more stable income is assured, since revenues from royalties fluctuate less than those from bonuses and rentals.

AMENDMENT NO. 5—To authorize the debt limit of the city of Monroe school district to be increased to 25 per cent of assessed valuation, (Act 138, amending Article XIV, Section 14, paragraph f).

Under Article XIV, Section 14, of the Constitution, parish school boards are authorized to incur debt and issue bonds for school purposes up to 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of taxable property in the school district. An opinion of the Attorney General in 1948 indicated that this section did not apply to the Monroe City School Board.

Three cities — Bogalusa, Lake Charles, and Monroe — operate schools independently of the parish school systems. Article XII, Section 15, gives the Bogalusa School Board all rights and authority conferred upon parish school boards by the construction and laws of the state. The Lake Charles and Monroe city school systems have power to levy taxes for operations as if they were parish school districts, but have lower debt limits. This amendment will give the Monroe city schools the bonding authority of a parish wide school district.

The Monroe city school system is now permitted to issue bonds up to ten per cent of the assessed valuation of property within the city limits. Present assessment of Monroe is $38,400,000 giving a bonding capacity of $3,840,000. As of January 1, 1956, bonded indebtedness of the city schools for capital outlay was $3,743,000. The school superintendent has indicated that other physical plants are needed in order to meet the requirements of an increasing school enrollment.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 — A proposal to create a long range highway fund to which would be dedicated surpluses of present highway user taxes and the $15 million from royalties, bonuses and rentals proposed for highways in amendment number 4, as part of the highway program adopted by the legislature. (Act 141, amending Article VI by adding Section 23.)

This amendment would establish the long range highway fund to which revenues from the following sources would be paid, subject to present dedications and contractural allocations: a four-cent gasoline tax, additional one cent gasoline tax, taxes on other motor fuels, and vehicular license taxes, all levied under Article VI, Section 22, of the constitution; the one-cent gasoline tax levied by Article VI-A of the constitution; the use fuel tax; the lubricating oil tax; and the $15 million in royalties, bonuses, and other revenues from mineral leasing of state-owned lands and water bottoms as proposed in Amendment No. 4.

The Board of Highways would be authorized to issue parity bonds, the repayment of which would be the first charge on revenues of the long range highway fund. The bonds would be general obligations of the state and carry the state's full faith and credit.

It provides also that maximum maturity of the bonds would be 25 years and maximum interest, four per cent a year. They would have to be sold at public sale for not less than par and accrued interest, after advertisement.

No bonds could be issued for any year unless, during the preceding year, the long range highway fund revenues were at least twice the amount of debt service required to be paid out of the fund.

Although a maximum of $3 million in bonds could be issued in a year, total bonds authorized by this amendment could never exceed $6 million. Specific provision to alter this bonding authority by constitutional amendment without impairing contractual obligations with bond holders is included.

After providing for debt service, the department of highways could use the remaining revenues in the long range highway fund each year for construction and maintenance of roads and bridges in the state system. However, $2,357, would be provided for the parish road system.

At the 1955 budget session, the Louisiana legislature considered a series of bills implementing the long range highway program recommended by the Joint Highway Committee. This amendment is a key element of that program since it provides a portion of the bonding authority required for financing long term planning and construction.

At the end of fiscal 1955, state highway bonds outstanding totaled $11.45 million. an additional $8.1 million in highway bonds was authorized, but had not been issued.

In the past it has been the practice to dedicate portions of highway revenues to specific bond issues. Currently, highway bonds are payable from funds provided by the four cent gasoline tax, the surplus of nine-twentieths of the one-cent gasoline tax, and revenues from vehicle licenses in the six parishes surrounding Lake Pontchartrain.

In establishing the long range highway fund, the state will make a start toward its ultimate objective of issuing one class of state highway obligations.

Existing dedications of state highway revenues will not expire for several years, but eventually all of these revenues will be available to service outstanding highway obligations on a parity. The result will be a much simpler debt structure and is expected to bring better interest rates and to eliminate the present variety of ratings and market prices for similar bonds.

The highway program originally constructed in 1 years and financed over a 2-year period, with construction averaging $8.6 million a year. This is $4 million more than was spent for highway construction in fiscal 1955.

It is estimated that the $15 million general fund appropriation for fiscal 1956, accumulated reserves. plus the proposed $15 million a year dedicated under Amendment No. 4 and bonding capacity up to $6 million, will finance the program for the first three to five years.

His address showed vision of future conditions in this country. At the close of the meeting, the owner of a large lumber mill went to him and asked for a copy of his talk. He said that he planned to get the copy and to have it printed.

"I have 450 employes in my mill and I will take your manuscript and have it printed so as to be able to furnish each a copy," he declared. "I want them to have advantage of the unusual and far looking explanation of politics and of the NAAC that you have given in your thought-producing address" he said.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION IN THE COMING GENERAL ELECTION AS MEMBER OF OUACHITA PARISH

POLICE JURY

Candidate Has Served WARD 10 and On His Record Asks To Be Re-Elected

When elected to the Police Jury in 1944, the Ouachita Parish Road System was without any black top roads maintained by the Parish. During his administrotion over 90 miles of black top roads have been built throughout the Parish and in particular black top roads constructed in Ward 10 are as follows: Island Drive, Kenmore St., Bon Air Drive, Edgewater Gardens Addition, East & West Roads, Old Sterlington Road, (From Highway 165 to Bon Air Drive), Forsythe Avenue (from Marie Place to Highway 165), past St. Joseph's Home), this road, after black topping was taken over by the City of Monroe, Roberts Avenue or Oliver Road (from Loop Road to Louisville Ave.), two sections of Lamyville Lane, Tennessee Street, Kentucky Street, Virginia Street, Ingleside Drive in Ingleside Subdivision, Pecan Grove Street, Bonne Aire or Chatham Street, Lakeshore Drive, Azalea Street, Camillia Street, Pecan Street, Sandel Drive, Broadmoor Blvd., Balboa Street, 80th Street, Deborah Drive, Peyton Drive and numerous other streets have been improved with gravel.

In cooperation with the other members of the Police Jury, the Young's Bayou Canel and laterals were constructed which directly drains the City of Monroe. This fine drainage project opened up new housing areas, added to our population and to the sum total of our assessed valuations without additional taxation. These projects saved the taxpayers of the City of Monroe $450,000.00 as the City would have been compelled to provide these drainage structures in order to complete the drainage program.

When elected to the Police Jury, Mr. Fourmy was appointed as chairman, representing the Police Jury on the Ouachita Parish Public Library Board. In working with the fine ladies on the Ouachita Parish Public Library Board, the facilities of the Public Library were increased tremendously. It was during this time that the Book-Mobile was purchased by the library and the Carver Library on North 10th and Adams Street was constructed and put in operation. Just recently the Parish Library board purchased a new Book-Mobile which replaced the old one.

In August, 1947 the road maintenance tax expired and he opposed the re-enactment of this tax as the Parish had surplus funds available in the treasury for future use. Since that time the Police Jury has operated within their budget and the remarkable progress and development they have been able to make has been made within the normal revenues of the Jury. At this time Mr. Fourmy is against any further increase in taxation. Mr. Fourmy is a member of the Grace Episcopal Church, having served on the Vestry and as junior warden; he is a member of the Board of Directors of the Crippled Children's Society; a member of the Kiwanis Club, serving as Vice President and Chairman of the Junior Police Committee; a member of the Chamber of Commerce, having served on its board of directors. He has been interested in the Girl Scouts Organization and The Boy Scouts of America, having served on the Executive Committee of the Ouachita Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is presently serving on the Troop Committee of the Grace Episcopal Church, Troop 31.

At the present time and for the past four years, he has served as Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

During his past administration he has cooperated and worked with the Ouachita Parish Health Unit in securing adequate health facilities for the Parish of Ouachita.
When the parish wide stock law was enacted, he was instrumental in having this law passed.

If re-elected, Mr. Fourmy states that he will continue to cooperate with the other members of the jury and work with them in complete harmony for the progress and advancement of Ouachita Parish.

On his post record as one of your police jurors, he solicits the votes and support of every citizen of Ward 10 and it shall be his pleasure to discuss with them any phase of the Police Jury work which they believe should be improved.
He wishes to express his thanks and appreciation to the voters of Ward 10 for the cooperation and assistance they have given him in the past and earnestly asks that they continue to support him in the coming general election, April 17th.

The war emergency sales tax passed in 1942 is cited as a tax measure which received only 51 affirmative votes in the House.

The opposition points out that the proposal is a negative approach to more responsible legislative action regarding state fiscal operations. The objective could be achieved by having closer legislative review of executive programs and budgets, by requiring more comprehensive budgeting and reporting by government agencies, and by reducing dedicated funds. Furthermore, new tax measures could be blocked by just over one-third of the elected members of either house — 34 representatives or 14 senators. The opposition further contends that the governor would be subjected to increased bargaining pressure in order to obtain a favorable vote on tax measures.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 — To extend the exemption of property of non-profit corporations devoted to the promotion of trade, travel and ommerce from property taxation. (Act 139, amending Article X, Section 4, by adding Subsection 18).

A background note on this proposal points out that at the present time the constitution provides exemtpions from taxation for public property and for property of religious, charitable and educational organizations. Exemptions for a specific number of years are given other properties, such as natural gas facilities, bridges, new manufacturing establishments, electric cooperatives, and others. This amendment would add organizations such as International House and the International Trade Mart in New Orleans to those exempt from state and city propertyt axation.

International House and the Trade Mart were founded in the mid-1940's as non-profit corporations to promote and faciclitate world trade.

Plans are underway for the construction of a new building to house the two organizations and their facilities at a probable cost of four or five million dollars. Preliminary inquires made last year by officers of the corporations indicated that it would be impossible to finance the proposed plans without tax exemption, since the special purpose building contemplated would not be as attractive to lenders as an ordinary commercial office building.

The amendment is framed in general terms, but is applicable to International House and the International Trade Mart in New Orleans and to other groups which may be formed with similar organization, purposes, and investment. The descriptive language used in the amendment is taken from the charters of the two organizations. The property must be owned by non-profit corporations which are organized under the laws of the state of Louisiana and which have assets devoted to such purposes of at least $250,000.

AMENDMENT NO. 3—A proposal to place a maximum ad volorem levy of three mills for the year 1956 and thereafter by the Orleans Levee Board is advanced by this amendment (Act 38, amending Article XVI, Section 2.)

The background on this proposal shows that in November, 1954, a constitutional amendment was approved by the voters which would have reduced taxes authorized for the Orleans Levee Board from 5 to 3.5 mills for the years 1955 through 1959 and 2 mills thereafter. Subsequently, the amendment was challenged in the courts. On the basis of the wording of the levee board amendment, the Louisiana Supreme Court ruled that the 1954 amendment grants the levee board 3.5 mills taxing authority for levee construction, maintenance, drainage and and related purposes, but does not remove the board's authority to continue the levy of previously authorized taxes which have been used in part for bond redemption. Such limitation, the court held, would diminish the value of contracts previously made with bond holders. This decision was upheld by the United States Supreme Court by its refusal to review.

At the time that the 1954 amendment was approved, the Orleans Parish School Board was authorized to levy an additional 1.5 mills for the years 1955 through 1959 and 3 mills thereafter, thus absorbing the millage that was to be released by the levee board.

The Orleans Levee District has been relieved of much of its primary responsibility for levee construction and maintenance. Other functions of the district are lakefront reclamation and land development and operation of the New Orleans Airport. The tax rate for 1955 was 4.75 mills.

This proposal is the result of a compromise reached at the 1955 fiscal session of the legislature. It is an attempt to reduce the taxes imposed by the Orleans Levee Board in line with the intent of the 1954 amendment which was approved. To service bonds outstanding on May 1, 1955, the board would be permitted to levy up to 5 mills. Based on present assessments and retirement schedules, not more than 2 mills should be required for this purpose. An additional levy is authorized for current operations and for servicing debt incurred after May 1, 1955, but the total for all purposes is not to exceed 3 mills.

The board is given specific authority to refund its present debt and its obligations to the Port of New Orleans.

AMENDMENT NO. 4 — Would dedicate $5 million to highways from royalty and leasing revenues (Act 42, amending Article IV by adding Section 2c).

A look at the background reveals that, at the 1955 regular session of the legislature, a comprehensive long-range highway program was adopted, of which this amendment is a part. This program is a result of a study of Safety Foundation and a study of highway needs by the Automotive Safety Foundation and a stud yof highway financed by the Division of Research, College of Commerce, Louisiana State University. The legislation was drafted by a Joint Highway Committee, created by concurrent resolution at the January, 1955 special legislative session to study the reports and to make recommendations to the legislature.

This amendment would dedicate to the highway program $2.5 million from royalties and $2.5 million from bonuses and rentals derived from leasing state owned lands and water bottoms. These funds would be paid into the highway fund after complying with dedication of such revenues already made and after deductions of any appropriations made for payment of expenses of the State Mineral Board. At present, 10 per cent of royalties received from state-owned lands is credited to the parishes in which production occurred, to be used for roads and related purposes.

Approximately $250,000 plus interest is required to service the institutions bonds, which have a prior claim on royalties.

This amendment should be considered in conjunction with Amendment No. 6 since both are designed to emplement the long-range highway program.

The proposal would provide for further dedicating of state revenues and thereby lessen legislative review and control of state fiscal matters. Louisiana ranked second among the states in dedication of state taxes during fiscal 1954, having dedicated 84.6 per cent of its tax revenues for particular purposes. No cut-off date is given for this dedication to the highway program.

Supporters of such a dedication of funds maintain that the highway department would be assured of definite revenues and would be able to make long-range plans. This planning would be expected to result in overall savings.

Such a dedication of funds may affect the financing of other state programs. A reduction of revenue going into the general fund by $15 million may cause a curtailment of some of the activities supported by this fund. However, appropriations for highways from the state general fund averaged more than $15 million a year during the past seven years. (During the same period occasional dedication of funds other than gasoline tax s produced a total of $31.2 million for highways.)

During fiscal 1955, $18.5 million from royalties and $98.4 million from rentals and houses went into the general fund. This amendment would dedicate $12.5 million of the former and $2.5 million of the latter amount to the general highway fund. By taking five-of the total appropriation from royalties, a much more stable income is assured, since revenues from royalties fluctuate less than those from bonuses and rentals.

AMENDMENT NO. 5—To authorize the debt limit of the city of Monroe school district to be increased to 25 per cent of assessed valuation, (Act 138, amending Article XIV, Section 14, paragraph f).

Under Article XIV, Section 14, of the Constitution, parish school boards are authorized to incur debt and issue bonds for school purposes up to 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of taxable property in the school district. An opinion of the Attorney General in 1948 indicated that this section did not apply to the Monroe City School Board.

Three cities — Bogalusa, Lake Charles, and Monroe — operate schools independently of the parish school systems. Article XII, Section 15, gives the Bogalusa School Board all rights and authority conferred upon parish school boards by the construction and laws of the state. The Lake Charles and Monroe city school systems have power to levy taxes for operations as if they were parish school districts, but have lower debt limits. This amendment will give the Monroe city schools the bonding authority of a parish wide school district.

The Monroe city school system is now permitted to issue bonds up to ten per cent of the assessed valuation of property within the city limits. Present assessment of Monroe is $38,400,000 giving a bonding capacity of $3,840,000. As of January 1, 1956, bonded indebtedness of the city schools for capital outlay was $3,743,000. The school superintendent has indicated that other physical plants are needed in order to meet the requirements of an increasing school enrollment.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 — A proposal to create a long range highway fund to which would be dedicated surpluses of present highway user taxes and the $15 million from roaylties, bonuses and rentals proposed for highways in amendment number 4, as part of the highway program adopted by the legislature. (Act 141, amending Article VI by adding Section 23.)

This amendment would establish the long range highway fund to which revenues from the following sources would be paid, subject to present dedications and contractural allocations: a four-cent gasoline tax, additional one cent gasoline tax, taxes on other motor fuels, and vehicular license taxes, all levied under Article VI, Section 22, of the constitution; the one-cent gasoline tax levied by Article VI-A of the constitution; the use fuel tax; the lubricating oil tax; and the $15 million in royalties, bonuses, and other revenues from mineral leasing of state-owned lands and water bottoms as proposed in Amendment No. 4.

The Board of Highways would be authorized to issue parity bonds, the repayment of which would be the first charge on revenues of the long range highway fund. The bonds would be general obligations of the state and carry the state's full faith and credit.

It provides also that maximum maturity of the bonds would be 25 years and maximum interest, four per cent a year. They would have to be sold at public sale for not less than par and accrued interest, after advertisement.

No bonds could be issued for any year unless, during the preceding year, the long range highway fund revenues were at least twice the amount of debt service required to be paid out of the fund.

Although a maximum of $3 million in bonds could be issued in a year, total bonds authorized by this amendment could never exceed $6 million. Specific provision to alter this bonding authority by constitutional amendment without impairing contractual obligations with bond holders is included.

After providing for debt service, the department of highways could use the remaining revenues in the long range highway fund each year for construction and maintenance of roads and bridges in the state system. However, $2,357, would be provided for the parish road system.

At the 1955 budget session, the Louisiana legislature considered a series of bills implementing the long range highway program recommended by the Joint Highway Committee. This amendment is a key element of that program since it provides a portion of the bonding authority required for financing long term planning and construction.

At the end of fiscal 1955, state highway bonds outstanding totaled $11.45 million. an additional $8.1 million in highway bonds was authorized, but had not been issued.

In the past it has been the practice to dedicate portions of highway revenues to specific bond issues. Currently, highway bonds are payable from funds provided by the four cent gasoline tax, the surplus of nine-twentieths of the one-cent gasoline tax, and revenues from vehicle licenses in the six parishes surrounding Lake Pontchartrain.

In establishing the long range highway fund, the state will make a start toward its ultimate objective of issuing one class of state highway obligations.

Existing dedications of state highway revenues will not expire for several years, but eventually all of these revenues will be available to service outstanding highway obligations on a parity. The result will be a much simpler debt structure and is expected to bring better interest rates and to eliminate the present variety of ratings and market prices for similar bonds.

The highway program originally constructed in 1 years and financed over a 2-year period, with construction averaging $8.6 million a year. This is $4 million more than was spent for highway construction in fiscal 1955.

It is estimated that the $15 million general fund appropriation for fiscal 1956, accumulated reserves. plus the proposed $15 million a year dedicated under Amendment No. 4 and bonding capacity up to $6 million, will finance the program for the first three to five years.

Mrs. Jane Mulhearn is director of the show this year — and an evening of fun is promised all who attend. Mrs. Mulhearn is very talented in this line — having worked with Little Theater in years past, both as actress and director. The cast is primarily from the Anna Gray Noe class, however several talented groups in Monroe hearing of the performance and knowing why it was being presented, have called Mrs. Mulhearn and volunteered their time and talent to help make this venture a success. The last half of the show will be a hay loft minstrel with the Ouachita Ramblers furnishing the music.

At a meeting of the membership of Congregation B' Nai Israel held Thursday night in the Jewish Temple the following were elected to serve as officers for the ensuing year: Stan Shlosman, president; Louis D. Smith, vice-president; Mark H. Wilenzick, secretary-treasurer. His selection was the seventh consecutive time that this honor has been accorded him.

In the election for members of the Board of Trustees, Sam Orchard, Sackman Marx and Mark H. Wilenzick were elected. Other members of the board who still continue to serve with the newly-elected members are: Jakob Strauss, Jack Masur, Myer Weldman, C. M. Strauss, Jacob Seligman (of Bastrop) and the president of the Temple Sisterhood, who is at this time Mrs. Jeanne Brin.

It was announced that the Congregation B-Nai Israel now has the largest enrollment in its history.

Dr. E. K. Means, brilliant retired Methodist minister, by special arrangement filled an engagement as honor guest of the Lions club in Alexandria the past week. His address showed vision of future conditions in this country. At the close of the meeting, the owner of a large lumber mill went to him and asked for a copy of his taik. He said that he planned to get the copy and to have it printed.

"I have 450 employes in my mill and I will take your manuscript and have it printed so as to be able to furnish each a copy," he declared. "I want them to have advantage of the unusual and far looking explanation of politics and of the NAAC that you have given in your thought-producing address" he said.

POLICE JURY

Candidate Has Served WARD 10 and On His Record
Asks To Be Re-Elected

When elected to the Police Jury in 1944, the Ouachita Parish Road System was without any black top roads maintained by the Parish. During his administration over 90 miles of black top roads have been built throughout the Parish and in particular black top roads constructed in Ward 10 are as follows: Island Drive, Kenmore St., Bon Air Drive, Edgewater Gardens Addition, East & West Roads, Old Sterlington Road, (From Highway 165 to Bon Air Drive), Forsythe Avenue (from Marie Place to Highway 165), past St. Joseph's Home), this road, after black topping was taken over by the City of Monroe, Roberts Avenue or Oliver Road (from Loop Road to Louisville Ave.), two sections of Lamyville Lane, Tennessee Street, Kentucky Street, Virginia Street, Ingleside Drive in Ingleside Subdivision, Pecan Grove Street, Bonne Aire or Chatham Street, Lakeshore Drive, Azalea Street, Camillia Street, Pecan Street, Sandel Drive, Broadmoor Blvd., Balboa Street, 80th Street, Deborah Drive, Peyton Drive and numerous other streets have been improved with gravel.

In cooperation with the other members of the Police Jury, the Young's Bayou Canel and laterals were constructed which directly drains the City of Monroe. This fine drainage project opened up new housing areas, added to our population and to the sum total of our assessed valuations without additional taxation. These projects saved the taxpayers of the City of Monroe $450,000.00 as the City would have been compelled to provide these drainage structures in order to complete the drainage program.

When elected to the Police Jury, Mr. Fourmy was appointed as chairman, representing the Police Jury on the Ouachita Parish Public Library Board. In working with the fine ladies on the Ouachita Parish Public Library Board, the facilities of the Public Library were increased tremendously. It was during this time that the Book-Mobile was purchased by the library and the Carver Library on North 10th and Adams Street was constructed and put in operation. Just recently the Parish Library board purchased a new Book-Mobile which replaced the old one.

In August, 1947 the road maintenance tax expired and he opposed the re-enactment of this tax as the Parish had surplus funds available in the treasury for future use. Since that time the Police Jury has operated within their budget and the remarkable progress and development they have been able to make has been made within the normal revenues of the Jury. At this time Mr. Fourmy is against any further increase in taxation. Mr. Fourmy is a member of the Grace Episcopal Church, having served on the Vestry and as junior warden; he is a member of the Board of Directors of the Crippled Children's Society; a member of the Kiwanis Club, serving as Vice President and Chairman of the Junior Police Committee; a member of the Chamber of Commerce, having served on its board of directors. He has been interested in the Girl Scouts Organization and The Boy Scouts of America, having served on the Executive Committee of the Ouachita Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is presently serving on the Troop Committee of the Grace Episcopal Church, Troop 31.

At the present time and for the past four years, he has served as Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

During his past administration he has cooperated and worked with the Ouachita Parish Health Unit in securing adequate health facilities for the Parish of Ouachita.
When the parish wide stock law was enacted, he was instrumental in having this law passed.

If re-elected, Mr. Fourmy states that he will continue to cooperate with the other members of the jury and work with them in complete harmony for the progress and advancement of Ouachita Parish.

On his past record as one of your police jurors, he solicits the votes and support of every citizen of Ward 10 and it shall be his pleasure to discuss with them any phase of the Police Jury work which they believe should be improved.
He wishes to express his thanks and appreciation to the voters of Ward 10 for the cooperation and assistance they have given him in the past and earnestly asks that they continue to support him in the coming general election, April 17th.

Other arrests reported by state troopers include reckless driving, 12; speeding in automobile, 10; speeding in truck, three; no drivers license, four; improper brakes, one; no vehicle license, one; improper parking, one; oversize load and no permit, one; and disturbing the peace, three.

Inter-American Bar Conference Meeting At Dallas

DALLAS, Arpil 14 —UP— Some 1,200 delegates to the ninth Inter-American Bar Conference, including top government officials, educators and attorneys from throughout the western hemisphere, will arrive in Dallas Sunday.

Special church services, home hospitality, and a reception mark the opening of the week-long conference at the Southwestern Legal Center at Southern Methodist University.

Highlight of Monday's opening-day program will be an address by former President Hebert Hoover. His talk, at 8 p.m. Monday, entitled "World Experience With the Karl Marx Way of Life," is an attack on Socialists for aiding communism.

The opening plenary session will begin at 10 a.m. Monday. Assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, Henry F. Holland, will speak at a luncheon Monday. Other luncheon speakers during the week include Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., Undersecretary of the interior Clarence A. Davis, Dr. William Monteriro de Barros of Rio de Janeiro, and Dr. Dernando Fournier, Costa Rican ambassador to the U.S.

E. Smythe Ganbrell, president of the American Bar Association from Atlanta, Ga., will be the featured speaker at the annual banquet Friday night which closes the conference.

2 Northwestern Seniors Receive Full Fellowships

NATCHITOCHES, April 14 (Special)—Two Northwestern State College graduating seniors have been awarded fellowships for graduate work studying mathematics at universities in Florida and Oklahoma, C. G. Killen, head of the department of mathematics at NSC, announced here today.

They are Clyde Fulton, Jr., of West Monroe, and Fred B. Hoff, Jr., of Little Rock, Ark.

Fulton will attend Florida State University at Tallahassee in the fall, while Hoff plans to enroll at the University of Oklahoma in September. Fulton is a Mathematics major; Hoff has a split major in both physics and mathmatics.

Fulton was recently initiated into Phi Kappa Phi national honorary scholastic fraternity at Northwestern. Hoff is a former member of the college swimming team, having won a number of titles in diving competition.

Forestry Session Asks Public Help In Fighting Fires

NEW ORLEANS, April 14 (AP) — An official of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Assn. said today individual citizens must be enlisted in the fight against forest fires.

Henry J. Malsberger, forester and general manager for the association, told the first Southern Forest Fire Prevention Conference it is the citizens of the South who will benefit.

More than 165 million acres of the South's 225 million forestland acres, he said, are in small plots owned by farmers and other individuals.

Industrial and public owners of other lands, he said, cannot do the South-wide job that is needed.

Industry and government agencies lead in the fight to drive wildfire out of the woods, he said, but the base must be broadened to cover the millions of acres in small parcels.

About 1,200 people attended the forest fire prevention conference here, of which 139 were foresters. The conference ended today.

During the morning a "workshop" panel discussed public opinion tools, law enforcement responsibilities and methods of organizing local fire prevention programs.

John W. Squires, Jackson, Miss., manager of the forestry department of Mississippi Products, Inc., said education is good, but "it takes strong law enforcement to put it across."

Squires said he was convinced that "intensive law enforcement is the key, and a very big key to this problem." And, he said, law enforcement is no good unless the court is behind it, and there must be "laws with teeth and those teeth must bite."

James W. Craig, manager of the consulting division of Forestry Suppliers, Inc., Jackson, Miss., said unity, organization and work are necessary.

He suggested that fire prevention leaders make the most possible use of existing organizations in setting up their program.

The National Highway Users Conference estimates inadequate roads have cost the motoring public $5.3 billion in accidents, loss of time and operation costs.

Farm Belt Republicans Panicky Over Threat Of Ike's Veto Of Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— Farm belt Republicans displayed an almost panicky alarm Saturday over the political repercussions of President Eisenhower's expected veto of the farm bill.

There was even talk in some GOP quarters that Mr. Eisenhower might jeopardize his own chances of re-election by rejecting the measure.

This reaction appeared to be a minority viewpoint at this time. However, there was near unanimity among farm state Republicans and among the party professionals that a veto would hurt them in House and Senate races in the 1956 elections.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.), long a critic of administration farm policy, told a reporter that a veto "would have far-reaching political as well as economic consequences."

"This is a good farm bill, favored by a great majority of farmers and businessmen," he told a reporter.

"A veto would certainly make it tough on all Republicans in the farm areas in the state and congressional races—as is evidenced by the interest of the governors of the principal agricultural states of the Midwest."

Young was referring to the fact that four Midwestern GOP governors plan to fly to Washington to make a personal appeal to Mr. Eisenhower next week to sign the farm bill. They are Govs. Leo A. Hoegh of Iowa, Fred Hall of Kansas, Jo Foss of South Dakota and Victor Anderson of Nebraska.

At the same time, most of the Senate Republicans for the measure were seeking a chance to lay their arguments against a veto before Mr. Eisenhower. The man chosen to seek the audience was Sen. Andrew J. Schoeppel (Kan.), who is chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign committee and who is directing the Republican drive to regain control of the Senate.

Some farm belt Republicans in Congress believed that leaders of the party organization and at least some of the White House staff were sympathetic to their viewpoint. But they counted the all important vote of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson against them. Reports from Augusta, Ga., where Mr. Eisenhower conferred with Benson Saturday, said the President will veto the bill next week.

However, some GOP lawmakers still clung to the hope that the growing political pressure would persuade Mr. Eisenhower to accept the farm bill as the only way to provide relief for farm distress this year.

GOP Slates Huddles On '56 Strategy; Democrats Fire Verbal Broadsides

By UNITED PRESS

The Republican party threw its campaign machinery in high gear Saturday with announcement of a unique shirt-sleeve strategy conference for the 1956 elections.

On the Democratic side, National Chairman Paul M. Butler scoffed at the "myth of Eisenhower invincibility" and claimed the "Republicans have lost more elections" under President Eisenhower "than under any other Republican in this century."

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said 800 congressional and party leaders from 48 states, four territories, and the District of Columbia will converge on Washington for closed meetings Monday and Tuesday on plans for bringing the Republican party "its greatest victory" this year.

Strategy will be mapped for the presidential, senatorial, and congressional campaigns. Hall said the meeting will be unique in size for the Republicans and will be climaxed by a public banquet Tuesday night at which President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon will speak.

The conference, Hall said, will consist of "working, shirt-sleeve sessions" to discuss, evaluate, and plan for the Republican party's 1956 new look campaign.

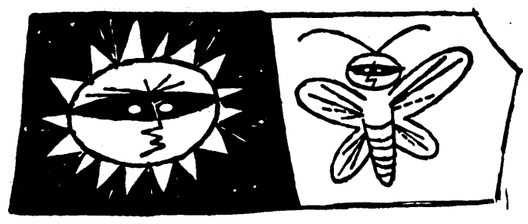

"We face a tough battle in November and we know it," Hall said. "We not only want to reelect the President by an overwhelming vote of confidence but we want to give him a Republican House and Senate to help carry forward his great program of peace, progress, and prosperity."

He said "even Herbert Hoover had a better record" of leading his party to victory in elections.

"At least Hoover did not lose both the House and Senate after only two years in office as President Eisenhower did," Butler said.

Protect your Furs from their Enemies

. . . Contrary to general opinion, cedar chests and camphor balls are not moth preventives.
Furs should be stored in refrigerated vaults where cold air and modern scientific care will protect the skins and preserve their beauty and luster. Summer heat dries out the natural oils in the skins and ruins the fur. Phone 8131 and our messener will pick up your furs at your door. Or bring them to our 2nd floor desk.

It is advisable to have your furs cleaned. Dry cleaning ruins furs. Our special drum cleaning process removes all dirt, grease and grim from the fur and lining and restores the original luster to the fur. The cost is very nominal and it will add many years of life to your fur garment.

Fifty Arrested By State Police During Past Week

Seven persons charged with operating motor vehicles under the influence of alcohol were arrested by members of Troop "F" of the state police and 43 others on minor charges, according to the weekly report.

Charged with driving while intoxicated were Billy D. Fredrick, 25, Boynton, Okla.; George Crowder, Jr., 46, Bastrop; Willie Williams, 35, Benton, Ark.; James Jackson, 38, Mer Rouge; Willie Craig, 31, Delhi; Benson Burlion Diffey, 33, Jonesboro; and Gerald J. Vanhook, 49, Rayville.

Other arrests reported by state troopers include reckless driving, 12; speeding in automobile, 10; speeding in truck, three; no drivers license, four; improper brakes, one; no vehicle license, one; improper parking, one; oversize load and no permit, one; and disturbing the peace, three.

Inter-American Bar Conference Meeting At Dallas

DALLAS, April 14 —UP— Some 1,200 delegates to the ninth Inter-American Bar Conference, including top government officials, educators and attorneys from throughout the western hemisphere, will arrive in Dallas Sunday.

Special church services, home hospitality, and a reception mark the opening of the week-long conference at the Southwestern Legal Center at Southern Methodist University.

Highlight of Monday's opening-day program will be an address by former President Hebert Hoover. His talk, at 8 p.m. Monday, entitled "World Experience With the Karl Marx Way of Life," is an attack on Socialists for aiding communism.

The opening plenary session will begin at 10 a.m. Monday. Assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, Henry F. Holland, will speak at a luncheon Monday. Other luncheon speakers during the week include Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., Undersecretary of the interior Clarence A. Davis, Dr. William Monteriro de Barros of Rio de Janeiro, and Dr. Dernando Fournier, Costa Rican ambassador to the U.S.

E. Smythe Ganbrell, president of the American Bar Association from Atlanta, Ga., will be the featured speaker at the annual banquet Friday night which closes the conference.

2 Northwestern Seniors Receive Full Fellowships

NATCHITOCHES, April 14 (Special)—Two Northwestern State College graduating seniors have been awarded fellowships for graduate work studying mathematics at universities in Florida and Oklahoma, C. G. Killen, head of the department of mathematics at NSC, announced here today.

Fulton will attend Florida State University at Tallahassee in the fall, while Hoff plans to enroll at the University of Oklahoma in September. Fulton is a Mathematics major; Hoff has a split major in both physics and mathmatics.

Fulton was recently initiated into Phi Kappa Phi national honorary scholastic fraternity at Northwestern. Hoff is a former member of the college swimming team, having won a number of titles in diving competition.

The couple moved here from Jackson where Mrs. Ryan the former Miss Cissy Westbrook resided while her husband was in service. They will make their home at 2703 Forsythe avenue with their two children, Michael, three, and Jerelyn, 18 months.

Forestry Session Asks Public Help In Fighting Fires

NEW ORLEANS, April 14 (AP) — An official of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Assn. said today individual citizens must be enlisted in the fight against forest fires.

Henry J. Malsberger, forester and general manager for the association, told the first Southern Forest Fire Prevention Conference it is the citizens of the South who will benefit.

More than 165 million acres of the South's 225 million forestland acres, he said, are in small plots owned by farmers and other individuals.

Industrial and public owners of other lands, he said, cannot do the South-wide job that is needed.

Industry and government agencies lead in the fight to drive wildfire out of the woods, he said, but the base must be broadened to cover the millions of acres in small parcels.

About 1,200 people attended the forest fire prevention conference here, of which 139 were foresters. The conference ended today.

During the morning a "workshop" panel discussed public opinion tools, law enforcement responsibilities and methods of organizing local fire prevention programs.

John W. Squires, Jackson, Miss., manager of the forestry department of Mississippi Products, Inc., said education is good, but "it takes strong law enforcement to put it across."

Squires said he was convinced that "intensive law enforcement is the key, and a very big key to this problem." And, he said, law enforcement is no good unless the court is behind it, and there must be "laws with teeth and those teeth must bite."

James W. Craig, manager of the consulting division of Forestry Suppliers, Inc., Jackson, Miss., said unity, organization and work are necessary.

He suggested that fire prevention leaders make the most possible use of existing organizations in setting up their program.

The National Highway Users Conference estimates inadequate roads have cost the motoring public $5.3 billion in accidents, loss of time and operation costs.

Farm Belt Republicans Panicky Over Threat Of Ike's Veto Of Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— Farm belt Republicans displayed an almost panicky alarm Saturday over the political repercussions of President Eisenhower's expected veto of the farm bill.

There was even talk in some GOP quarters that Mr. Eisenhower might jeopardize his own chances of re-election by rejecting the measure.

This reaction appeared to be a minority viewpoint at this time. However, there was near unanimity among farm state Republicans and among the party professionals that a veto would hurt them in House and Senate races in the 1956 elections.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.), long a critic of administration farm policy, told a reporter that a veto "would have far-reaching political as well as economic consequences."

"This is a good farm bill, favored by a great majority of farmers and businessmen," he told a reporter.

"A veto would certainly make it tough on all Republicans in the farm areas in the state and congressional races—as is evidenced by the interest of the governors of the principal agricultural states of the Midwest."

Young was referring to the fact that four Midwestern GOP governors plan to fly to Washington to make a personal appeal to Mr. Eisenhower next week to sign the farm bill. They are Govs. Leo A. Hoegh of Iowa, Fred Hall of Kansas, Jo Foss of South Dakota and Victor Anderson of Nebraska.

At the same time, most of the Senate Republicans for the measure were seeking a chance to lay their arguments against a veto before Mr. Eisenhower. The man chosen to seek the audience was Sen. Andrew J. Schoeppel (Kan.), who is chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign committee and who is directing the Republican drive to regain control of the Senate.

Some farm belt Republicans in Congress believed that leaders of the party organization and at least some of the White House staff were sympathetic to their viewpoint. But they counted the all important vote of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson against them. Reports from Augusta, Ga. where Mr. Eisenhower conferred with Benson Saturday, said the President will veto the bill next week.

However, some GOP lawmakers still clung to the hope that the growing political pressure would persuade Mr. Eisenhower to accept the farm bill as the only way to provide relief for farm distress this year.

GOP Slates Huddles On '56 Strategy; Democrats Fire Verbal Broadsides

By UNITED PRESS

The Republican party threw its campaign machinery in high gear Saturday with announcement of a unique shirt-sleeve strategy conference for the 1956 elections.

On the Democratic side, National Chairman Paul M. Butler scoffed at the "myth of Eisenhower invincibility" and claimed the "Republicans have lost more elections" under President Eisenhower "than under any other Republican in this century."

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said 800 congressional and party leaders from 48 states, four territories, and the District of Columbia will converge on Washington for closed meetings Monday and Tuesday on plans for bringing the Republican party "its greatest victory" this year.

Strategy will be mapped for the presidential, senatorial, and congressional campaigns. Hall said the meeting will be unique in size for the Republicans and will be climaxed by a public banquet Tuesday night at which President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon will speak.

The conference, Hall said, will consist of "working, shirt-sleeve sessions" to discuss, evaluate, and plan for the Republican party's 1956 new look campaign.

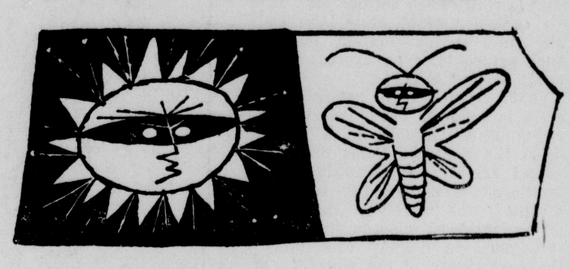

"We face a tough battle in November and we know it," Hall said. "We not only want to reelect the President by an overwhelming vote of confidence but we want to give him a Republican House and Senate to help carry forward his great program of peace, progress, and prosperity."

He said "even Herbert Hoover had a better record" of leading his party to victory in elections.

"At least Hoover did not lose both the House and Senate after only two years in office as President Eisenhower did," Butler said.

Protect your Furs from their Enemies

. . . Contrary to general opinion, cedar chests and camphor balls are not moth preventives.
Furs should be stored in refrigerated vaults where cold air and modern scientific care will protect the skins and preserve their beauty and luster. Summer heat dries out the natural oils in the skins and ruins the fur. Phone 8131 and our messener will pick up your furs at your door. Or bring them to our 2nd floor desk.

It is advisable to have your furs cleaned. Dry cleaning ruins furs. Our special drum cleaning process removes all dirt, grease and grim from the fur and lining and restores the original luster to the fur. The cost is very nominal and it will add many years of life to your fur garment.

Republicans Seek Police Jury Posts

For the first time in decades, a partial Republican slate is entered from Ouachita Parish in Tuesday's general election. Three Republican candidates in Ward Ten, Monroe, are opposing three Democratic nominees for places on the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

The Republicans have only one entry in a statewide race—Harry Hill of Metairie, who is opposing Democratic Nominee Lether Frazar of Lake Charles for Lieutenant Governor. Mr. Frazar ran on the ticket with Governor-Elect Earl Long.

The Ward 10 races in Monroe have stirred up considerable interest. The three Republican entrants, all of them well known in the community, are Clark C. Boardman, Emory C. Dansby and Robert H. Easterling. Their Democratic opponents are L. U. Fourmy, Irvin W. Kilpatrick and A. E. Montgomery.

In a general election such as Tuesday's, voters are free to "split" their ballots and cross party lines at will. All voting in Louisiana now is done on machines. No party pledge binding upon the individual citizen exists.

The Ward 10 results will be watched locally as a possible index to expanded activity by the GOP in later elections.

Despite its failure to put a full slate in the field for state and parish offices, the Republican Party is becoming increasingly active, and it now has more than 50 groups working at local or regional levels under its banners.

The Republicans are making effective use of the argument that Louisiana needs a two-party system, in the interests of better government and increased progress.

Chief interest in Tuesday's election, of course, centers on the six proposed constitutional amendments. Mr. Long and those who will comprise his "cabinet" are opposing Amendments Nos. 1 and 3. The first of these would require a two-thirds vote of elected members of the Legislature for the passage of legislation imposing new taxes or hiking those now in effect. The Governor-elect, in stump speeches, has asserted that approval of this proposal would "hamstring" his administration. During his recent victorious primary campaign he declared against tax hikes, but more recently he has said that he may want to switch taxes around considerably, raising some and lowering others. Proponents of Amendment No. 1, on the other hand, champion the measure as a vital guaranty against extravagant expenditures, and point to the state's huge debt structure and already high taxes as proof of the need for new safeguards.

Amendment No. 3, which would reduce the maximum ad valorem mill tax of the Orleans Levee Board from 5 to 3 mills from now to 1959 and 2 mills thereafter, is opposed by Mr. Long on the ground that it is purely a "local matter" that should be decided by the voters of Orleans Parish alone.

Yet it is a proposal of statewide importance, affecting the Orleans Parish School Board and the future of education in the Crescent City; which, if not paid for at local levels, must be paid for by taxpayers of the State at large.

In 1954, the voters of New Orleans balloted five to one in favor of a similar proposal—voters of the entire state, three to one; but due to a technicality not present in the current proposal the State Supreme Court invalidated the proceedings.

Charges of "dirty politics" involving a political switch by Orleans Levee Board President Louis Roussel have been hurled by New Orleans newspapers. A former Kennon supporter, Mr. Roussel threw his influence behind Mr. Long in the recent campaign.

The Long forces have endorsed Amendment No. 2, which would exempt the properties of non-profit corporations such as International House and the Trade Mart in New Orleans from taxation.

They favor, also, Amendments Nos. 4, 5 and 6. Nos. 4 and 6, together, would provide a solid basis for a permanent program of highways and parish roads. No. 5, applying only to Monroe, would give the Monroe City School Board authority to increase its authorized debt limit up to 25 per cent of assessed valuation—which nearly all other school boards in Louisiana, now are able to do.

The Morning World is glad to see Governor-Elect Long throw his weight behind four of these six proposed constitutional amendments; but on careful examination finds little merit in his opposition to Amendments 1 and 3.

This newspaper urges that the voters support all six amendments at the polls Tuesday.

Royal Fourflushers Roam The Earth

Those who bump into a "genuine Italian prince" will be wise to maintain an attitude of skepticism. He may be Italian but the odds are against his being a "genuine prince."

It seems that when Italy became a republic and dethroned her monarch, the law dropped all reference to titles of nobility. As a result, there has been a rush to the "colors" on an unprecedented scale.

Titles are being sold in Italy at cut-rate prices. Everyone is free to attach to his name whatever title he wishes, just as he adds "mister." The entire staff of one restaurant in Rome, from owner to dishwasher, is titled.

The new titles, like the old, are high-sounding, usually with terms like "capitular," "constantinian," "sovereign," "imperial," and so on. They come complete—for a price—with gold braid, plumed hats, boots, swords, gold spurs, medals, sashes and cloaks.

The defunct Italian nobility which still hangs around probably finds it disconcerting to be compelled to rub elbows with blooming fakers, but if so it's their own fault for not having built up resistance to being disconcerted.

Firemen Often Risk Their Lives

Death of six firemen in a fire in New York City brought to public attention anew the dangers of fire. Not only is the annual loss of life in such tragedies enormous, but monetary loss would almost pay the interest on the national debt.

It may seem to the public that firemen have it easy. The popular picture is of men sitting around playing checkers and cards most of the time. But when a fire occurs they risk their lives to save the lives of others as well as property, citizens become thankful for the firefighters' services.

Equally deserving of praise are the volunteer firemen of thousands of small towns, who spend little if any time in the firehouse, but respond with alacrity when the call comes.

IN WASHINGTON

State's Rights Issue

The United States Supreme Court has finally stirred Congress to action by its recent decisions centralizing more authority in the federal government and depriving the states of power which they have claimed as a matter of right for generations.

The court's new attitude, first revealed in the school desegregation case after Earl Warren became chief justice, has more recently been manifested in decisions restricting the states' powers in sedition cases.

The authority of the Supreme Court to make such decisions is not defined in the U. S. Constitution, but has become established over the years in a series of cases in which the court has interpreted the Constitution or has decided what Congress has in mind in acting on a particular piece of legislation.

The two most recent rulings which have riled many members of Congress held that states have no right to punish seditious conduct, though 41 states and 2 territories have enacted legislation for that purpose, and that city employees cannot be fired for invoking the Fifth amendment to avoid answering questions put by congressional investigating committees. The latter case arose out of the discharge of a New York school teacher by New York City education authorities.

The aftermath of these two decisions caused numerous southern members to smile. Previously many of their northern colleagues had assumed a lofty attitude on school desegregation, insisting that the Supreme Court could not have decided otherwise. Now the loudest complaints about the latest court actions come from the north. And before the end of this session, the Supreme Court may have its knuckles rapped by an act of Congress which will define the length to which the court may go in deciding what Congress had in mind when it enacted a law.

Recently the court declared invalid a Pennsylvania anti-sedition statute, under which Steve Nelson, a Communist leader in that state had been sentenced to 20 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on conviction on subversive activity. This decision had the effect of rendering invalid similar laws in 40 other states and 2 territories. It held that Congress in passing the Smith anti-sedition act, had intended that Communists should be tried for sedition only under federal statutes.

When the decision was rendered, Rep. Howard W. Smith (Dem.-Va.) chairman of the House Rules committee, and author of the Smith act, sitting in his office 200 yards from the Supreme Court building, said flatly that Congress had no intent to exclude states from legislating against sedition. But six members of the court had ruled to the contrary.

Since then, Rep. Smith has introduced a bill which says that "no act of Congress shall be construed as indicating an intent on the part of Congress to occupy the field in which such act operates, to the exclusion of all state laws on the same subject matter, unless such act contains an express provision to that effect".

That brings directly before Congress in concrete form, the states' rights issue brought to a head when the Supreme Court ordered school racial integration in 1954. Smith declared that the sedition dispute "was merely a symptom of a dangerous disease that has threatened to destroy completely the sovereignty of the states."

A leading northern Republican member of the House revealed some Republican thinking on the question when he said, "We put Earl Warren on the court, and now look where he's leading us."

Smith does not believe his bill, which also has strong backing in the Senate, has any effect on the segregation dispute, which arises from the court's questioned interpretation of the Constitution, and no act of Congress is involved. But it will have solid southern support and possibly enough northern backing to pass both Houses of Congress.

Some observers believe that it may dispute the legislative right of way with the civil rights bill sponsored by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, backed by the Eisenhower Administration. The civil rights measure will have united southern opposition, but a good many northern Republicans appear to believe that the Smith bill is just as essential to keep the judicial branch of the government within what they view as the limits of its proper authority.

Walter Winchell

Lights Over Broadway

News is love and war, joy and death, Grace Kelly and Khrushchev. It encompasses the glories, tragedies and absurdities of the course of events. Highlights are reflected as well as shadows. The ambitions of nations are conveyed or the passions of an individual. International catastrophes, personal calamities, a pretty face and a homerun make headlines.

News has been accurately defined as "anything of interest to subscribers." And what interests subscribers was once shrewdly appraised by editor Walter Howey: "What you must put into the papers is an understanding of the desires, hopes, frustrations and emotions of the people you expect to read and absorb your stuff."

One of the outstanding soldiers of the press was Carl Magee. . .The reporter who uncovered the explosive facts about the Teapot Dome skulduggery. . .Consequently, he was involved in a shooting, ridiculed, assaulted, sued for libel and jailed on a phony charge. . .Friend concerned about his personal safety urged him to surrender. . .Magee replied: "This fight isn't going to be any good if I have to worry about what's going to happen to me! I'm trying to experiment in truth telling and I don't want to spoil it by worrying."

Although Victor Riesel is the latest casualty — there have been numerous predecessors in the free newspaper's fight for truth and decency. . .Donald R. Mellett of the Canton (Ohio) Daily News was killed by mobsters for exposing them . . .George Dale of the Muncie (Ind.) Post-Democrat fought the K.K.K. . .One night hooded hoodlums hammered him with fists and gun butts. . .Dale shot one Kluxer with a gun he wrenched from his hand. . .The K.K.K. gangers in high places railroaded him to jail. . .Four years later the State Supreme Court ruled in Dale's favor. . .For years the Butte (Montana) Daily Bulletin battled criminal elements. . .As a result every reporter was armed. . .And there were loaded rifles in the city room.

If news is "anything of interest to subscribers," then it logically follows that dullness is the death of journalism. A newspaper cannot exist without an audience any more than an actor. It must entertain as well as enlighten. History has its sideshows as well as tragedies. Laughing is as necessary as thinking. In other words, dailies should touch the heart and prod the funnybone, in addition to striving for intellectual stimulation.

Joseph Pulitzer gave another dimension to the anything - of - interest - to - subscribers definition. His irrefutable argument was that news is what interests editors. And he tipped newsmen: "Try to make me get a picture of everything, everything. Never think that anything is too small to be of interest. There is no such thing as an uninteresting story. There are only reporters who do not know how to present it in an interesting manner."

News, of course, is limited by the borders of public welfare and personal decency. Freedom of the press does not include the right to publish obscenity any more than free speech includes the right to incite riots. Nevertheless, the meaning of news changes with the times. What was considered a radical journalistic innovation about a century ago, is merely routine today . . . Newspapers were impersonal recorders of events until the advent of the personal interview. This technique was pioneered by Horace Greeley via an interview with Brigham Young wherein the Mormon leader admitted having 15 wives. The resulting uproar rocked the foundations of jouranlism, as the saying goes.

When Greeley's critics accused him of being vulgar, he responded: "A narrow mind is the essence of vulgarity."

News has a capricious quality, too. Personalities arouse greater interest than significant problems. The love stories of Margaret and Grace create more exciting reading than diplomatic debates. A single dramatic incident always has an intense fascination . . . Back in 1925 Floyd Collins was entombed in a Kentucky cave. The accident inspired 18 days of front - page headlines as geologists and engineers vainly struggled to rescue him. Collins' calm courage (in the face of almost certain doom) was bigger news than every domestic or global issue. Over 100 reporters covered it.

One month after his death, 50 Americans perished in a mine disaster, but it failed to attract a fraction of the newspaper space devoted to the Collins epic.

To Ernie Pyle news was people — all people. Amidst horror and thunder, Ernie captured the extraordinary qualities of ordinary folks. And he conveyed their courage and glory with warm simplicity. Many of his columns were published on page one. A Washington paper once devoted its entire front - age to a Pyle story.

5th District Flood Control

Washington, D.C.

Editor, Morning World:

As a forward-looking newspaper editor, you are, of course, vitally concerned with the vast problem of flood control in the lower Mississippi Valley. And you are surely particularly concerned with the phases of this problem applying to our own area of Louisiana.

No one would dispute, I think, the assertion that there is probably no single factor of more economic significance to our section of Louisiana than the program that has been, and is being, achieved in the overall project of floor control and major drainage. It is certainly essential to the welfare and development of our area of Louisiana that this work be continued in a sound and consistent manner.

Many of us, including myself, have not fully comprehended, however, the magnitude of the effort and the results being obtained in pursuing this project. In this connection, recently I was personally amazed at the revelation—from Major General John R. Hardin, president of the Mississippi River Commission—that the amount of Federal funds expended for flood control and related work in the Fifth Congressional District totaled nearly $1 million during the past decade.

This report covered a period beginning with fiscal 1947, continuing through fiscal 1955, with an estimate for fiscal 1956. It showed flood control expenditures during the period of $58,816,000, for main river work and $22,106,000, for off-river work, for a grand total of $80,922,000 — expended for work in the Fifth Congressional District during the tenure in Congress of U.S. Representative Otto E. Passman.

The engineering reports show that the overall project has a benefits-to-cost ratio of more than five to one — or tangible economic benefits of more than $415 million for the Fifth Congressional District during the 10-year period.

Many other areas have also been receiving substantial appropriations for this type of work; but the records indicate that few of them, if any, have been so fortunate as we have toward meeting the need.

Editor, Morning World:

The immortal Longfellow once said, . ."Though the mills of the Gods grind slowly, yet they grind exceedingly small, . ."

". . .Justice is truth in action. . ." says Disraeli, and Froude shouts . . ."Justice without wisdom is impossible. . ."

Recently, three West Monroe High School Students were unfairly penalized for participating in a public "show" for the benefit of the School Athletic Program, after having had the approval and-or invitation, of school coaches and principals to so participate.

Public opinion has been aroused in defense of these fine young men, one President of the Student Council, another President of the School Honor Society, and the third a son of a local minister; and all seniors and athletes of the highest type — whose future careers may have been irreparably damaged by the unfair ruling which ended their high school athletic careers before graduation, School Board officials are aware of the injustice; I feel sure that after proper, public, and impartial investigation of the facts — the hasty willingness on the part of the principals and coaches to classify the recent "entertainment" as a "contest" will be reversed and normal opportunity to advance the athletic careers of these fine young men restored.

Actually, the enforcement of the rules and regulations of the state high school athletic association needs no defense — (By your sports editor, my good friend Paul Martin, or anyone else) — but the method employed in that enforcement and the terrible effect of "Justice misapplied", should properly be the subject of editorial inquiry by your fine publication, as well as by radio and TV news outlets.

C. C. BELL, Jr.

P.S. — Here is another quotation I was about to forget: ". . . The Association is vitally interested in the welfare of every boy and girl participating in athletc contests!! It is for the protection of their interests that the Association operates". . .Constitution of Louisiana High School Athletic Association—Article II.

Agrees With Garland

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I just want to thank Mr. J. W. Garland for publicizing the whole truth concerning the races and their condition in America. I just thank God Almighty that in these days of confusion and evil thinking we still have people able to stand up and tell the truth regardless of where the chips fall.

Those that know the Bible and history know he has spoken the truth. I know all true Christians will agree whole heartedly with this. I, too, am against mixed marriage of the races, but this doesn't mean that one race is suppose to be superior over the other races. We find in reading the scripture that Mr. Garland is true from all points of life. I say congratulations.

Defects Of Legislation

Shreveport, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Amendment Proposal No. 1 to require a two-thirds vote on acts levying taxes is a siren song to a sorry solution. It is a remedy worse than the disease, for it destroys a fundamental principle for a doubtful benefit.

The defects of legislation are the result of human error and not the process, and no restraint on the method will add virtue to men. One does not remove a rotten branch by cutting the tree, end traffic tragedy by narrowing the road, nor suppress falsehood by restricting freedom of press or speech. The price is too greag.

It is a sad situation when acts dealing with material things are elevated to legislative dignity nor shared by laws for health, safety and public morality. Not even the enabling acts, which in reality give effect to constitutional rights and benefits, enjoy the protection of a two thirds rule. These virtuous statutes exist by the thin edge of a mere majority. But if the precedent of this proposal is sustained a juke box, jug of liquor or a package of cigarettes will enjoy immunity not allowed to measures which protect life, liberty and human happiness.

It hands to as few as fourteen men power to block revenue legislation for the gravest emergency, and gives to a crafty handful a device to dictate unequal designation of funds, and thereby becomes an incentive to corruption.

By a simple majority a young man can be called to serve and die for his country, but if the concept of this proposal is extended it will be easier to demand this sacrifice than to provide the funds for his weapons.

The incentive for tax abuses is the increasing demands of citizens and pressure groups upon legislators for "benefits". Would it be the correct way to end this evil by restraining the right of the people to petition public officials? I think not.

There are principles involved in the processes of government which rise above material values, and I shall not traduce these ideals by saying to any mother that the service of her son is of less worth than the soil he treads, nor the blood he sheds cheaper than the dust it stains.

Two-thirds vote to tax a pack of cigarettes. Just a mere majority to send a boy to war! What a paradox!

Let those who would distort this statement as support of reckless taxation ponder these points and peruse my record in the House in opposition to tax increases which few legislators have equalled or surpassed.

Kind Words For Mayor Coon

P. O. Box 382,
Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to say a few kind words for our Mayor, John E. Coon, I personally have known Mayor Coon for quite some time now, and I have never met or known anyone more honest and truthful than he. When Mayor Coon makes a promise, that promise will be kept. He is fair, courteous, dependable and reliable and anyone that goes to his office to see him on any business matter, he will cordially invite them in and listen to their problems. And if there is any way he can help them he is always glad to do so, and that goes for white as well as colored. He shows no preference and all are treated politely and cordially.

Mayor Coon is qualified for the office he now holds and to my way of thinking if re-elected mayor he can accomplish more for the city of Monroe than any other mayor has ever done. Now everyone knows he is backed by Gov.-(Elect) Earl K. Long, and I also know that a few of our citizens don't approve, nevertheless any progress-minded person will have to admit that the above statement is correct, and we will better our city and have help from the state by electing Mayor Coon.

I am not in politics and all the help I can give for any candidate is my vote. Mayor Coon does not know I'm sending this letter, it was entirely my own decision.

Amendment No. 1

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Much has been said through your column and many other papers throughout the state regarding amendment proposal No. 1, and now may I have my say in connection with said amendment at this time:

Amendment proposal No. 1 to require a two thirds vote on acts levying taxes is a siren song to a sorry solution. It is a remedy worse than the disease, for it destroys a fundamental principle for a doubtful benefit.

The defects of legislation are the result of human error and not the process, and no restraint on the method will add virtue to men. One does not remove a rotten branch by cutting the tree, end traffic tragedy by narrowing the road, nor suppress falsehood by restricting freedom of press or speech. The price is too great.

It is a sad situation when acts dealing with material things are elevated to legislative dignity not shared by laws for health, safety and public morality. Not even the enabling acts, which in reality give effect to most constitutional rights and benefits, enjoy the protection of the two thirds rule. They exist by the thin edge of a majority, but if the precedent of this proposal is sustained, a juke box, jug of liquor or a package of cigarettes will enjoy immunity not allowed to measure which protect life, liberty and human happiness.

This proposal hands to as few as fourteen men power to block revenue legislation for the gravest emergency, and gives to a crafty handful a device to dictate unequal distribution of funds, and thereby becomes an incentive to corruption. It will not provide one cent of tax relief on homes and real estate, but it is significant to note there is a great silence among proponents on this point. Actually the result may be even heavier taxes on real property , for with other sources limited these wortyy possessions may be called upon to bear a heavier burden.

Proposal No. 1 would hamper the orderly processes in providing funds for emergencies, education, highways. public projects, assistance to the aged, blind and disabled. It would restrict the ability to aid parishes and municipalities and in the provision of funds to match federal money granted through a congressional majority. Right now we are diligently seeking such funds for projects in our area.

It is a poor reform that chokes democracy and creates absurd inequities. By a simple majority a young man can be called to serve and even die for his country, but if the concept of this proposal is extended it will be easier to demand this sacrifice than to provide funds for his weapons.

The incentive for tax abuse is the increasing demand of citizens for "benefits". Would it be correct to end this evil by restricting the right of people to petition their public officials? I think not.

There are principles involved in the processes of government which arise above material values, and I shall not traduce these ideals by saying to any mother that the service of her son is of less worth than the soil he treads, nor the blood he sheds cheaper than the dust it stains. Two thirds vote to tax a juke box. Just a majority to send a boy to war and death. What a paradox!

Let those who would distort this statement as support of reckless taxation ponder these points.

Take Schools Out Of Politics

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have spent sixty years of my life in cooperation with the unified effort of the past and present generations to build up and improve our country, and to facilitate the rise of civilization to higher standards; but recently, we have been threatened with overthrow and chaos. The cause: dirty politics. I have dilligently sought relief, and I find that under present circumstances, the only remedy, is to take the principal assets for the advancement of civilization (public schools) out of politics, and place them into the hands of, and under the care of a more proficient and competent husbandry, the churches. The catholics have already set a precedent for us: why not take notice. This transfer can be made by a constitutional Amendment. Then the schools will be run under the eccleastical law, which is not enforceable outside the churches, and over which, the courts have no jurisdiction.

However, the declaration of independence sets forth principles which are regarded as self-evident —"that men are by nature endowed with certain inalienable rights; that governments are instituted to preserve these rights; that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed; that the governed may alter or abolish their government if it proves destructive of the ends for which it was established."

In order to abolish a government, or a law, it requires the unified effort of the Editors, Politicians, Lawyers, and the plebiscite. And if the citizens will do like the NAACP, put up the money to employ the best lawyers, and a donation on the side "for you know who," we can get a reversion of the rights denied to us in the May 17, 54, decision. But, you may rest assured that its going to take money.

Editorials

Republicans Seek Police Jury Posts

For the first time in decades, a partial Republican slate is entered from Ouachita Parish in Tuesday's general election. Three Republican candidates in Ward Ten, Monroe, are opposing three Democratic nominees for places on the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

The Republicans have only one entry in a statewide race—Harry Hill of Metairie, who is opposing Democratic Nominee Lether Frazar of Lake Charles for Lieutenant Governor. Mr. Frazar ran on the ticket with Governor-Elect Earl Long.

The Ward 10 races in Monroe have stirred up considerable interest. The three Republican entrants, all of them well known in the community, are Clark C. Boardman, Emory C. Dansby and Robert H. Easterling. Their Democratic opponents are L. U. Fourmy, Irvin W. Kilpatrick and A. E. Montgomery.

In a general election such as Tuesday's, voters are free to "split" their ballots and cross party lines at will. All voting in Louisiana now is done on machines. No party pledge binding upon the individual citizen exists.

The Ward 10 results will be watched locally as a possible index to expanded activity by the GOP in later elections.

Despite its failure to put a full slate in the field for state and parish offices, the Republican Party is becoming increasingly active, and it now has more than 50 groups working at local or regional levels under its banners.

The Republicans are making effective use of the argument that Louisiana needs a two-party system, in the interests of better government and increased progress.

Chief interest in Tuesday's election, of course, centers on the six proposed constitutional amendments. Mr. Long and those who will comprise his "cabinet" are opposing Amendments Nos. 1 and 3. The first of these would require a two-thirds vote of elected members of the Legislature for the passage of legislation imposing new taxes or hiking those now in effect. The Governor-elect, in stump speeches, has asserted that approval of this proposal would "hamstring" his administration. During his recent victorious primary campaign he declared against tax hikes, but more recently he has said that he may want to switch taxes around considerably, raising some and lowering others. Proponents of Amendment No. 1, on the other hand, champion the measure as a vital guaranty against extravagant expenditures, and point to the state's huge debt structure and already high taxes as proof of the need for new safeguards.

Amendment No. 3, which would reduce the maximum ad valorem mill tax of the Orleans Levee Board from 5 to 3 mills from now to 1959 and 2 mills thereafter, is opposed by Mr. Long on the ground that it is purely a "local matter" that should be decided by the voters of Orleans Parish alone.

Yet it is a proposal of statewide importance, affecting the Orleans Parish School Board and the future of education in the Crescent City; which, if not paid for at local levels, must be paid for by taxpayers of the State at large.

In 1954, the voters of New Orleans balloted five to one in favor of a similar proposal—voters of the entire state, three to one; but due to a technicality not present in the current proposal the State Supreme Court invalidated the proceedings.

Charges of "dirty politics" involving a political switch by Orleans Levee Board President Louis Roussel have been hurled by New Orleans newspapers. A former Kennon supporter, Mr. Roussel threw his influence behind Mr. Long in the recent campaign.

The Long forces have endorsed Amendment No. 2, which would exempt the properties of non-profit corporations such as International House and the Trade Mart in New Orleans from taxation.

They favor, also, Amendments Nos. 4, 5 and 6. Nos. 4 and 6, together, would provide a solid basis for a permanent program of highways and parish roads. No. 5, applying only to Monroe, would give the Monroe City School Board authority to increase its authorized debt limit up to 25 per cent of assessed valuation—which nearly all other school boards in Louisiana, now are able to do.

The Morning World is glad to see Governor-Elect Long throw his weight behind four of these six proposed constitutional amendments; but on careful examination finds little merit in his opposition to Amendments 1 and 3.

This newspaper urges that the voters support all six amendments at the polls Tuesday.

Royal Fourflushers Roam The Earth

Those who bump into a "genuine Italian prince" will be wise to maintain an attitude of skepticism. He may be Italian but the odds are against his being a "genuine prince."

It seems that when Italy became a republic and dethroned her monarch, the law dropped all reference to titles of nobility. As a result, there has been a rush to the "colors" on an unprecedented scale.

Titles are being sold in Italy at cut-rate prices. Everyone is free to attach to his name whatever titie he wishes, just as he adds "mister." The entire staff of one restaurant in Rome, from owner to dishwasher, is titled.

The new titles, like the old, are high-sounding, usually with terms like "capitular," "constantinian," "sovereign," "imperial," and so on. They come complete—for a price—with gold braid, plumed hats, boots, swords, gold spurs, medals, sashes and cloaks.

The defunct Italian nobility which still hangs around probably finds it disconcerting to be compelled to rub elbows with blooming fakers, but if so it's their own fault for not having built up resistance to being disconcerted.

Firemen Often Risk Their Lives

Death of six firemen in a fire in New York City brought to public attention anew the dangers of fire. Not only is the annual loss of life in such tragedies enormous, but monetary loss would almost pay the interest on the national debt.

It may seem to the public that firemen have it easy. The popular picture is of men sitting around playing checkers and cards most of the time. But when a fire occurs they risk their lives to save the lives of others as well as property, citizens become thankful for the firefighters' services.

Equally deserving of praise are the volunteer firemen of thousands of small towns, who spend little if any time in the firehouse, but respond with alacrity when the call comes.

State's Rights Issue

The United States Supreme Court has finally stirred Congress to action by its recent decisions centralizing more authority in the federal government and depriving the states of power which they have claimed as a matter of right for generations.

The court's new attitude, first revealed in the school desegregation case after Earl Warren became chief justice, has more recently been manifested in decisions restricting the states' powers in sedition cases.

The authority of the Supreme Court to make such decisions is not defined in the U. S. Constitution, but has become established over the years in a series of cases in which the court has interpreted the Constitution or has decided what Congress has in mind in acting on a particular piece of legislation.

The two most recent rulings which have riled many members of Congress held that states have no right to punish seditious conduct, though 41 states and 2 territories have enacted legislation for that purpose, and that city employees cannot be fired for invoking the Fifth amendment to avoid answering questions put by congressional investigating committees. The latter case arose out of the discharge of a New York school teacher by New York City education authorities.

The aftermath of these two decisions caused numerous southern members to smile. Previously many of their northern colleagues had assumed a lofty attitude on school desegregation, insisting that the Supreme Court could not have decided otherwise. Now the loudest complaints about the latest court actions come from the north. And before the end of this session, the Supreme Court may have its knuckles rapped by an act of Congress which will define the length to which the court may go in deciding what Congress had in mind when it enacted a law.

Recently the court declared invalid a Pennsylvania anti-sedition statute, under which Steve Nelson, a Communist leader in that state had been sentenced to 20 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on conviction on subversive activity. This decision had the effect of rendering invalid similar laws in 40 other states and 2 territories. It held that Congress in passing the Smith anti-sedition act, had intended that Communists should be tried for sedition only under federal statutes.

When the decision was rendered, Rep. Howard W. Smith (Dem.-Va.) chairman of the House Rules committee, and author of the Smith act, sitting in his office 200 yards from the Supreme Court building, said flatly that Congress had no intent to exclude states from legislating against sedition. But six members of the court had ruled to the contrary.

Since then, Rep. Smith has introduced a bill which says that "no act of Congress shall be construed as indicating an intent on the part of Congress to occupy the field in which such act operates, to the exclusion of all state laws on the same subject matter, unless such act contains an express provision to that effect".

That brings directly before Congress in concrete form, the states' rights issue brought to a head when the Supreme Court ordered school racial integration in 1954. Smith declared that the sedition dispute "was merely a symptom of a dangerous disease that has threatened to destroy completely the sovereignty of the states."

A leading northern Republican member of the House revealed some Republican thinking on the question when he said, "We put Earl Warren on the court, and now look where he's leading us"

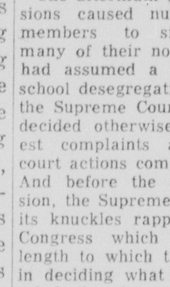

Smith does not believe his bill, which also has strong backing in the Senate, has any effect on the segregation dispute, which arises from the court's questioned interpretation of the Constitution, and no act of Congress is involved. But it will have solid southern support and possibly enough northern backing to pass both Houses of Congress.

Some observers believe that it may dispute the legislative right of way with the civil rights bill sponsored by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, backed by the Eisenhower Administration. The civil rights measure will have united southern opposition, but a good many northern Republicans appear to believe that the Smith bill is just as essential to keep the judicial branch of the government within what they view as the limits of its proper authority.

Lights Over Broadway

News is love and war, joy and death, Grace Kelly and Khrushchev. It encompasses the glories, tragedies and absurdities of the course of events. Highlights are reflected as well as shadows. The ambitions of nations are conveyed or the passions of an individual. International catastrophes, personal calamities, a pretty face and a homerun make headlines.

News has been accurately defined as "anything of interest to subscribers." And what interests subscribers was once shrewdly appraised by editor Walter Howey: "What you must put into the papers is an understanding of the desires, hopes, frustrations and emotions of the people you expect to read and absorb your stuff."

One of the outstanding soldiers of the press was Carl Magee. . .The reporter who uncovered the explosive facts about the Teapot Dome skulduggery. . .Consequently, he was involved in a shooting, ridiculed, assaulted, sued for libel and jailed on a phony charge. . .Friend concerned about his personal safety urged him to surrender. . .Magee replied: "This fight isn't going to be any good if I have to worry about what's going to happen to me! I'm trying to experiment in truth telling and I don't want to spoil it by worrying."

Although Victor Riesel is the latest casualty — there have been numerous predecessors in the free newspaper's fight for truth and decency. . .Donald R. Mellett of the Canton (Ohio) Daily News was killed by mobsters for exposing them . . .George Dale of the Muncie (Ind.) Post-Democrat fought the K.K.K. . .One night hooded hoodlums hammered him with fists and gun butts. . .Dale shot one Kluxer with a gun he wrenched from his hand. . .The K.K.K. gangers in high places railroaded him to jail. . .Four years later the State Supreme Court ruled in Dale's favor. . .For years the Butte (Montana) Daily Bulletin battled criminal elements. . .As a result every reporter was armed. . .And there were loaded rifles in the city room.

If news is "anything of interest to subscribers," then it logically follows that dullness is the death of journalism. A newspaper cannot exist without an audience any more than an actor. It must entertain as well as enlighten. History has its sideshows as well as tragedies. Laughing is as necessary as thinking. In other words, dailies should touch the heart and prod the funnybone, in addition to striving for intellectual stimulation.

Joseph Pulitzer gave another dimension to the anything - of - interest - to - subscribers definition. His irrefutable argument was that news is what interests editors. And he tipped newsmen: "Try to make me get a picture of everything, everything. Never think that anything is too small to be of interest. There is no such thing as an uninteresting story. There are only reporters who do not know how to present it in an interesting manner."

News, of course, is limited by the borders of public welfare and personal decency. Freedom of the press does not include the right to publish obscenity any more than free speech includes the right to incite riots. Nevertheless, the meaning of news changes with the times. What was considered a radical journalistic innovation about a century ago, is merely routine today . . . Newspapers were impersonal recorders of events until the advent of the personal interview. This technique was pioneered by Horace Greeley via an interview with Brigham Young wherein the Mormon leader admitted having 15 wives. The resulting uproar rocked the foundations of jouranlism, as the saying goes.

When Greeley's critics accused him of being vulgar, he responded: "A narrow mind is the essence of vulgarity."

News has a capricious quality, too. Personalities arouse greater interest than significant problems. The love stories of Margaret and Grace create more exciting reading than diplomatic debates. A single dramatic incident always has an intense fascination . . . Back in 1925 Floyd Collins was entombed in a Kentucky cave. The accident inspired 18 days of front - page headlines as geologists and engineers vainly struggled to rescue him. Collins' calm courage (in the face of almost certain doom) was bigger news than every domestic or global issue. Over 100 reporters covered it.

One month after his death, 50 Americans perished in a mine disaster, but it failed to attract a fraction of the newspaper space devoted to the Collins epic.

To Ernie Pyle news was people — all people. Amidst horror and thunder, Ernie captured the extraordinary qualities of ordinary folks. And he conveyed their courage and glory with warm simplicity. Many of his columns were published on page one. A Washington paper once devoted its entire front - age to a Pyle story.

5th District Flood Control

Washington, D.C.

Editor, Morning World:

As a forward-looking newspaper editor, you are, of course, vitally concerned with the vast problem of flood control in the lower Mississippi Valley. And you are surely particularly concerned with the phases of this problem applying to our own area of Louisiana.

No one would dispute, I think, the assertion that there is probably no single factor of more economic significance to our section of Louisiana than the program that has been, and is being, achieved in the overall project of floor control and major drainage. It is certainly essential to the welfare and development of our area of Louisiana that this work be continued in a sound and consistent manner.

Many of us, including myself, have not fully comprehended, however, the magnitude of the effort and the results being obtained in pursuing this project. In this connection, recently I was personally amazed at the revelation—from Major General John R. Hardin, president of the Mississippi River Commission—that the amount of Federal funds expended for flood control and related work in the Fifth Congressional District totaled nearly $1 million during the past decade.

This report covered a period beginning with fiscal 1947, continuing through fiscal 1955, with an estimate for fiscal 1956. It showed flood control expenditures during the period of $58,816,000, for main river work and $22,106,000, for off-river work, for a grand total of $80,922,000 — expended for work in the Fifth Congressional District during the tenure in Congress of U.S. Representative Otto E. Passman.

The engineering reports show that the overall project has a benefits-to-cost ratio of more than five to one — or tangible economic benefits of more than $415 million for the Fifth Congressional District during the 10-year period.

Many other areas have also been receiving substantial appropriations for this type of work; but the records indicate that few of them, if any, have been so fortunate as we have toward meeting the need.

The immortal Longfellow once said. . ."Though the mills of the Gods grind slowly, yet they grind exceedingly small. . ."

Recently, three West Monroe High School Students were unfairly penalized for participating in a public "show" for the benefit of the School Athletic Program, after having had the approval and-or invitation, of school coaches and principals to so participate.

Public opinion has been aroused in defense of these fine young men, one President of the Student Council, another President of the School Honor Society, and the third a son of a local minister; and all seniors and athletes of the highest type — whose future careers may have been irreparably damaged by the unfair ruling which ended their high school athletic careers before graduation. School Board officials are aware of the injustice; I feel sure that after proper, public, and impartial investigation of the facts — the hasty willingness on the part of the principals and coaches to classify the recent "entertainment" as a "contest" will be reversed and normal opportunity to advance the athletic careers of these fine young men restored.

Actually, the enforcement of the rules and regulations of the state high school athletic association needs no defense — (By your sports editor, my good friend Paul Martin, or anyone else) — but the method employed in that enforcement and the terrible effect of "Justice misapplied", should properly be the subject of editorial inquiry by your fine publication, as well as by radio and TV news outlets.

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I just want to thank Mr. J. W. Garland for publicizing the whole truth concerning the races and their condition in America. I just thank God Almighty that in these days of confusion and evil thinking we still have people able to stand up and tell the truth regardless of where the chips fall.

Those that know the Bible and history know he has spoken the truth. I know all true Christians will agree whole heartedly with this. I, too, am against mixed marriage of the races, but this doesn't mean that one race is suppose to be superior over the other races. We find in reading the scripture that Mr. Garland is true from all points of life. I say congratulations.

I have spent sixty years of my life in cooperation with the unified effort of the past and present generations to build up and improve our country, and to facilitate the rise of civilization to higher standards; but recently, we have been threatened with overthrow and chaos. The cause: dirty politics. I have dilligently sought relief, and I find that under present circumstances, the only remedy, is to take the principal assets for the advancement of civilization (public schools) out of politics, and place them into the hands of, and under the care of a more proficient and competent husbandry, the churches. The catholics have already set a precedent for us: why not take notice. This transfer can be made by a constitutional Amendment. Then the schools will be run under the eccleastical law, which is not enforceable outside the churches, and over which, the courts have no jurisdiction.

However, the declaration of independence sets forth principles which are regarded as self-evident —"that men are by nature endowed with certain inalienable rights; that governments are instituted to preserve these rights; that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed; that the governed may alter or abolish their government if it proves destructive of the ends for which it was established."

In order to abolish a government, or a law, it requires the unified effort of the Editors, Politicians, Lawyers, and the plebiscite. And if the citizens will do like the NAACP, put up the money to employ the best lawyers, and a donation on the side "for you know who," we can get a reversion of the rights denied to us in the May 17, 54, decision. But, you may rest assured that its going to take money.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Inactivity At Middle Age Will Lead To Overweight

A woman is more likely to become overweight from middle age on. During the busy years of rearing her family she may have dropped the habit of sports. For this reason after her children are grown she may not think of an afternoon of golf or walking or swimming, or of an evening of dancing. She simply has lost the habit.

It seems easier to perch oneself at a bridge table afternoon after afternoon than to start out learning to play golf. There is nothing more pleasant than a bridge game with friends but timidity about beginning some new sport or woman to lead a very sedentary physical exercise may cause the woman to live a very sedentary life from middle age on, just when she needs the exercise most.

The lady in question may not only find that she is gaining weight but that it is distributed less attractively than in the past. Middle-aged women need some exercise. If they do not have time or money to indulge in golf or dancing lessons or horseback riding, the brisk afternoon walk costs nothing but a little effort.

Exercises at home can replace the regular indulgence in sports although both are desirable. Stretching exercises are splendid. So are many other exercises. These do not have to be strenuous but should match the condition and capability of the individual and will add to energy, improve health and make the figure lovelier.

The diet should consist of less food calorie-wise but even more of the foods essential for health. Simple foods, prepared with a minimum of vitamin and mineral loss, plus exercise, will give both your glandular system (which slows up as we grow older) and your figure a lift.

The woman who centers her whole attention on health is not wise yet extreme stoicism at middle age is foolish. At this time physical weaknesses show up and at this time, especially, she should have regular physical examinations. She should also go to her doctor the minute she has any unusual symptoms.

Try this exercise. Lie on the floor on your back and place your heels on the seat of a chair. Arms rest on the floor at your sides. Keep your legs stiff as you lift your hips from the floor until your body makes a straight line from your shoulders to your heels. Hold for a few moments. Lower hips to the floor and continue.

PROMINENT DESIGNER—Capes are stirring up a breeze again—this one just enough cover against the chills of summer evenings. Follow the line of buttons—to the smart sleek dress beneath! "The cape-costume is completely changing our concept of warm-weather fashions," declares its talented American designer Jerry Parnis—"from bareness, to a lightly covered look." So much more graceful and feminine—we agree! This new theme carries on to the little sleeves of the dress; a slim, symmetric beauty (simple, yet wise in the ways of figure-flattery). Choose a crisp cotton or linen; fine silk surah or tweed—you have a wide selection of frabics to please your personal taste.

Pattern M309 is available in Misses' Sizes' 10, 12, 14, 16, and 18. Size 16 dress and cape require 4¾ yards 35-inch fabric.

TO BE HONORED — Ed Morris, freight agent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad at Monroe, will retire after 48 years of service with the firm. To honor Morris, railroad superintendent D. T. Barskdale has issued an invitation to friends and associates from throughout the area to attend an open house fete, Monday, April 16 at 4:40 p.m. and lasting until 6:30 p.m. at the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall in Monroe.

Beaumont Firm First To Accept Union's Demands

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 14 (AP)—Herman Weber Inc., of Beaumont, signed an agreement with the Operating Engineers Local 450 last night. It was the first accord in the 14-day old strike of 10,000 workers in the Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange area.

Work on three struck projects in Beaumont and one in Port Arthur will start Monday, said Herman Weber, president of the firm.

The union was granted a 17½ cent an hour increase—the wage hike it asked for before the strike started.

Work has halted on about 80 million dollars worth of projects.

Three Sailors Of Texas Navy To Be Honored

AUSTIN, April 14 (AP)—Three sailors of the Texas Navy will be honored anew at 4 p.m. tomorrow when the monuments on their graves are dedicated at the state cemetery by the Sons of the Republic of Texas.

The bodies of midshipman Fielding Culp, Capt. Robert Oliver and Lt. Charles Fuller were disinterred last year and reburied at the state cemetery. They had been buried in New Orleans where they died in 1842.

The era of the Texas Navy is a dramatic one in the state's history, punctuated with a mutiny, charges of piracy by the Texas Army and outstanding acts of bravery.

The high point in the Texas Navy's history was in December, 1841, when Commodore Edwin Moore and his fleet captured three Mexican schooners in the Gulf.

President Sam Houston, an Army man, was never overly enthusiastic about the Texas Navy and charged its commodore with "piracy" and "mutiny." Moore was later exonerated by the Texas Congress.

Monroe Teachers Pledge Support To 6-Point Plan

The Monroe City Teacher's Association in general assembly adopted a resolution to support the legislative program of the United School Committee and pledged its efforts to bring about the enactment if hte program.

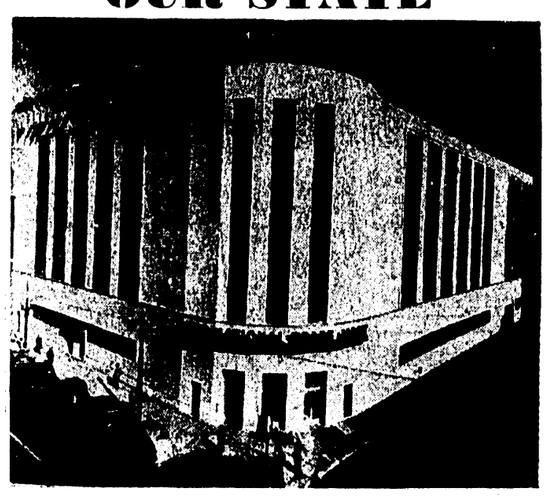

The six point program includes provisions for the adjustment to the minimum salary schedule; recommends that welfare laws and teacher retirment system be preserved in their present form; recommends that revenue from Louisiana Tidelands be dedicated to public education in Louisiana; recommends that all present funds provided for public elementary and secondary education be maintained and expanded to meet the needs annually; recommends that funds from the Rockefeller Foundation be dedicated to public education; and that there be no reduction in rates of the present taxes which support public education or any revenue sources from which public school funds are derived — that there be no diversion of public school funds as presently derived from taxes dedicated to the present public school system.

Copies of the resolution were sent to local legislators.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: I have recently been greatly wronged by an individual and I cannot find it in my heart to love my enemy as Christ said I should. What is the trouble (Name Withheld)

ANSWER: How much have you wronged Christ? How many things have you personally done which made Him sorry and which were an offense to Him? How many times have you failed to do the thing which, in your heart, you knew God wanted you to do? How often have you committed a wrong act deliberately, knowing it was wrong? But during all this time, did Christ stop loving you? If you repented, did you find Him unwilling to forgive you? It may help you to stop and think how great is the love of Christ, how wonderful His forgiveness and compassion to you, although you never deserved it. If you will do this, with an honest heart, I do not believe it will be hard for you to forgive the one who has wronged you. Ask God to give you a truly loving and forgiving heart. Ask especially that He will bless the one against whom you have these feelings. If you will do this, His peace and joy will come into your heart and instead of resentment, you will have love. Best of all, your attitude may be used of God to win your enemy.

Teenagers Fined For Tossing Water Filled Balloons

FLORENCE, Ala., April 14 (AP)—Six teen-age boys today were fined, given suspended jail sentences and told to be off the streets by 10 p.m. for throwing water-filled balloons at Negroes.

City Judge Thomas T. Roberts convicted the youths of disorderly conduct. They were charged with throwing the balloons from a car at Negroes who had attended church services.

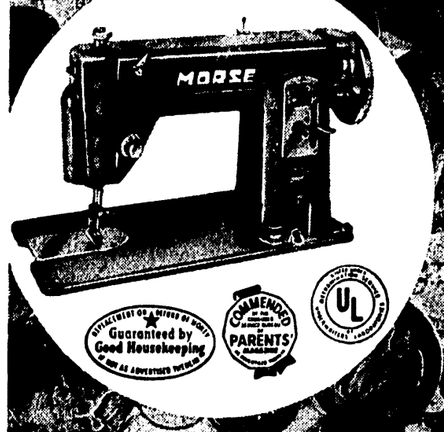

"The colored people of this town give us less trouble than you teen-agers."

Ask especially that He will bless the one against whom you have these feelings. If you will do this, His peace and joy will come into your heart and instead of resentment, you will have love. Best of all, your attitude may be used of God to win your enemy.

Teenagers Fined For Tossing Water Filled Balloons

FLORENCE, Ala., April 14 (AP)—Six teen-age boys today were fined, given suspended jail sentences and told to be off the streets by 10 p.m. for throwing water-filled balloons at Negroes.

City Judge Thomas T. Roberts convicted the youths of disorderly conduct. They were charged with throwing the balloons from a car at Negroes who had attended church services.

"The colored people of this town give us less trouble than you teen-agers."

TO BE HONORED — Ed Morris, freight agent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad at Monroe, will retire after 48 years of service with the firm. To honor Morris, railroad superintendent D. T. Barskdale has issued an invitation to friends and associates from throughout the area to attend an open house fete, Monday, April 16 at 4:40 p.m. and lasting until 6:30 p.m. at the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall in Monroe.

Three Sailors Of Texas Navy To Be Honored

AUSTIN, April 14 (AP)—Three sailors of the Texas Navy will be honored anew at 4 p.m. tomorrow when the monuments on their graves are dedicated at the state cemetery by the Sons of the Republic of Texas.

The bodies of midshipman Fielding Culp, Capt. Robert Oliver and Lt. Charles Fuller were disinterred last year and reburied at the state cemetery. They had been buried in New Orleans where they died in 1842.

The era of the Texas Navy is a dramatic one in the state's history, punctuated with a mutiny, charges of piracy by the Texas Army and outstanding acts of bravery.

The high point in the Texas Navy's history was in December, 1841, when Commodore Edwin Moore and his fleet captured three Mexican schooners in the Gulf.

President Sam Houston, an Army man, was never overly enthusiastic about the Texas Navy and charged its commodore with "piracy" and "mutiny." Moore was later exonerated by the Texas Congress.

Beaumont Firm First To Accept Union's Demands

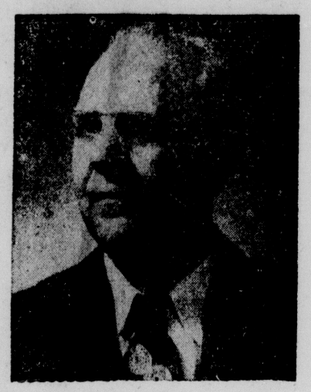

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 14 (AP)—Herman Weber Inc., of Beaumont, signed an agreement with the Operating Engineers Local 450 last night. It was the first accord in the 14-day old strike of 10,000 workers in the Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange area.

Work on three struck projects in Beaumont and one in Port Arthur will start Monday, said Herman Weber, president of the firm

The union was granted a 17½ cent an hour increase—the wage hike it asked for before the strike started.

Work has halted on about 80 million dollars worth of projects.

Alabama's 'Freedom Of Choice' Segregation Bill Approved By Governor

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 14 (AP)—In the wake of mob violence, Alabama started a bold new program today aimed at preserving school segregation by voluntary instead of mandatory compliance.

Gov. James E. Folsom, who has refused to approve other antirace mixing bills, signed into law a legislative act to give parents a "freedom of choice" in sending their children to segregated or integrated schools.

It would recognize mixed white and Negro classes, now specifically prohibited in the state constitution, but no child would be compelled to attend school with students of the other race.

Thus it could lead to a three-way school system—segregated for white and Negro, and integrated for both.

But it applies only to grade school and high school students and does not affect institutions of higher learning such as the University of Alabama, where rioting recently greeted the enrollment of the first Negro student, Autherine Lucy.

Miss Lucy was barred from the campus because of the mob action Feb. 6 and later expelled from the university over unproved charges against school authorities which grew out of the rioting. She has said she will seek readmission next fall.

The "take your choice" measure was enacted by the Legislature during a recent special session as an enabling act to implement a proposed constitutional amendment which will be voted on in Aug. 28.

Its purpose was to put the constitutional amendment into operation immediately upon ratification, since the amendment itself authorizes the Legislature to act and isn't self-executing. Like the act signed today, it authorized "freedom of choice" schools.

But the sponsor, Rep. N. S. Hare of Monroe County, said the new law will work without the constitutional amendment. He contends that the constitutional ban on mixed schools which would be repealed by the amendment is dead anyway because of the U.S. Supreme Court's integration decrees.

"This is purely a voluntary plan," he explained. "It offers an opportunity for freedom of choice of the type of school the parents want their children to attend, based on their individual conviction and preference.

"It furnishes a workable way to maintain segregation. It is not anti-Negro and it is not discriminatory."

Of course, Hare continued, "we must hasten to equalize and improve all school facilities so there can be no charge of discrimination of any kind."

Here's how the law would work:

Before the start of each school year, every prospective student would apply for admission, signifying his choice of segregated or integrated classes. Local school boards would know in advance what to look for, Hare explained, and would designate one or more schools for mixed enrollment.

The legislator emphasized that the law was designed to comply with the Supreme Court decisions but on the theory that "forced integration violates the U.S. Constitution the same as forced segregation."

"The court didn't say there must be forced integration," he observed, "It simply said there can be no compulsory segregation. Who can complain if he is given what he has freely chosen?"

Alabama already has a school placement law aimed solely at keeping Negroes out of white schools by giving local boards almost unlimited authority to assign students to classes.

But Hare said a similar Louisiana law has already been held unconstitutional.

Folsom, in signing the Hare bill today, said, "Its a down to earth proposition we can all work with. This is not a force bill. We down South object to force."

WANT AIRLINERS ON TIME

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— The Civil Aeronautics Board has proposed a new regulation to require scheduled airlines to operate at least three-fourths of their passenger flights on time. The board said "it appears that many airlines have published flight schedules which do not accurately reflect their actual times of departure and arrival."

Stevenson's Popularity In State Wanes As Result Of Two Major Setbacks

BATON ROUGE, April 14—UP —Adlai Stevenson, who in January had an inside track on Louisiana's 24 presidential convention votes, seems to be losing ground in the state.

His supporters are not openly deserting him, but they are getting discouraged by his not too brilliant displays of power in Minnesota and Illinois presidential primaries.

Gov.-elect Earl Long said recently he still "leaned" toward the Illinois Democrat, but "he's not putting out what people want to hear."

Delegates to the Chicago nominating convention question each other frequently: "Where do we go from here if Adlai can't deliver the votes?"

Long said Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) and Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio would make a fine team for President and vice-President.

Democratic national committeeman Camille Gravel of Alexandria, an out and out Stevenson supporter, said Stevenson's defeat in Minnesota at the hands of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) was not "fatal."

But Gravel reportedly is worried for fear another set back will send Stevenson's supporters here scooting to another corner.

Gravel promised to support the Democratic nominee regardless of who he is, but at last report he was still plumping for Stevenson.

Rufus Hayes of Baton Rouge, state chairman of the party's central committee, was "impressed" with Kefauver's victory in Minnesota, but he said Stevenson could not be counted out.

Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana said the Louisiana delegation will likely vote on the first ballot for Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas).

Sen. Long's uncle, Gov. - elect Long, snored when he heard of his nephew's comment.

"Looks to me like no man south of the Mason - Dixon line can be elected President this year," Gov. elect Long said.

Louisiana's senior Sen. Allen Ellender said in Washington if Kefauver or Gov. Averell Harriman of New York wins the presidential nomination, Southern Democrats will form a third party.

However, except for Ellender's comment little talk of a third party is heard in Louisiana.

The pro - segregation Citizens' Councils and the Southern Gentlemen's organization have made official public pronouncements on their preferences for Democratice nominee.

Gov.-elect Long said he was "watching" Symington, "a fine fellow," but "I don't know a lot about him."

Gov. Robert Kennon, a Democrat who supported President Eisenhower in 1952, has not stated he will support Mr. Eisenhower again.

Some delegates to the Chicago convention say Louisiana will wind up supporting the man who offers the state the best deal on the offshore oil lands, presently disputed by the federal government and Louisiana.

Supercarrier Saratoga, Crew Of 3,826 Join Navy

NEW YORK, April 14 —UP — The super - aircraft carrier Saratoga, the biggest ship afloat, joined the U. S. Fleet Saturday to ply the seven seas as an atom age watchdog.

The sixth vessel to bear the illustrious name of Saratoga was commissioned at colorful ceremonies in the New York naval shipyard in Brooklyn.

It was declared the mightiest fighting ship ever built and capable of serving for months without refueling as a vast floating airfield for the most powerful atom-bomb - carrying aircraft "of the present or foreseeable future."

"The Saratoga is the Navy's greatest offensive weapon," Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas declared. "She can range a hostile coastline, diluting an enemy's offense and defense. Because she will be capable of carrying the most destructive weapons, an enemy cannot afford to ignore her."

She also is one of the most luxurious ships in the Navy—complete with electronic galleys, automatic pototo peelers, easy chairs in recreation areas, softly tinted interiors and semi - private pullman type bunks with fluorescent bed lamps and individual air conditioning outlets.

"Since this ship can spend months at sea without coming into port," Thomas said, "she is equipped with the many things that are found in every city ... the Saratoga offers living comforts such as few ships in the American Navy have ever boasted."

The 60,000 - ton, 30 - knot, five-block long ship was started in December, 1952, and was christened last Oct. 8 by the wife of the Navy secretary.

Her proud crew of 466 officers and 3,360 enlisted men stood at attention on her four-acre deck, and her 100 jet planes saluted from a clear blue sky as the ship took her place as the successor of the famed World War II "Sara" and sister ship of the USS Forrestal, which joined the Navy last year.

Thomas welcomed the carrier as one of the greatest engineering projects ever undertaken and as one of the nation's greatest insurances against war.

"Inside her hull is the greatest accumulation of the most varied equipment, machinery and lethal weapons ever assembled in one place," he said.

"...In case of war, the Saratoga will defend our country by projecting our striking power over seas into the enemy's territory and thereby keeping the fighting away from our own shores."

Delta Suspends Alexandria Flight

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 14—UP—Alexandria will be without commercial airline service for at least 30 days beginning Monday.

Delta Airlines announced Saturday it would suspend all operations after the last flight Sunday because of runway construction work at England Air Force Base, which is also the commercial airport.

The Chamber of Commerce immediately protested the suspension and pointed out that a 5,500-foot runway was still open. Air Force officials said they would continue operations at the base, including flights by twin-engine planes.

Delta announced the runway improvement program at the base "makes it hazardous" to continue to land there. The announcement came from the Atlanta, Ga., office.

Delta is the only airline serving the city and has six daily flights.

Caddo Prisoner Crushed To Death At Penitentiary

ANGOLA, La., April 14 (AP) — Warden Maurice Sigler said today a 24-year-old convict tumbled under a tractor-drawn cane trailer and was crushed to death.

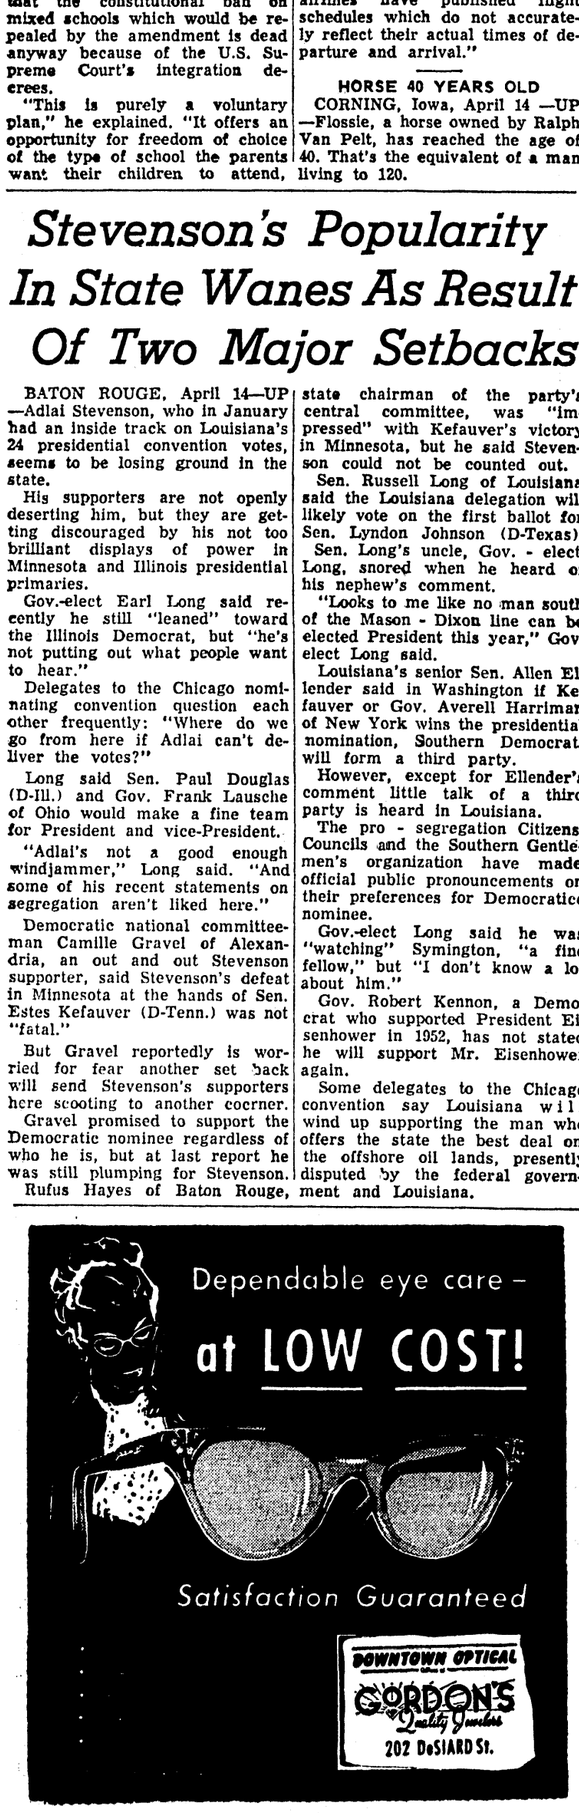

The warden identified the dead state penitentiary convict as Charles D. Clarkson, serving three years for simple burglary from Caddo Parish.

Clarkson was riding in the trailer with several other convicts, Sigler said. He reached for a book in the tractor driver's pocket as the tractor lurched, pitching him to the ground.

Gas Rate Hikes Rejected By FPC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two natural gas rate increases filed last year by J. M. Huber Corp. of Borger, Tex., were rejected yesterday by the Power Commission. It ordered an investigation of the firm's rates.

The commission said Huber recently filed motions to make the increases effective subject to refund.

Its action, said the commission, was based on a recent Supreme Court decision that rates established by contract may not be unilaterally changed by one of the parties.

The commission said it had started an investigation of the corporation's rates to determine whether they are "unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential."

The agency said Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co., of Kansas City did not consent to the rate change and filed a protest against it, and that Huber had submitted no evidence that Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha had agreed to the changes.

The increases would have amounted to $189,000 a year from sales to Panhandle and $182,000 a year on sales to Northern.

Heavy Selling Of Stocks Fail To Hurt Bull Market

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—The stock market this week ran into the most concentrated selling in six months. It weathered the blow.

A lot of apprehension was in the camp of the bulls while the market was going through the worst selling. The dip had to be considered minor.

The Associated Press average lost $2.60 for the week and closed at $188.90. The market stepped down Monday, fell hard Tuesday, recovered Wednesday, slipped Thursday, and then turned ahead on the final day.

Hardest hit were the higher priced blue chips, the kind of stocks found in the stock market averages. That made the slide look a lot more severe than it really was. Some of those very stocks were among the greatest recent gainers.

For several weeks, Wall Street has kept an eye on the Federal Reserve Board to see whether the discount rate would be boosted. After the close Thursday the board approved increases of the discount rate to 3 per cent in San Francisco and Minneapolis and to 2¾ per cent elsewhere, except in Chicago.

The discount rate is the charge made by Federal Reserve Banks for money they lend to their commercial bank members who in turn pass the higher charges on to customers. It was the fifth increase in a year and was another effort to check inflationary forces by discouraging borrowing.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Hupp Corp. up ½, Callahan Zinc up ⅞, Standard Oil (NJ) off 2⅛, U.S. Steel unchanged and Avco Mfg. off ¼.

Cotton Futures Turn Soft After Starting Week Up

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Cotton futures prices started out on a firm note this week but turned soft on expectations that the new farm bill might be vetoed.

With the exception of nearby May, all active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished in the minus column. Net losses for the week ranged to $1.45 a bale. Nearby May closed 40 cents a bale higher.

The market was strong early in the week, when it appeared likely that some sort of a compromise might be hammered out between Congress and the White House on new farm legislation.

Later in the week, selling developed as traders inclined to the view that the new farm bill with its provision for rigid price supports at 90 per cent of party might run a considerable risk of meeting with a presidential veto.

Many in the trade felt that if the bill were vetoed, the secretary of agriculture could be expected to announce a 1956 loan rate of 32½ cents on middling, inch cotton. If the farm bill should become law, it was felt, a loan rate of 35.10 cents would be in prospect.

Some selling in futures resulted from failure of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to announce details of its pending cotton surplus export program.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 58,000 bales. This compared with shipments of 66,000 bales the previous week and 59,000 in the like week of 1955.

For the season through Tuesday, the estimated total now stands at 1,285,000 bales. This is less than half the 2,729,000 bales which had been shipped out of the country at approximately the same time last season.

SPEEDER STOPPED

GALVESTON, Tex. —(AP)— Officer A. E. Mize really caught a speeder. Mize clocked a motorcycle at 40 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone and waved the rider to the side of the road. As the cycle slowed to a stop behind the patrol car it hit soft dirt and tossed the rider onto the rear bumper of the police car.

Crude Oil Price Increase Looms, Officials Report

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Talk of a possible increase in the price of crude oil was heard this week.

An increase is "necessary and inevitable," declared Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA). He called it "overdue and unavoidable."

Higher costs of wages, steel and other materials make a price boost necessary, he said, adding:

"Despite rising costs there has been no adjustment in over-all crude oil prices in almost three years and only one small increase in more than eight years.

"Oil and gas have consistently been among the lowest items in the consumer's cost of living. They will continue to be after the price is adjusted."

Brown wrote to IPAA members that these other factors contributed to the need for a price increase:

Higher costs of finding and developing new reserves, which he said take "the largest part of every dollar received by producers from the sale of oil and gas."

Federal control of natural gas prices.

"Excessive oil imports."

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Texas has protested to the (FPC) its proposal to require independent natural gas producers to report on all sales of gas,¼ interstate and intrastate.

Shepperd wrote the commission that he felt strongly that such a rule would be "unsupported by law, in direct and open conflict with the expressed intent of Congress, and a capricious exercise of an authority not possessed by the Federal Power Commission."

He said the only purpose to be served by FPC control is the "consumer interest" and "even that interest, if it is indeed served by FPC, would not extend to sales wholly within this (Texas) or any other producing state."

"The commission," he added, "might logically be interested in the price of Texas gas sold in Boston, Mass., but it cannot justify an interest in Texas gas sold in Boston, Texas."

The type wife who doesn't speak to her husband when she's mad with him isn't as annoying as the vituperative type, but she's far more dangerous.

ROMANCE 'FULL STEAM AHEAD' FOR GRACE AND PRINCE—Happy Grace Kelly smiles as she talks with her prince charmiing, Rainier III, on the deck of his yacht, Deo Juvante II, in Monaco Harbor. Miss Kelly has her hand on the engine room telegraph, no doubt hoping that everything is "full steam ahead" for their wedding next week. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Monaco)

Prince Rainier And Aides Grapple With Press Woes

MONTE CARLO, April 14 (AP)—Prince Rainier III and a hand full of Monacan officials grappled this week with mounting press problems posed by the Rainer-Kelly wedding.

"I don't want this wedding to become a circus," said the Prince. "I want it to be dignified—and I can be brutal about it if I have to."

Whatever his views are on a circus, his principality is beginning to look somewhat like it. Gay lights ring the harbor. Officials have strung flags and bunting everywhere. Powerful spotlights are being installed to light up the courtyard in front of the palace, where lavish spectacles are planned. Barber pole striped flagpoles have been put up at the border so the visitor immediately knows something is afoot.

Rainier has insisted from the first on approving press arrangements, although he was perfectly frank in admitting he has no experience in such matters.

Plans for the press coverage of the two marriages — civil and church—have changed numerous times. As of today here's how they stand:

Civil ceremony in the small throne room of the palace on Wednesday—20 representatives of press, radio, television and newsreel in a place with a total capacity for about 80.

Three "official photographers" will cover certain small parties and the official celebrations and supply their pictures to the others.

"I want to see those pictures before they're handed out," said the Prince, "for I know how certain photographers operate. They'll take 50 pictures of you and then use only the one in which you're blowing your nose."

To accommodate those with no passes to the two weddings, the Prince has installed TV sets in Monaco's Oceanographic Museum located about 500 yards from the cathedral and 1,000 yards from the palace.

TV Monte Carlo will televise the marriages.

Grains Tumble

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—Grains greeted final congressional approval of new farm legislation with a sharp price drop on the Board of Trade this week.

May wheat closed 1¼ lower. New crop futures were off 8⅝-9¼. Corn finished 3⅝-4¾ lower, oats 2⅛-2⅞ lower, rye 5⅜-7½ lower, old crop soybeans 3 to 4¼ higher, new crop soybeans 4¾-5½ lower and lard 47 to 58 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Good news from State Farm Mutual
"the careful driver insurance company"

STATE FARM Auto Life Fire INSURANCE

New! Low-cost auto insurance plan

Lowest renewal rates available to the general public in Louisiana... 25% lower than the rates charged by most other companies.

Thanks to a recent ruling by Louisiana officials, State Farm Mutual auto insurance is now an even better buy.

NEW LOW RATES:

In recognition of its streamlined, money-saving operating methods, State Farm Mutual is now permitted to sell auto insurance to its present members at 25% less than the rates fixed for most other companies by the State. And this 25% saving is pocketed by members in advance. It is not paid afterwards in the form of a dividend.

For present members, these new rates become effective with their first renewal after May 13, 1956.

NEW MEMBERSHIP FEE:

This is a slightly higher premium paid once only by new members for their first 6 months of insurance. This membership fee helps make low rates possible. It covers sales cost, such as sales commission and other sales costs of putting a new member's name on the books. It's charged once and only once—the first time you take out a coverage.

Present State Farm members are not required to pay membership fees for coverages they now carry.

Gas Rate Hikes Rejected By FPC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two natural gas rate increases filed last year by J. M. Huber Corp. of Borger, Tex., were rejected yesterday by the Power Commission. It ordered an investigation of the firm's rates.

The commission said Huber recently filed motions to make the increases effective subject to refund.

Its action, said the commission, was based on a recent Supreme Court decision that rates established by contract may not be unilaterally changed by one of the parties.

The commission said it had started an investigation of the corporation's rates to determine whether they are "unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential."

The agency said Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co., of Kansas City did not consent to the rate change and filed a protest against it, and that Huber had submitted no evidence that Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha had agreed to the changes.

The increases would have amounted to $189,000 a year from sales to Panhandle and $182,000 a year on sales to Northern.

Heavy Selling Of Stocks Fail To Hurt Bull Market

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—The stock market this week ran into the most concentrated selling in six months. It weathered the blow.

A lot of apprehension was in the camp of the bulls while the market was going through the worst selling. The dip had to be considered minor.

The Associated Press average lost $2.60 for the week and closed at $188.90. The market stepped down Monday, fell hard Tuesday, recovered Wednesday, slipped Thursday, and then turned ahead on the final day.

Hardest hit were the higher priced blue chips, the kind of stocks found in the stock market averages. That made the slide look a lot more severe than it really was. Some of those very stocks were among the greatest recent gainers.

For several weeks, Wall Street has kept an eye on the Federal Reserve Board to see whether the discount rate would be boosted. After the close Thursday the board approved increases of the discount rate to 3 per cent in San Francisco and Minneapolis and to 2¾ per cent elsewhere, except in Chicago.

The discount rate is the charge made by Federal Reserve Banks for money they lend to their commercial bank members who in turn pass the higher charges on to customers. It was the fifth increase in a year and was another effort to check inflationary forces by discouraging borrowing.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Hupp Corp. up ½, Callahan Zinc up ⅞, Standard Oil (NJ) off 2⅛, U.S. Steel unchanged and Avco Mfg. off ¼.

Cotton Futures Turn Soft After Starting Week Up

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Cotton futures prices started out on a firm note this week but turned soft on expectations that the new farm bill might be vetoed.

With the exception of nearby May, all active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished in the minus column. Net losses for the week ranged to $1.45 a bale. Nearby May closed 40 cents a bale higher.

The market was strong early in the week, when it appeared likely that some sort of a compromise might be hammered out between Congress and the White House on new farm legislation.

Later in the week, selling developed as traders inclined to the view that the new farm bill with its provision for rigid price supports at 90 per cent of party might run a considerable risk of meeting with a presidential veto.

Many in the trade felt that if the bill were vetoed, the secretary of agriculture could be expected to announce a 1956 loan rate of 32½ cents on middling, inch cotton. If the farm bill should become law, it was felt, a loan rate of 35.10 cents would be in prospect.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 58,000 bales. This compared with shipments of 66,000 bales the previous week and 59,000 in the like week of 1955.

For the season through Tuesday, the estimated total now stands at 1,285,000 bales. This is less than half the 2,729,000 bales which had been shipped out of the country at approximately the same time last season.

SPEEDER STOPPED

GALVESTON, Tex. —(AP)— Officer A. E. Mize really caught a speeder. Mize clocked a motorcycle at 40 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone and waved the rider to the side of the road. As the cycle slowed to a stop behind the patrol car it hit soft dirt and tossed the rider onto the rear bumper of the police car.

Crude Oil Price Increase Looms, Officials Report

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Talk of a possible increase in the price of crude oil was heard this week.

An increase is "necessary and inevitable," declared Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA). He called it "overdue and unavoidable."

Higher costs of wages, steel and other materials make a price boost necessary, he said, adding:

"Despite rising costs there has been no adjustment in over-all crude oil prices in almost three years and only one small increase in more than eight years.

"Oil and gas have consistently been among the lowest items in the consumer's cost of living. They will continue to be after the price is adjusted."

Brown wrote to IPAA members that these other factors contributed to the need for a price increase:

Higher costs of finding and developing new reserves, which he said take "the largest part of every dollar received by producers from the sale of oil and gas."

Federal control of natural gas prices.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Texas has protested to the (FPC) its proposal to require independent natural gas producers to report on all sales of gas,¼ interstate and intrastate.

Shepperd wrote the commission that he felt strongly that such a rule would be "unsupported by law, in direct and open conflict with the expressed intent of Congress, and a capricious exercise of an authority not possessed by the Federal Power Commission."

He said the only purpose to be served by FPC control is the 'consumer interest" and "even that interest, if it is indeed served by FPC, would not extend to sales wholly within this (Texas) or any other producing state."

"The commission," he added, "might logically be interested in the price of Texas gas sold in Boston, Mass., but it cannot justify an interest in Texas gas sold in Boston, Texas."

The type wife who doesn't speak to her husband when she's mad with him isn't as annoying as the vituperative type, but she's far more dangerous.

Prince Rainier And Aides Grapple With Press Woes

MONTE CARLO, April 14 (AP)—Prince Rainier III and a hand full of Monacan officials grappled this week with mounting press problems posed by the Rainer-Kelly wedding.

"I don't want this wedding to become a circus," said the Prince. "I want it to be dignified—and I can be brutal about it if I have to."

Whatever his views are on a circus, his principality is beginning to look somewhat like it. Gay lights ring the harbor. Officials have strung flags and bunting everywhere. Powerful spotlights are being installed to light up the courtyard in front of the palace, where lavish spectacles are planned. Barber pole striped flagpoles have been put up at the border so the visitor immediately knows something is afoot.

Rainier has insisted from the first on approving press arrangements, although he was perfectly frank in admitting he has no experience in such matters.

Plans for the press coverage of the two marriages — civil and church—have changed numerous times. As of today here's how they stand:

Civil ceremony in the small throne room of the palace on Wednesday—20 representatives of press, radio, television and newsreel in a place with a total capacity for about 80.

Three "official photographers" will cover certain small parties and the official celebrations and supply their pictures to the others.

"I want to see those pictures before they're handed out," said the Prince, "for I know how certain photographers operate. They'll take 50 pictures of you and then use only the one in which you're blowing your nose."

To accommodate those with no passes to the two weddings, the Prince has installed TV sets in Monaco's Oceanographic Museum located about 500 yards from the cathedral and 1,000 yards from the palace.

TV Monte Carlo will televise the marriages.

Grains Tumble

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—Grains greeted final congressional approval of new farm legislation with a sharp price drop on the Board of Trade this week.

May wheat closed 1¼ lower. New crop futures were off 8⅝-9¼. Corn finished 3⅜-4¾ lower, oats 2⅛-2⅞ lower, rye 5⅜-7½ lower, old crop soybeans 3 to 4¼ higher, new crop soybeans 4¾-5½ lower and lard 47 to 58 cents a hundred pounds higher.

STATE FARM Auto Life Fire INSURANCE

New! Low-cost auto insurance plan

Lowest renewal rates available to the general public in Louisiana... 25% lower than the rates charged by most other companies.

NEW LOW RATES:

In recognition of its streamlined, money-saving operating methods, State Farm Mutual is now permitted to sell auto insurance to its present members at 25% less than the rates fixed for most other companies by the State. And this 25% saving is pocketed by members in advance. It is not paid afterwards in the form of a dividend.

For present members, these new rates become effective with their first renewal after May 13, 1956.

NEW MEMBERSHIP FEE:

This is a slightly higher premium paid once only by new members for their first 6 months of insurance. This membership fee helps make low rates possible. It covers sales cost, such as sales commission and other sales costs of putting a new member's name on the books. It's charged once and only once—the first time you take out a coverage.

Present State Farm members are not required to pay membership fees for coverages they now carry.

Ninth Anniversary Of Disaster

Firemen To Commemorate Texas City Dead Monday; Town Rebuilt From Ruins

TEXAS CITY, April 14 —UP— City firemen Monday will place a wreath in a small cemetery off Highway 146, a silent remembrance of 71 dismembered and unidentified persons.

And another year—the ninth —will have passed since death and destruction rained down on this Gulf Coast city, killing more than 5 persons, injuring 2, others, and causing $5 million damage.

The single wreath will be the only memorial. No other is planned.

It's not because Texas City has forgotten the others, or the horror and terror that began when a ship exploded in the harbor April 16, 1947.

"It's just that we want to look forward, not backward," said newly-elected Mayor Jack Godard who left the docks just five minutes before a French ship, the SS. Grandecampe, loaded with explosive chemical fertilizer, blew apart.

"Had I stayed on that dock five minutes longer, I wouldn't be here today," Godard said.

Many families lost breadwinners and loved ones. Others never knew. The 71 persons buried in the little set-apart cemetery were never identified.

When the French ship blew apart, it touched off a blast in another ship, and fire and tons of jagged steel tore through the city, where huge chemical plants and refineries were easy targets for chain-reaction explosions.

The memory is still poignant to survivors like Mrs. H. M. Strong, a pioneer resident of this city on Galveston Bay. Her son only last year underwent surgery to remove glass particles imbedded in him.

"If a blessing could come from such a terrible thing," Mrs. Strong said, "the improvements made in the slums area were a blessing."

The slums areas was all but obliterated by the blasts.

Texas City's population is now 25,000 double what it was in 1947. —and its annual payroll is $5 million, also doubled. New homes dot the prairies from which livestock watched the holocaust in 1947.

The great chemical companies are bigger now. The Monsanto plant, levelled by explosion and fire, was rebuilt. The scars have gone from the Republic and American oil companies tank farms.

New industries have come in New homes and new schools have been built.

Johnson Backers Launch Campaign For Nomination

AUSTIN, April 14 —UP— Supporters of Lyndon Johnson Saturday launched a movement booming the Senate majority leader for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"No Texan in the history of the state has ever had a better opportunity of being nominated for president on the Democratic ticket than Senator Johnson," Austin Mayor Tom Miller said in a radio speech accepting co-chairmanship of the "Johnson for President committee."

Miller's statement came as Johnson and Gov. Allan Shivers readied battle lines for a winner-take-all fight to control Texas' 56 votes at the Democratic national convention.

Johnson, bidding for the favorite son nomination by Texas Democrats, also seeks to head the national convention delegation, a post also sought by Shivers.

An ardent party-line man, Miller refused to follow Shivers in 1952 when the governor led a majority of Texas' conservative Democrats into the Republican camp in support of President Eisenhower.

Miller referred to Mr. Eisenhower's victory and said his "broad support and election in 1952 ended forever the myth that a man born in Texas could not be lected presilent. The people of this great nation are going to judge men by their record and by what they believe, not by where they are born."

Announcement of the "Johnson for President" committee coincided with the Senate majority leader's return to Texas for what he insisted was a "weekend of rest."

The other co-chairman, tagged to serve with Miller, was not announced. However, a key Democrat who joined Shivers four years ago in support of Mr. Eisenhower was rumored receiving top consideration for the post.

"In 1956 Texas Democrats ought to have—and can have—the opportunity to "vote Texan by voting Democratic" with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson as the standard-bearer on our national ticket," Miller said.

The mayor, long active in Democratic circles, served as state finance chairman during former President Truman's 1948 campaign.

Federal Reserve's Hike In Rediscount Rate Used To Check U. S. Inflation

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—The nation's business showed symptons of inflationary growing pains this week—and the Federal Reserve prescribed corrective treatment.

The symptons included: Rising prices of industrial materials, heavy bank borrowings by business firms, evidence that some manufacturers were buying steel beyond their needs in the expectation that prices would go up so they could turn a quick profit.

The cure prescribed was a time-tested one—an increase in interest rates which would tighten the screws on credit. The reserve system, sometimes called the "bankers' bank," authorized an increase in the interest rate the federal reserve banks charge on loans to commercial banks. The new rate, which ranges as high as 3 per cent in San Francisco and Minneapolis, is the highest in 22 years.

Commercial banks promptly passed the increase along to their customers. Chase Manhattan, New York's biggest bank, boosted its prime rate to 3¾ per cent. The prime rate is the interest paid by blue chip business firms with top credit ratings; other borrowers pay more.

For consumers, the board's action raised the possibility of higher interest rates on new mortgages, and higher service charges and stiffer pay-off terms on installment loans.

Big business, which had budgeted a record 35 billion dollars for 1956 expansion, might reconsider some of its programs. Projects which could be put off until a later date might be delayed until borrowing costs turn lower.

While some economists questioned the timing of the board's action, most agreed that it would accomplish what it had set out to do: Curb use of bank credit for excessive inventory building.

The steel industry was straining to keep up with orders. Steelmakers continued to clamor for price rises; President Avery C. Adams of Pittsburgh Steel Co., named a specific figure—$12 to $15 a ton.

Domestic producers of crude oil were singing in the same key. Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, said a boost in the price of U.S. crude is "necessary and inevitable." The giant Standard Oil Co. (N. J.) urged government, business and labor leaders to combat inflationary trends with "restraint and prudent actions."

Announcement of the bank rate boost came late Thursday. Tuesday the stock market experienced its sharpest fall in six months, with the Associated Press 60-stock average tumbling $2.60 at $188. Brokers said the decline was triggered by a new flurry of war jitters in the Middle East. But in the background, they explained, was a growing awareness among traders that an anti-inflation move was just about due. At week's end, the market rallied.

Although the auto industry pushed out its two millionth car of 1956 this week, production was still lagging about 25 per cent behind the boom levels of a year ago. Dealers complained that the spring sales upturn so far had not shown as much bounce as they had hoped for.

Things were looking up in the home-building field. Last month, ground was broken for 96,000 new homes, a gain of 23 per cent over February. This was far below the 113,800 new homes started in March a year ago, but the outlook was for a big upsurge in the months ahead. F. W. Dodge Corp. said dollar value of contracts awarded in March for future home construction smashed all records for that month. Gist of the Dodge report: Fewer homes may be started this spring than last, but they will be bigger more expensive homes and the total cost will be greater.

The 72 Ionic columns of the U.S. Treasury building form one of the capital's classic sights. Each column measures 36 feet, nine inches in height, 12 feet, 6¾ inches in circumference, and weighs 35 tons. All were cut from single blocks of granite.

$50,000 In Jewels Stolen

Monte Carlo Thieves Rob Treasurer Of Demo Party

MONTE CARLO, April 14 —UP —Riviera thieves stole $50,000 worth of jewelry Saturday from the hotel room of Philadelphia publisher William McCloskey, who came here to be a guest at Grace Kelly's wedding to Prince Ranier.

The theft was only one of the troubles to beset Prince Ranier with his April 18-19 wedding only a few days away. Rain has fallen every day since Miss Kelly arrived Thursday, and the prince's latest brush' with photographers led Miss Kelly's father to remark smilingly, "I guess the prince is going to have to learn to roll with the punches."

McCloskey, who publishes the Philadelphia Daily News and is treasurer of the national Democratic committee, disclosed the theft of the jewels which his wife had left in a red velvet case in a wardrobe of their room at the Hotel de Paris. Apparently they were taken while the McCloskeys were out Friday night.

The theft recalled Miss Kelly's recent movie, "To Catch a Thief" which she made on the nearby Riviera with Cary Grant, who played the role of a suspected jewel thief. The Riviera has been a happy hunting grounds for jewel thieves for many years.

The United Press learned details of the theft shortly before officials ordered a security blackout on information about it.

The McCloskeys, who did not miss the jewels until Saturday morning, disclosed that another case which said contained even more valuable jewelry was left untouched.

The hotel spent several hours trying to recover the jewels before calling in police Saturday afternoon. Security measures were ordered, and even the main doors of the luxurious hotel were sealed off to guests, who were forced to use a side entrance to enter and leave the building.

Mrs. McCloskey said the most valuable of the stolen items was a coral and diamond necklace valued at $15,000. A turquoise and diamond necklace and earrings and a bracelet valued at $10,000 also were taken.

McCloskey, a personal friend of the Kelly family, cabled to Philadelphia for details of the jewelry's description to aid investigators.

Mrs. McCloskey said family heirlooms were included in the case which was stolen.

"I was warned that it was dangerous to keep them with me, but I guess I just got careless," she said.

Chance Is Seen For Genealogical Archives Setup

"There is a very good chance to get genealogical archives established in the state of Louisiana this year," stated Miss Mary Elizabeth Sanders of New Orleans, president of the state organization of the Louisiana Genealogical and Historical Society at a meeting in the Ouachita Parish court house Saturday.

She continued, "Louisiana and Florida are the only two states in the union not having such archives."

Miss Sanders went on to say that Louisiana has a long and romantic past which is worth preserving and that the records are uncatalogued and deteriorating and that this organization is working toward the organization of a State Department of Archives to preserve the records for posterity.

She stated that a bill will be introduced in the next state legislature for funds to establish the archives and urged that all members work toward passing the bill.

Many members told how they had been able to trace their ancestry and named the families in which they were interested. Some were seeking to establish their legendary descent as fact. Some newcomers were interested in learning how to begin working on a genealogical record.

Reports were given of work being done in various sections or by groups. One person reported that all the headstones in Winn parish had been catalogued. Another told of a Girl Scout group in Columbia which were preparing a historical diary which they hoped would be kept by the state archives.

An important part of the meeting was the session after business in which members from all over the state could get together on family names they were trying to trace.

Miss Sanders presided at the meeting, Mrs. Norma D. Core, Covington, secretary - treasurer gave a report, and Mrs. Bertha Neff, Baton Rouge, member of the board of trustees and chairman of the legislative committee explained the legislative resolution adopted by the organization.

After the state meeting was over, the people from the Monroe area met to decide whether they would organize a local chapter. Mrs Travis Tynes, 500 Moore Avenue, Monroe, was appointed temporary chairman and the date and meeting place for organization will be announced later.

Attending the conference from outside the Twin Cities were Miss Ruth Haigler, Jonesboro; Mrs. Emmeline D. Wurster, Jonesville; A. W. Bridges, Shreveport; Mrs. Maude Van Fossen, Lake Providence; Mrs. Margaret M. Newman, Lake Providence; Miss Katherine Chinn Colbert, Shreveport; Mrs. Paul M. Campbell, Minden; Miss Sydney M. Kilpatrick, Alexandria; Mrs. Raphael Block, Ringold; Mrs. J. S. Wheadon, Alexandria; Jack Hadnot, Leesville; and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sawers, Winnfield.

Ninth Anniversary Of Disaster

TEXAS CITY, April 14 —UP— City firemen Monday will place a wreath in a small cemetery off Highway 146, a silent remembrance of 71 dismembered and unidentified persons.

And another year—the ninth—will have passed since death and destruction rained down on this Gulf Coast city, killing more than 5 persons, injuring 2, others, and causing $5 million damage.

The single wreath will be the only memorial. No other is planned.

It's not because Texas City has forgotten the others, or the horror and terror that began when a ship exploded in the harbor April 16, 1947.

"It's just that we want to look forward, not backward," said newly-elected Mayor Jack Godard who left the docks just five minutes before a French ship, the SS. Grandecampe, loaded with explosive chemical fertilizer, blew apart.

"Had I stayed on that dock five minutes longer, I wouldn't be here today," Godard said.

Many families lost breadwinners and loved ones. Others never knew. The 71 persons buried in the little set-apart cemetery were never identified.

When the French ship blew apart, it touched off a blast in another ship, and fire and tons of jagged steel tore through the city, where huge chemical plants and refineries were easy targets for chain-reaction explosions.

The memory is still poignant to survivors like Mrs. H. M. Strong, a pioneer resident of this city on Galveston Bay. Her son only last year underwent surgery to remove glass particles imbedded in him.

"If a blessing could come from such a terrible thing," Mrs. Strong said, "the improvements made in the slums area were a blessing."

The slums areas was all but obliterated by the blasts.

Texas City's population is now 25,000 double what it was in 1947. —and its annual payroll is $5 million, also doubled. New homes dot the prairies from which livestock watched the holocaust in 1947.

The great chemical companies are bigger now. The Monsanto plant, levelled by explosion and fire, was rebuilt. The scars have gone from the Republic and American oil companies tank farms.

New industries have come in New homes and new schools have been built.

Johnson Backers Launch Campaign For Nomination

AUSTIN, April 14 —UP— Supporters of Lyndon Johnson Saturday launched a movement booming the Senate mojority leader for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"No Texan in the history of the state has ever had a better opportunity of being nominated for president on the Democratic ticket than Senator Johnson," Austin Mayor Tom Miller said in a radio speech accepting co-chairmanship of the "Johnson for President committee."

Miller's statement came as Johnson and Gov. Allan Shivers readied battle lines for a winner-take-all fight to control Texas' 56 votes at the Democratic national convention.

Johnson, bidding for the favorite son nomination by Texas Democrats, also seeks to head the national convention delegation, a post also sought by Shivers.

An ardent party-line man, Miller refused to follow Shivers in 1952 when the governor led a majority of Texas' conservative Democrats into the Republican camp in support of President Eisenhower.

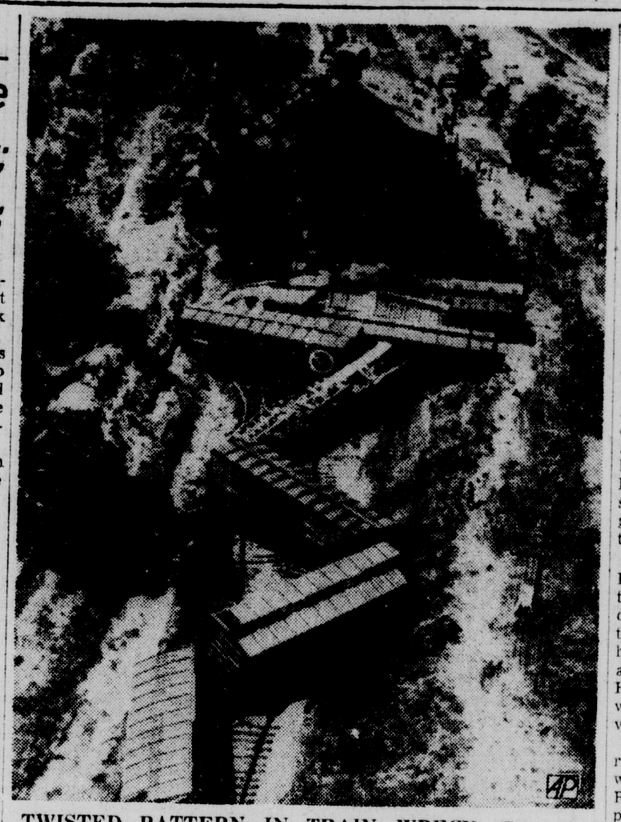

Miller referred to Mr. Eisenhower's victory and said his "broad support and election in 1952 ended forever the myth that a man born in Texas could not be lected presilent. The people of this great nation are going to judge men by their record and by what they believe, not by where they are born."

Announcement of the "Johnson for President" committee coincided with the Senate majority leader's return to Texas for what he insisted was a "weekend of rest."

The other co-chairman, tagged to serve with Miller, was not announced. However, a key Democrat who joined Shivers four years ago in support of Mr. Eisenhower was rumored receiving top consideration for the post.

"In 1956 Texas Democrats ought to have—and can have—the opportunity to "vote Texan by voting Democratic" with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson as the standard-bearer on our national ticket," Miller said.

The mayor, long active in Democratic circles, served as state finance chairman during former President Truman's 1948 campaign.

Federal Reserve's Hike In Rediscount Rate Used To Check U. S. Inflation

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 14 —UP—Scientists who experimented with tars from burning tobacco said Saturday that lung cancer could be reduced by 75 per cent if people did not smoke cigarets.

The scientists served on a panel which discussed a possible tie-up between heavy smoking and cancer of the lungs. They took part in the 47th annual meeting of the American Association for Cancer Research.

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— Sen. Allen J. Ellender said Saturday night the Eisenhower administration's "shotgun approach" to civil rights "should and must be completely repudiated by our people."

The Louisiana Democrat said Mr. Eisenhower's six-point civil rights program, sent to Congress this week, "is the first step in what will evidently be an attempt to place under federal jurisdiction not only the basic rights of states and local governments but the individual and personal rights of the people as well."

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 14 —UP—Four Nationalist F-84 Thunderjets jumped four Red Chinese MIGs north of the offshore island of Matsu Saturday and downed one of the Communist planes, the defense ministry announced.

A communique said the dogfight lasted three minutes and all the American - built Nationalist planes returned safely. The three remaining MIGs fled, the communique said.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 14 —UP—City Judge Charles Kelly told Charles A. Davis, "You're charged with stealing $30. Guilty or not guilty?"

"Thirty" Davis asked, startled. "It was $300."

"I take it you're guilty," Judge Kelly said.

Davis was bound over to a grand jury.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 14—UP— Iowa has decided that its highway patrolmen need a brush up on their spelling.

They will be handed a list of 199 words most often misspelled in their accident reports. The list originally contained 200 words but one—argumentative — was deleted. It had been misspelled.

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— A leading supporter of the stalled federal aid to schools bill said Saturday House leaders have assured him the measure soon will be revived.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W. Va.) said he was promised that the controversial $1.6 billion federal aid measure would be pulled out of its rules committee pigeonhole and brought to the House floor within the next two or three weeks.

MARACAIBO, Venezuela, April 14 (AP) —The New Orleans Symphonic Orchestra, making its second appearance in Venezuela, was given a standing ovation at today's concert.

The 85-piece orchestra, directed by Alexander Hilsberg, presented works by Wagner, Beethoven, Creston and Stravinski.

WASHINGTON, April 14 —UP— Scientists using TV techniques hope to find out this year why a blue-green region nearly as big as Texas suddenly appeared on the face of Mars.

They also hope, the National Geographic magazine reported Saturday, to get the first really clear photographs of earth's near neighbor as it makes its closest approach of the mid-century.

BILOXI, Miss., April 14 (AP) —Dr. H. K. Rouse of Gulfport, Miss., was elected president of the Opthamological and Otolaryngological Society today at a meeting of the group here.

Other officers are Dr. Lynn B. Abernethy of Jackson, Miss., counselor for Mississippi, and Dr. Frank L. Bryant of Shreveport, counselor for Louisiana. Dr. Edley H. Jones was elected secretary-treasurer.

WICHITA, Kan., April 14—UP— Former Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, a close friend of President Eisenhower, predicted Saturday that Ezra Taft Benson will remain secretary of agriculture regardless of whether the farm bill is signed or vetoed.

"Benson is not a quitter," Thornton said. "He was appointed to do a job, the President has full confidence in him and he will stay on no matter what decision Mr. Eisenhower reaches."

biggest case in his nearly eight years as a prosecutor. He already has announced that he will seek to send Graham, married and father of two children, to the gas chamber.

The state's case is expected to hinge on a confession which Graham purportedly made and signed for FBI agents who arrested him less than two weeks after the crash of a United Airlines DC-6B airliner in a sugar beet field eight miles west of Longmont, Colo., killing all aboard.

The prosecution also may call witnesses and introduce evidence aimed at showing Graham purchased dynamite and a timing device which were the components of a bomb which the state claims exploded a few minutes after the plane had taken off from Denver's municipal airport on a flight to Portland, Ore.

Both prosecution and defense have indicated there will be "surprises." Keating has said he had a "large amount" of secret prosecution evidence.

Against the state's case the defense may be expected to contend that Graham signed the claimed confession under duress. Graham repudiated the admission a week after his arrest, claiming that he signed it only after FBI agents threatened to arrest his young wife.

Two Speak Here Without Benefit Of Vocal Cords

Two persons who have no vocal chords spoke to a local television audience Saturday.

Perry White, of Monroe, president of the Louisiana Laryngectomees Association, and Mrs. Mabel Wright, of Monroe, secretary-treasurer, appeared on the Monroe-West Monroe Jaycee program and demonstrated that speech can be re-learned.

White appealed to his listeners to "get a checkup before it is too late" to stop cancer or other growths or causes detrimental to the vocal chords.

He demonstrated for the viewers the use of an artificial larynx and emphasized that one who has lost his voice box through an operation need not rely on such an instrument. Instead, he pointed out that speech therapists trained in esophogeal speech can now teach victims a new way to become easily understood in their speaking.

Also appearing on the program were Dr. C. B. Flinn, of Monroe, member of the association's board of directors; and Miss Frances Barnes, of Monroe, esophogeal speech therapist, who was instrumental in formation of the statewide organization.

Governor-Elect Continues Tour Of Area, State

WINNSBORO, April 14 (Special) —Schools, municipalities and police juries may find their program blocked if amendment number one is approved in Tuesday's general election, according to Governor-Elect Earl K. Long.

Gov. Long, stumping the state in a series of informational talks, had urged defeat of the proposed amendments which require a two-thirds vote of the legislature to act on tax matters. He said almost every well informed public official is opposed to it.

He was joined here by State Sen. James Sparks of Monroe, who said he is also opposed to amendment number one. He said he believed it would make it difficult if not impossible to shift taxes if such changes were demanded by varying state revenues.

Sparks spoke primarily on behalf of amendments four, five and six which have to do with the long-range highway program and the tax limit on Monroe city schools.

State Senator B.B. "Sixty" Rayburn of Bogalusa also spoke against amendment one. He said that just 14 members of the senate could block any tax program.

Gov. Long stressed the statement made by U. S. Sen. Ellender in which he said the federal government did not have any such law as amendment one would set up and that the government could hardly operate if it did.

Rep.-Elect Lawrence Gibbs of Monroe and John Hunt, Monroe attorney were also here Saturday morning, urging defeat of amendments one and three and supporting the highway and Monroe school tax amendments.

4 Hurt Slightly In Car Collision

A four car collision, involving one moving vehicle and three stationary autos resulted in injuries to four persons late Friday night at 725 Coleman, West Monroe.

Slightly injured were Francis Rowland, 15, 204 Mitchell Lane, West Monroe; Mary Alice Christian, 16, 1709 Trenton, West Monroe; Dolores Jackson, 736 Tullip, West Monroe; and Sandriz Jolissaint 1001 Montgomery, West Monroe.

All were passengers in the mov- West Monroe; Bishop Williams, and police said. Reports indicated the passengers were not seriously injured.

Rowland's auto collided with the rear of one of three parked vehicles causing an "accordion" smashup, officers said.

The parked vehicles belonged to Henry M. Wilson, 313 Benson, West Monroe; Bishop Williams, and Matthew Mannino, both of West Monroe.

Officers said the vehicles were not extensively damaged.

Water Resources Conference Set

Officials and other interested citizens of Ouachita and Morehouse parishes will hold a water resources conference in the Morehouse courthouse in Bastrop at 2 p.m. Monday.

The development of water resources in Bayou Bartholomew, Bayou DeSiard and Bayou Bartholomew Lake has been discussed in recent years by numerous individuals, but this will be the first attempt to organize their efforts for concerted action.

Simpson reconstructed the crime:

The trio, reportedly frequent visitors to Flora during the last two weeks, entered the bank by breaking a window last night and settled for a long wait.

Janitor Jack Gains arrived about 5 a.m. and was gagged with adhesive tape and bound with torn money bags.

He was hidden behind a partition while the bandits resumed their waiting.

At 7:30 a.m., Mrs. C. W. Shannon, assistant cashier, arrived. After learning she was unable to open the vault, the bandits bound and gagged her and resumed their waiting.

At 8:15 a.m., Simpson entered the bank without suspecting anything. He was met by three leveled shotguns and the order to "open the vault and be quiet." After opening the vault, he was bound and gagged.

The bandit scooped up $35,000 in bills, leaving all the coins, and fled through a rear door.

Flora citizens reported seeing what they believed was the getaway car heading toward Jackson.

It was the second bank robbery in Mississippi within the week. Monday, a gunman stole $1,234 from the Pace branch of the Valley Bank of Rosedale. He has not been captured.

Hammarskjold In Surprise Visit To Gaza Battle Zone

JERUSALEM (Israeli sector) April 14 —UP— UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold paid a surprise visit to the tense scene of recent Egyptian-Israeli clashes as Israel reported new incidents in the embattled frontier area between Egypt and Israel.

An Israeli military spokesman said five Israeli soldiers were wounded when their patrol car was blown up by a mine near the Gaza Strip Saturday morning. Egyptian and Israeli forces fought a one-hour gun battle Saturday afternoon in the Erez area, north of the Strip, he said.

Col. Nehemia Brosh, senior Israeli military spokesman, charged the Egyptians opened fire on the Israelis. He said there were no casualties on the Israeli side in the skirmish.

Brosh also reported that an Israeli shepherd was wounded in an ambush near Beit Gubrin one mile west of the Jordan border. He said an Israeli police car also was fired on from ambush near Meron in upper Galilee near the border with Lebanon.

Hammarskjold made a brief stopover in Gaza, en route north from Cario to seek Israel's acceptance of an eight-point plan to eliminate the threat of full-scale plan already has been accepted by Egypt.

GRACE EWING

Daughter Who Fled Washington Home Is Found

SELMA, Ala., April 14 —UP— The 16-year-old daughter of a wealthy Washington businessman who left her home seven weeks ago to "make my own way" turned up Saturday weighing sacks of potatoes in an Alabama grocery.

Hearing that her parents feared she might be dead, Peggy Ewing called her family in Washington Saturday morning and told them she was safe. Her overjoyed father, Frank M. Ewing, a former deputy assistant secretary of defense, and her mother left for Selma immediately by plane to get their daughter.

He said the girl applied for a job last Tuesday, saying she was 18, and he put her to work weighing produce.

"She was really a crackerjack worker," he said. "Why, just yesterday I had to make her quit because she had gone after a 100-pound sack of potatoes. I'd like to have her back for work."

But officers kept Peggy in custody pending the arrival of her parents. They took her to the courthouse and then out to lunch.

It takes a GIANT to solve an enigma

A giant wind tunnel reveals the lines of least wind resistance. The giant that is the newspaper revcals the lines of least sales resistance.

Whether your market is this nation, this region, or simply this city—your problem is how to overcome sales resistance and win your share of your market against today's unparalleled competition.

The newspaper unravels the mysteries of any market, because the newspaper penetrates its market so deeply. In one market or 1,000 it can track down your every last customer with methodical efficiency.

Almost every customer for every product habitually reads and shops the newspaper every day. That's why over 56,000,000 newspapers are bought daily. That's why advertisers, national and retail, invested over $3,000,000,000 in newspapers in 1955.

It takes a giant to solve the enigma of today's selling. That giant, the newspaper, lives in every town. USE it and win your share of the market.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

'Lawn Of The Month' Award Is Presented

The Monroe Area Men's Garden Club yesterday presented the "Lawn of the Month" award to Mr. and Mrs. Alden T. Shotwell, who resides at 406 Forsythe Avenue.

Dr. Doyle Hamilton is chairman of the "Lawn of the Month" committee, and R. N. "Dick" Davis, president of the Monroe Area Men's Garden Club.

Two Speak Here Without Benefit Of Vocal Cords

Two persons who have no vocal chords spoke to a local television audience Saturday.

Perry White, of Monroe, president of the Louisiana Laryngectomees Association, and Mrs. Mabel Wright, of Monroe, secretary-treasurer, appeared on the Monroe-West Monroe Jaycee program and demonstrated that speech can be re-learned.

White appealed to his listeners to "get a checkup before it is too late" to stop cancer or other growths or causes detrimental to the vocal chords.

He demonstrated for the viewers the use of an artificial larynx and emphasized that one who has lost his voice box through an operation need not rely on such an instrument. Instead, he pointed out that speech therapists trained in esophogeal speech can now teach victims a new way to become easily understood in their speaking.

Also appearing on the program were Dr. C. B. Flinn, of Monroe, member of the association's board of directors; and Miss Frances Barnes, of Monroe, esophogeal speech therapist, who was instrumental in formation of the statewide organization.

Governor-Elect Continues Tour Of Area, State

WINNSBORO, April 14 (Special) —Schools, municipalities and police juries may find their program blocked if amendment number one is approved in Tuesday's general election, according to Governor-Elect Earl K. Long.

Gov. Long, stumping the state in a series of informational talks, had urged defeat of the proposed amendments which require a two-thirds vote of the legislature to act on tax matters. He said almost every well informed public official is opposed to it.

He was joined here by State Sen. James Sparks of Monroe, who said he is also opposed to amendment number one. He said he believed it would make it difficult if not impossible to shift taxes if such changes were demanded by varying state revenues.

Sparks spoke primarily on behalf of amendments four, five and six which have to do with the long-range highway program and the tax limit on Monroe city schools.

State Senator B.B. "Sixty" Rayburn of Bogalusa also spoke against amendment one. He said that just 14 members of the senate could block any tax program.

Gov. Long stressed the statement made by U. S. Sen. Ellender in which he said the federal government did not have any such law as amendment one would set up and that the government could hardly operate if it did.

Rep.-Elect Lawrence Gibbs of Monroe and John Hunt, Monroe attorney were also here Saturday morning, urging defeat of amendments one and three and supporting the highway and Monroe school tax amendments.

4 Hurt Slightly In Car Collision

Slightly injured were Francis Rowland, 15, 204 Mitchell Lane, West Monroe; Mary Alice Christian, 16, 1709 Trenton, West Monroe; Dolores Jackson, 736 Tullip, West Monroe; and Sandriz Jolissaint 1001 Montgomery, West Monroe.

All were passengers in the mov- West Monroe; Bishop Williams, and police said Reports indicated the passengers were not seriously injured.

The parked vehicles belonged to Henry M. Wilson, 313 Benson, West Monroe; Bishop Williams, and Matthew Mannino, both of West Monroe.

Officers said the vehicles were not extensively damaged.

Water Resources Conference Set

Officials and other interested citizens of Ouachita and Morehouse parishes will hold a water resources conference in the Morehouse courthouse in Bastrop at 2 p.m. Monday.

The development of water resources in Bayou Bartholomew, Bayou DeSiard and Bayou Bartholomew Lake has been discussed in recent years by numerous individuals, but this will be the first attempt to organize their efforts for concerted action.

Members of the state legislature from both parishes, police jurors, city officials, area industrialists, sportsmen and others will participate in the conference.

Simpson reconstructed the crime:

The trio, reportedly frequent visitors to Flora during the last two weeks, entered the bank by breaking a window last night and settled for a long wait.

Janitor Jack Gains arrived about 5 a.m. and was gagged with adhesive tape and bound with torn money bags.

He was hidden behind a partition while the bandits resumed their waiting.

At 7:30 a.m., Mrs. C. W. Shannon, assistant cashier, arrived. After learning she was unable to open the vault, the bandits bound and gagged her and resumed their waiting.

At 8:15 a.m., Simpson entered the bank without suspecting anything. He was met by three leveled shotguns and the order to "open the vault and be quiet." After opening the vault, he was bound and gagged.

The bandit scooped up $35,000 in bills, leaving all the coins, and fled through a rear door.

Flora citizens reported seeing what they believed was the getaway car heading toward Jackson.

It was the second bank robbery in Mississippi within the week. Monday, a gunman stole $1,234 from the Pace branch of the Valley Bank of Rosedale. He has not been captured.

Hammarskjold In Surprise Visit To Gaza Battle Zone

JERUSALEM (Israeli sector) April 14 —UP— UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold paid a surprise visit to the tense scene of recent Egyptian-Israeli clashes as Israel reported new incidents in the embattled frontier area between Egypt and Israel.

An Israeli military spokesman said five Israeli soldiers were wounded when their patrol car was blown up by a mine near the Gaza Strip Saturday morning. Egyptian and Israeli forces fought a one-hour gun battle Saturday afternoon in the Erez area, north of the Strip, he said.

Col. Nehemia Brosh, senior Israeli military spokesman, charged the Egyptians opened fire on the Israelis. He said there were no casualties on the Israeli side in the skirmish.

Brosh also reported that an Israeli shepherd was wounded in an ambush near Beit Gubrin one mile west of the Jordan border. He said an Israeli police car also was fired on from ambush near Meron in upper Galilee near the border with Lebanon.

Hammarskjold made a brief stopover in Gaza, en route north from Cario to seek Israel's acceptance of an eight-point plan to eliminate the threat of full-scale plan already has been accepted by Egypt.

GRACE EWING

Daughter Who Fled Washington Home Is Found

SELMA, Ala., April 14 —UP — The 16-year-old daughter of a wealthy Washington businessman who left her home seven weeks ago to "make my own way" turned up Saturday weighing sacks of potatoes in an Alabama grocery.

Hearing that her parents feared she might be dead, Peggy Ewing called her family in Washington Saturday morning and told them she was safe. Her overjoyed father, Frank M. Ewing, a former deputy assistant secretary of defense, and her mother left for Selma immediately by plane to get their daughter.

He said the girl applied for a job last Tuesday, saying she was 18, and he put her to work weighing produce.

"She was really a crackerjack worker," he said. "Why, just yesterday I had to make her quit because she had gone after a 100-pound sack of potatoes. I'd like to have her back for work."

But officers kept Peggy in custody pending the arrival of her parents. They took her to the courthouse and then out to lunch.

It takes a GIANT to solve an enigma

A giant wind tunnel reveals the lines of least wind resistance. The giant that is the newspaper reveals the lines of least sales resistance.

Whether your market is this nation, this region, or simply this city—your problem is how to overcome sales resistance and win your share of your market against today's unparalleled competition.

The newspaper unravels the mysteries of any market, because the newspaper penetrates its market so deeply. In one market or 1,000 it can track down your every last customer with methodical efficiency.

Almost every customer for every product habitually reads and shops the newspaper every day. That's why over 56,000,000 newspapers are bought daily. That's why advertisers, national and retail, invested over $3,000,000,000 in newspapers in 1955.

It takes a giant to solve the enigma of today's selling. That giant, the newspaper, lives in every town. USE it and win your share of the market.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Two pennants will fly for the first time in the Evangeline League this year as the Monroe Sports, members off-and-on in the Cotton States League for over 50 years, turn to the Evangeline for the first time to run up against some other oldtime Cotton States rivals like Alexandria and Baton Rouge.

Manager Ed Head's Sports won the Cotton States pennant and playoffs last year, and, although the C.S.L. circus has folded its tents, its the intentions of the directors of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation to see the Cotton States pennant flying in Legion Memorial Stadium this year.

The Evangeline operated a split season last year with a six-club circuit, the same as the Cotton States. New Iberia was the first half winner and season over-all winner although Lafayette won the second half and the playoffs. The Sports won both halves and the playoffs in theC.S.L.

The "Pepper Pot" league, as the Evangeline has been often called, offers a challenge not only to the Sports but to their fans. The Evangeline outdrew the Cotton States at the gates last season by a margin of 44,108 although Monroe's Legion Memorial Stadium drew the top attendance for one club in either league last summer. The Sports showed a 1955 attendance of 57,704 against Lafayette's Evangeline tops of 57,082. But the other clubs of the Evangy—Baton Rouge, New Iberia, Crowley, Alexandria, and Lake Charles—did better than the other C. S. L. teams. Worst in the Cotton was 25,550 for Hot Springs against the Evangeline low of 33,881 at Lake Charles.

But the Evangeline promises a greater year with the return to an eight-club circuit by the addition of Monroe and Thibodaux, plus the assurance of early working money with advanced ticket sales that went over big in all cities of the circuit—except Monroe. But the Sports, indicating at their Hattisburg camp that they're coming home today with another good club, can do as well at the gate an in '55 with another fine team. Some baseball followers are inclined to think the TV-craze in wearing off and the gimmick that has been blamed for atendance losses in recent years won't hurt as much, if it did.

There hasn't been much talk about an urge for an opening day crowd for any attendance cup, but the Sports have come close in their openers in recent years. Last season they were beaten out for the biggest opening attendance by a margin of just three customers at Vicksburg. The Sports packed in a record opening day crowd here of 8,819 last April.

A lot of fans, concerned about long games, have been giving us sidewalk appeals to see if the Twin Cities board of directors won't start their games here a litte earlier. As far as we know, the plan is to open the season at home next Thursday night at 8 o'clock, but we believe if enough fans can indicate they want an earlier start that the club will be glad to accommodate.

A lot of games went around two hours and a half last year, some around three hours, and the gripe is chiefly from those potential customers who have to be up and around by 5:30 or 6 o'clock of mornings to head for their day's work. One season the Sports, then operated by Shreveport, asked the fans for their preference on starting times. The postcards came streaming in with about an 80 per cent margin in favor of a 7:30 opening. The club accomodated, but, after a month or so, a few fans made personal appeals that they liked them later, and the club suddenly switched back to 8 o'clock.

So, just for the heck of it we're wondering what the fans think about it, and offer this opportunity to let them express themselves. If you're interested, circle your desired starting time on the following, clip it out, sign it, paste it to a postcard and mail it to our ball club.

Also, Manager Head advises from Hattiesburg that his ball players are going to be needing rooms and apartments as soon as possible upon their arrival here. Baseball fans with accomodations are also invited to write P.O. box 1281 here to list their offerings in the way of housing for the players.

Twin Cities Baseball Corp.,
P. O. Box 1281,
Monroe, La.

I would appreciate it if you will start our ball games at 8 o'clock—7:45—7:30.

Evangeline Club Owners Summoned For Meeting

NEW IBERIA, La., April 14 (AP)—Owners of Evangeline League baseball teams meet here tomorrow to adopt rules and regulations for play in the colorful class C league.

The league, expanded from six to eight teams this season, is scheduled to open a 140-game schedule Tuesday.

The question of Negro ball players is almost certain to come up tomorrow. Baton Rouge officials already have announced that Negro players will not be allowed to compete in their city-owned ball park.

Two teams, Lafayette and Lake Charles, have Negro players on their roster.

Ray Mullins, league president, said the owners also have numerous routine matters to decide.

One involves player classification. The new rule up for consideration would allow each team 15 players—three veterans, eight limited service players and four rookies. A limited service player has played at least one full year of professional baseball but not more than two. A rookie has played less than 90 days of baseball. A veteran is any player who has played more than two years.

Last year, each team was allowed five limited service players, three veterans and five rookies.

Mullins, optimistic about the league's prospects, said he looks for a "very good" season.

One thing that will help, he said, is that seven teams have working agreements with clubs of higher classification. And the eighth team Thibodaux, is receiving some help from Washington of the American League.

Four of the teams have working agreements with major league teams. Monroe has one with the New York Yankees, Crowley with Kansas City, Lake Charles with the New York Giants and Lafayette with the Chicago Cubs.

Alexandria has a working agreement with Shreveport of the Texas League, Baton Rouge with Atlanta of the Southern Assn., and New Iberia with Fort Arthur, a former Evangeline League member now in the class B Big State League.

Monroe and Thibodaux are the new members of the league this season. Monroe was in the new defunct Cotton States circuit last season. Thibodaux was a member of the Evangeline in 1954.

Head Chooses 20-Player Monroe Squad

Sports Hold 1st Home Drill Here This Afternoon

Manager Ed Head last night named a 20-player squad that will open the Evangeline League season for the Monroe Sports against the Alexandria Aces at Alexandria Tuesday night. Head rushed home ahead of his club last night to make arrangements to have Legion Memorial Stadium ready for the Sports' arrival today for a 3 o'clock workout here.

"We're every bit as good and possibly a little better in pitching as we were last spring at this time," Manager Head declared. "This Evangeline is supposed to be about as tough a Class C league as there is, but I believe we'll make a mighty fine showing or I'm badly fooled."

Skipper Head will take charge at the park here this morning to check over club house facilities to see that everything is in readiness for the Sports who will leave their spring training camp base at Hattiesburg, Miss., this morning at 7:30 o'clock. They'll hold their first drill in Legion Memorial Stadium this afternoon, and workout again tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in their last tune-up for their Evangeline debut.

Catchers —Blackie Millet and Joe Miller.

Infielders —Herman Creasey, Don Pierce, Phil Stevens, Ron Paul, and Jack George. Paul is also an outfielder. George is due to report to the club here tomorrow from Modesto, Calif., of the Class C California League. With Owensboro, Ky., of the Kitty League last year, George is being sent here as a replacement for Huey Craig who broke an ankle in training at Hattiesburg last Monday.

Curtis "Pete" Rogers, sent to Hattiesburg from Birmingham a second time is an attempt to make the Monroe club as a pitcher, was handed his outright release yesterday.

Joe McDermott, New York Yankee scout for the midwest, took charge of the Sports at Hattiesburg last night for their final exhibition game of the season, thus enabling Manager Head to make the trip home yesterday.

After games at Alexandria Tuesday and Wednesday, the Sports make their home debut in the Evangeline against the same Aces here Thursday and Friday.

Other league oepners Tuesday have Crowley at Lake Charles, New Iberia at Lafayette, and Thibodaux at Baton Rouge. Crowley, New Iberia and Thibodaux get their home openers Wednesday night against the same first night opponents.

Bastrop Closes Dubach Seventh For, 10-4, Win

BASTROP, La., April 14 (Special) — The Bastrop Rams, aided by six errors, used six hits off four pitchers today to fold Dubach High School, 10 to 6. With a strike-out in the bottom of the seventh and final inning, Bastrop relief hurler Moore closed out a Dubach rally to save the game for the Rams.

Dubach had scored all its runs in the seventh on a trio of singles and a towering triple by Frasier before the third batsman was fanned with the bases loaded.

Bastrop's Chester Kane batted at a 1.000 pace for the night to be the leading hitter. Kane slammed two doubles and a single for the Ramists effort.

Pinchhit Homer By Andrews Puts Tech Over Gents

RUSTON, La., April 14 (AP) — Pinch hitter Milford Andrews of Louisiana Tech slammed a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning today to gain a 7-6 victory over Centenary College.

Centenary had two out when Andrews connected to score Jesse Mercer and Clyde Thompson.

Five straight singles gave Centenary five runs and a 6-4 lead in the sixth inning.

Besomer Scores Upset Governor's Gold Cup Victory

BOWIE, Md., April 14 (AP)—A possible sleeper for the Triple Crown classics was uncovered here today by the Companas stable when it sent out Besomer to win the Governor's Gold Cup by a head from River Divide farm's Decathlon.

There were three other Kentucky eligibles besides Besomer in the field of seven. The best the others did was a fourth by Barclay stable's Polly's Jet, behind Happy Hill farm's Kingmaker.

He caught the speedy Decathlon in the stretch and finished the three quarters of a mile in 1:11 and one-fifth. His backers collected $11 $3.40 and $2.80 as the crowd of 20,168 made Decathlon a 3 to 5 favorite.

McDonald Takes High Jump First At Southwestern

LAFAYETTE, La., April 14 (AP)—Texas University took six events in the 28th annual Southwestern Relays today at Southwestern Louisiana Instutite as Texas teams dominated the meet.

Houston got four first places, and Baylor three.

Louisiana State also got three firsts in college and university action.

Point totals are not kept for individual teams.

Ronnie Prewitt of the University of Houston took the Charles R. Doran Trophy as the best college trackman for his high hurdles time of :14.4.

Bill McDoanld, Northeast State, won first place in the high jump of the college division. Louisiana Tech rewrote its own record in the 440 relay with a :42.3 timing of Bruce Lenior, Buzz Bond, A. L. Williams, and Russell Rainbolt, and also won first in the 880 relay.

Tech's Lenior had a second in the 100-yard dash, a team second in the medley relay; fourth places for Joe Albritton in the pole vault, Charles Saucier in the high hurdles, and as a team in the 440 relay college division; and fifth for Wayne Bourgeois in the shot, sprint medley relay for frosh, and the mile relay.

Horses trained by John M. Gaver for the Kentucky Derby have included the winner Shut Out; Capot, second in 1949; and Stir Up, third in 1944.

Moundsman George Thomas spread out a trio of hits yesterday afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium to shut out the Northeast Louisiana State Indians and give the Lions from Southeastern their second Gulf States Conference win, 3-0, against two losses. A pair of runs in the second inning and a lone score in the sixth enabled the defending loop champions to kick their season's record to 12 victories and a quartet of defeats.

Marty Ptister singled to collect the first hit off Redman hurler James Mock and lead off the rally in the second inning. Dickie Francis' double sent Ptister to third. Don Moffot sacrificed Ptister home and Francis scored on an error.

The roar of the Lions was heard again when two singles and a stolen base brought their final run in the sixth.

Northeast threatened in the bottom of the second when the first two batsmen were given walks. But Thomas caused three consecutive Tribesmen to pop out to the infield and end the inning.

Both starting pitchers traveled the distance. Mock handed out ten safe blows and only two walks to the Lions.

Skillman Meets Schonlau Today In Haas' Finals

R. J. Skillman and Dr. J. W. Schonlau clash today in the finals of the Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Golf Tournament at Bayou DeSiard Country Club in a match scheduled to begin at 1:30 o'clock. Skillman defeated John Clay, 1 up, and Dr. Schonlau stopped Louis Peters, 3-2, in their semi-final matches yesterday.

Bayou DeSiard also conducted a flag and syndicate tournament yesterday. Flag winners were W. O. Webb, first; George Miller, second; Bill Jones, third; and David Marchman, fourth. Leaders in the syndicate from the top man down were S. J. Rogers, Ned Leigh, George Miller, C. C. Boardman, Tom Sandridge, E. G. Brown, Bobby Oliver, and Bill Carpenter. Fifty-two golfers participate.

Venturi Extends Apology For His 'Impulsive' Talk

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14 (AP) — Ken Venturi, amateur sensation of the 1956 Masters Golf Tournament, has apologized to the Augusta National Golf Club for "impulsive statements" he made in San Francisco this week.

Venturi, who complained to newsmen of his handling by club officials in the tournament's final round Sunday, telegraphed:

"I have learned a valuable lesson."

In a 184-word telegram to Bobby Jones, club president, and Cliff Roberts, tournament director, the 24-year-old amateur said he "deeply regrets" the embarrassment "to both of you and (the) Augusta National Golf Club for impulsive statements to the) press upon (my) return to San Francisco."

"I am sorry I made them," he said.

Jones and Roberts, in a joint statement tonight, said Venturi's telegram "represents a splendid and courageous effort, and we are happy to accept it as a vindication of our confidence that his true sentiments had been expressed in the press conference after the tournament, and his very grateful remarks at the prize presentation ceremony."

Heavily Burdened Swaps In Record Broward Triumph

MIAMI, Fla., April 14 (AP)—The mighty Swaps returned to the races today after a two-month layoff and carried the heaviest burden of his career to a world record-shattering victory in the 25,000 Broward Handicap at Gulfstream Park.

Making his first Florida appearance, Rex Ellsworth's 1955 Kentucky Derby champion, thrilled a crowd of 20,345 when he shouldered 130 pounds and hauled it to an easy victory over seven other thoroughbreds in the test at a mile and 70 yards.

Never threatened after the horses rounded the far turn, the big chestnut colt was clocked in 1:39 and three-fifths, breaking the record of 1:40 set by South Dakota at River Downs in 1945.

C. L. Dupuy's Galdar was second at the finish and Our Gob, owned by Ruffalo Bros., was third. Sam Tufano's Wise Margin, second choice in the betting at 9-1, was a nose away in fourth. Next, in order, came Clamor, Two Fisted, Prince Noor and Cascanuez.

Swaps, the 2-5 choice, got a tremendous ovation from the largest crowd ever to see a sporting event in Florida in April. He paid $2.60. Galdar returned $12.80 to place and Our Gob $4.40 to show.

Supervised Drag Races Scheduled At Selman Field

"Anyone interested in trying out his auto to see what it will do is invited to enter the Sunday afternoon drag races on Selman Field," according to Boatswain's Mate First Closs Joe Malmay, public relations director for the local dragsters club.

Malmay, a navy recruiter, said that several hundred visitors appeared last Sunday, the fourth day of the races, to witness the quarter-mile drags.

"Dragsters," Malmay explained, "are the guys who spin their wheels on take off at red traffic lights. We and the police and other officials believe that they should get off the street where it is so dangerous and get on the drag track where they can test their cars legally."

The races begin each Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m., Malmay said.

He said the local record so far is 15 seconds for the quarter-mile drag.

As many as 40 or 50 cars are entered in the races in a single afternoon, Malmay said, and added, "Bring the family in the car and then let them watch while you drag alongside your buddy or the guy who told you his car could outdo yours. That's the best way to show him."

Members of the club lose their membership if they are caught violating traffic laws on the streets. Malmay said, "That won't be tolerated."

Sea O Erin 1st In Keeneland's Phoenix Feature

Jockey Willie Hartack drove the 5-year-old son of Shannon II-Chantress from behind in the stretch to beat Scrutinized by 1½ lengths. Tonsina finished third, a neck back, as Sweet Josie and Happy Go Lucky trailed in the five-horse field.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Two pennants will fly for the first time in the Evangeline League this year as the Monroe Sports, members off-and-on in the Cotton States League for over 50 years, turn to the Evangeline for the first time to run up against some other oldtime Cotton States rivals like Alexandria and Baton Rouge.

Manager Ed Head's Sports won the Cotton States pennant and playoffs last year, and, although the C.S.L. circus has folded its tents, its the intentions of the directors of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation to see the Cotton States pennant flying in Legion Memorial Stadium this year.

The Evangeline operated a split season last year with a six-club circuit, the same as the Cotton States. New Iberia was the first half winner and season over-all winner although Lafayette won the second half and the playoffs. The Sports won both halves and the playoffs in theC.S.L.

The "Pepper Pot" league, as the Evangeline has been often called, offers a challenge not only to the Sports but to their fans. The Evangeline outdrew the Cotton States at the gates last season by a margin of 44,108 although Monroe's Legion Memorial Stadium drew the top attendance for one club in either league last summer. The Sports showed a 1955 attendance of 57,704 against Lafayette's Evangeline tops of 57,082. But the other clubs of the Evangy—Baton Rouge, New Iberia, Crowley, Alexandria, and Lake Charles—did better than the other C. S. L. teams. Worst in the Cotton was 25,550 for Hot Springs against the Evangeline low of 33,881 at Lake Charles.

But the Evangeline promises a greater year with the return to an eight-club circuit by the addition of Monroe and Thibodaux, plus the assurance of early working money with advanced ticket sales that went over big in all cities of the circuit—except Monroe. But the Sports, indicating at their Hattisburg camp that they're coming home today with another good club, can do as well at the gate an in '55 with another fine team. Some baseball followers are inclined to think the TV-craze in wearing off and the gimmick that has been blamed for atendance losses in recent years won't hurt as much, if it did.

There hasn't been much talk about an urge for an opening day crowd for any attendance cup, but the Sports have come close in their openers in recent years. Last season they were beaten out for the biggest opening attendance by a margin of just three customers at Vicksburg. The Sports packed in a record opening day crowd here of 3,819 last April.

A lot of fans, concerned about long games, have been giving us sidewalk appeals to see if the Twin Cities board of directors won't start their games here a litte earlier. As far as we know, the plan is to open the season at home next Thursday night at 8 o'clock, but we believe if enough fans can indicate they want an earlier start that the club will be glad to accommodate.

A lot of games went around two hours and a half last year, some around three hours, and the gripe is chiefly from those potential customers who have to be up and around by 5:30 or 6 o'clock of mornings to head for their day's work. One season the Sports, then operated by Shreveport, asked the fans for their preference on starting times. The postcards came streaming in with about an 80 per cent margin in favor of a 7:30 opening. The club accomodated, but, after a month or so, a few fans made personal appeals that they liked them later, and the club suddenly switched back to 8 o'clock.

So, just for the heck of it we're wondering what the fans think about it, and offer this opportunity to let them express themselves. If you're interested, circle your desired starting time on the following, clip it out, sign it, paste it to a postcard and mail it to our ball club.

Also, Manager Head advises from Hattiesburg that his ball players are going to be needing rooms and apartments as soon as possible upon their arrival here. Baseball fans with accomodations are also invited to write P.O. box 1281 here to list their offerings in the way of housing for the players.

Twin Cities Baseball Corp.,
P. O. Box 1281,
Monroe, La.

I would appreciate it if you will start our ball games at 8 o'clock—7:45—7:30.

Head Chooses 20-Player Monroe Squad

Manager Ed Head last night named a 20-player squad that will open the Evangeline League season for the Monroe Sports against the Alexandria Aces at Alexandria Tuesday night. Head rushed home ahead of his club last night to make arrangements to have Legion Memorial Stadium ready for the Sports' arrival today for a 3 o'clock workout here.

"We're every bit as good and possibly a little better in pitching as we were last spring at this time," Manager Head declared. "This Evangeline is supposed to be about as tough a Class C league as there is, but I believe we'll make a mighty fine showing or I'm badly fooled."

Skipper Head will take charge at the park here this morning to check over club house facilities to see that everything is in readiness for the Sports who will leave their spring training camp base at Hattiesburg, Miss., this morning at 7:30 o'clock. They'll hold their first drill in Legion Memorial Stadium this afternoon, and workout again tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in their last tune-up for their Evangeline debut.

Catchers —Blackie Millet and Joe Miller.

Infielders —Herman Creasey, Don Pierce, Phil Stevens, Ron Paul, and Jack George. Paul is also an outfielder. George is due to report to the club here tomorrow from Modesto, Calif., of the Class C California League. With Owensboro, Ky., of the Kitty League last year, George is being sent here as a replacement for Huey Craig who broke an ankle in training at Hattiesburg last Monday.

Curtis "Pete" Rogers, sent to Hattiesburg from Birmingham a second time is an attempt to make the Monroe club as a pitcher, was handed his outright release yesterday.

Joe McDermott, New York Yankee scout for the midwest, took charge of the Sports at Hattiesburg last night for their final exhibition game of the season, thus enabling Manager Head to make the trip home yesterday.

After games at Alexandria Tuesday and Wednesday, the Sports make their home debut in the Evangeline against the same Aces here Thursday and Friday.

Other league oepners Tuesday have Crowley at Lake Charles, New Iberia at Lafayette, and Thibodaux at Baton Rouge. Crowley, New Iberia and Thibodaux get their home openers Wednesday night against the same first night opponents.

Pinchhit Homer By Andrews Puts Tech Over Gents

RUSTON, La., April 14 (AP) — Pinch hitter Milford Andrews of Louisiana Tech slammed a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning today to gain a 7-6 victory over Centenary College.

Centenary had two out when Andrews connected to score Jesse Mercer and Clyde Thompson.

Five straight singles gave Centenary five runs and a 6-4 lead in the sixth inning.

Besomer Scores Upset Governor's Gold Cup Victory

BOWIE, Md., April 14 (AP)—A possible sleeper for the Triple Crown classics was uncovered here today by the Companas stable when it sent out Besomer to win the Governor's Gold Cup by a head from River Divide farm's Decathlon.

There were three other Kentucky eligibles besides Besomer in the field of seven. The best the others did was a fourth by Barclay stable's Polly's Jet, behind Happy Hill farm's Kingmaker.

He caught the speedy Decathlon in the stretch and finished the three quarters of a mile in 1:11 and one-fifth. His backers collected $11 $3.40 and $2.80 as the crowd of 20,168 made Decathlon a 3 to 5 favorite.

Bastrop Closes Dubach Seventh For, 10-4, Win

BASTROP, La., April 14 (Special) — The Bastrop Rams, aided by six errors, used six hits off four pitchers today to fold Dubach High School, 10 to 6. With a strike-out in the bottom of the seventh and final inning, Bastrop relief hurler Moore closed out a Dubach rally to save the game for the Rams.

Dubach had scored all its runs in the seventh on a trio of singles and a towering triple by Frasier before the third batsman was fanned with the bases loaded.

Bastrop's Chester Kane batted at a 1.000 pace for the night to be the leading hitter. Kane slammed two doubles and a single for the Ramists effort.

Evangeline Club Owners Summoned For Meeting

NEW IBERIA, La., April 14 (AP) —Owners of Evangeline League baseball teams meet here tomorrow to adopt rules and regulations for play in the colorful class C league.

The league, expanded from six to eight teams this season, is scheduled to open a 140-game schedule Tuesday.

The question of Negro ball players is almost certain to come up tomorrow. Baton Rouge officials already have announced that Negro players will not be allowed to compete in their city-owned ball park.

Two teams, Lafayette and Lake Charles, have Negro players on their roster.

Ray Mullins, league president, said the owners also have numerous routine matters to decide.

One involves player classification. The new rule up for consideration would allow each team 15 players—three veterans, eight limited service players and four rookies. A limited service player has played at least one full year of professional baseball but not more than two. A rookie has played less than 90 days of baseball. A veteran is any player who has played more than two years.

Last year, each team was allowed five limited service players, three veterans and five rookies.

Mullins, optimistic about the league's prospects, said he looks for a "very good" season.

One thing that will help, he said, is that seven teams have working agreements with clubs of higher classification. And the eighth team Thibodaux, is receiving some help from Washington of the American League.

Four of the teams have working agreements with major league teams. Monroe has one with the New York Yankees, Crowley with Kansas City, Lake Charles with the New York Giants and Lafayette with the Chicago Cubs.

Alexandria has a working agreement with Shreveport of the Texas League, Baton Rouge with Atlanta of the Southern Assn., and New Iberia with Port Arthur, a former Evangeline League member now in the class B Big State League.

Monroe and Thibodaux are the new members of the league this season. Monroe was in the new defunct Cotton States circuit last season. Thibodaux was a member of the Evangeline in 1954.

SENIOR CHAMP VISITS—B. F. Benson, formerly of Bastrop, was a visitor at Bayou DeSiard Country Club here yesterday, touring the course in 73. He's a member of Broadmoor Golf Club, Colorado Springs, Colo., present holder of the Tucson Senior title, was 1949 Trans-Mississippi senior champ, and is a three-time Colorado state senior champ. He is visiting in the home of W. T. Carpenter at Bastrop. (Staff photo by John Oldenburg)

McDonald Takes High Jump First At Southwestern

LAFAYETTE, La., April 14 (AP)—Texas University took six events in the 28th annual Southwestern Relays today at Southwestern Louisiana Instutite as Texas teams dominated the meet.

Houston got four first places, and Baylor three.

Louisiana State also got three firsts in college and university action.

Point totals are not kept for individual teams.

Ronnie Prewitt of the University of Houston took the Charles R. Doran Trophy as the best college trackman for his high hurdles time of :14.4.

Bill McDoanld, Northeast State, won first place in the high jump of the college division. Louisiana Tech rewrote its own record in the 440 relay with a :42.3 timing of Bruce Lenior, Buzz Bond, A. L. Williams, and Russell Rainbolt, and also won first in the 880 relay.

Tech's Lenior had a second in the 100-yard dash, a team second in the medley relay; fourth places for Joe Albritton in the pole vault, Charles Saucier in the high hurdles, and as a team in the 440 relay college division; and fifth for Wayne Bourgeois in the shot, sprint medley relay for frosh, and the mile relay.

Horses trained by John M. Gaver for the Kentucky Derby have included the winner Shut Out; Capot, second in 1949; and Stir Up, third in 1944.

Moundsman George Thomas spread out a trio of hits yesterday afternoon at Legion Memorial Stadium to shut out the Northeast Louisiana State Indians and give the Lions from Southeastern their second Gulf States Conference win, 3-0, against two losses. A pair of runs in the second inning and a lone score in the sixth enabled the defending loop champions to kick their season's record to 12 victories and a quartet of defeats.

Marty Ptister singled to collect the first hit off Redman hurler James Mock and lead off the rally in the second inning. Dickie Francis' double sent Ptister to third. Don Moffot sacrificed Ptister home and Francis scored on an error.

The roar of the Lions was heard again when two singles and a stolen base brought their final run in the sixth.

Northeast threatened in the bottom of the second when the first two batsmen were given walks. But Thomas caused three consecutive Tribesmen to pop out to the infield and end the inning.

Both starting pitchers traveled the distance. Mock handed out ten safe blows and only two walks to the Lions.

Skillman Meets Schonlau Today In Haas' Finals

R. J. Skillman and Dr. J. W. Schonlau clash today in the finals of the Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Golf Tournament at Bayou DeSiard Country Club in a match scheduled to begin at 1:30 o'clock. Skillman defeated John Clay, 1 up, and Dr. Schonlau stopped Louis Peters, 3-2, in their semi-final matches yesterday.

Bayou DeSiard also conducted a flag and syndicate tournament yesterday. Flag winners were W. O. Webb, first; George Miller, second; Bill Jones, third; and David Marchman, fourth. Leaders in the syndicate from the top man down were S. J. Rogers, Ned Leigh, George Miller, C. C. Boardman, Tom Sandridge, E. G. Brown, Bobby Oliver, and Bill Carpenter. Fifty-two golfers participate.

Venturi Extends Apology For His 'Impulsive' Talk

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14 (AP) — Ken Venturi, amateur sensation of the 1956 Masters Golf Tournament, has apologized to the Augusta National Golf Club for "impulsive statements" he made in San Francisco this week.

Venturi, who complained to newsmen of his handling by club officials in the tournament's final round Sunday, telegraphed:

"I have learned a valuable lesson."

In a 184-word telegram to Bobby Jones, club president, and Cliff Roberts, tournament director, the 24-year-old amateur said he "deeply regrets" the embarrassment "to both of you and (the) Augusta National Golf Club for impulsive statements to the) press upon (my) return to San Francisco."

"I am sorry I made them," he said.

Jones and Roberts, in a joint statement tonight, said Venturi's telegram "represents a splendid and courageous effort, and we are happy to accept it as a vindication of our confidence that his true sentiments had been expressed in the press conference after the tournament, and his very grateful remarks at the prize presentation ceremony."

Heavily Burdened Swaps In Record Broward Triumph

MIAMI, Fla., April 14 (AP)—The mighty Swaps returned to the races today after a two-month layoff and carried the heaviest burden of his career to a world record-shattering victory in the 25,000 Broward Handicap at Gulfstream Park.

Making his first Florida appearance, Rex Ellsworth's 1955 Kentucky Derby champion, thrilled a crowd of 20,345 when he shouldered 130 pounds and hauled it to an easy victory over seven other thoroughbreds in the test at a mile and 70 yards.

Never threatened after the horses rounded the far turn, the big chestnut colt was clocked in 1:39 and thre-fifths, breaking the record of 1:40 set by South Dakota at River Downs in 1945.

C. L. Dupuy's Galdar was second at the finish and Our Gob, owned by Ruffalo Bros., was third. Sam Tufano's Wise Margin, second choice in the betting at 9-1, was a nose away in fourth. Next, in order, came Clamor, Two Fisted, Prince Noor and Cascanuez.

Swaps, the 2-5 choice, got a tremendous ovation from the largest crowd ever to see a sporting event in Florida in April. He paid $2.60. Galdar returned $12.80 to place and Our Gob $4.40 to show.

Supervised Drag Races Scheduled At Selman Field

"Anyone interested in trying out his auto to see what it will do is invited to enter the Sunday afternoon drag races on Selman Field," according to Boatswain's Mate First Closs Joe Malmay, public relations director for the local dragsters club.

Malmay, a navy recruiter, said that several hundred visitors appeared last Sunday, the fourth day of the races, to witness the quarter-mile drags.

"Dragsters," Malmay explained, "are the guys who spin their wheels on take off at red traffic lights. We and the police and other officials believe that they should get off the street where it is so dangerous and get on the drag track where they can test their cars legally."

The races begin each Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m., Malmay said.

He said the local record so far is 15 seconds for the quarter-mile drag.

As many as 40 or 50 cars are entered in the races in a single afternoon, Malmay said, and added, "Bring the family in the car and then let them watch while you drag alongside your buddy or the guy who told you his car could outdo yours. That's the best way to show him."

Members of the club lose their membership if they are caught violating traffic laws on the streets, Malmay said, "That won't be tolerated."

Sea O Erin 1st In Keeneland's Phoenix Feature

Jockey Willie Hartack drove the 5-year-old son of Shannon II-Chantress from behind in the stretch to beat Scrutinized by 1½ lengths. Tonsina finished third, a neck back, as Sweet Josie and Happy Go Lucky trailed in the five-horse field.

Fights From Nine Strokes Off Pace To Bypass Snead

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 14 (AP)—Poker faced Fred Wampler, of Indianapolis, matched the Starmount Forest course record with a seven under par 64 today to come from nine strokes off the pace and take the 54-hole lead of the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament by one stroke.

Wampler's 208 total left him one stroke ahead of Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who had a five-shot edge on the field after 36 holes, and Frank Stranahan of Toledo.

Snead, bitten by a rash of bogies, soared to 74 while Stranahan, who played with him, carded 68.

In fourth place at 210, only two strokes from the lead, were Bill Casper Jr., of Chulla Vista, Calif., and Jerry Kesslering, Toronto, Canada. Casper had 69 today and the 27-year-old Kesselring finished with three threes for a 67.

In sixth place at 211 after a 71 was Doug Ford of Mahapac, N.Y., who was in second place this morning.

Wampler the 1950 National Collegiate champion while at Purdue University, had nines of 33-31 for the par 71 course measuring 6,723 yards. His putter was a potent weapon as he required only 24 putts, 11 on the back nine.

Several times, in addition to his birdies, he dropped putts of from six to 12 feet for difficult pars.

He had two front side birdies and five coming home. Everything else was par. A three-footer on the second hole and a four-footer on No. 5 gave him a fast start. Coming back he caught fire. He birdied the short 10th from 15 feet; the 12th from 18; the 14th from only two after a great chip; the 15th from 40 and the 18th from a foot after falling short on his eagle bid from 45 feet.

Snead, after dropping an eight-footer for a birdie on the first hole, had to wait until No. 14 for another. In between he began to slip steadily. After missing a four-footer to take a bogey on the second and failing to drop birdie putts on the fourth and fifth, he bogied three in a row starting at seven. He took three from 35 feet there, was trapped on the eighth and in the woods on No. 9 to turn in 38. He had to birdie the last hole to get his par on the back nine.

The leaders:

Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, 74-70-64—208.
Frank Stranahan, Toledo, 67-74-68—209.
Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., 66-69-74—209.

Judge Harty Bitter Over Demise Of Cotton States

GREENVILLE, Miss., April 14 (AP)—The president of the now-defunct Cotton States League today traced the demise of the Class C baseball circuit to radio, television and a "do nothing" policy of the major leagues

Judge Emmett Harty, a staunch supporter of minor league baseball for more than 20 of his 68 years, said the game's lower classifications will continue to wither as long as the major leagues "fatten off the sweat and substance of the lovers of the game in the bushes."

Harty headed the Cotton States League for 14 years and nourished it through its leanest days with his counsel and financial backing until the ancient loop decided to call it quits after the 1955 season.

He reveled when the league hit its high water mark in attendance in 1994 as 476,118 fans turned out. And he suffered with it through its last days when the league shrank to six teams and attendance dwindled to 222,000.

Monroe, La., the league's most financially successful club last year, will continue in baseball this season, but as a member of the Class C Evangeline League. The three Mississippi clubs—Meridian, Greenville and Vicksburg—and the two Arkansas entries—hot Springs and El Dorado—did not seek entry into other leagues.

An astute student of baseball and possessor of a keen, analytical mind, Harty was not quick to outline the causes for the eventual folding of the league after 53 years in business in the three-state area. It had products like Walt Alston, manager of the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, and former St. Louis Cardinal Eddie Stanky to its credit.

Nor was Harty eager to lay the blame on any one specific cause.

"The failure of the league was not any sudden affair," he said, "but the result of a gradual decline." The scarcity of players and increased costs of operation finally took their toll, he added.

But he pointed an accusing finger at radio, television and the major leagues as the chief contributing factors to the league's death and the overall plight of the minors.

"People were loathe to leave their air-conditioned homes and television to fight the insects and suffer the heat at ball parks," he said, "and sports like golf and fishing also made their inroads into attendance."

But the major cause, he said, "was the same as that of other leagues in the lower classifications and that is radio."

He said the major leagues saturated minor league territory with broadcasts of their games and people eventually became major league minded.

Sportswriters and sportscasters, too, he said, devoted too much time and space to the majors.

"They have to give the people what they want and consequently the scores in the Cotton States were given and the rest of the column or period devoted to major league news," he said. "It reached the point where the only baseball discussed was major league baseball with no interest whatever in the local clubs."

And the profits from radio and television, he said, will "preclude any major relief for the minors in the lower classifications until dire necessity forces it."

But the day of reckoning is at hand, he continued, since the major leagues eventually will find no place to develop their talent.

"It will be a great day," he said, "because they have so long fattened off the sweet and substance of the lovers of the game in the bushes that they have forfotten that the finished product they so profitably exhibit did not just happen."

But the outlook for the game in the minors is not altogether dismal, said the man who so often drew praise from minor league executives for his contributions to the game.

Harty, a municipal judge for 22 years and a strong believer in the rights of lesser lights, anticipates a great revival within the near future as an outgrowth of Little League and American Legion baseball.

And should the major leagues offer a greater hand to those down the line, he concluded, the fertile fields of the minors once more will become productive.

Excelsior Taken By Find; Favored Joe Jones Second

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Find, A three-year-old gelding owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, ran the second fastest Excelsior Handicap in history today as he fought off the favored Joe Jones in the stretch to win a neck decision at Jamaica.

It was a mild upset for the crowd of 44,397—largest at Jamaica in two years. The majority had sent off Joe Jones, owned by Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs, as a slight favorite over Hilton A. Dabson's Nance's Lad.

Third in the field of nine for the 49th running of the mile and one sixteenth event was C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, who won the Excelsior last year. The time of 1:43 1-5 compared with the stakes record of 1:42 3-5 set in 1925 by Sting.

For Find, a bay son of Discovery, it was his second Excelsior victory. He won it in 1954 and his victory today marked the third time in four years Vanderbilt had won the race. First Glance won it in 1953 and all of the Vanderbilt horses were ridden by Eric Guerin.

Find rewarded his backers with an $18.20, $7.50 and $5 kickback. Joe Jones paid $4.20 and $3 and Fisherman, who finished 3½ lengths behind Joe Jones, returned $3.30 to show.

Santee Records Slow 4:12.3 Run In Marine Race

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., April 14 (AP)—Miler Wes Santee ran his first race in more than a month here today and posted the unexceptional time of 4:12.3 for the Quantico Marines in a dual meet with William and Mary.

Never pushed by the two other service men and two William and Mary freshmen who ran against him, Santee won by nearly 100 yards. He had opened up a 50-yard gap by the end of the first lap.

Santee was clocked in 61 seconds or the first quarter, 2:05 for the half and 3:08 for the three-quarter mile. Second place went to Santee's teammate, Bill Taylor, and third to William and Mary's freshman Bob DeTombe, whose time of 4:27.5 was the best posted so far this year by a Southern Conference runner.

The other W. and M. freshman running against Santee since the Amateur Athletic Union began raising questions about his amateur standing last year.

Santee has now been declared a professional by the A.A.U. because he allegedly accepted excessive expense money from meet promoters.

Man of the Week

J. E. WOOD, Mgr.

Everyone should know this friendly, local business man. As manager of Aetna Finance Co., he is literally "man of the week" to the many persons who seek and benefit from his helpful financial counsel and service.

"I like people," he said, "and like to help folks with loans of $20 to $1500 when they need extra cash."

A "Get-Acquainted" Loan of $50, $75 or $100 may be obtained on name only by any steadily employed person. The total cost of $50 for 30 days is only $1.75.

Other loans are offered for any worthy purpose or to consolidate bills, with monthly payments often reduced as much as 50%. The Aetna manager is the man to see to solve your money problems. The Aetna office is at 204 North Second St., Phone 3-6634.—Adv.

U. S. RACER KILLED

OULTO NPARK, England, April 14 (AP)—Arthur Bryant, U. S. navy commander, was killed in the crash of his Aston Martin car today during a race at Oulton Park track. The navyman hit a bank and was thrown from his three-liter car. The car crashed into a tree and fell back on the driver.

Fights From Nine Strokes Off Pace To Bypass Snead

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 14 (AP)—Poker faced Fred Wampler, of Indianapolis, matched the Starmount Forest course record with a seven under par 64 today to come from nine strokes off the pace and take the 54-hole lead of the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament by one stroke.

Wampler's 208 total left him one stroke ahead of Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who had a five-shot edge on the field after 36 holes, and Frank Stranahan of Toledo.

Snead, bitten by a rash of bogies, soared to 74 while Stranahan, who played with him, carded 68.

In fourth place at 210, only two strokes from the lead, were Bill Casper Jr., of Chulla Vista, Calif., and Jerry Kesslering, Toronto, Canada. Casper had 69 today and the 27-year-old Kesselring finished with three threes for a 67.

In sixth place at 211 after a 71 was Doug Ford of Mahapac, N.Y., who was in second place this morning.

Wampler the 1950 National Collegiate champion while at Purdue University, had nines of 33-31 for the par 71 course measuring 6,723 yards. His putter was a potent weapon as he required only 24 putts, 11 on the back nine.

Several times, in addition to his birdies, he dropped putts of from six to 12 feet for difficult pars.

He had two front side birdies and five coming home. Everything else was par. A three-footer on the second hole and a four-footer on No. 5 gave him a fast start. Coming back he caught fire. He birdied the short 10th from 15 feet; the 12th from 18; the 14th from only two after a great chip; the 15th from 40 and the 18th from a foot after falling short on his eagle bid from 45 feet.

Snead, after dropping an eight-footer for a birdie on the first hole, had to wait until No. 14 for another. In between he began to slip steadily. After missing a four-footer to take a bogey on the second and failing to drop birdie putts on the fourth and fifth, he bogied three in a row starting at seven. He took three from 35 feet there, was trapped on the eighth and in the woods on No. 9 to turn in 38. He had to birdie the last hole to get his par on the back nine.

The leaders:

Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, 74-70-64—208.
Frank Stranahan, Toledo, 67-74-68—209.
Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., 68-68-74—209.

Judge Harty Bitter Over Demise Of Cotton States

GREENVILLE, Miss., April 14 (AP)—The president of the now-defunct Cotton States League today traced the demise of the Class C baseball circuit to radio, television and a "do nothing" policy of the major leagues

Judge Emmett Harty, a staunch supporter of minor league baseball for more than 20 of his 68 years, said the game's lower classifications will continue to wither as long as the major leagues "fatten off the sweat and substance of the lovers of the game in the bushes."

Harty headed the Cotton States League for 14 years and nourished it through its leanest days with his counsel and financial backing until the ancient loop decided to call it quits after the 1955 season.

He reveled when the league hit its high water mark in attendance in 1994 as 476,118 fans turned out. And he suffered with it through its last days when the league shrank to six teams and attendance dwindled to 222,000.

Monroe, La., the league's most financially successful club last year, will continue in baseball this season, but as a member of the Class C Evangeline League. The three Mississippi clubs—Meridian, Greenville and Vicksburg—and the two Arkansas entries—hot Springs and El Dorado—did not seek entry into other leagues.

An astute student of baseball and possessor of a keen, analytical mind, Harty was not quick to outline the causes for the eventual folding of the league after 53 years in business in the three-state area. It had products like Walt Alston, manager of the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, and former St. Louis Cardinal Eddie Stanky to its credit,

Nor was Harty eager to lay the blame on any one specific cause.

"The failure of the league was not any sudden affair," he said, "but the result of a gradual decline." The scarcity of players and increased costs of operation finally took their toll, he added.

But he pointed an accusing finger at radio, television and the major leagues as the chief contributing factors to the league's death and the overall plight of the minors.

"People were loathe to leave their air-conditioned homes and television to fight the insects and suffer the heat at ball parks," he said, "and sports like golf and fishing also made their inroads into attendance."

But the major cause, he said, "was the same as that of other leagues in the lower classifications and that is radio."

He said the major leagues saturated minor league territory with broadcasts of their games and people eventually became major league minded,

Sportswriters and sportscasters, too, he said, devoted too much time and space to the majors.

"They have to give the people what they want and consequently the scores in the Cotton States were given and the rest of the column or period devoted to major league news," he said. "It reached the point where the only baseball discussed was major league baseball with no interest whatever in the local clubs."

And the profits from radio and television, he said, will "preclude any major relief for the minors in the lower classifications until dire necessity forces it."

But the day of reckoning is at hand, he continued, since the major leagues eventually will find no place to develop their talent.

"It will be a great day," he said, "because they have so long fattened off the sweet and substance of the lovers of the game in the bushes that they have forfotten that the finished product they so profitably exhibit did not just happen."

But the outlook for the game in the minors is not altogether dismal, said the man who so often drew praise from minor league executives for his contributions to the game.

Harty, a municipal judge for 22 years and a strong believer in the rights of lesser lights, anticipates a great revival within the near future as an outgrowth of Little League and American Legion baseball.

And should the major leagues offer a greater hand to those down the line, he concluded, the fertile fields of the minors once more will become productive.

Excelsior Taken By Find; Favored Joe Jones Second

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Find, A three-year-old gelding owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, ran the second fastest Excelsior Handicap in history today as he fought off the favored Joe Jones in the stretch to win a neck decision at Jamaica.

It was a mild upset for the crowd of 44,397—largest at Jamaica in two years. The majority had sent off Joe Jones, owned by Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs, as a slight favorite over Hilton A. Dabson's Nance's Lad.

Third in the field of nine for the 49th running of the mile and one sixteenth event was C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, who won the Excelsior last year. The time of 1:43 1-5 compared with the stakes record of 1:42 3-5 set in 1925 by Sting.

For Find, a bay son of Discovery, it was his second Excelsior victory. He won it in 1954 and his victory today marked the third time in four years Vanderbilt had won the race. First Glance won it in 1953 and all of the Vanderbilt horses were ridden by Eric Guerin.

Find rewarded his backers with an $18.20, $7.50 and $5 kickback. Joe Jones paid $4.20 and $3 and Fisherman, who finished 3½ lengths behind Joe Jones, returned $3.30 to show.

Santee Records Slow 4:12.3 Run In Marine Race

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., April 14 (AP)—Miler Wes Santee ran his first race in more than a month here today and posted the unexceptional time of 4:12.3 for the Quantico Marines in a dual meet with William and Mary.

Never pushed by the two other service men and two William and Mary freshmen who ran against him, Santee won by nearly 100 yards. He had opened up a 50-yard gap by the end of the first lap.

Santee was clocked in 61 seconds or the first quarter, 2:05 for the half and 3:08 for the three-quarter mile. Second place went to Santee's teammate, Bill Taylor, and third to William and Mary's freshman Bob DeTombe, whose time of 4:27.5 was the best posted so far this year by a Southern Conference runner.

The other W. and M. freshman running against Santee since the Amateur Athletic Union began raising questions about his amateur standing last year.

Santee has now been declared a professional by the A.A.U. because he allegedly accepted excessive expense money from meet promoters.

Scarr, Curtis Will Unmask Rematched If Defeated

Golfing Demons Face Centenary Gents Tuesday

NATCHOTICHES, La., April 14 (Special) — Demon divot diggers from Northwestern State College will host the Centenary Gentlemen from Shreveport here Tuesday in the second golf match between the two teams. In a match played in Shreveport recently, the Gentlemen dumped Northwestern by a score of 18-0.

Northwestern won its first golf competition last Thursday in Natchitoches, when the Demons overpowered the Louisiana College Wildcats by a score of 10-8. In other contests, Northwestern lost to Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

Masked Red Scarr, angry because Jack Curtis "blinded" him in their state heavyweight mat championship match here last Tuesday, has challenged for a rematch with the premise to "remove my mask if he beats me."

Curtis, the current Louisiana kingpin from Vicksburg, Miss., accepted the challenge, hopeful of showing the face of the hooded villain to Promoter Gus Kallio's customers.

Champion Jack won out in the third and deciding fall last Tuesday when he twisted Scarr's mask around on his head in such a fashion that the bruiser wouldn't see to defend himself and eventually had to surrender under pressure of a Curtis hold.

"Since Scarr has promised to unmask if Curtis beats him, Jack has agreed to let Scarr's mask alone," Promoter Kallio said last night. "Curtis was trying to tear the mask off in their last match because the fans were egging him on. Now Jack says he don't want Scarr claiming he couldn't win because he couldn't see."

Actually, the card at Kallio's Arena next Tuesday night will match the same wrestlers as were on the last card.

George Curtis, Jack's younger brother, and Charley Laye, former world's light-heavy champ, battled to a draw last Tuesday in an hour time limit semi-final. They'll come back this time to settle the issue in a 90-minute time limit scrap with the same limit as the title brawl.

Alexandria Hosts Louisiana Senior Golf Tournament

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 14 (Special)—The fifth annual Louisiana Senior Golf Tournament will be held at the Alexandria Golf and Country Club here Thursday, April 26, through Sunday April 29.

T. S. Fontenot, tournament chairman, said entries from all parts of the state are expected. There will be 54 holes of match play.

The association members are 50 years of age and over and they play a snappy brand of golf. Competition is usually keen for the various trophies to be awarded. All golfers who meet the age requirement are invited to enter.

Greens and fairways at the club are in good condition, Fontenot said, and will be in top shape for the tournament.

Tom Crawford, of Bogalusa, association chairman, said this is the first year the tournament has been held in the mid-state area and a record number of participants are expected with the convenient location. Earlier tourneys were held in Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Bogalusa and Lafayette. More than 100 persons are expected to register.

Majors Aim For Season Openers Tuesday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, World Series rivals in five of the last nine years, are the favorites to repeat in October as the clubs finish their spring training shakedown cruise and move into Tuesday's openers.

For the first time since 1952, the same cities that finished the old season will begin the new. Three years ago Milwaukee replaced Boston in the National. Then came Baltimore and finally Kansas City in a series of exciting shifts.

Three new managers have taken over the job of chasing the Dodgers after the 1955 runaway in the National League. Freddie Hutchinson at St. Louis, Billy Rigney at New York and Bobby Bragan at Pittsburgh are the newcomers. The American League managerial cast remains the same.

Interesting trades, particularly in the American League, add spice to the new season. Both the Yankees and Boston Red Sox loaded up on Washington's veterans while peeling off a stack of young talent for the Senators. Cleveland finally landed its much - needed shortstop, Chico Carrasquel, from Chicago but gave up Larry Doby to the power-hungry White Sox.

Except for the deal that brought Ransom Jackson to Brooklyn from Chicago for Don Hoak, Russ Meyer and Walt Moryn, the National remained pretty much stand pat, banking on their farm systems.

A healthy smattering of rookies, perhaps the best crop for quality in recent years, will dot the box scores as the clubs start their 154-game race.

Both the Yanks and Dodger are even money to win with Cleveland 2 to 1 in the American and Milwaukee 2½ to 1 in the National, according to the word from Las Vegas. Digging deep into their stockpile of generosity, the oddsmakers quote 100 to 1 against Baltimore and Washington in the American and Chicago and Pittsburgh in the National.

With a break from the weatherman, who is an ornery cuss this spring, the eight openers should draw about 250,000 fans. No special openers will be held this season. Washington and Cincinnati, early birds on alternate years, break with the pack. There was a time in mid-winter when Washington planned an early opening but it was moved back when it became certain that President Eisenhower would be available to toss out the first ball.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies will be making his seventh opening day start at Brooklyn against the world champions, thus tying Bobby Feller's record among active players. However, Roberts will have to keep going until his grandchildren can warm him up to break the all-time opening day mark of Walter Johnson, who pitched 14 of them or even Grover Alexander's mark of 12. Roberts' record is 3-3 on opening day.

If Ned Garver gets the call from Detroit Manager Bucky Harris, against Kansas City, he, too, will be pitching his seventh opener. However, it's between Garver and Frank Lary at the moment.

Here is Tuesday's schedule:

Philadelphia at Brooklyn
Pittsburgh at New York
Chicago at Milwaukee
St. Louis at Cincinnati

American League

New York at Washington
Baltimore at Boston
Cleveland at Chicago
Kansas City at Detroit.

Brooklyn will have a double - barreled opener this season, Tuesday at Ebbets Field and Thursday at Jersey City where the Dodgers will play seven league games. Don Newcombe probably will face Roberts in the Tuesday game with Carl Erskine going Thursday. Rookie Charley Neal is due to open for the Brooks at second base with Junior Gilliam shifted to left field. The choice between Jackson or Robinson at third base may not be made by Manager Walt Alston until game time.

Nobody expects Brooklyn to rush away to a fantastic start such as last year, when they won 22 of their first 24 and broke the race wide open. But they still have the same power, same sore-armed pitching problems and the same rich farm system.

The Phillies' only new face will be Ted Kazanski, former bonus shortstop converted into a second baseman.

Two of the two new managers meet when Pittsburgh visits the Polo Grounds in New York where Bob Friend, the league's 1955 leader in low earned run average, probably will face Johnny Antonelli.

Milwaukee counts on 46,000 to see Bob Buhl of the Braves oppose Chicago's Bob Rush with Charlie Grimm's crew given the best chance of catching Brooklyn. Second base is Milwaukee's weak spot in a lineup loaded with solid hitters like Eddie Mathews, Joe Adcock and Hank Aaron. The Cubs have plenty of headaches, but count on Monte Irwin, ex-Giant, to back up Ernie Banks' punch. St. Louis, the surprise team of spring training, makes its first start under Hutchinson at Cincinnati, where 30,000 are expected. Hutch is expected to throw a lefty at Cincy's power and Birdie Tebbetts will follow the same pattern with his lefty, Joe Nuxhall, against the Cards.

President Eisenhower returns from a golfing vacation in time to throw out the first ball at Washington, where the Yankees will be the visitors. Casey Stengel's opening day lineup remains uncertain due to an embarrassment of riches while Washington is still trying out the former Red Sox and Yank youngsters.

The highly - regarded Red Sox open at home in Fenway Park with Frank Sullivan to face Baltimore's Orioles. With Ted Williams in the lineup and such fine youngsters as Don Buddin and Frank Malzone, the Sox could be the Yanks' leading contenders. A crowd of 20,000 is due.

Detroit counts on 50,000 to see the Tigers open against the Kansas City A's with Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn attracting most attention.

Frick Visions Expansion

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick termed the television-radio monster baseball No. 1 problem today as the major leagues prepared to launch the 1956 season with a "new, forward look."

"We are confronted with a giant-sized operation without any ground rules," the white-maned diamond czar added, as he relaxed in his plush radio city tower. "We are without a law or a basis for dealing with the matter."

"We are in the unique position of being sued on the one hand for restricting broadcasts and telecasts and on the other for not restricting them.

"It's important to us and to the survival of the minor leagues that we get this problem cleared up as promply as possible."

Except for the TV-radio problem the onetime sports writer who succeeded A. B. (Happy) Chandler as baseball commissioner on Sept. 2, 1951, says the game is "healthy and kicking."

"I think our greatest achievement in recent years has been that we have adopted the forward look," Frick added. "We have torn away from outmoded beliefs that there should be no tinkering with franchises or procedures.

"We have opened up new frontiers, we have become more modern in our thinking and our dealings with each other and, personally, I will not be happy until we have a major league setup in the United States stretching from California to New York and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico."

The commissioner said he feels it inevitable that the big population centers of the west, including Los Angeles, and San Francisco, and those of the south such as Miami and Dallas, must be brought into the major league orbit.

"I don't know how this is to be accomplished, whether we have ten teams in each league at first or three major leagues, but it's bound to come."

Frick listed these aims for a bigger and greater sport:

1. Expansion of the major leagues to take in more of the heavily-populated centers.

2. A more modern, more realistic agreement between the major and minor leagues.

3. Improved ball parks and parking areas to meet increased demands.

4. A sound, healthy minor league system which, he says, "after all, is the foundation of baseball."

"We plan to revamp our major-minor agreement this year," the commissioner said. "This is an agreement which has been virtually unchanged for 5 years."

"When it was put into effect the telephone had just been invented. We had no automobiles, airplanes, no radio or TV We have to change our operations to meet the march of progress."

Frick said the Madison avenue public relations firm hired to make a survey of baseball and offer recommendations for improvement was making good headway.

"This move wasn't made because we thought baseball was sick," he said. "Baseball still gets more athletic dollars than any other sport. More people are playing it and more people are watching and talking it than ever before.

"But if the fan has a beef, we've decided to let him unload it not spontaneously but at our request and our expense. We want to give him a better product. It's part of our new approach."

Frick said attendance figures the majors drawing 5 per cent better than they did before World War II, although not as much as just after the war when the entertainment dollar was "loose and not selective."

"I find more women interested in baseball than ever before," he added. "Maybe television is partly responsible. They talk it at cocktail parties and on the subways.

"In Japan, the per capita baseball interest is greater than that of the United States. Interest is booming in such out-of-the-way places as South Africa, also in Europe and Central America.

"My job is to keep the game honest, on its feet and progressive. That means my job has no international bounderies."

Touring Golfers Okay New Code For Flagsticks

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 14 (AP)—Touring professional golfers today voiced approval of the new rule permitting them to leave the flagstick in the hole without danger of a penalty if their ball hits the stick.

A sampling of opinion among players here for the Greensboro Open Tournament showed them generally favoring the change, although critics of it were equally firm in their belief that it was not a good rule.

Before this year, in stroke play if a player, within 2 yards of the hole, struck the stick with the ball he incurred a two stroke penalty.

This year there is no penalty for striking an unattended flagstick, regardless of the distance, in both match and stroke play.

Spectators at winter tournaments have witnessed the unusual sight of players putting with the stick remaining in the hole. It has been especially helpful on dangerous downhill putts where if a ball is stroked too boldly and misses the hole it may well slide 1 or 15 feet past its mark.

Now, with the stick there to act as a buffer the chances are that it may stop the ball enough to prevent it from rolling madly by the hole. The U. S. Golf Association said it hoped the rule would help speed up play, saving time lost previously by having the stick removed.

Fleck, Ford Head U. S. Golf Squad For International

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—National Open Champion Jack Fleck and P.G.A. Champion Doug Ford will lead a seven-man team representing the Professional Golfers' Association of America against a Canadian P.G.A. team in the International matches at Fort Worth, Tex., May 7 and 8.

Ford and Fleck automatically qualified for the team which also includes Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler, Mike Souchak, Ted Kroll and Tommy Bolt, selected on a money-winning basis from Jan. 1, 1955.

New Masters' Champion Jack Burke did not qualify on an overall earnings basis. Julius Boros, last year's top money-winner, was eligible, but is passing the Fort Worth event because of previous commitments.

The U.S. pros, who have won all four previous matches, will face a Canadian team composed of Al Balding, Gordon Brydson, Jack Kay, Bill Kerr, Stan Leonard, Bill Mahwinney and Murray Tucker.

The competition for the John J. Hopkins Trophy will be held at Fort Worth's Colonial Country Club. The series, started by Hopkins to promote international good will through golf, last year was played for the first time in the United States at La Jolla, Calif. In 1952 and 1953 play was at Montreal and in 1954 at Ontario.

Winnsboro's Little Boys Start Practice

WINNSBORO, April 14 (Special) —P. R. Purser, player agent for the Winnsboro Little Boys Baseball, Inc., has called practice sessions for Monday, April 16.

All boys in this area, ages eight through 12, are requested to report for the first practice session at the Little Boys baseball park in Winnsboro, at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

This year there will be six teams in the Little Boys League and four teams in the Minor League.

Bold Rebel, dam of Lou Costello's Kentucky Derby candidate, Bold Bazooka, was returned to racing when the Derby colt was a yearling.

Scarr, Curtis Rematched Will Unmask If Defeated

Masked Red Scarr, angry because Jack Curtis "blinded" him in their state heavyweight mat championship match here last Tuesday, has challenged for a rematch with the premise to "remove my mask if he beats me."

Curtis, the current Louisiana kingpin from Vicksburg, Miss., accepted the challenge, hopeful of showing the face of the hooded villain to Promoter Gus Kallio's customers.

Champion Jack won out in the third and deciding fall last Tuesday when he twisted Scarr's mask around on his head in such a fashion that the bruiser wouldn't see to defend himself and eventually had to surrender under pressure of a Curtis hold.

"Since Scarr has promised to unmask if Curtis beats him, Jack has agreed to let Scarr's mask alone," Promoter Kallio said last night. "Curtis was trying to tear the mask off in their last match because the fans were egging him on. Now Jack says he don't want Scarr claiming he couldn't win because he couldn't see."

Actually, the card at Kallio's Arena next Tuesday night will match the same wrestlers as were on the last card.

George Curtis, Jack's younger brother, and Charley Laye, former world's light-heavy champ, battled to a draw last Tuesday in an hour time limit semi-final. They'll come back this time to settle the issue in a 90-minute time limit scrap with the same limit as the title brawl.

Golfing Demons Face Centenary Gents Tuesday

NATCHOTICHES, La., April 14 (Special) — Demon divot diggers from Northwestern State College will host the Centenary Gentlemen from Shreveport here Tuesday in the second golf match between the two teams. In a match played in Shreveport recently, the Gentlemen dumped Northwestern by a score of 18-0.

Northwestern won its first golf competition last Thursday in Natchitoches, when the Demons overpowered the Louisiana College Wildcats by a score of 10-8. In other contests, Northwestern lost to Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

Alexandria Hosts Louisiana Senior Golf Tournament

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 14 (Special)—The fifth annual Louisiana Senior Golf Tournament will be held at the Alexandria Golf and Country Club here Thursday, April 26, through Sunday April 29.

T. S. Fontenot, tournament chairman, said entries from all parts of the state are expected. There will be 54 holes of match play.

The association members are 50 years of age and over and they play a snappy brand of golf. Competition is usually keen for the various trophies to be awarded. All golfers who meet the age requirement are invited to enter.

Greens and fairways at the club are in good condition, Fontenot said, and will be in top shape for the tournament.

Tom Crawford, of Bogalusa, association chairman, said this is the first year the tournament has been held in the mid-state area and a record number of participants are expected with the convenient location. Earlier tourneys were held in Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Bogalusa and Lafayette. More than 100 persons are expected to register.

Majors Aim For Season Openers Tuesday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, World Series rivals in five of the last nine years, are the favorites to repeat in October as the clubs finish their spring training shakedown cruise and move into Tuesday's openers.

For the first time since 1952, the same cities that finished the old season will begin the new. Three years ago Milwaukee replaced Boston in the National. Then came Baltimore and finally Kansas City in a series of exciting shifts.

Three new managers have taken over the job of chasing the Dodgers after the 1955 runaway in the National League. Freddie Hutchinson at St. Louis, Billy Rigney at New York and Bobby Bragan at Pittsburgh are the newcomers. The American League managerial cast remains the same.

Interesting trades, particularly in the American League, add spice to the new season. Both the Yankees and Boston Red Sox loaded up on Washington's veterans while peeling off a stack of young talent for the Senators. Cleveland finally landed its much - needed shortstop, Chico Carrasquel, from Chicago but gave up Larry Doby to the power-hungry White Sox.

Except for the deal that brought Ransom Jackson to Brooklyn from Chicago for Don Hoak, Russ Meyer and Walt Moryn, the National remained pretty much stand pat, banking on their farm systems.

A healthy smattering of rookies, perhaps the best crop for quality in recent years, will dot the box scores as the clubs start their 154-game race.

Both the Yanks and Dodger are even money to win with Cleveland 2 to 1 in the American and Milwaukee 2½ to 1 in the National, according to the word from Las Vegas. Digging deep into their stockpile of generosity, the oddsmakers quote 100 to 1 against Baltimore and Washington in the American and Chicago and Pittsburgh in the National.

With a break from the weatherman, who is an ornery cuss this spring, the eight openers should draw about 250,000 fans. No special openers will be held this season. Washington and Cincinnati, early birds on alternate years, break with the pack. There was a time in mid-winter when Washington planned an early opening but it was moved back when it became certain that President Eisenhower would be available to toss out the first ball.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies will be making his seventh opening day start at Brooklyn against the world champions, thus tying Bobby Feller's record among active players. However, Roberts will have to keep going until his grandchildren can warm him up to break the all-time opening day mark of Walter Johnson, who pitched 14 of them or even Grover Alexander's mark of 12. Roberts' record is 3-3 on opening day.

If Ned Garver gets the call from Detroit Manager Bucky Harris, against Kansas City, he, too, will be pitching his seventh opener. However, it's between Garver and Frank Lary at the moment.

Here is Tuesday's schedule:

Philadelphia at Brooklyn
Pittsburgh at New York
Chicago at Milwaukee
St. Louis at Cincinnati

American League

New York at Washington
Baltimore at Boston
Cleveland at Chicago
Kansas City at Detroit.

Brooklyn will have a double - barreled opener this season, Tuesday at Ebbets Field and Thursday at Jersey City where the Dodgers will play seven league games. Don Newcombe probably will face Roberts in the Tuesday game with Carl Erskine going Thursday. Rookie Charley Neal is due to open for the Brooks at second base with Junior Gilliam shifted to left field. The choice between Jackson or Robinson at third base may not be made by Manager Walt Alston until game time.

Nobody expects Brooklyn to rush away to a fantastic start such as last year, when they won 22 of their first 24 and broke the race wide open. But they still have the same power, same sore-armed pitching problems and the same rich farm system.

The Phillies' only new face will be Ted Kazanski, former bonus shortstop converted into a second baseman.

Two of the two new managers meet when Pittsburgh visits the Polo Grounds in New York where Bob Friend, the league's 1955 leader in low earned run average, probably will face Johnny Antonelli.

Milwaukee counts on 46,000 to see Bob Buhl of the Braves oppose Chicago's Bob Rush with Charlie Grimm's crew given the best chance of catching Brooklyn. Second base is Milwaukee's weak spot in a lineup loaded with solid hitters like Eddie Mathews, Joe Adcock and Hank Aaron. General Motors Reports New Type Engine Developed

DETROIT, April 14—UP—General Motors announced Saturday it has developed a new, experimental "free piston" automobile engine that might prove to have all the advantages and few of the problems of the gas turbine, which has been called the auto engine of tomorrow.

President Harlow H. Curtice said the engine is a new concept in automotive power. He said it has been mounted in an experimental car and will be exhibited in mid-May when the new General Motors technical center is dedicated.

"Although the principle of the free piston engine has been known for more than 30 years, General Motors research staff is first to put it to work in automobiles," Curtice said.

Like the gas turbine, it burns almost any type of fuel instead of the high octane fuels needed for today's piston engines. It even has been run with whale oil, peanut oil, and other vegetable oils, General Motors said.

The engine does not have a crankshaft or connecting rods. Pistons, operating in theory like a bicycle tire pump or an old-fashioned fireplace bellows, are mounted under the hood. They pump compressed gases through a pipe to a turbine in the rear of the car.

The gases turn the turbine, which in turn powers the rear wheels.

The engine has two cylinders, each containing a set of two pistons. An air-fuel charge is fired between the two pistons in each cylinder. The pistons are driven apart by the blast, compressing air at the ends of the cylinders. The air finally bounces the pistons back to the center. As they go back and forth, they compress air which is piped to the turbines and operates it.

Benson Says

versial election year measure as unacceptable. He added:

"I still consider, over all, that it is a bad bill, although there are some good things in it."

Responding to another question, Benson said he made "no firm recommendation" to Eisenhower regarding action on the measure. The Cabinet officer said further he thinks he probably won't make any such recommendation. He said he is confident Eisenhower knows his views.

Benson said Eisenhower "is making a very careful analysis and study of the bill," and that the President has "asked us to provide certain technical information" for use in making up his mind.

Asked whether he "in good conscience" could administer the bill if Eisenhower should sign it, Benson replied:

"If it is signed into law, we will do the very best we can to administer it as long as the President wants us to do so. Legislation usually is a compromise, as you know. Seldom does a Cabinet officer get legislation to administer that is wholly to his liking."

A reporter wanted to know whether Benson would sign the bill if the decision was up to him.

"I would, of course, do what the President is doing," Benson replied. "He is trying to determine what is best for the farmers of this country and what is fair to all Americans."

Some influential Democrats in Congress have said that if Eisenhower vetoes the bill, he will get no farm legislation at this session.

But Benson said it is "entirely conceivable" that the administration, in a new bill, might get the soil bank the President wants created with a view to reducing crop surpluses. There is provision for that in the pending bill, but there also are provisions the administration does not want.

Before the Benson news conference James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen Eisenhower had come to no conclusion regarding the bill at the end of a morning meeting which lasted more than two hours.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) said tonight that Eisenhower will sign the farm bill or "he must repudiate his own statements."

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said Eisenhower told a news conference April 4 in effect that what farmers "need is a bill which will first, help them immediately, and second, offer long-term relief."

"This standard, a yard stick laid down by the President himself, is fully met by the conference bill," Ellender said in an address recorded for radio use in Louisiana (WWL-New Orleans).

Actually the transcript of the news conference showed that the president said many things about farm problems and the compromise bill, including:

"We are looking for a bill that will help them (farmers) over the long term and which would help them now."

Eisenhower also sharply criticized rigid price supports and called amendments to the complicated bill "clumsy and even worse. . . ."

"I am looking for a good bill for farmers and one that makes sense, one that will make sense five years from now as well as now," he said.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), who led a losing battle to retain the administration's flexible price support program and put through the new soil bank without numerous riders now tacked on it, said in an interview that he is confident the President will veto the bill.

Frazar Only

S. J. McCrory, Agriculture Commissioner.

Jack P. F. Gremillion, Attorney General.

Long's leaders are touring the state in three groups this weekend in opposition to the two amendments. Long will wind up his efforts with a rally in Baton Rouge Monday night.

The next governor contends he has no plans to increase taxes, unless absolutely necessary, but he sees no reason why he can't "shift some taxes around to where they ought to be."

The porposed amendment would block any efforts to make taxes more fair, he said.

And for a possible new tax to replace revenue lost for adjustments, Long suggests the sulphur severance tax was set nearly 2 years ago when sulphur sold a lot cheaper than it does now. Sulphur severance tax "could stand a raise," he says.

On the two-thirds amendment, Long contends, "no state in the American Union has such a law. The federal government has passed some of the largest tax measures on record with less than one-third of the entire membership—whereas, in contrast, this undemocratic amendment calls for one more than two-thirds of both houses of our Legislature."

"I will do my dead level best to see that no taxes are increased—but that doesn't mean adjustments cannot be made, in some cases, to the benefit of everyone who wants a square deal," Long continues. "This will be made very, very difficult should the amendment be ratified."

Long favors the other four amendments.

One highway amendment would dedicate 15 million dollars yearly from mineral revenues, $12,500,000 from royalties and $2,500,000 from bonuses, to highway construction.

The other highway proposal would establish a long range highway fund, into which all highway revenues would go and from which all debt service would have first claim.

The amendment also would grant authority to issue up to 6 million dollars in bonds against existing revenue, limited to 3 million in any one year.

Sponsors say this amendment would result in a simplier debt structure and probably bring better interest rates.

Other amendments provide:

1. International House and International Trade Mart in New Orleans would be exempt from paying a property tax as a non-profit institution, promoting trade, travbg and commerce.

2. The Monroe City School Board would be authorized to issue bonds up to 25 per cent of assessed value on city property, bringing that school board in line with authority granted all parish boards in the state.

Mass Meeting Set Here To Explain Work Of Councils

A mass meeting to supply residents of northeast Louisiana with vital information pertaining to the work of citizens councils in this area and over the South will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, according to Billye Adams, president of the Ouachita Citizens Council. The public of Ouachita parish and the entire area is invited to attend the gathering, which will be in the Neville High School auditorium.

Principal speaker of the meeting will be Judge Tom Brady, of Brookhaven, Miss., who Adams said is one of the ablest speaker in the South.

Judge Brady has been a leader in the citizens council movement in Mississippi and other Southern states. He was recently re-elected to a second term, without opposition, to the 14th judicial district court. A graduate of Yale law school, he taught Sociology at Mississippi University; is a past vice president of the Mississippi Bar Assocation; is the author of a book titled "Black Monday (concerning the historic U.S. Supreme Court ruling on segregation); and is a delegate to form a citizens council of America.

Judge Brady is also an active church worker.

Adams said that letters of invitation to attend the meeting are being sent to presidents of citizens councils over northeast Louisiana.

He stressed that the purposes, organizations and work of the citizens council movement in Ouachita parish and elsewhere, will be cleared up Friday night by able spokesmen who are familiar with the councils.

The local council president said that "many things enter into the problem of securing and maintaining good government."

SELL THE SIZZLE—Elmer Wheeler, the man who says "Don't sell the steak, sell the sizzle" will hold a one night sales clinic at Neville School auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Sales Executives club of Monroe and West Monroe. Last year Wheeler was voted the most popular speaker in the country when a national magazine polled 500 audiences to find the national favorite.

Additional Six

per cent of the amount of the tax for each month or fraction of a month. In addition, interest will accrue at the rate of 6 per cent annually on the amounts unpaid by the due date.

The government has estimated conservatively that the tax on income from individuals for 1955 will run about 33½ billion dollars. There is a possibility the take will be higher than expected and further raise the administration's hopes for achieving a balanced budget at the end of this fiscal year June 30.

The deadline Monday affects individuals subject to filing returns, even though the tax due has been withheld from their pay checks.

Besides salaried persons and wage earners, the final date for returns applies to professional and self-employed persons who may have been paying their tax on a quarterly basis. Others who must meet the deadline Monday are:

Farmers who filed their 1955 tax declaration by last Jan. 16. They now must file a final return and pay the balance of their 1955 tax.

Partnerships, which must file an information return for 1955.

Executors, who must file estate income tax returns for last year and pay the first quarterly installment for 1956 taxes.

Donors of gifts in 1955, who must file a gift tax return and pay the proper tax. Those who received gifts must file information returns showing the amount of gifts received last year.

Self - employed persons eligible for Social Security benefits also must pay by Monday midnight the Social Security tax of 3 per cent on their earnings up to $4,200 in 1955, if they have not already done so.

Besides meeting the deadline for 1955 returns, a substantial percentage of taxpayers also must file estimates of their 1956 tax and pay at least one-fourth of the amount due if it has not already been paid.

Legislative Fight

Democratic nomination meant election.

The political surprise, later supported by a state Supreme Court decision, ousted Atty. Gen. Fred S. LeBlanc and Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce from a runoff.

Long's stout insistence that no "high handed" tactics were involved highlighted the central committee meeting.

The law, apparently all sides agree, is at fault because it is not crystal clear. Here is exactly what it says, in full. It is revised statute 18, section 356:

"If no candidate for the office of governor should have received a majority of the votes cast for that office, a second primary shall be held for governor and for all other state offices, the candidates for which have failed to receive a majority of the votes cast for the office for which they were respectively candidates. The second primary shall be held at the same places as the first primary five weeks from the date of the first primary. However, if this day falls on Mardi Gras, the second primary shall be held six weeks from the date of the first primary. The expenses of the second primary shall be borne in the same manner as those of the first primary."

Gov. designate Long, a first primary winner, said in Winnfield he wants the Legislature to spell out in the law that there shall be no second primary for the state officers when a govenor wins in the first round.

The candidates for lesser offices with the highest vote in the first primary would be designated the Democratic nominee automatically, despite failure to receive a majority ballot.

Rep. Brown, who won re-election, and Munson, a Rapides Parish newcomer, teamed up to draft an opposing proposal which would force runoffs for state officers whenever a candidate for any of the state officers receives less than a majority in the first primary.

Each of the state races would be treated as a separate contest, instead of being tied in with the balloting for governor—as Long prefers.

"If that is the way Gov. designate Long feels, Rep. Brown commented, "then it is simply an honest difference of opinion on what the law should be.

"In any event, the law should be made clear. On that point, the governor and I agree."

The voters are entitled to make a final choice in a second primary if no candidate can win a majority the first time, Brown insisted.

In the legislative races, for instance, he explained, "some candidates polled as much as 49 per cent of their first primary vote but were beaten in the second primary.

"If a candidate for governor is required to get a majority to win, it is only fair that the people have the same right to require any other candidate for a state office to show a majority in order to win."

Candidates Of

would be authorized to issue bonds up to 25 per cent of assessed value of city property, bringing that school board in line with authority granted all parish boards in the state.

6—A long - range highway fund would be created into which all highway revenues would go and out of which debt service would have first claim. Authority to issue up to $60 million in bonds against existing revenue would be granted, but with no more than $30 million to be issued in any one year.

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 8 p.m.

District School Leaders Session Scheduled Here

Fifth District principals will hold their association meeting Tuesday on the Northeast State campus, D. W. McBride of Oak Grove and president of the group, announced.

Main features on the agenda will be group discussions of various school problems, which will be led by principals and Dean William M. Smith of the Northeast State faculty.

R. S. Hargis, Rayville High School principal, is scheduled to discuss the question: How shall we handle recruiting activities of colleges and business schools with our high school seniors?

I. C. Strickland, Ouachita Parish High School principal, will emphasize the problem: How do we handle time lost out of classwork by pupils for extracurricular and community activities?

A third question: How can the services of high school specialists be made available to elementary schools? will be raised by W. C. Hohmann, principal of the Bastrop High School.

Dean Smith, who also is head of the Northeast Teacher Education Department, will call for a discussion of a question: What should we do about Special Education Clinic services for the next year? Several school systems in the Fifth District have been participating in the Special Education program during its initial year of functioning at Northeast.

General Motors Reports New Type Engine Developed

DETROIT, April 14—UP—General Motors announced Saturday it has developed a new, experimental "free piston" automobile engine that might prove to have all the advantages and few of the problems of the gas turbine, which has been called the auto engine of tomorrow.

President Harlow H. Curtice said the engine is a new concept in automotive power. He said it has been mounted in an experimental car and will be exhibited in mid-May when the new General Motors technical center is dedicated.

"Although the principle of the free piston engine has been known for more than 30 years, General Motors research staff is first to put it to work in automobiles," Curtice said.

Like the gas turbine, it burns almost any type of fuel instead of the high octane fuels needed for today's piston engines. It even has been run with whale oil, peanut oil, and other vegetable oils, General Motors said.

The engine does not have a crankshaft or connecting rods. Pistons, operating in theory like a bicycle tire pump or an old-fashioned fireplace bellows, are mounted under the hood. They pump compressed gases through a pipe to a turbine in the rear of the car.

The gases turn the turbine, which in turn powers the rear wheels.

The engine has two cylinders, each containing a set of two pistons. An air-fuel charge is fired between the two pistons in each cylinder. The pistons are driven apart by the blast, compressing air at the ends of the cylinders. The air finally bounces the pistons back to the center. As they go back and forth, they compress air which is piped to the turbines and operates it.

Benson Says

versial election year measure as unacceptable. He added:

"I still consider, over all, that it is a bad bill, although there are some good things in it."

Responding to another question, Benson said he made "no firm recommendation" to Eisenhower regarding action on the measure. The Cabinet officer said further he thinks he probably won't make any such recommendation. He said he is confident Eisenhower knows his views.

Benson said Eisenhower "Is making a very careful analysis and study of the bill," and that the President has "asked us to provide certain technical information" for use in making up his mind.

Asked whether he "in good conscience" could administer the bill if Eisenhower should sign it, Benson replied:

"If it is signed into law, we will do the very best we can to administer it as long as the President wants us to do so. Legislation usually is a compromise, as you know. Seldom does a Cabinet officer get legislation to administer that is wholly to his liking."

A reporter wanted to know whether Benson would sign the bill if the decision was up to him.

"I would, of course, do what the President is doing," Benson replied. "He is trying to determine what is best for the farmers of this country and what is fair to all Americans."

Some influential Democrats in Congress have said that if Eisenhower vetoes the bill, he will get no farm legislation at this session.

But Benson said it is "entirely conceivable" that the administration, in a new bill, might get the soil bank the President wants created with a view to reducing crop surpluses. There is provision for that in the pending bill, but there also are provisions the administration does not want.

Before the Benson news conference James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen Eisenhower had come to no conclusion regarding the bill at the end of a morning meeting which lasted more than two hours.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) said tonight that Eisenhower will sign the farm bill or "he must repudiate his own statements."

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said Eisenhower told a news conference April 4 in effect that what farmers "need is a bill which will first, help them immediately, and second, offer long-term relief."

"This standard, a yard stick laid down by the President himself, is fully met by the conference bill," Ellender said in an address recorded for radio use in Louisiana (WWL-New Orleans).

Actually the transcript of the news conference showed that the president said many things about farm problems and the compromise bill, including:

"We are looking for a bill that will help them (farmers) over the long term and which would help them now."

Eisenhower also sharply criticized rigid price supports and called amendments to the complicated bill "clumsy and even worse. . . . ."

"I am looking for a good bill for farmers and one that makes sense, one that will make sense five years from now as well as now," he said.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), who led a losing battle to retain the administration's flexible price support program and put through the new soil bank without numerous riders now tacked on it, said in an interview that he is confident the President will veto the bill.

Frazar Only

S. J. McCrory, Agriculture Commissioner.

Jack P. F. Gremillion, Attorney General.

Long's leaders are touring the state in three groups this weekend in opposition to the two amendments. Long will wind up his efforts with a rally in Baton Rouge Monday night.

The next governor contends he has no plans to increase taxes, unless absolutely necessary, but he sees no reason why he can't "shift some taxes around to where they ought to be."

The porposed amendment would block any efforts to make taxes more fair, he said.

And for a possible new tax to replace revenue lost for adjustments, Long suggests the sulphur severance tax was set nearly 2 years ago when sulphur sold a lot cheaper than it does now. Sulphur severance tax "could stand a raise," he says.

On the two-thirds amendment, Long contends, "no state in the American Union has such a law. The federal government has passed some of the largest tax measures on record with less than one-third of the entire membership —whereas, in contrast, this undemocratic amendment calls for one more than two-thirds of both houses of our Legislature."

"I will do my dead level best to see that no taxes are increased —but that doesn't mean adjustments cannot be made, in some cases, to the benefit of everyone who wants a square deal," Long continues. "This will be made very, very difficult should the amendment be ratified."

Long favors the other four amendments.

One highway amendment would dedicate 15 million dollars yearly from mineral revenues, $12,500-000 from royalties and $2,500,000 from bonuses, to highway construction.

The other highway proposal would establish a long range highway fund, into which all highway revenues would go and from which all debt service would have first claim.

The amendment also would grant authority to issue up to 6 million dollars in bonds against existing revenue, limited to 2 million in any one year.

Sponsors say this amendment would result in a simplier debt structure and probably bring better interest rates.

Other amendments provide:

1. International House and International Trade Mart in New Orleans would be exempt from paying a property tax as a non-profit institution, promoting trade, travbg and commerce.

2. The Monroe City School Board would be authorized to issue bonds up to 25 per cent of assessed value on city property, bringing that school board in line with authority granted all parish boards in the state.

Mass Meeting Set Here To Explain Work Of Councils

A mass meeting to supply residents of northeast Louisiana with vital information pertaining to the work of citizens councils in this area and over the South will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, according to Billye Adams, president of the Ouachita Citizens Council. The public of Ouachita parish and the entire area is invited to attend the gathering, which will be in the Neville High School auditorium.

Principal speaker of the meeting will be Judge Tom Brady, of Brookhaven, Miss., who Adams said is one of the ablest speaker in the South.

Judge Brady has been a leader in the citizens council movement in Mississippi and other Southern states. He was recently re-elected to a second term, without opposition, to the 14th judicial district court. A graduate of Yale law school, he taught Sociology at Mississippi University; is a past vice president of the Mississippi Bar Assocation; is the author of a book titled "Black Monday (concerning the historic U.S. Supreme Court ruling on segregation); and is a delegate to form a citizens council of America.

Judge Brady is also an active church worker.

Adams said that letters of invitation to attend the meeting are being sent to presidents of citizens councils over northeast Louisana.

He stressed that the purposes, organizations and work of the citizens council movement in Ouachita parish and elsewhere, will be cleared up Friday night by able spokesmen who are familiar with the councils.

The local council president said that "many things enter into the problem of securing and maintaining good government."

SELL THE SIZZLE—Elmer Wheeler, the man who says "Don't sell the steak, sell the sizzle" will hold a one night sales clinic at Neville School auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Sales Executives club of Monroe and West Monroe. Last year Wheeler was voted the most popular speaker in the country when a national magazine polled 500 audiences to find the national favorite.

Additional Six

per cent of the amount of the tax for each month or fraction of a month. In addition, interest will accrue at the rate of 6 per cent annually on the amounts unpaid by the due date.

The government has estimated conservatively that the tax on income from individuals for 1955 will run about 33½ billion dollars. There is a possibility the take will be higher than expected and further raise the administration's hopes for achieving a balanced budget at the end of this fiscal year June 30.

The deadline Monday affects individuals subject to filing returns, even though the tax due has been withheld from their pay checks.

Besides salaried persons and wage earners, the final date for returns applies to professional and self-employed persons who may have been paying their tax on a quarterly basis. Others who must meet the deadline Monday are:

Farmers who filed their 1955 tax declaration by last Jan. 16. They now must file a final return and pay the balance of their 1955 tax.

Partnerships, which must file an information return for 1955.

Executors, who must file estate income tax returns for last year and pay the first quarterly installment for 1956 taxes.

Donors of gifts in 1955, who must file a gift tax return and pay the proper tax. Those who received gifts must file information returns showing the amount of gifts received last year.

Self - employed persons eligible for Social Security benefits also must pay by Monday midnight the Social Security tax of 3 per cent on their earnings up to $4,200 in 1955, if they have not already done so.

Besides meeting the deadline for 1955 returns, a substantial percentage of taxpayers also must file estimates of their 1956 tax and pay at least one-fourth of the amount due if it has not already been paid.

Legislative Fight

Democratic nomination meant election.

The political surprise, later supported by a state Supreme Court decision, ousted Atty. Gen. Fred S. LeBlanc and Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce from a runoff.

Long's stout insistence that no "high handed" tactics were involved highlighted the central committee meeting.

The law, apparently all sides agree, is at fault because it is not crystal clear. Here is exactly what it says, in full. It is revised statute 18, section 356:

"If no candidate for the office of governor should have received a majority of the votes cast for that office, a second primary shall be held for governor and for all other state offices, the candidates for which have failed to receive a majority of the votes cast for the office for which they were respectively candidates. The second primary shall be held at the same places as the first primary five weeks from the date of the first primary. However, if this day falls on Mardi Gras, the second primary shall be held six weeks from the date of the first primary. The expenses of the second primary shall be borne in the same manner as those of the first primary."

Gov. designate Long, a first primary winner, said in Winnfield he wants the Legislature to spell out in the law that there shall be no second primary for the state officers when a govenor wins in the first round.

The candidates for lesser offices with the highest vote in the first primary would be designated the Democratic nominee automatically, despite failure to receive a majority ballot.

Rep. Brown, who won re-election, and Munson, a Rapides Parish newcomer, teamed up to draft an opposing proposal which would force runoffs for state officers whenever a candidate for any of the state officers receives less than a majority in the first primary.

Each of the state races would be treated as a separate contest, instead of being tied in with the balloting for governor—as Long prefers.

"If that is the way Gov. designate Long feels, Rep. Brown commented, "then it is simply an honest difference of opinion on what the law should be.

"In any event, the law should be made clear. On that point, the governor and I agree."

The voters are entitled to make a final choice in a second primary if no candidate can win a majority the first time, Brown insisted.

In the legislative races, for instance, he explained, "some candidates polled as much as 49 per cent of their first primary vote but were beaten in the second primary.

"If a candidate for governor is required to get a majority to win, it is only fair that the people have the same right to require any other candidate for a state office to show a majority in order to win."

Candidates Of

would be authorized to issue bonds up to 25 per cent of assessed value of city property, bringing that school board in line with authority granted all parish boards in the state.

6—A long - range highway fund would be created into which all highway revenues would go and out of which debt service would have first claim. Authority to issue up to $60 million in bonds against existing revenue would be granted, but with no more than $30 million to be issued in any one year.

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 8 p.m.

District School Leaders Session Scheduled Here

Fifth District principals will hold their association meeting Tuesday on the Northeast State campus, D. W. McBride of Oak Grove and president of the group, announced.

Main features on the agenda will be group discussions of various school problems, which will be led by principals and Dean William M. Smith of the Northeast State faculty.

R. S. Hargis, Rayville High School principal, is scheduled to discuss the question: How shall we handle recruiting activities of colleges and business schools with our high school seniors?

I. C. Strickland, Ouachita Parish High School principal, will emphasize the problem: How do we handle time lost out of classwork by pupils for extracurricular and community activities?

A third question: How can the services of high school specialists be made available to elementary schools? will be raised by W. C. Hohmann, principal of the Bastrop High School.

Dean Smith, who also is head of the Northeast Teacher Education Department, will call for a discussion of a question: What should we do about Special Education Clinic services for the next year? Several school systems in the Fifth District have been participating in the Special Education program during its initial year of functioning at Northeast.

ADOLPH HITLER

Was badly in need of a Safe-Buy Used Car to make his escape. Instead of

HIDING IN

MONROE

or Timbuctu. They didn't have any Safe Buy used cars in Berlin and Hitler didn't make good his escape. If you want to escape a lot of driving troubles, just slip on down to 117 Louisville in Monroe, where they

PARGOUD BLVD.
Southern Colonial Brick Home. Over 3300 Sq. Ft. Living area, Over 900 Sq. Feet Garage and Servant's Area.

This home rambles over a large tree shaded corner lot, size 200x150 feet — handsome live oaks, white oaks, pin oaks, flowering trees — exquisite roof-high fine camellias, banked with many varieties of azaleas, formal rose gardens. Brick patio, barbecue house with bath facilities, pool room, storage, private alley. Servant's house with full bath, utility room, 2 car garage attached. Main part of residence consists of 8 wonderful rooms and 3 beautiful spacious tile baths with all the extras. 10 foot ceilings in living room with fireplace, separate dining room, large breakfast room, Hot Point kitchen with dishwasher, disposal. Beautiful library paneled in natural Louisiana gum with fireplace. Sunken den, very large, with wood burning fireplace. Game room, completely sound proofed and equipped with ping pong tables. Cmpletely air conditioned, central heating, all drapes and carpets incuded. All wall papers are fine imports, and entire interior's designed and installed by Friend Piper Decorating Studio, and house designed by Monroe's own King Stubbs. Many more items included such as: 4 ceiling fans, extra air conditioning units, etc. Owners are moving to a distant city — the only reason such a perfect home would be offered for sale at 1-3 the cost to replace it. Easy to buy — Shown by appointment only. I & S Realty. Phone 3-1679, 2-0228.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. This would prevent much marriage unhappiness. Before marriage — the time when love is blind — lovers fail to see anything but the glamor in each other. A little critical analysis then would save trouble afterwards. Many colleges and some high schools are giving courses on these problems. Our booklet, "What Teenagers Should Know About Life and Love," is a wonderful guide for young people. Nonprofit, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Do people today marry at the same age as their parents did?

Yes — No —

2. Sociologist M. Rose found among men and women students and their parents at the University of Minnesota that men students hoped to marry at nearly the age at which their fathers did marry; except in cases where the father married when extremely young or extremely old. However, daughters hoped to marry, not at the age their mothers did marry, but at the age at which they wished they had married. Mothers' wished-for age of marriage was more important for predicting daughter's hopes than fathers' wishes in predicting son's hopes.

Is restlessness a sign one is dissatisfied or progressive?

Your opinion —

3. If by a restless person you mean one who can never sit still, who is always crossing and uncrossing his legs, drumming with his fingers, and the like, he may be progressive, but these signs don't indicate it. They indicate bad nerves, poor digestion, and general dissatisfaction with things as they are. The really progressive person is usually one of sound nerves and clear head — one who devotes himself to using his mind rather than to dancing around with a nervous body like a spider on a hot skillet.

Are you emotionally upset?

"Managing Feeling and Emotions" shows you how to control emotions for happiness. Booklet nonprofit. Send 25 cents, coin only, and stamped, fully addressed reply envelope to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, c-o this newspaper.

Half Of Texas Production Of Natural Gas Exported

HOUSTON, April 14 (AP) —Texas last year exported over half the natural gas it placed on the market.

Some 28 companies moved 2,416 billion cubic feet of gas out of the state.

Texas' 1955 output, 48 per cent of the nation's production, was 5,740 billion cubic feet, of which 4,454 billion was used for pressure maintenance, repressuring, and cycling or was burned in the field for lack of a practical market outlet.

Of the gas marketed, 3,869 billion cubic feet went to transmission lines, 432 billion was used as plant fuel and on the leases, and 125 billion went into the production of carbon black.

An oil editor this week suggested that Texas would receive greater return for its gas if it would keep more of its production at home.

Thomas Ponder of Petroleum Refiner told an oil recovery conference at Texas A&M the unit value of natural gas increases 12½ times when used to make petrochemicals.

He said the increase is only 2½ times when used as fuel.

Ponder said Texas' exported gas last year had a value of 496 million dollars.

"If that gas had been kept in the state and made into petrochemicals its value would have jumped to 6.2 billion dollars," he said.

Ponder said the average petrochemical sells for about 9½ cents a pound.

"In 1955 over 32 billion pounds of petrochemicals were produced and were sold for more than three billion dollars," he said. "The average petrochemical requires about three-quarters cents worth of natural gas to manufacture.

This is increasing the value of the gas 12½ cents a pound. Other examples:

Acrylonitrile, a petrochemical intermediate used in synthetic fibers, sells for about 27 cents a pound, needs for its production natural gas valued at little over 1½ cents.

Formaldehyde sells for about 4 cents a pound and uses about ¼ cent in natural gas.

Polyethylene, one of the best known plastics, sells for about 40 cents a pound and requires in its manufacture about 1 cent in natural gas.

Ponder said one of the newest petrochemicals, UREA, has common use in production of plastic material, as an animal feed supplement and as fertilizer material. UREA sells for about 6 cents a pound and requires natural gas valued at less than ½ cent.

Double Case Of Cancer Appears To Be Much Improved

After a stay of some weeks in the M. D. Anderson hospital in Houston, Tex., Jim Irvin McGuffey, five year old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McGuffey of Shreveport has been returned to his home. The boy developed a cancer in both lungs and was rushed to the Houston hospital for treatment.

He has made so rapid recovery that his parents were delighted to be able to take him back home.

While they were away, Mr. and Mrs. B. I. McGuffey of 1615 North Second street, Monroe, grandparents of the ailing child, cared for other small children in the family while parents were in Houston. They also have now returned home.

Insurance Agents Backing Road-E-O

The Ouachita Association of Insurance Agents of Monroe and West Monroe will sponsor the local Jaycee Teen-Age Road-E-O to be held at Selman Field, next Saturday. The association is made up of insurance agents representing capital stock companies in the insurance field.

Trophies for the best boy and girl drivers as well as many other prizes will be donated by the association.

Mrs. E. T. Lampkin, president of the association said, "We of the Ouachita Association, are proud to be a part of this worthy undertaking. If we in some small way can contribute to the safety of our teenagers and the general public, we are more than happy to do our part."

This is the second year that the Ouachita Association of Insurance Agents have sponsored this Jaycee safety program. The contest on the state and national level, are sponsored by other business firms.

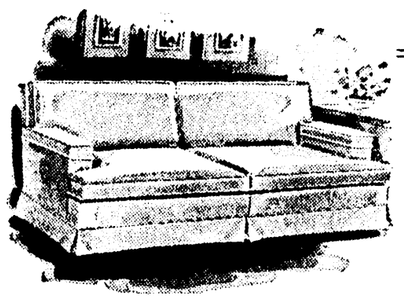

All teenagers with a driving permit or license are eligible to participate.

The Music Guild Plan National Music Club Week

The P. A. Poag home, beautifully decorated with spring flowers, was the setting for the April meeting of the Music Guild. Mrs. C. A. Caldwell and Mrs. C. W. Thacker assisted Mrs. Poag for the occasion.

The president, Mrs. L. C. Noland, Jr., presided over the business session, during which arrangements were made for the observance of National Music Club Week in May.

The program, consisting of light American music, appropriately opened with these words from the text prepared by Mrs. Robert Wroten and read by Mrs. Paul Newman: "As people's thinking changes their songs also change;" and, "The history of American manners, morals, tastes and absurdities is largely written in our songs;" also, "Many think that the most individual contribution that America has made to music has been in our lighter musical moments."

In adherence to these thoughts the following numbers were presented:

Vocal trio, "Thine Alone," Herbert . . . Mrs. Cecil Hill, Mrs. R. W. Cretney and Mrs. B. B. Martin.

Vocal solo, "There's A Song In My Heart," Rodgers . . . Mrs. J. Norman Coon.

Piano solo, "Blue Tango," Anderson . . . Mrs. W. W. Bullock, Jr.

Members in attendance at the meeting were: Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Willys Hopkins, Mrs. Cecil Hill, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. D. N. White, Mrs. C. L. Dillingham, Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. W. W. Miss Lawton And Ensign Mayer Plan June Wedding

Of interest in Shreveport and north Louisiana is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gillam Lawton, Jr., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Diane, to Don Mack Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Mayer, of Winnsboro.

The wedding will be an event of June 5 in Shreveport.

Miss Lawton made her formal bow to society at the Shreveport Demoiselle Ball during the '54 season.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Robert Hickman Hodge and the late Dr. Hodge of Athens, Tex. and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gillam Lawton of Pine Bluff, Ark.

A graduate of Byrd High school, the bride - elect attended Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans for three years and will graduate from Centenary college this spring.

She is a member of Chi Omega sorority and the Demoiselle club.

Mr. Mayer is descended from the late Mr. and Mrs. Mackey Bradley and the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Mayer, all of Winnsboro.

A graduate of the chemical engineering school at Tulane university, Mr. Mayer studied at the University of Virginia and graduated from Winnsboro High school. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

He is currently serving as an ensign aboard the U. S. S. Valley Forge at Norfolk, Va.

Girl Scout News

This is the week end of the Senior Girl Scout conference in New Orleans, a high point in the life of seniors throughout Louisiana. Sixteen local girls from Troop 14 and Troop 23, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Usrey and Miss Pat Collins, left Friday morning by bus for two days of serious discussion, fun, and sightseeing. They went prepared to support one of their number, Nancy Breard, for president. We're anxious to know how they succeeded.

Yesterday was a busy day at the Scout office. Designated as sign-up day for camping, it started off camp registration with a bang, we hope. Parents who didn't get around to making up their minds about summer camping for their girls before the sign-up day should do their planning soon and send in registrations right away. It's not too late, but soon may be.

Day Camp, remember, is for eight days, July 10-19, at our own camp, Pine Wood. Girls of all ages live in units under the trees, bringing their lunch from home, or cooking out at noon. The intermediates tie in work on out of door badges, like the Tree, Conservation, Insect, Adventurer, Campcraft, or others that the girls choose.

Groups work with the forestry man, learn about the trees, go on a trip to the fire tower at Linwood, hike to the river, make leaf prints and do other nature crafts, learn to build fires, use a knife, cook out of doors, learn songs and games. Any adult interested in helping to make camp possible will receive training for her job. Older girls may serve as program aides, receiving training for that also. Annis Klie, our local professional, will direct the camp. Lucy Huckabee, day camp chairman, recommends day camp for a girl's first camp experience, for the ones who are not yet prepared for camping away from home, and for all girls, really.

Most camp - minded people will agree that there's nothing like camping away from home, or established camping, as the Scouts call it. For two whole weeks in August our council will operate an established camp at Wawbansee Shreveport's camp, located near Arcadia.

Folders for this camp have been made available throughout the area, and one will be mailed to anyone upon request. Mrs. T. F. Wilson, camp chaiman for the council, states that Wawbansee will be open to any girl in northeast Louisiana who next year will be in the fourth grade or above. She urges early registration, as the camp has a capacity of only 80 girls. As at day camp, campers will live in units with other girls of their own age and with their own counselors. All Girl Scout camps, Mrs. Wilson observes, are operated on a non-profit basis and under the very high standards required of all Girl Scout camps.

Get those registrations in early!

MRS. BEVERLY BAYLES HANDY, JR.

Handy-Savage Wedding Is Solemnized In Collinston

The Riely Memorial Methodist Church in Collinston was the setting for the nuptial vows of Miss Patricia Ann Savage and Mr. Beverly Bayles Handy, Jr., at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 31. The Rev. Ed Weatherly and the Rev. Fred Meade performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerd Savage of Collinston and Mr. Handy is the son of Mrs. B. B. Handy and the late Mr. Handy of this city.

Tall white baskets of pink gladioli and southern smilax decorated the altar, which was illuminated by white cathedral tapers.

Mrs. B. W. Hopgood, pianist, presented nuptial music and accompanied Miss Ann Boyd who sang "The Rosary" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Dorothy Hudson was the bride's only attendant. Her dress was a blue cotton brocade model with a long torso and flared skirt. She wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The candles were lighted by Miss Nona Savage, sister of the bride and Miss Joyce Takewell. Their dresses were pale green taffeta styled along princess lines. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Dr. William E. Smith, Jr., served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were William Savage and Mitchell Funderburk.

A reception followed the ceremony in the reception rooms of the church.

The bride is a graduate of Collinston High School and is attending Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mr. Handy finished at Ouachita Parish High School and received his degree in agriculture from Louisiana State University where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and the Block and Bridle Club.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Horton of Camden, Ark.; Mrs. Roy Buchanan and Miss Betty Buchanan of Nacogdoches, Tex.; Mrs. Sam H. Jones of Fort Worth, Tex.; Mrs. Bradley Waelder, Miss Sara Robinett, Mrs. John Keller, Mrs. A. J. Dryburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Edwin Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Harkey, Mrs. Francis Faulk, Mrs. J.B. Vaughn, Mrs. Joe Goyne, Jr., all of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Strother of Coushatta; Mrs. Eldred Pratt, Mrs. Iris Grafton, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Savage, all of Farmerville; Mrs. W. E. Savage of Marion; Mrs. Neal Oliver of Bastrop, Mrs. Robert Page of Bastrop, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, Jr., and Mabry Savage of Monroe.

Next time you make a glaze for ham from brown sugar, mustard and vinegar, try adding a pinch of allspice, ginger or mace.

MISS GARNET MONTGOMERY

Couple Plan June Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. J. Field Montgomery, of Tallulah, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Garnet to John Comer Watts, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Comer Watts, of Camden, Ark.

The wedding will take place at the Methodist Church on June 16.

Miss Montgomery graduated at Louisiana State University last May and is now studying medical technology in New Orleans. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi fraternity. Her mother is the former Coralie Gilfoil of Lake Providence.

Mr. Watts is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and will graduate in May from the Tulane University School of Medicine. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity and Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity. His mother is the former Elizabeth Owen, of Texarkana.

Plugge-Carter Betrothal Told

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ford Carter, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, to George Edward Plugge, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Plugge, of Needham, Mass.

The wedding will be solemnized on June 9th, in the First Baptist Church at Lake Providence, with Rev. C. A. Martin, Pastor, officiating.

MRS. BEVERLY BAYLES HANDY, JR.

Handy-Savage Wedding Is Solemnized In Collinston

The Riely Memorial Methodist Church in Collinston was the setting for the nuptial vows of Miss Patricia Ann Savage and Mr. Beverly Bayles Handy, Jr., at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 31. The Rev. Ed Weatherly and the Rev. Fred Meade performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerd Savage of Collinston and Mr. Handy is the son of Mrs. B. B. Handy and the late Mr. Handy of this city.

Tall white baskets of pink gladioli and southern smilax decorated the altar, which was illuminated by white cathedral tapers.

Mrs. B. W. Hopgood, pianist, presented nuptial music and accompanied Miss Ann Boyd who sang "The Rosary" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a pink linen sheath dress with a matching lace duster fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a matching pink hat and carried a white orchid mounted on a white satin prayer book.

Miss Dorothy Hudson was the bride's only attendant. Her dress was a blue cotton brocade model with a long torso and flared skirt. She wore white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The candles were lighted by Miss Nona Savage, sister of the bride and Miss Joyce Takewell. Their dresses were pale green taffeta styled along princess lines. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Dr. William E. Smith, Jr., served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were William Savage and Mitchell Funderburk.

A reception followed the ceremony in the reception rooms of the church.

The bride is a graduate of Collinston High School and is attending Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mr. Handy finished at Ouachita Parish High School and received his degree in agriculture from Louisiana State University where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and the Block and Bridle Club.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Horton of Camden, Ark.; Mrs. Roy Buchanan and Miss Betty Buchanan of Nacogdoches, Tex.; Mrs. Sam H. Jones of Fort Worth, Tex.; Mrs. Bradley Waelder, Miss Sara Robinett, Mrs. John Keller, Mrs. A. J. Dryburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farmer, Mrs. Edwin Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Harkey, Mrs. Francis Faulk, Mrs. J.B. Vaughn, Mrs. Joe Goyne, Jr., all of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Strother of Coushatta; Mrs. Eldred Pratt, Mrs. Iris Grafton, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Savage, all of Farmerville; Mrs. W. E. Savage of Marion; Mrs. Neal Oliver of Bastrop, Mrs. Robert Page of Bastrop, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, Jr., and Mabry Savage of Monroe.

Next time you make a glaze for ham from brown sugar, mustard and vinegar, try adding a pinch of allspice, ginger or mace.

Jr. Charity League Give Luncheon And Fashion Show

"Fashion is—now and always—a reflection of the current ideal of what's beautiful and right," was proven at the Junior Charity League Luncheon and Fashion Show, presented to 200 guests at the Virginia Hotel on Friday.

The latest in fashions for milady's summer wardrobe, from casual cottons, that take on a cosmopolitan air to the loveliest of summer formals from the Women's Shop were shown.

Mrs. D. V. Loflin, Jr., was narrator.

From the opening of the show, with Mrs. James Ewing, II, wearing the newest in cotton separates, which featured a yellow skirt with new Empire line, coordinated with a yellow print shirt, to the close, when Mrs. Theo Terzia, Jr., appeared, lovely, in a figurine summer formal, aptly named "The Yellow Rose of Texas," and cleverly designed of palest yellow organdy trimmed with harmonizing roses, the guests were shown the 1956 fashion formula, which emphasizes the important new look of simple elegance.

Other models were Mrs. Darwin Nichols, Mrs. Lee Vanderpool, Mrs. H. D. Touchstone, Mrs. Thomas Henry, Mrs. Evans Ethridge, Mrs. Fred Sartor, Mrs. Jamar Adcock and Mrs. Benton Wakefield, Jr.

Calhoun Couple Pledge Vows In Church Ceremony

Miss Sue Lynn Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn A. Thompson of Calhoun, became the bride of Kenneth Lloyd Coon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Coon, also of Calhoun, in a double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening, March 31, at the Indian Village Methodist Church.

The Rev. Roy Grant performed the nuptial service.

Miss Dora Ann Garland was pianist and accompanied Miss Clara Bess Sills who sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white nylon lace over white polished cotton. She wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of white carnations mounted on a white Bible.

Miss Beth Thompson was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a pale blue nylon with a baudeau of flowers and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The candlelighters were Miss Sara Nell Thompson and Miss Kay Finley. Both were wearing pink dotted Swiss models.

Mrs. Thompson, the bride's mother, chose a navy blue silk shantung for the wedding. A white carnation corsage completed her ensemble.

The bride's table was overlaid in a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink gladioli and bridal wreath.

The bride is a senior at Calhoun High School.

Mr. Coon graduated from Calhoun High School, attended Northeast Louisiana State College and is stationed in Bloomington, Ind., with the U. S. Air Force. Mrs. Coon will join him in June.

Miss Richards Plans Wedding For June 16

Miss Carolyn Floy Richard's engagement to Thomas Odell McPherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Admon McPherson of Epps, was announced in Baton Rouge this week by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph George Richard.

The wedding will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening, June 16, at the University Methodist Church. The Rev. W. E. Trice will officiate.

Mrs. Richard Fox will serve Miss Richard as matron of honor. Bridesmaids will be Miss Ursula Bogan, Miss Reba McPherson, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. W. C. Norris, and Miss Catherine Oertel.

Miss Julie LeBlanc will be a junior bridesmaid and Miss Julia Anne Beltune will serve as flower girl.

Serving the prospective bridegroom as best man will be his brother, John E. McPherson. Sam H. Lott, Jr., and Buckner Harris, Jr., will be ushers.

Miss Richard graduated from University High School in Baton Rouge, attended the American Community School of Paris, France and Louisiana State University.

She is a member of Phi Mu social sorority and Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary sorority.

Mr. McPherson graduated from Delhi High School, attended Northeast Louisiana State College and graduated from Louisiana State University. He is a member of Alpha Zeta and Alpha Tau Alpha fraternities.

They plan to make their home in Baton Rouge.

Spaghetti takes to other sauces besides tomato. It may be dressed, for instance, with olive oil, minced parsley, crushed garlic and grated Romano or Parmesan cheese.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD NALTON SMITH

Give color interest to creamed finnan haddie by adding strips of green pepper and pimiento; or sprinkle with paprika.

Miss Julia Cash Becomes Bride Of R. N. Smith

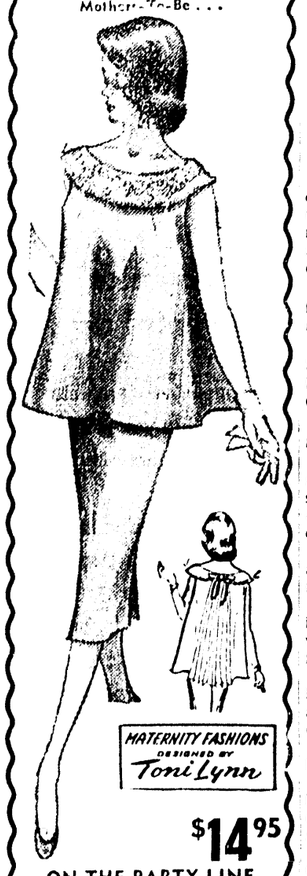

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cash announce the marriage of their daughter, Julia, to Mr. Richard Nalton Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Smith of Centralia, Ill., and Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The ceremony took place in the home of the Reverend D. I. Young in Greenville, Miss.

Mrs. Smith is a teacher at West Monroe High School. She graduated as an honor student for her department at Northwestern State College in Natchitoches where she received her BS degree in Business Education; she is continuing her work for her master's degree at NSC in the summer. She was a member of Pi Omega Pi, Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary business, education, and journalism fraternities; she was editor of the BSU News, and staff member on the Potpourri and Current Sauce. Mr. Smith was a member of the U. S. Air Force and attended Murray State Teachers College.

Ever add flaked tuna to French dressing or mayonnaise? Good over tomatoes, cucumber, salad greens.

Calhoun Couple Pledge Vows In Church Ceremony

Miss Sue Lynn Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn A. Thompson of Calhoun, became the bride of Kenneth Lloyd Coon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Coon, also of Calhoun, in a double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening, March 31, at the Indian Village Methodist Church.

The Rev. Roy Grant performed the nuptial service.

Miss Dora Ann Garland was pianist and accompanied Miss Clara Bess Sills who sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white nylon lace over white polished cotton. She wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of white carnations mounted on a white Bible.

Miss Beth Thompson was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a pale blue nylon with a bandeau of flowers and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The candlelighters were Miss Sara Nell Thompson and Miss Kay Finley. Both were wearing pink dotted Swiss models.

Mrs. Thompson, the bride's mother, chose a navy blue silk shantung for the wedding. A white carnation corsage completed her ensemble.

MISS NELL MAXINE HOUSTON'S engagement to Louis Giovingo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Giovingo, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Houston. The couple will be married at 5 p.m., April 18, at St. Matthew's Catholic Church.

MISS LOLA JANETTE SMITH

Miss Smith Selects June For Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Graves Johnson announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lola Janette Smith, to Roy Lee Gregory, son of Mrs. S.C. Johnston of Alsatia and the late John William Gregory.

The marriage will be solemnized in a candlelight ceremony, at the Lake Providence Methodist Church on Wednesday, June 6, at seven in the evening. The Reverend Thomas Major Lancaster, will officiate.

Miss Smith is a junior at the Louisiana State University, School of Art, and Mr. Gregory is a freshman in the L. S. U. Medical School.

Troth Pledged By Candlelight

The Delhi Baptist Church was the setting for the candlelight ceremony, on Friday evening, at 7:00 o'-clock, uniting Miss Evelyn Ogden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ogden, and Murrell Glen Gates, whose parents are Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Gates, of Waterproof. The grooms father, Rev. Gates, read their marriage vows.

Mrs. Stone Miller, pianist, rendered the nuptial music and Miss Alta Garrison was soloist.

Floor candlelabras burning bridal tapers cast a soft glow over the setting. Each window held a candle with a base of greenery and white flowers. The candles were lighted by Miss Mary Ogden, who was dressed identical to the Matron of honor, and Mr. Mark Powell, Jr., cousins of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The neckline was traced with tulle and the close fitting bodice featured long tapering sleeves of lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a cornonet of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies backed with green.

Mrs. James Beaird, of Ruston, was the matron of honor. Her waltz length gown was made of pink antique taffeta with boat neckline and the full gathered skirt fell from a torso waist line. She carried a bouquet of pastel blue and pink daisies with blue ribbon. The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Nowlin and Miss Velma Ikerd. Their gowns were identical to that of the honor attendant in design and made of blue antique taffeta. They carried bouquets of pink and blue daisies.

Will Wimberly was best man, and the ushers were James Zeagler and Donald Ray McGehee.

The brides mother choose a pastel blue lace dress with matching accessories, and her corsage was pink Gladreiums. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a pale pink dress with matching lace hat and pink accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink roses.

A reception followed in the social room of the church. The bride and groom, the bride's mother and bridegroom's father and mother, with the feminine members of the wedding party formed the receiving line in the reception room. Mrs. Harold Ogden, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of pink and blue daisies. The beautiful tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Reba Curry and Mrs. George Smith, aunt of the bride. Serving at the crystal punch bowl was Mrs. James Zeagler. Others helping with the reception was Mrs. W. S. Reagan and Mrs. L. B. Anderson.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Gates left for a short wedding trip. For traveling the bride was wearing a brown linen suit with white pique collar, a white straw hat and white gloves. Her shoes were beige. She pinned a yellow rosebud corsage at her shoulder.

Upon their return they will be at home at 403 South Vienna, Ruston, where they both attend La. Tech where Mrs. Gates will receive her degree in May.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Musslewhite of Lake Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Speiger of Tallulah, Mrs. A. L. McKinne and Judy McKinne of Monroe, James Beaird of Ruston, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Anderson of Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Tallulah, Ellen, Jamie and Mrs. Sam Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. W. S. Pippen, Joel, Johann and Patsy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erwin, Miss Margo McDonald, all of Waterproof, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamberline of Boyce, Mrs. Harvey Pippen of Tallulah, Mrs. J. J. Ball of Boyce, Mrs. James Zeagler of Ruston, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Garrison of Tallulah.

MRS. JOSEPH LEROY WOMACK

Womack-Walsworth Vows Are Said In Methodist Church

In a candlelight ceremony at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 31, at the First Methodist Church, Miss Jo Ann Walsworth became the bride of Joseph LeRoy Womack. The Rev. G. W. Pomeroy performed the double-ring nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Coverdale. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Womack of this city.

Easter lilies and greenery formed a picturesque background for the altar which was illuminated by white cathedral tapers in spiral candelabras.

Miss Jane Wallace presented nuptial music at the organ and also accompanied Miss Patricia Patterson, soloist, who sang "Through the Years," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's waltz-length gown was fashioned of white tulle and lace with a lace bolero featuring tight sleeves which ended in petal points over the hand. The full skirt was accented by lace inserts. Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a headdress of seed pearls and sequins.

Miss Lynda Gaar was maid of honor. Her gown was of tucked nilegreen chiffon. A satin cummerbund was worn around the waist. Her bandeau was fashioned of satin leaves. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations alternated with green leaves.

Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Jane Oden, Miss Connie Pickering and Miss Sally Ann Smith. Their gowns were identical to the honor attendant's.

The candles were lighted by Miss Barbara Bradley and Miss Marilyn Nectoux. Their dresses matched the bride's attendants' in shades of ice pink. They wore wrist corsages of pink carnations.

Joe Hortman served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Joe Street, Howard Stapp, John P. McKee, Jr., Don Updegraff and Ron Updegraff.

Silver vases of Easter lilies were placed attractively on the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed in pink and white and topped by a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Betty Warren of Bastrop, a cousin of the bride, presided at the bride's book.

The bride is a graduate of Neville High School and is a junior at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mr. Womack also graduated from Neville High School and will receive his B. S. degree in business administration from Northeast Louisiana State College in May.

MISS DORA LEE STANFORD'S engagement and approaching marriage to William Ray Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cox of Greenland, Mich., has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Lucy Stanford. The wedding will be an event of May 5.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Lt. William W. Herrington of Fort Polk, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Brook, Cathy and Richard of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warren, Jr., Betty and Jimmy of Bastrop, Mr. R. J. Sherrard of Ruston, Mrs. Eva Gaar of Quitman, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pennington of Bossier City, Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Willis of Clay, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nolan of Many, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Sims of St. Joseph, Miss Jo Ann Heinberg of Vicksburg, Miss., Miss Martha Lillian Willis of Clay.

Iris Gardens Will Be Toured This Afternoon

The Dixieland Day Lily and Iris Society will have an iris tour at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Members will first tour the gardens of Mrs. W. R. Gates, 404 Linderman Avenue, West Monroe and then the Raymond Moore's at 1206 Florida in Monroe.

Third on the tour is Mrs. Frank Williams' garden at 3900 Lee Avenue. From there, the group will go to Mrs. K. R. Young's home at 210 Grayling Lane.

Canned tomatoes help tomake a meat loaf juicy; whole kernel corn added to the meat mixture will give flavor interest.

10 And 25 HDC To Sponsor Tour

Most of us enjoy seeing what others are doing to improve the landscape and make it more livable and beautiful, especially at this time of the year. An opportunity is being offered you through the sponsorship of the 10 and 25 Year Home Demonstration Club to visit several interesting gardens April 24th. The group from the west side will meet at the Agricultural Building at 8:30 a.m. and go to Mrs. W. A. Calloway's home in Bosco, to join the group from the east side. Then they will travel to Corey to visit the Reynold's garden. The other gardens to be visited are: Mrs. V. H. Faust, Bosco; Mrs. J. W. Swift and Mr. L. L. Price, in the college area and several in Sterlington.

The group will have lunch at the Commercial Solvent Club House in Dixie Acre gardens at Sterlington. The 10 and 25 Year Club has asked the agent to state that any one interested is invited to bring a covered dish and a jar of tea and join this happy crowd for a day of pleasure. If it should be raining on the 24th, the group will assemble at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe where they will see some lovely slides on landscaping and flower arrangement.

The committee in charge of the tour is: Mrs. J. S. Sims, president, Liberty; Mrs. Gertie Landrum, Monroe; Mrs. Billy Luton, Logtown and Mrs. C. R. Alexander, Sterlington. You may call either of these for further information.

Filhiol Garden

Saturday afternoon was spent at the Filhiol garden. The Filhiol garden is among the oldest gardens of Ouachita parish. In this garden are many rare and old plants — many varieties of roses with real old fashioned rose fragrance both bush and running; many, many bulbs which bloom from early fall to late spring. When visiting this garden last week one outstanding plant in bloom was the Crown Imperial (only name known by owner). There are hundreds of these beautiful blue crowns in the garden. Mrs. Filhiol stated there were only a few of these bulbs in the garden when she came there as a bride and that she had continued cultivating and separating them to get this large number.

Another bulb in bloomwas the white Monbretia. White Monbretia is also rare. This variety blooms earlier than the red, purple or bronze varieties.

Mrs. Filhiol has one of the finest collections of Native Iris in Louisiana. These will be in full bloom in about a week or so. There are, also, many varieties of bearded iris in the garden. The Filhiol's garden is rarely, if ever, without blooming plants. It has some of the rarest and oldest camellias, japonicas, azaleas, including native ones, English boxwood, dogwoods, coral honeysuckle. Well, I can't begin to name them all. You will have to visit it to see for yourself its many rare plants and its beauty. You will also enjoy and love the gracious hospitality of its hostess, Mrs. Filhiol.

Nylon Problems

Nylon, to give satisfactory washing performance, must be heat set. It is the only method used so far to stabilize the fiber when made into a fabric. So far today there are no hang tags to insure the consumer that the product is properly heat set. We must depend on the store from which we buy to give us this information. Heat setting nylon is an expensive process, so there are no bargains when you go to buy. Heat set nylon will laundry well. Nylon which has not been heat set may have little fine creases that cannot be removed. This has caused many homemakers to be unhappy about nylon, especially nylon curtains. So when you buy nylon curtains or garments, be sure they are heat set.

Nylon curtains can be bleached by using commercial dye removers. Follow the instructions on package as to amount needed. Hold temperature of bleach-water at 140 degrees. Do not allow to come to a boil. Remove from bleach - water, place in water to which has been added a detergent. Hold at same temperature for 30 minutes then rinse. Add blueing to the last rinse water. Drip dry.

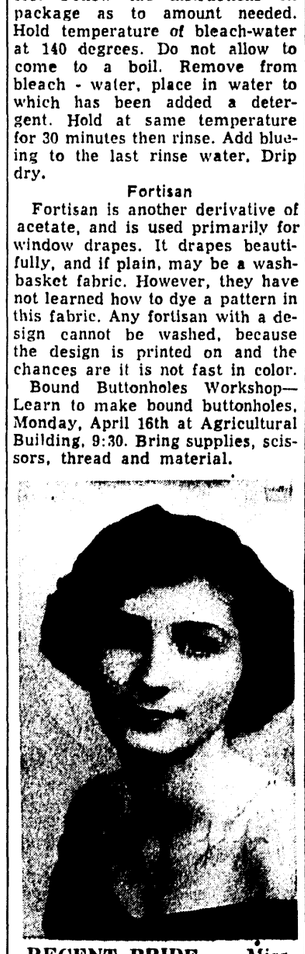

Fortisan

Fortisan is another derivative of acetate, and is used primarily for window drapes. It drapes beautifully, and if plain, may be a wash-basket fabric. However, they have not learned how to dye a pattern in this fabric. Any fortisan with a design cannot be washed, because the design is printed on and the chances are it is not fast in color.

Bound Buttonholes Workshop—Learn to make bound buttonholes, Monday, April 16th at Agricultural Building, 9:30. Bring supplies, scissors, thread and material.

MISS MARIANNA POPE'S engagement and approaching marriage to S/Sgt. Earl Walker, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Walker of Rayville, is announced by her father, Mr. Cary Pope of San Antonio, Tex. The wedding will be an event of June 9 in San Antonio, Tex. Sgt. Walker is stationed at Kelly Air Force Base.

RECENT BRIDE — Miss Mary Elizabeth Fairly, daughter of Mr. H. D. Fairly of this city and Mrs. Ford Brownlee of Calhoun was married to Bobby Norman Medlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Medlin of New Orleans in Fayette, Miss. The Rev. Mac Hart performed the ceremony. Mrs. Medlin is completing her studies in Fayette and Mr. Medlin is stationed at Fort Eustis, Va., with the U. S. Army.

Wildlife And Fisheries Commission Cures Fishing Ills In Farm Ponds

(This is the fourth in a series of articles based upon a Morning World Staff member's on-the-spot observation of work being done by District II of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission under the supervision of Joe L. Herring. The article this week deals with the Commission's program of diagnosing and remedyiig fishiig ailments of farm ponds and small lakes).

Practices of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission undiagnosing and remedying fishing ments of farm ponds and small lakes stocked with game fish were carried out last week in typical manner on a three-acre lake located on North Ninth Street in West Monroe.

In answer to a request from D. F. Johnson, spokesman for persons interested in the lake, Max W. Summers, fisheries biologist of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission and his assistant, J. W. Rachal, arrived at the lake equipped with paraphernalia needed for diagnosis.

Johnson had advised Summers that for some reason white perch, bream and bass caught from the lake were few and unsatisfactorily small in size.

Upon arriving at the scene, Summers and Rachal, who were also checking other ponds in District II last week, unloaded boat, motor, a large net and other equipment from their Wildlife and Fisheries Commission car. In a minute they were motoring to the opposite end of the lake, where they stretched the net, boxing off an area of approximately one-half acre for use as a "sample area." They then applied a strong rotenone solution to the sample area, suffocating all species of fish without destroying the edible qualities of the fish.

SAMPLE AREA—Max Summers, fishery biologist of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, prepares to remove the large net used to box off the "sample area" at a small lake on North Ninth Street in West Monroe. Sample area, in which all fish were suffocated by rotenone, lies beyond the net. Analysis of fish in a sample area of a pond is the Commission's method of arriving at fishing problems and securing the information needed to solve them.

Once the rotenone was applied, the next step was the tedious one of harvesting and weighing the fish of various species that the rotonone had brought to the surface. The following are the results obtained from Summers' analysis of fish reaped from the sample area.

Bass: small, three in number, total weight 1 2-10 pounds; intermediate, seven, totaling five pounds; large, seven weighing a total of 23.4 pounds.

Bream: small, 127 totaling 1.2 pounds in weight; intermediate, 59 total weight 4.4 pounds; large, 12 weighing a total of 1.8 pounds.

Shad: small, 13 grossing one pound; intermediate 19 weighing a total of three pounds; large, 11 weighing a total of 53.5 pounds.

Summers reached the conclusion that shad, imposters which had invaded the lake without being stocked, were monopolizing the food supplies of stocked bass, bream and white perch, thus stunting growth and discouraging reproduction of these species.

The recommendation was first of all to apply a weaker rotenone solution which would destroy sufficient oxygen to kill the shad, which need more oxygen than the other species for survival, while leaving the bass, white perch and bream; and, second, to replenish the stock of white perch, bass and bream so as to bring their populations into the proper proportions for most successful fishing.

Although invasion of stocked ponds and lakes by wild fish such as shad is a common ailment, other ills as pressing are encountered by fishery biologists. But analysis of the fish in an area isolated for testing always discovers the trouble and gives the biologist accurate basis for a scientific arrival at the cure.

Any pond owner with fishing difficulties may have the Commission biologists' service in diagnosis and treatment simply for the asking.

YMCA Breakfast Meeting Called To Plan Building

The breakfast meeting will be held at 7:30 a.m. in the Forge, 1103 Forsythe Avenue in Monroe.

Wayne Emory, representative from the Financial Services Bureau of the National Council of YMCA's, will be present to counsel with the local Board. The Financial Services Bureau is the fund raising arm of the YMCA and renders valuable counsel, leadership and guidance to local YMCA's in their capital fund raising efforts. Riley stated that the local Board of Directors is due to reach a decision on a campaign goal and campaign dates at Monday's meeting.

Jack R. Taylor, chairman of the YMCA membership committee, will present recommendations for the YMCA's participation in the proposed United Fund effort that is being organized in the Twin Cities. President Riley will conclude the meting with a statement on specific objectives for the Twin Cities YMCA during 1956.

Every YMCA Board member is urged to attend this Monday breakfast meeting.

DELAYED SEPARATION

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— An Oklahoma City man who thought he was divorced 37 years ago has asked District Judge Fred Daugherty to make it official. Hicks Irvin, railway pullman porter, discovered that no court minutes or final decree was filed in the 1918 divorce case. He said the judge granted him a divorce, though, and both he and his wife remarried.

The Boy Who Saved the Dyke.

Along the seacoast of Holland, where the fierce tides of the North Sea beat constantly, the land would soon be covered with sea water, and the crops ruined if it were not for the dykes, a series of sea walls. Sometimes they are 60 feet tall, and have wide roads along the top.

Many years ago an American author, Phoebe Cary, wrote a poem about a boy who saw a trickle of water forcing its way through a dyke. Knowing there was no time to lose, he thrust his hand, then his arm into the opening and held back the sea water until help came. The little Dutch boy at the dyke has become a symbol of courage and quick thinking.

Paste this picture down on cardboard and color with crayons. Cut out the parts carefully. Fold back the left end panel so the picture will stand.

Cut a slot as indicated along the boy's shoulder, slip the separate arm through the slot and fasten it with a brass fastener or a bent pin. When the arm is down you can see the leak, but when you swing it up the Dutch boy's hand will hide it.

(This idea was first sent in by Mrs. J. F. Hall, Hemet, Calif. Perhaps you have an idea for Junior Editors. If so send it care of this newspaper, and you may win $10. (Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures) 4-14

COYOTE LEADS DOGS

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. —(AP)— A pack of five dogs, led by a coyote, went on a sheep-killing rampage at Fort Defiance, the Indian Service says. Two of the dogs and the coyote were later killed by Casey Jones, former government hunter who now lives at Shiprock, N. M. Twenty-six sheep were found dead in two sheep corrals.

(This is the fourth in a series of articles based upon a Morning World Staff member's on-the-spot observation of work being done by District II of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission under the supervision of Joe L. Herring. The article this week deals with the Commission's program of diagnosing and remedyiig fishiig ailments of farm ponds and small lakes).

Practices of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission undiagnosing and remedying fishing ments of farm ponds and small lakes stocked with game fish were carried out last week in typical manner on a three-acre lake located on North Ninth Street in West Monroe.

In answer to a request from D. F. Johnson, spokesman for persons interested in the lake, Max W. Summers, fisheries biologist of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission and his assistant, J. W. Rachal, arrived at the lake equipped with paraphernalia needed for diagnosis.

Johnson had advised Summers that for some reason white perch, bream and bass caught from the lake were few and unsatisfactorily small in size.

Upon arriving at the scene, Summers and Rachal, who were also checking other ponds in District II last week, unloaded boat, motor, a large net and other equipment from their Wildlife and Fisheries Commission car. In a minute they were motoring to the opposite end of the lake, where they stretched the net, boxing off an area of approximately one-half acre for use as a "sample area." They then applied a strong rotenone solution to the sample area, suffocating all species of fish without destroying the edible qualities of the fish.

SAMPLE AREA—Max Summers, fishery biologist of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, prepares to remove the large net used to box off the "sample area" at a small lake on North Ninth Street in West Monroe. Sample area, in which all fish were suffocated by rotenone, lies beyond the net. Analysis of fish in a sample area of a pond is the Commission's method of arriving at fishing problems and securing the information needed to solve them.

Once the rotenone was applied, the next step was the tedious one of harvesting and weighing the fish of various species that the rotonone had brought to the surface. The following are the results obtained from Summers' analysis of fish reaped from the sample area.

Bass: small, three in number, total weight 1 2-10 pounds; intermediate, seven, totaling five pounds; large, seven weighing a total of 23.4 pounds.

Bream: small, 127 totaling 1.2 pounds in weight; intermediate, 59 total weight 4.4 pounds; large, 12 weighing a total of 1.8 pounds.

Shad: small, 13 grossing one pound; intermediate 19 weighing a total of three pounds; large, 11 weighing a total of 53.5 pounds.

Summers reached the conclusion that shad, imposters which had invaded the lake without being stocked, were monopolizing the food supplies of stocked bass, bream and white perch, thus stunting growth and discouraging reproduction of these species.

The recommendation was first of all to apply a weaker rotenone solution which would destroy sufficient oxygen to kill the shad, which need more oxygen than the other species for survival, while leaving the bass, white perch and bream; and, second, to replenish the stock of white perch, bass and bream so as to bring their populations into the proper proportions for most successful fishing.

Although invasion of stocked ponds and lakes by wild fish such as shad is a common ailment, other ills as pressing are encountered by fishery biologists. But analysis of the fish in an area isolated for testing always discovers the trouble and gives the biologist accurate basis for a scientific arrival at the cure.

Any pond owner with fishing difficulties may have the Commission biologists' service in diagnosis and treatment simply for the asking.

COYOTE LEADS DOGS

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. —(AP)— A pack of five dogs, led by a coyote, went on a sheep-killing rampage at Fort Defiance, the Indian Service says. Two of the dogs and the coyote were later killed by Casey Jones, former government hunter who now lives at Shiprock, N. M. Twenty-six sheep were found dead in two sheep corrals.

YMCA Breakfast Meeting Called To Plan Building

The breakfast meeting will be held at 7:30 a.m. in the Forge, 1103 Forsythe Avenue in Monroe.

Wayne Emory, representative from the Financial Services Bureau of the National Council of YMCA's, will be present to counsel with the local Board. The Financial Services Bureau is the fund raising arm of the YMCA and renders valuable counsel, leadership and guidance to local YMCA's in their capital fund raising efforts. Riley stated that the local Board of Directors is due to reach a decision on a campaign goal and campaign dates at Monday's meeting.

Jack R. Taylor, chairman of the YMCA membership committee, will present recommendations for the YMCA's participation in the proposed United Fund effort that is being organized in the Twin Cities. President Riley will conclude the meting with a statement on specific objectives for the Twin Cities YMCA during 1956.

Every YMCA Board member is urged to attend this Monday breakfast meeting.

DELAYED SEPARATION

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— An Oklahoma City man who thought he was divorced 37 years ago has asked District Judge Fred Daugherty to make it official. Hicks Irvin, railway pullman porter, discovered that no court minutes or final decree was filed in the 1918 divorce case. He said the judge granted him a divorce, though, and both he and his wife remarried.

HOLLAND IN SPRINGTIME - 6

The Boy Who Saved the Dyke.

Along the seacoast of Holland, where the fierce tides of the North Sea beat constantly, the land would soon be covered with sea water, and the crops ruined if it were not for the dykes, a series of sea walls. Sometimes they are 60 feet tall, and have wide roads along the top.

Many years ago an American author, Phoebe Cary, wrote a poem about a boy who saw a trickle of water forcing its way through a dyke. Knowing there was no time to lose, he thrust his hand, then his arm into the opening and held back the sea water until help came. The little Dutch boy at the dyke has become a symbol of courage and quick thinking.

Paste this picture down on cardboard and color with crayons. Cut out the parts carefully. Fold back the left end panel so the picture will stand.

Cut a slot as indicated along the boy's shoulder, slip the separate arm through the slot and fasten it with a brass fastener or a bent pin. When the arm is down you can see the leak, but when you swing it up the Dutch boy's hand will hide it.

Education For Family Life Is Planned Here

A Christian Family Life Institute is planned for the Presbyterian churches of the Monroe area to be held at the First Presbyterian Church, 319 Grammont St., Monroe on Wednesday, April 1 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. with the Rev. Wave H. McFadden as host pastor.

The Rev. Frederick W. Widmer, director of family life education of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education of Richmond, Va., will be the keynote speaker for the institute. He will be assisted by the following discussion leaders: Mrs. L. C. Majors of Richmond, Va. will meet with the teachers of children. Mrs. S. R. Williamson of Springhill will lead the discussion group for leaders and teachers of young people. The Rev. George H. Ricks, regional director of Christian education of Baton Rouge will meet with the adult leaders and the administrative leaders, pastors, superintendents, elders, and deacons will be led by the Rev. Mr. Widmer.

This is one of a series of nine institutes planned by the committee of Christian education for the Presbyterian Synod of Louisiana of which the Rev. Mr. McFadden is the chairman.

Other institutes held in northern Louisiana will be at Winnsboro and at Shreveport.

Parish WMU Will Meet Thursday In Fairbanks Church

The quarterly meeting of Ouachita Parish Association, W. M. U. is scheduled for April 19, at Fairbanks Baptist Church, with Mrs. H. K. Litton, associational leader, in charge.

The meeting will open at ten o'clock, and the theme for consideration will be, "Read and Know, and Know and Care."

The devotional which will open the meeting will be presented by Mrs. T. A. Davis, member of the W. M. U. of Calvary Church.

Special emphasis will be given to publications for youth, and the featured speakers will include Mrs. Claude Kirkpatrick, of Jennings, who is Louisiana state stewardship director, and Miss Virginia Brueck, Monroe, state press representative.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick is outstanding in the music world, and will be heard in a solo, to Mrs. C. L. Dillingham's accompaniment.

Lunch will be served at the church, and the afternoon session will include several interesting features, with important announcements of coming events, and reports of past activities.

REVIVAL LEADERS—Miss Peggy Richards and Miss Mickey Eaton of Memphis, Tenn. are conducting a revival at the Bawcomville Apostolic Church, W. T. Hemphill, pastor, said services will be held every night except Monday.

Music Group Is Named For Church

At a recent meeting of the music committee of the Southside Methodist Church, R. L. (Bob) Harris was named director of music at the church, Mrs. C. L. Harris, organist with assistants Mrs. W. P. Stewart and Mrs. L. S. Chapman.

Mr. Harris will have charge of Sunday morning music and the following will work with him: Walter Weber will direct the Altar choir, youth group. They will sing for the morning service with Miss Patsy Cooper who will play for the group.

Mrs. Ewing Goodman will direct the Carol Choir Junior group. Mrs. L. S. Chapman will play for the group and once a month will sing in the morning worship service.

Mrs. Charles Elliott will direct the Cherub Choir, a group of primary age children. Mrs. Bruce Lindsey will play the piano for this group.

Mrs. R. C. Perkins will direct the Angel Choir, ages four and five years. Mrs. C. L. Harris and Mrs. W. P. Stewart will play for this group.

C. R. Clay will direct the Men's Chapel choir with Mr. L. S. Chapman as pianist. They will have charge of Sunday night music.

DR. M. B. BOX

College Place To Hold Revival; Is Starting Today

Revival services will begin at the College Place Baptist Church Sunday, April 15, and continue through Sunday, April 22. Dr. Millard B. Box, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Baton Rouge, Louisiana will bring the messages.

Dr. Box has been pastor of the Emmanuel church for the past three years, during which time there have been 1200 additions to the church. He came there from the First Baptist Church of New London, Texas. He is a dynamic preacher of the Gospel and outstanding among Louisiana Baptists serving presently on the Evangelistic Committee, the Executive Board and as Chairman of the Program Committee. He is also an accomplished magican and will perform several tricks which he calls Gospel Magic each evening which will be of particular delight to the young people.

The music will be led by Mr. Charles Wood, Music and Educational Director at the Central Baptist Church of Monroe. Mr. Wood is in very much demand for services of his type throughout this area of Louisiana.

Week day services will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Sunday services will include Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. with a goal of 800 in attendance, and worship hour at 11:00 when the pastor preaches on "Where Art Thou?" Training Union is at 6:15, and the Sunday evening revival hour will be at 7:45 when Dr. Box will preach on "Wanted -- A Revival."

Every night next week will be a special night. Sunday night, April 15, is "All-Church night." Monday night, April 16, is "Sunday School Night" with the Sunday School packing the pews. Tuesday night, April 17, is "Training Union night" Wednesday night is "Men's night," and the male quartet will be heard in two numbers. Thursday night, April 19, is "Ladies' night." Friday night, April 20, is "family night" with gifts being given the largest family present. Saturday night is "Youth night" when Dr. Box will preach on "A World's Champion Who Lost His Title." Sunday, April 22, will be "Victory day," with a goal of 300 in Sunday School and 400 in Training Union.

The public is cordially invited to all these services, according to the announcements made by the pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg.

College Place Baptist Church is located on the corner of Harrison and Sherrouse in the college area.

Mrs. Reardon Back From Ala. Hospital

Mrs. H. H. Reardon, who has been a patient in a hospital in Birmingham since Christmas, recovering from a badly fractured hip and other injuries, has been moved home the past week. She is able to get about by use of crutches and was highly pleased to return after her long seige of illness.

The family home is at 205 Stubbs avenue and she will be pleased to see friends.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
First Church of Christ, Scientist
No. 2nd at Auburn

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 15, 1956.
The golden text is: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (John 3:17).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 5:20).

REV. AARON B. FOY

Revival Will Be In Progress In Liberty Church

Revival services will begin at the Liberty Baptist Church, Calhoun, La., this morning, April 15, according to an announcement by the Rev. Sherwood W. Tullos, pastor of the church.

The Rev. Aaron B. Foy, Ruston will conduct the services. Rev. Foy will be assisted in his work with the revival by Mrs. Vivian Staples, who will direct the music. Mr. Archie David Calhoun, will serve as pianist.

The church services, Sunday, April 22 will be conducted by the youth of the church. The Youth Choir under the direction of Mrs. Staples will render special music at both services.

Services will be held each morning at 10 o'clock and each evening at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend this friendly church.

Election Is Held By Wesleyan Guild

The Wesleyan Service Guild meeting in the home of Mrs. David Gartman elected officers for the year as follows: Mrs. Cary Hancock, president; Mrs. L. L. LaCroix, vice-president; Mrs. A. B. Warner, recording secretary; Mrs. John E. Hearn, promotion secretary; Mrs. E. W. Martin, treasurer; Mrs. V. M. Mouset, coordinator; Mrs. Robert Meredith, spiritual life cultivation; Mrs. Norman McHardy, missionary education; Mrs. J. M. Lafferty, Christian social relations and church activities; Mrs. Billy Dark, supply work.

The lesson - sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We worship spiritually only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity." (140)

Education For Family Life Is Planned Here

A Christian Family Life Institute is planned for the Presbyterian churches of the Monroe area to be held at the First Presbyterian Church, 319 Grammont St., Monroe on Wednesday, April 1 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. with the Rev. Wave H. McFadden as host pastor.

The Rev. Frederick W. Widmer, director of family life education of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education of Richmond, Va., will be the keynote speaker for the institute. He will be assisted by the following discussion leaders: Mrs. L. C. Majors of Richmond, Va. will meet with the teachers of children. Mrs. S. R. Williamson of Springhill will lead the discussion group for leaders and teachers of young people. The Rev. George H. Ricks, regional director of Christian education of Baton Rouge will meet with the adult leaders and the administrative leaders, pastors, superintendents, elders, and deacons will be led by the Rev. Mr. Widmer.

This is one of a series of nine institutes planned by the committee of Christian education for the Presbyterian Synod of Louisiana of which the Rev. Mr. McFadden is the chairman.

Other institutes held in northern Louisiana will be at Winnsboro and at Shreveport.

Parish WMU Will Meet Thursday In Fairbanks Church

The quarterly meeting of Ouachita Parish Association, W. M. U. is scheduled for April 19, at Fairbanks Baptist Church, with Mrs. H. K. Litton, associational leader, in charge.

The meeting will open at ten o'clock, and the theme for consideration will be, "Read and Know, and Know and Care."

The devotional which will open the meeting will be presented by Mrs. T. A. Davis, member of the W. M. U. of Calvary Church.

Special emphasis will be given to publications for youth, and the featured speakers will include Mrs. Claude Kirkpatrick, of Jennings, who is Louisiana state stewardship director, and Miss Virginia Brueck, Monroe, state press representative.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick is outstanding in the music world, and will be heard in a solo, to Mrs. C. L. Dillingham's accompaniment.

Lunch will be served at the church, and the afternoon session will include several interesting features, with important announcements of coming events, and reports of past activities.

REVIVAL LEADERS—Miss Peggy Richards and Miss Mickey Eaton of Memphis, Tenn. are conducting a revival at the Bawcomville Apostolic Church, W. T. Hemphill, pastor, said services will be held every night except Monday.

Music Group Is Named For Church

At a recent meeting of the music committee of the Southside Methodist Church, R. L. (Bob) Harris was named director of music at the church, Mrs. C. L. Harris, organist with assistants Mrs. W. P. Stewart and Mrs. L. S. Chapman.

Mr. Harris will have charge of Sunday morning music and the following will work with him: Walter Weber will direct the Altar choir, youth group. They will sing for the morning service with Miss Patsy Cooper who will play for the group.

Mrs. Ewing Goodman will direct the Carol Choir Junior group. Mrs. L. S. Chapman will play for the group and once a month will sing in the morning worship service.

Mrs. Charles Elliott will direct the Cherub Choir, a group of primary age children. Mrs. Bruce Lindsey will play the piano for this group.

Mrs. R. C. Perkins will direct the Angel Choir, ages four and five years. Mrs. C. L. Harris and Mrs. W. P. Stewart will play for this group.

C. R. Clay will direct the Men's Chapel choir with Mr. L. S. Chapman as pianist. They will have charge of Sunday night music.

DR. M. B. BOX

Revival services will begin at the College Place Baptist Church Sunday, April 15, and continue through Sunday, April 22. Dr. Millard B. Box, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Baton Rouge, Louisiana will bring the messages.

Dr. Box has been pastor of the Emmanuel church for the past three years, during which time there have been 1200 additions to the church. He came there from the First Baptist Church of New London, Texas. He is a dynamic preacher of the Gospel and outstanding among Louisiana Baptists serving presently on the Evangelistic Committee, the Executive Board and as Chairman of the Program Committee. He is also an accomplished magican and will perform several tricks which he calls Gospel Magic each evening which will be of particular delight to the young people.

The music will be led by Mr. Charles Wood, Music and Educational Director at the Central Baptist Church of Monroe. Mr. Wood is in very much demand for services of his type throughout this area of Louisiana.

Week day services will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Sunday services will include Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. with a goal of 800 in attendance, and worship hour at 11:00 when the pastor preaches on "Where Art Thou?" Training Union is at 6:15, and the Sunday evening revival hour will be at 7:45 when Dr. Box will preach on "Wanted — A Revival."

Every night next week will be a special night. Sunday night, April 15, is "All-Church night." Monday night, April 16, is "Sunday School Night" with the Sunday School packing the pews. Tuesday night, April 17, is "Training Union night" Wednesday night is "Men's night," and the male quartet will be heard in two numbers. Thursday night, April 19, is "Ladies' night." Friday night, April 20, is "family night" with gifts being given the largest family present. Saturday night is "Youth night" when Dr. Box will preach on "A World's Champion Who Lost His Title." Sunday, April 22, will be "Victory day," with a goal of 900 in Sunday School and 400 in Training Union.

The public is cordially invited to all these services, according to the announcements made by the pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg.

College Place Baptist Church is located on the corner of Harrison and Sherrouse in the college area.

Mrs. Reardon Back From Ala. Hospital

Mrs. H. H. Reardon, who has been a patient in a hospital in Birmingham since Christmas, recovering from a badly fractured hip and other injuries, has been moved home the past week. She is able to get about by use of crutches and was highly pleased to return after her long seige of illness.

The family home is at 205 Stubbs avenue and she will be pleased to see friends.

Forced Flowering Takes Knowhow In Gardening

AP Newsfeatures

It's not easy to set up an exact timetable in the nature department, but with knowhow and the equipment a lot can be done in the garden world.

Here's how a department store hit a decoration deadline right on the nose with 250 flowering trees and shrubs.

If you've ever forced flowering shrub branches into bloom in your home in prespring days, you'll find the method interesting.

The trees selected were from 6 to 10 years old. About four weeks before they were needed in bloom, the trees were dug from the fields of the nursery and were transferred to tubs outside the greenhouses. The trees were left for the soil to settle and the roots to adjust themselves to the tubs. Not a tree was lost in the process.

The tubs then were taken inside the greenhouses, with trees which ordinarily blossom latest taken in early.

After placing in the greenhouses, the trees were syringed and sprayed to keep the stems and twigs moist. This procedure was followed two or three times a day for the first two weeks, after which the plants were watered only from the base.

The greenhouse was kept at 55 degrees at night and from 70 to 75 degrees in the daytime. During the final week in the greenhouse, the plants which showed a tendency to blossom too quickly were moved to the north side. Trees which were tardy in blossom were given a southern exposure.

A hardening process followed, and the humidity was gradually decreased to simulate the conditions in the store where the trees were to be placed.

The trees and plants, weighing from 250 to 300 pounds each in the tubs, were moved to the store and were in bloom for the cherry blossom festival.

The blooming collection included the pale pink prunus subhirtella Beni Higan; the double Prunus Subhirtella Autumnalis and the pale pink Malus Floribunda; Prunus Serrulata Pendula; Prunus Subhirtella Pendula; Prunus Serrulate Kwanzan and Malus Atrosanguinea, double and single flowering varieties in rose, pink and white. Flowering crabs also were forced, including the species Malus Strathmore, Malus Micromalus and Malus Baccata, ranging from deep pink to white. Fifty forsythia plants of the variety Spring Glory, added yellow to the color combinations.

After the display, the trees were presented to a nearby park.

CRIME'S PRICE FALLS

NOGALES, Mexico —(AP)— Someone offered a car for sale at this border city — first for $1,800 then $800, and finally $40 — but there were no takers. An officer jotted down the license number, and found it later on the stolen car list.

ROAD HOG

OWENSBORO, Ky. —(AP)— A motorist stopped to avoid hitting a hog in the road. A car behind plowed into the first car, causing $400 damage to the autos. Damage to the hog: $0.00.

Petunias Gain In Popularity

According to my itinerary, your agent is in the big city today, New York — ready to visit the Marketing Project tomorrow, then on down to Beltsville, to Washington and home Friday. I'll tell you all about my "learnings" in the next few weeks. We can still garden, "long distance."

Gardening

Petunias are one of the three most popular flowers, and it is possible that they are gaining on their two rivals, zinnias and marigolds. To understand this it is only necessary to look at the catalogues and see the number of fine new varieties that have been introduced in the last five years. However, the seedsmen themselves believe that there is still a great deal of work to be done with petunias. There's a demand for more blue and crimson varieties that don't grow so tall and leggy. We want more varieties with double flowers and more with compact growth. There's always a search for the yellow petunia. Moonstone is the closest so far.

Had you ever noticed that a large garden does not have to be kept as neat as a small one? The tiny city lots call for manicuring to the last degree, while a spacious estate can run riot with drooping, draping, criss-crossing shrubs and trees. There's much to be said in favor of both, and we have some lovely examples of each in North Louisiana.

Many of the newer homes have brick, stone or wooden planters. Because of their prominent locations, often beside doorways or at the edge of a terrace, they are almost automatically the center of attention. So — you'll want their planting to be appealing. First, begin with drainage. If the subsoil is packed hard it should be loosened with a crowbar or garden fork. Then add a six to ten inchlayer of stones and gravel. Now you're ready for good garden soil in which a liberal amount of compost or peat moss has been mixed. Allow a two inch space at the top of the plant well to facilitate watering and to prevent soil from washing over its sides.

Now some plants to use in these boxes, depending of course on the amount of sun and shade they'll get. There are the dwarf azaleas, gardenias, youpons, and abelias. Day lilies, asperdistra, lirope, annuals and perennials make inexpensive plantings.

For those with a minimum amount of time for upkeep, and yet for those who have something flowering all the spring and summer, your answer is flowering shrubs. From January 'til now there hasn't been a day without a shrub or tree in bloom. Just make a list. The pageant began with spirea and flowering quince (in many colors and white), pop corn spirea, forsythia, flowering almond, red bud, the many different varieties of crabapple, flowering peach (three or more colors), bridal wreath, flowering cherry, pearl bush, white and pink dogwood, oriental magnolias, wild azaleas, early roses, wisteria, azalea, camellia. Coming into bloom now are your fringe trees, English Dogwoods, climbing roses, confederate jasmine vine, Louisiana Magnolia and through the summer, roses and crepe Myrtles (many colors and varieties). Don't we have an amazing number, and of course I've not named half?

The pill bug is already at work. 50 per cent liquid Chlordane spray, on the ground should get him. Easier than that is a new poison bait you just drop in the beds. Six per cent chlordane sprinkled on the lawn will kill ants and red bugs around the children's play yard. For crawfish, use one pound of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder to ten gallons of water. Put about a cup full in each crawfish hold.

Driving to Baton Rouge last week we noticed the locust trees in full bloom which is about two weeks in advance of North Louisiana. Below St. Francisville the highway was lined on both sides with this blooming locust and in many places, there was wisteria on the fence. Really a beautiful sight, but certainly plants for those with large areas. The wisteria can be kept pruned, but locusts have a way of coming up all over the place

Rice

Here are some interesting facts about rice, that plentiful food and that good old Louisiana crop. Rice is a convenient food, because there is no peeling, scraping, dicing or cutting. No washing is necessary with exception of wild rice. Usually twice as much water as rice is ample for cooking. Rinsing rice after it is cooked causes loss of food value and actually makes the rice less fluffy. The best recipe for cooking rice is the one on the box or package. This food goes through different cooking processes, so follow the directions given on the container.

The bulk of rice sold is milled white rice. Brown rice and parboiled rice are specialty items and cost more than the milled white rice. Partially cooked rice is just what the name implies, but the process increases the price because of the extra handling.

Most of the short grain rice is exported. Long and medium grain types are the most prevalent in our markets. Cooking rice in milk gives added food value. To make extra fluffy rice, remove sauce pan from heat after the recommended cooking period and leave the lid on until ready to serve. The steam in the sauce pan fluffs the rice, makes it drier and keeps it hot.

Iris Club Of Delhi Exhibits Spring Show At Center

A lovely springtime show was presented at the Garden Center this week by the Iris Garden Club of Delhi. The exhibits were point scored by an accredited judge.

In the horticulture section ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. W. A. Gaharan for White Dutch Iris, Mrs. Cecil Sinclair for Iris, Blue Shimmer and Mrs. W. A. Gaharan for Iris, Gudrun.

Mrs. Cecil Sinclair was awarded first place in the arrangement section. For a container Mrs. Sinclair chose a rectangular green bowl in which she designed a crescent arrangement. Clipped pine formed the crescent line which was embellished with beautiful yellow calendulas. Variegated euonymus was used behind the calendulas adding depth and interest to the design. Mrs. Nancy Osborn was awarded second place. A beautiful massline arrangement was created using iris foliage in the background. Calla foliage was used low in the arrangement and covering the rim of the free form black bowl. Buds and blooms of the red amaryllis were massed in the foreground. A very pleasing combination of colors and materials. Mrs. R. E. Heidelberg was awarded third place. Calla lillies in the bud and bloom stage were featured in the massline arrangement. Iris foliage was used for height and calla foliage placed low unified the soft green container with the design.

We are very proud of the new year book of the Iris Garden Club. It has a soft green cover and a hand-tinted purple iris, their club flower, painted on it. Their theme for 1956-1957 is "Growing, Selecting and Conditioning our Horticulture," and their project "Beautifying the City Parks of Delhi."

Garden Clubs all over the District are planning their spring flower shows. Yesterday I visited the Tensas Garden Club in St. Joseph. They have completed plans for their show on April 26. The theme is "Trail of Beauty." Am listing the dates of all the flower shows that I know about and events of interest for your convenience:

April 17 — Clarklea Garden Club Flower Show "A Date With Iris" 2:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Morehouse Country Club, Bastrop.

Pine Straw Is Ideal For Mulch

Last week's column about growing vegetables under a deep mulch has stimulated some questions from readers. The magazine article we cited was in Popular Gardening for March 1956 on page 46. Our comment in last week's column was this method is well known to us here in the south. Even the highway banks seeded to grasses are mulched with hay. We have constantly preached in the column that "God doesn't have much uncovered dirt!"

Especially at this time of the year when sudden hot flashes and droughts are apt to come upon us, any and all freshly planted trees, shrubs or perennials need to be not only mulched but shaded if they are not too large. A cover of any kind over the soil will cut down your watering, and anything that breaks the hot sun will prevent wilting. Your columnist likes pine needles as a mulch because the air can circulate through them. They decay more slowly than other material and seem to last twice as long before they are a part of the soil. Their uniform brown is pleasant to look at, too, on beds of flowers.

Beggars cannot be choosers, however, and our advice is the same as that given by all "lazy bed" gardeners: use whatever is at hand until you can get the right materials.

If your mulch seems to deep for any of your plants, pull it back from each plant for a little distance and let the sun down to the stem. In wet seasons, some kinds of molds will develop under mulches if they are very thick. Just lift some of the mulch off the beds till our famous hot seasons come around again. This operation is much simpler than breaking your back with a hoe and maintaining a "dust mulch" with the soil.

For very tiny plants, pine straw is again ideal, for ever a thin sprinkling of pine needles prevents a lot of evaporation and keeps down the ground temperature. The tiny species of daffodils and other wee bulbs are difficult to manage in a garden without some uniform covering like this. In winter, you can hasten the bloom of the little early bulbs by sprinkling them with a light covering of needles.

Nothing is better for the newly sprigged lawn or the newly sown one than a light even sprinkling of pine needles. More even germination of the seeds and a higher percentage of survival of your sprigs will certainly result from such a covering. As the grass grows, it will cover and hide the needles from sight. In the first cutting, if there are any needles above the new green, they are easily levelled by the law mower. When heavy rains fall on the area, each drop hits the bare earth like a cannon ball. If pine straw is there, no such bombardment takes place and no erosion because the large drops are broken up into a spray. In patches where no grass succeeds, erosion is held down until the nearby grass can cover these places. Yes; it is well worth the trouble to cover a new lawn with a light sprinkling of needles.

It seems farmers are having more troubles than anybody — and in these days and times, that's a heck of a lot of troubles.

Forced Flowering Takes Knowhow In Gardening

AP Newsfeatures

It's not easy to set up an exact timetable in the nature department, but with knowhow and the equipment a lot can be done in the garden world.

Here's how a department store hit a decoration deadline right on the nose with 250 flowering trees and shrubs.

If you've ever forced flowering shrub branches into bloom in your home in prespring days, you'll find the method interesting.

The trees selected were from 6 to 10 years old. About four weeks before they were needed in bloom, the trees were dug from the fields of the nursery and were transferred to tubs outside the greenhouses. The trees were left for the soil to settle and the roots to adjust themselves to the tubs. Not a tree was lost in the process.

The tubs then were taken inside the greenhouses, with trees which ordinarily blossom latest taken in early.

After placing in the greenhouses, the trees were syringed and sprayed to keep the stems and twigs moist. This procedure was followed two or three times a day for the first two weeks, after which the plants were watered only from the base.

The greenhouse was kept at 55 degrees at night and from 70 to 75 degrees in the daytime. During the final week in the greenhouse, the plants which showed a tendency to blossom too quickly were moved to the north side. Trees which were tardy in blossom were given a southern exposure.

A hardening process followed, and the humidity was gradually decreased to simulate the conditions in the store where the trees were to be placed.

The trees and plants, weighing from 250 to 300 pounds each in the tubs, were moved to the store and were in bloom for the cherry blossom festival.

The blooming collection included the pale pink prunus subhirtella Beni Higan; the double Prunus Subhirtella Autumnalis and the pale pink Malus Floribunda; Prunus Serrulata Pendula; Prunus Subhirtella Pendula; Prunus Serrulate Kwanzan and Malus Atrosanguinea, double and single flowering varieties in rose, pink and white. Flowering crabs also were forced, including the species Malus Strathmore, Malus Micromalus and Malus Baccata, ranging from deep pink to white. Fifty forsythia plants of the variety Spring Glory, added yellow to the color combinations.

After the display, the trees were presented to a nearby park.

Petunias Gain In Popularity

According to my itinerary, your agent is in the big city today, New York — ready to visit the Marketing Project tomorrow, then on down to Beltsville, to Washington and home Friday. I'll tell you all about my "learnings" in the next few weeks. We can still garden, "long distance."

Gardening

Petunias are one of the three most popular flowers, and it is possible that they are gaining on their two rivals, zinnias and marigolds. To understand this it is only necessary to look at the catalogues and see the number of fine new varieties that have been introduced in the last five years. However, the seedsmen themselves believe that there is still a great deal of work to be done with petunias. There's a demand for more blue and crimson varieties that don't grow so tall and leggy. We want more varieties with double flowers and more with compact growth. There's always a search for the yellow petunia. Moonstone is the closest so far.

Had you ever noticed that a large garden does not have to be kept as neat as a small one? The tiny city lots call for manicuring to the last degree, while a spacious estate can run riot with drooping, draping, criss-crossing shrubs and trees. There's much to be said in favor of both, and we have some lovely examples of each in North Louisiana.

Many of the newer homes have brick, stone or wooden planters. Because of their prominent locations, often beside doorways or at the edge of a terrace, they are almost automatically the center of attention. So — you'll want their planting to be appealing. First, begin with drainage. If the subsoil is packed hard it should be loosened with a crowbar or garden fork. Then add a six to ten inchlayer of stones and gravel. Now you're ready for good garden soil in which a liberal amount of compost or peat moss has been mixed. Allow a two inch space at the top of the plant well to facilitate watering and to prevent soil from washing over its sides.

Now some plants to use in these boxes, depending of course on the amount of sun and shade they'll get. There are the dwarf azaleas, gardenias, youpons, and abelias. Day lilies, asperdistra, lirope, annuals and perennials make inexpensive plantings.

For those with a minimum amount of time for upkeep, and yet for those who have something flowering all the spring and summer, your answer is flowering shrubs. From January 'til now there hasn't been a day without a shrub or tree in bloom. Just make a list. The pageant began with spirea and flowering quince (in many colors and white), pop corn spirea, forsythia, flowering almond, red bud, crabapple, flowering peach (three or more colors), bridal wreath, flowering cherry, pearl bush, white and pink dogwood, oriental magnolias, wild azaleas, early roses, wisteria, azalea, camellia. Coming into bloom now are your fringe trees, English Dogwoods, climbing roses, confederate jasmine vine, Louisiana Magnolia and through the summer, roses and crepe Myrtles (many colors and varieties). Don't we have an amazing number, and of course I've not named half?

The pill bug is already at work. 50 per cent liquid Chlordane spray, on the ground should get him. Easier than that is a new poison bait you just drop in the beds. Six per cent chlordane sprinkled on the lawn will kill ants and red bugs around the children's play yard. For crawfish, use one pound of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder to ten gallons of water. Put about a cup full in each crawfish hold.

Really a beautiful sight, but certainly plants for those with large areas. The wisteria can be kept pruned, but locusts have a way of coming up all over the place

SOUTHERN GARDENER—
By William Lanier Hunt

Pine Straw Is Ideal For Mulch

Last week's column about growing vegetables under a deep mulch has stimulated some questions from readers. The magazine article we cited was in Popular Gardening for March 1956 on page 46. Our comment in last week's column was this method is well known to us here in the south. Even the highway banks seeded to grasses are mulched with hay. In wet seasons, some kinds of molds will develop under mulches if they are very thick. Just lift some of the mulch off the beds till our famous hot seasons come around again. This operation is much simpler than breaking your back with a hoe and maintaining a "dust mulch" with the soil.

For very tiny plants, pine straw is again ideal, for ever a thin sprinkling of pine needles prevents a lot of evaporation and keeps down the ground temperature. The tiny species of daffodils and other wee bulbs are difficult to manage in a garden without some uniform covering like this. In winter, you can hasten the bloom of the little early bulbs by sprinkling them with a light covering of needles.

Nothing is better for the newly sprigged lawn or the newly sown one than a light even sprinkling of pine needles. More even germination of the seeds and a higher percentage of survival of your sprigs will certainly result from such a covering. As the grass grows, it will cover and hide the needles from sight. In the first cutting, if there are any needles above the new green, they are easily levelled by the law mower. When heavy rains fall on the area, each drop hits the bare earth like a cannon ball. If pine straw is there, no such bombardment takes place and no erosion because the large drops are broken up into a spray. In patches where no grass succeeds, erosion is held down until the nearby grass can cover these places. Yes; it is well worth the trouble to cover a new lawn with a light sprinkling of needles.

It seems farmers are having more troubles than anybody — and in these days and times, that's a heck of a lot of troubles.

Education For Family Life Is Planned Here

A Christian Family Life Institute is planned for the Presbyterian churches of the Monroe area to be held at the First Presbyterian Church, 319 Grammont St., Monroe on Wednesday, April 1 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. with the Rev. Wave H. McFadden as host pastor.

The Rev. Frederick W. Widmer, director of family life education of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education of Richmond, Va., will be the keynote speaker for the institute. He will be assisted by the following discussion leaders: Mrs. L. C. Majors of Richmond, Va. will meet with the teachers of children. Mrs. S. R. Williamson of Springhill will lead the discussion group for leaders and teachers of young people. The Rev. George H Ricks, regional director of Christian education of Baton Rouge will meet with the adult leaders and the administrative leaders, pastors, superintendents, elders, and deacons will be led by the Rev. Mr. Widmer.

This is one of a series of nine institutes planned by the committee of Christian education for the Presbyterian Synod of Louisiana of which the Rev. Mr. McFadden is the chairman.

Other institutes held in northern Louisiana will be at Winnsboro and at Shreveport.

Parish WMU Will Meet Thursday In Fairbanks Church

The quarterly meeting of Ouachita Parish Association, W. M. U. is scheduled for April 19, at Fairbanks Baptist Church, with Mrs. H. K. Litton, associational leader, in charge.

The meeting will open at ten o'clock, and the theme for consideration will be, "Read and Know, and Know and Care."

The devotional which will open the meeting will be presented by Mrs. T. A. Davis, member of the W. M. U. of Calvary Church.

Special emphasis will be given to publications for youth, and the featured speakers will include Mrs. Claude Kirkpatrick, of Jennings, who is Louisiana state stewardship director, and Miss Virginia Brueck, Monroe, state press representative.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick is outstanding in the music world, and will be heard in a solo, to Mrs. C. L. Dillingham's accompaniment.

Lunch will be served at the church, and the afternoon session will include several interesting features, with important announcements of coming events, and reports of past activities.

REVIVAL LEADERS—Miss Peggy Richards and Miss Mickey Eaton of Memphis, Tenn. are conducting a revival at the Bawcomville Apostolic Church, W. T. Hemphill, pastor, said services will be held every night except Monday.

Music Group Is Named For Church

At a recent meeting of the music committee of the Southside Methodist Church, R. L. (Bob) Harris was named director of music at the church, Mrs. C. L. Harris, organist with assistants Mrs. W. P. Stewart and Mrs. L. S. Chapman.

Mr. Harris will have charge of Sunday morning music and the following will work with him: Walter Weber will direct the Altar choir, youth group. They will sing for the morning service with Miss Patsy Cooper who will play for the group.

Mrs. Ewing Goodman will direct the Carol Choir Junior group. Mrs. L. S. Chapman will play for the group and once a month will sing in the morning worship service.

Mrs. Charles Elliott will direct the Cherub Choir, a group of primary age children. Mrs. Bruce Lindsey will play the piano for this group.

Mrs. R. C. Perkins will direct the Angel Choir, ages four and five years. Mrs. C. L. Harris and Mrs. W. P. Stewart will play for this group.

C. R. Clay will direct the Men's Chapel choir with Mr. L. S. Chapman as pianist. They will have charge of Sunday night music.

DR. M. B. BOX

Revival services will begin at the College Place Baptist Church Sunday, April 15, and continue through Sunday, April 22. Dr. Millard B. Box, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Baton Rouge, Louisiana will bring the messages.

Dr. Box has been pastor of the Emmanuel church for the past three years, during which time there have been 1200 additions to the church. He came there from the First Baptist Church of New London, Texas. He is a dynamic preacher of the Gospel and outstanding among Louisiana Baptists serving presently on the Evangelistic Committee, the Executive Board and as Chairman of the Program Committee. He is also an accomplished magican and will perform several tricks which he calls Gospel Magic each evening which will be of particular delight to the young people.

The music will be led by Mr. Charles Wood, Music and Educational Director at the Central Baptist Church of Monroe. Mr. Wood is in very much demand for services of his type throughout this area of Louisiana.

Week day services will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Sunday services will include Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. with a goal of 800 in attendance, and worship hour at 11:00 when the pastor preaches on "Where Art Thou?" Training Union is at 6:15, and the Sunday evening revival hour will be at 7:45 when Dr. Box will preach on "Wanted — A Revival."

Every night next week will be a special night. Sunday night, April 15, is "All-Church night." Monday night, April 16, is "Sunday School Night" with the Sunday School packing the pews. Tuesday night, April 17, is "Training Union night" Wednesday night is "Men's night," and the male quartet will be heard in two numbers. Thursday night, April 19, is "Ladies' night." Friday night, April 20, is "family night" with gifts being given the largest family present. Saturday night is "Youth night" when Dr. Box will preach on "A World's Champion Who Lost His Title." Sunday, April 22, will be "Victory day," with a goal of 900 in Sunday School and 400 in Training Union.

The public is cordially invited to all these services, according to the announcements made by the pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg.

College Place Baptist Church is located on the corner of Harrison and Sherrouse in the college area.

Mrs. Reardon Back From Ala. Hospital

Mrs. H. H. Reardon, who has been a patient in a hospital in Birmingham since Christmas, recovering from a badly fractured hip and other injuries, has been moved home the past week. She is able to get about by use of crutches and was highly pleased to return after her long seige of illness.

The family home is at 205 Stubbs avenue and she will be pleased to see friends.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

First Church of Christ, Scientist
No. 2nd at Auburn

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson - sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 15, 1956.
The golden text is: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (John 3:17).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 5:20).
The lesson - sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We worship spiritually only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity." (140)
Listen to a 15-minute radio broadcast Sunday at 7:45 a.m. over Radio station KNOE. See television program each Sunday at 12:45 p.m. Station KNOE-TV-Channel 8. Education For Family Life Is Planned Here

A Christian Family Life Institute is planned for the Presbyterian churches of the Monroe area to be held at the First Presbyterian Church, 319 Grammont St., Monroe on Wednesday, April 1 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. with the Rev. Wave H. McFadden as host pastor.

The Rev. Frederick W. Widmer, director of family life education of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education of Richmond, Va., will be the keynote speaker for the institute. He will be assisted by the following discussion leaders: Mrs. L. C. Majors of Richmond, Va. will meet with the teachers of children. Mrs. S. R. Williamson of Springhill will lead the discussion group for leaders and teachers of young people. The Rev. George H. Ricks, regional director of Christian education of Baton Rouge will meet with the adult leaders and the administrative leaders, pastors, superintendents, elders, and deacons will be led by the Rev. Mr. Widmer.

This is one of a series of nine institutes planned by the committee of Christian education for the Presbyterian Synod of Louisiana of which the Rev. Mr. McFadden is the chairman.

Other institutes held in northern Louisiana will be at Winnsboro and at Shreveport.

Parish WMU Will Meet Thursday In Fairbanks Church

The quarterly meeting of Ouachita Parish Association, W. M. U. is scheduled for April 19, at Fairbanks Baptist Church, with Mrs. H. K. Litton, associational leader, in charge.

The meeting will open at ten o'clock, and the theme for consideration will be, "Read and Know, and Know and Care."

The devotional which will open the meeting will be presented by Mrs. T. A. Davis, member of the W. M. U. of Calvary Church.

Special emphasis will be given to publications for youth, and the featured speakers will include Mrs. Claude Kirkpatrick, of Jennings, who is Louisiana state stewardship director, and Miss Virginia Brueck, Monroe, state press representative.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick is outstanding in the music world, and will be heard in a solo, to Mrs. C. L. Dillingham's accompaniment.

Lunch will be served at the church, and the afternoon session will include several interesting features, with important announcements of coming events, and reports of past activities.

REVIVAL LEADERS—Miss Peggy Richards and Miss Mickey Eaton of Memphis, Tenn. are conducting a revival at the Bawcomville Apostolic Church, W. T. Hemphill, pastor, said services will be held every night except Monday.

Music Group Is Named For Church

At a recent meeting of the music committee of the Southside Methodist Church, R. L. (Bob) Harris was named director of music at the church, Mrs. C. L. Harris, organist with assistants Mrs. W. P. Stewart and Mrs. L. S. Chapman.

Mr. Harris will have charge of Sunday morning music and the following will work with him: Walter Weber will direct the Altar choir, youth group. They will sing for the morning service with Miss Patsy Cooper who will play for the group.

Mrs. Ewing Goodman will direct the Carol Choir Junior group. Mrs. L. S. Chapman will play for the group and once a month will sing in the morning worship service.

Mrs. Charles Elliott will direct the Cherub Choir, a group of primary age children. Mrs. Bruce Lindsey will play the piano for this group.

Mrs. R. C. Perkins will direct the Angel Choir, ages four and five years. Mrs. C. L. Harris and Mrs. W. P. Stewart will play for this group.

C. R. Clay will direct the Men's Chapel choir with Mr. L. S. Chapman as pianist. They will have charge of Sunday night music.

DR. M. B. BOX

Revival services will begin at the College Place Baptist Church Sunday, April 15, and continue through Sunday, April 22. Dr. Millard B. Box, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Baton Rouge, Louisiana will bring the messages.

Dr. Box has been pastor of the Emmanuel church for the past three years, during which time there have been 1200 additions to the church. He came there from the First Baptist Church of New London, Texas. He is a dynamic preacher of the Gospel and outstanding among Louisiana Baptists serving presently on the Evangelistic Committee, the Executive Board and as Chairman of the Program Committee. He is also an accomplished magican and will perform several tricks which he calls Gospel Magic each evening which will be of particular delight to the young people.

The music will be led by Mr. Charles Wood, Music and Educational Director at the Central Baptist Church of Monroe. Mr. Wood is in very much demand for services of his type throughout this area of Louisiana.

Week day services will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. Sunday services will include Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. with a goal of 800 in attendance, and worship hour at 11:00 when the pastor preaches on "Where Art Thou?" Training Union is at 6:15, and the Sunday evening revival hour will be at 7:45 when Dr. Box will preach on "Wanted — A Revival."

Every night next week will be a special night. Sunday night, April 15, is "All-Church night." Monday night, April 16, is "Sunday School Night" with the Sunday School packing the pews. Tuesday night, April 17, is "Training Union night" Wednesday night is "Men's night," and the male quartet will be heard in two numbers. Thursday night, April 19, is "Ladies' night." Friday night, April 20, is "family night" with gifts being given the largest family present. Saturday night is "Youth night" when Dr. Box will preach on "A World's Champion Who Lost His Title." Sunday, April 22, will be "Victory day," with a goal of 900 in Sunday School and 400 in Training Union.

The public is cordially invited to all these services, according to the announcements made by the pastor, Rev. T. Earl Ogg.

College Place Baptist Church is located on the corner of Harrison and Sherrouse in the college area.

Mrs. Reardon Back From Ala. Hospital

Mrs. H. H. Reardon, who has been a patient in a hospital in Birmingham since Christmas, recovering from a badly fractured hip and other injuries, has been moved home the past week. She is able to get about by use of crutches and was highly pleased to return after her long seige of illness.

The family home is at 205 Stubbs avenue and she will be pleased to see friends.

Forced Flowering Takes Knowhow In Gardening

AP Newsfeatures

It's not easy to set up an exact timetable in the nature department, but with knowhow and the equipment a lot can be done in the garden world.

Here's how a department store hit a decoration deadline right on the nose with 250 flowering trees and shrubs.

If you've ever forced flowering shrub branches into bloom in your home in prespring days, you'll find the method interesting.

The trees selected were from 6 to 10 years old. About four weeks before they were needed in bloom, the trees were dug from the fields of the nursery and were transferred to tubs outside the greenhouses. The trees were left for the soil to settle and the roots to adjust themselves to the tubs. Not a tree was lost in the process.

The tubs then were taken inside the greenhouses, with trees which ordinarily blossom latest taken in early.

After placing in the greenhouses, the trees were syringed and sprayed to keep the stems and twigs moist. This procedure was followed two or three times a day for the first two weeks, after which the plants were watered only from the base.

The greenhouse was kept at 55 degrees at night and from 70 to 75 degrees in the daytime. During the final week in the greenhouse, the plants which showed a tendency to blossom too quickly were moved to the north side. Trees which were tardy in blossom were given a southern exposure.

A hardening process followed, and the humidity was gradually decreased to simulate the conditions in the store where the trees were to be placed.

The trees and plants, weighing from 250 to 300 pounds each in the tubs, were moved to the store and were in bloom for the cherry blossom festival.

The blooming collection included the pale pink prunus subhirtella Beni Higan; the double Prunus Subhirtella Autumnalis and the pale pink Malus Floribunda; Prunus Serrulata Pendula; Prunus Subhirtella Pendula; Prunus Serrulate Kwanzan and Malus Atrosanguinea, double and single flowering varieties in rose, pink and white. Flowering crabs also were forced, including the species Malus Strathmore, Malus Micromalus and Malus Baccata, ranging from deep pink to white. Fifty forsythia plants of the variety Spring Glory, added yellow to the color combinations.

After the display, the trees were presented to a nearby park.

CRIME'S PRICE FALLS

NOGALES, Mexico —(AP)— Someone offered a car for sale at this border city — first for $1,800 then $800, and finally $40 — but there were no takers. An officer jotted down the license number, and found it later on the stolen car list.

ROAD HOG

OWENSBORO, Ky. —(AP)— A motorist stopped to avoid hitting a hog in the road. A car behind plowed into the first car, causing $400 damage to the autos. Damage to the hog: $0.00.

Petunias Gain In Popularity

According to my itinerary, your agent is in the big city today, New York — ready to visit the Marketing Project tomorrow, then on down to Beltsville, to Washington and home Friday. I'll tell you all about my "learnings" in the next few weeks. We can still garden, "long distance."

Gardening

Petunias are one of the three most popular flowers, and it is possible that they are gaining on their two rivals, zinnias and marigolds. To understand this it is only necessary to look at the catalogues and see the number of fine new varieties that have been introduced in the last five years. However, the seedsmen themselves believe that there is still a great deal of work to be done with petunias. There's a demand for more blue and crimson varieties that don't grow so tall and leggy. We want more varieties with double flowers and more with compact growth. There's always a search for the yellow petunia. Moonstone is the closest so far.

Had you ever noticed that a large garden does not have to be kept as neat as a small one? The tiny city lots call for manicuring to the last degree, while a spacious estate can run riot with drooping, draping, criss-crossing shrubs and trees. There's much to be said in favor of both, and we have some lovely examples of each in North Louisiana.

Many of the newer homes have brick, stone or wooden planters. Because of their prominent locations, often beside doorways or at the edge of a terrace, they are almost automatically the center of attention. So — you'll want their planting to be appealing. First, begin with drainage. If the subsoil is packed hard it should be loosened with a crowbar or garden fork. Then add a six to ten inchlayer of stones and gravel. Now you're ready for good garden soil in which a liberal amount of compost or peat moss has been mixed. Allow a two inch space at the top of the plant well to facilitate watering and to prevent soil from washing over its sides.

Now some plants to use in these boxes, depending of course on the amount of sun and shade they'll get. There are the dwarf azaleas, gardenias, youpons, and abelias. Day lilies, asperdistra, lirope, annuals and perennials make inexpensive plantings.

For those with a minimum amount of time for upkeep, and yet for those who have something flowering all the spring and summer, your answer is flowering shrubs. From January 'til now there hasn't been a day without a shrub or tree in bloom. Just make a list. The pageant began with spirea and flowering quince (in many colors and white), pop corn spirea, forsythia, flowering almond, red bud, the many different varieties of crabapple, flowering peach (three or more colors), bridal wreath, flowering cherry, pearl bush, white and pink dogwood, oriental magnolias, wild azaleas, early roses, wisteria, azalea, camellia. Coming into bloom now are your fringe trees, English Dogwoods, climbing roses, confederate jasmine vine, Louisiana Magnolia and through the summer, roses and crepe Myrtles (many colors and varieties). Don't we have an amazing number, and of course I've not named half?

The pill bug is already at work. 50 per cent liquid Chlordane spray, on the ground should get him. Easier than that is a new poison bait you just drop in the beds. Six per cent chlordane sprinkled on the lawn will kill ants and red bugs around the children's play yard. For crawfish, use one pound of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder to ten gallons of water. Put about a cup full in each crawfish hold.

Driving to Baton Rouge last week we noticed the locust trees in full bloom which is about two weeks in advance of North Louisiana. Below St. Francisville the highway was lined on both sides with this blooming locust and in many places, there was wisteria on the fence. Really a beautiful sight, but certainly plants for those with large areas. The wisteria can be kept pruned, but locusts have a way of coming up all over the place

Here are some interesting facts about rice, that plentiful food and that good old Louisiana crop. Rice is a convenient food, because there is no peeling, scraping, dicing or cutting. No washing is necessary with exception of wild rice. Usually twice as much water as rice is ample for cooking. Rinsing rice after it is cooked causes loss of food value and actually makes the rice less fluffy. The best recipe for cooking rice is the one on the box or package. This food goes through different cooking processes, so follow the directions given on the container.

The bulk of rice sold is milled white rice. Brown rice and parboiled rice are specialty items and cost more than the milled white rice. Partially cooked rice is just what the name implies, but the process increases the price because of the extra handling.

Most of the short grain rice is exported. Long and medium grain types are the most prevalent in our markets. Cooking rice in milk gives added food value. To make extra fluffy rice, remove sauce pan from heat after the recommended cooking period and leave the lid on until ready to serve. The steam in the sauce pan fluffs the rice, makes it drier and keeps it hot.

Iris Club Of Delhi Exhibits Spring Show At Center

A lovely springtime show was presented at the Garden Center this week by the Iris Garden Club of Delhi. The exhibits were point scored by an accredited judge.

In the horticulture section ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. W. A. Gaharan for White Dutch Iris, Mrs. Cecil Sinclair for Iris, Blue Shimmer and Mrs. W. A. Gaharan for Iris, Gudrun.

Mrs. Cecil Sinclair was awarded first place in the arrangement section. For a container Mrs. Sinclair chose a rectangular green bowl in which she designed a crescent arrangement. Clipped pine formed the crescent line which was embellished with beautiful yellow calendulas. Variegated euonymus was used behind the calendulas adding depth and interest to the design. Mrs. Nancy Osborn was awarded second place. A beautiful massline arrangement was created using iris foliage in the background. Calla foliage was used low in the arrangement and covering the rim of the free form black bowl. Buds and blooms of the red amaryllis were massed in the foreground. A very pleasing combination of colors and materials. Mrs. R. E. Heidelberg was awarded third place. Calla lilies in the bud and bloom stage were featured in the massline arrangement. Iris foliage was used for height and calla foliage placed low unified the soft green container with the design.

We are very proud of the new year book of the Iris Garden Club. It has a soft green cover and a hand-tinted purple iris, their club flower, painted on it. Their theme for 1956-1957 is "Growing, Selecting and Conditioning our Horticulture," and their project "Beautifying the City Parks of Delhi."

Garden Clubs all over the District are planning their spring flower shows. Yesterday I visited the Tensas Garden Club in St. Joseph. They have completed plans for their show on April 26. The theme is "Trail of Beauty." Am listing the dates of all the flower shows that I know about and events of interest for your convenience:

April 17 — Clarklea Garden Club Flower Show "A Date With Iris" 2:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Morehouse Country Club, Bastrop.

April 18, 19, 20th Flower Show School No. 2 — Community Center Kilgore, Texas — Instructors Mrs. Oscar McCary, Arrangement, Mrs. Margaret Carruth, Horticulture — Registration 8 to 9 a.m. on April 18. Write Mrs. Carl H. Wingate, Chairman, 1212 Andrews St. Kilgore, Texas.

April 21 — Home Gardeners in Monroe Flower show 2 p.m., Missouri Pacific Boosters Hall.

April 24 — Newellton Garden Club Flower Show, American Legion Home, 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Theme "Pageant of Spring."

April 25-26 Flower Show School IV. Agriculture Bldg. Tech Campus, Ruston. Instructors Mrs. Walter Colquitt, Horticulture, Mrs. Ione Talbert, Fort Worth Texas, arrangements.

April 25 2-4 p.m. Special Arrangements Demonstration by Mrs. Talbert, (additonal exhibits of flower show judges of Fifth District). John A. Wright, Chairman.

April 26 — Tensas Garden Club Flower Show "Trail of Beauty," Community House, 3 p.m.

May 8 — East Carroll Garden Club Flower Show, Lake Providence.

May 9 Delhi Garden Club — Flower Show.

May 8 through May 13 — Fifth District Flower Show at the North Louisiana Home Show and Spring Festival, Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, West Monroe, 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. daily. A different show every day.

May 16, 17, and 18 Ferriday — Flower Show School III, Instructors Mrs. C. T. Paine and Mrs. A. C. Hopton, Horticulture.

Be sure to clip the dates and try to attend some of the beautiful shows throughout our area. Try to attend one of the flower show schools too. Our instructors are doing an outstanding job in presenting these courses to us which are our background for growing better plants and flowers and learning to arrange them effectively in our homes.

DEER COSTLY

STRASBURG, Va. —(AP)— Cecil L. Burke of Strasburg and Ernest R. Clem Jr., of Winchester, got their deer, but they were costly.

Burke's truck turned over after striking a deer, damage $300. Clem got off lighter, damage to his station wagon only $75. And they couldn't keep the meat which, under state law, must be turned over to a hospital or charitable institution.

Purple Jackets Take In Members

NATCHITOCHES, April 14 — (Special) — Sixteen Northwestern State College coeds were "called" this week to the Purple Jackets, honorary service organization. SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Pine Straw Is Ideal For Mulch

Last week's column about growing vegetables under a deep mulch has stimulated some questions from readers. The magazine article we cited was in Popular Gardening for March 1956 on page 46. Our comment in last week's column was this method is well known to us here in the south. Even the highway banks seeded to grasses are mulched with hay. We have constantly preached in the column that "God doesn't have much uncovered dirt!"

Especially at this time of the year when sudden hot flashes and droughts are apt to come upon us, any and all freshly planted trees, shrubs or perennials need to be not only mulched but shaded if they are not too large. A cover of any kind over the soil will cut down your watering, and anything that breaks the hot sun will prevent wilting. Your columnist likes pine needles as a mulch because the air can circulate through them. They decay more slowly than other material and seem to last twice as long before they are a part of the soil. Their uniform brown is pleasant to look at, too, on beds of flowers.

Beggars cannot be choosers, however, and our advice is the same as that given by all "lazy bed" gardeners: use whatever is at hand until you can get the right materials.

If your mulch seems to deep for any of your plants, pull it back from each plant for a little distance and let the sun down to the stem. In wet seasons, some kinds of molds will develop under mulches if they are very thick. Just lift some of the mulch off the beds till our famous hot seasons come around again. This operation is much simpler than breaking your back with a hoe and maintaining a "dust mulch" with the soil.

For very tiny plants, pine straw is again ideal, for ever a thin sprinkling of pine needles prevents a lot of evaporation and keeps down the ground temperature. The tiny species of daffodils and other wee bulbs are difficult to manage in a garden without some uniform covering like this. In winter, you can hasten the bloom of the little early bulbs by sprinkling them with a light covering of needles.

Nothing is better for the newly sprigged lawn or the newly sown one than a light even sprinkling of pine needles. More even germination of the seeds and a higher percentage of survival of your sprigs will certainly result from such a covering. As the grass grows, it will cover and hide the needles from sight. In the first cutting, if there are any needles above the new green, they are easily levelled by the law mower. When heavy rains fall on the area, each drop hits the bare earth like a cannon ball. If pine straw is there, no such bombardment takes place and no erosion because the large drops are broken up into a spray. In patches where no grass succeeds, erosion is held down until the nearby grass can cover these places. Yes; it is well worth the trouble to cover a new lawn with a light sprinkling of needles.

It seems farmers are having more troubles than anybody — and in these days and times, that's a heck of a lot of troubles.

AP Newsfeatures

It's not easy to set up an exact timetable in the nature department, but with knowhow and the equipment a lot can be done in the garden world.

Here's how a department store hit a decoration deadline right on the nose with 250 flowering trees and shrubs.

If you've ever forced flowering shrub branches into bloom in your home in prespring days, you'll find the method interesting.

The trees selected were from 6 to 10 years old. About four weeks before they were needed in bloom, the trees were dug from the fields of the nursery and were transferred to tubs outside the greenhouses. The trees were left for the soil to settle and the roots to adjust themselves to the tubs. Not a tree was lost in the process.

The tubs then were taken inside the greenhouses, with trees which ordinarily blossom latest taken in early.

After placing in the greenhouses, the trees were syringed and sprayed to keep the stems and twigs moist. This procedure was followed two or three times a day for the first two weeks, after which the plants were watered only from the base.

The greenhouse was kept at 55 degrees at night and from 70 to 75 degrees in the daytime. During the final week in the greenhouse, the plants which showed a tendency to blossom too quickly were moved to the north side. Trees which were tardy in blossom were given a southern exposure.

A hardening process followed, and the humidity was gradually decreased to simulate the conditions in the store where the trees were to be placed.

The trees and plants, weighing from 250 to 300 pounds each in the tubs, were moved to the store and were in bloom for the cherry blossom festival.

The blooming collection included the pale pink prunus subhirtella Beni Higan; the double Prunus Subhirtella Autumnalis and the pale pink Malus Floribunda; Prunus Serrulata Pendula; Prunus Subhirtella Pendula; Prunus Serrulate Kwanzan and Malus Atrosanguinea, double and single flowering varieties in rose, pink and white. Flowering crabs also were forced, including the species Malus Strathmore, Malus Micromalus and Malus Baccata, ranging from deep pink to white. Fifty forsythia plants of the variety Spring Glory, added yellow to the color combinations.

After the display, the trees were presented to a nearby park.

CRIME'S PRICE FALLS

NOGALES, Mexico —(AP)— Someone offered a car for sale at this border city — first for $1,800 then $800, and finally $40 — but there were no takers. An officer jotted down the license number, and found it later on the stolen car list.

ROAD HOG

OWENSBORO, Ky. —(AP)— A motorist stopped to avoid hitting a hog in the road. A car behind plowed into the first car, causing $400 damage to the autos. Damage to the hog: $0.00.

Petunias Gain In Popularity

According to my itinerary, your agent is in the big city today, New York — ready to visit the Marketing Project tomorrow, then on down to Beltsville, to Washington and home Friday. I'll tell you all about my "learnings" in the next few weeks. We can still garden, "long distance."

Gardening

Petunias are one of the three most popular flowers, and it is possible that they are gaining on their two rivals, zinnias and marigolds. To understand this it is only necessary to look at the catalogues and see the number of fine new varieties that have been introduced in the last five years. However, the seedsmen themselves believe that there is still a great deal of work to be done with petunias. There's a demand for more blue and crimson varieties that don't grow so tall and leggy. We want more varieties with double flowers and more with compact growth. There's always a search for the yellow petunia. Moonstone is the closest so far.

Had you ever noticed that a large garden does not have to be kept as neat as a small one? The tiny city lots call for manicuring to the last degree, while a spacious estate can run riot with drooping, draping, criss-crossing shrubs and trees. There's much to be said in favor of both, and we have some lovely examples of each in North Louisiana.

Many of the newer homes have brick, stone or wooden planters. Because of their prominent locations, often beside doorways or at the edge of a terrace, they are almost automatically the center of attention. So — you'll want their planting to be appealing. First, begin with drainage. If the subsoil is packed hard it should be loosened with a crowbar or garden fork. Then add a six to ten inchlayer of stones and gravel. Now you're ready for good garden soil in which a liberal amount of compost or peat moss has been mixed. Allow a two inch space at the top of the plant well to facilitate watering and to prevent soil from washing over its sides.

Now some plants to use in these boxes, depending of course on the amount of sun and shade they'll get. There are the dwarf azaleas, gardenias, youpons, and abelias. Day lilies, asperdistra, lirope, annuals and perennials make inexpensive plantings.

For those with a minimum amount of time for upkeep, and yet for those who have something flowering all the spring and summer, your answer is flowering shrubs. From January 'til now there hasn't been a day without a shrub or tree in bloom. Just make a list. The pageant began with spirea and flowering quince (in many colors and white), pop corn spirea, forsythia, flowering almond, red bud, crabapple, flowering peach (three or more colors), bridal wreath, flowering cherry, pearl bush, white and pink dogwood, oriental magnolias, wild azaleas, early roses, wisteria, azalea, camellia. Coming into bloom now are your fringe trees, English Dogwoods, climbing roses, confederate jasmine vine, Louisiana Magnolia and through the summer, roses and crepe Myrtles (many colors and varieties). Don't we have an amazing number, and of course I've not named half?

The pill bug is already at work. 50 per cent liquid Chlordane spray, on the ground should get him. Easier than that is a new poison bait you just drop in the beds. Six per cent chlordane sprinkled on the lawn will kill ants and red bugs around the children's play yard. For crawfish, use one pound of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder to ten gallons of water. Put about a cup full in each crawfish hold.

Driving to Baton Rouge last week we noticed the locust trees in full bloom which is about two weeks in advance of North Louisiana. Below St. Francisville the highway was lined on both sides with this blooming locust and in many places, there was wisteria on the fence. Really a beautiful sight, but certainly plants for those with large areas. The wisteria can be kept pruned, but locusts have a way of coming up all over the place

Here are some interesting facts about rice, that plentiful food and that good old Louisiana crop. Rice is a convenient food, because there is no peeling, scraping, dicing or cutting. No washing is necessary with exception of wild rice. Usually twice as much water as rice is ample for cooking. Rinsing rice after it is cooked causes loss of food value and actually makes the rice less fluffy. The best recipe for cooking rice is the one on the box or package. This food goes through different cooking processes, so follow the directions given on the container.

The bulk of rice sold is milled white rice. Brown rice and parboiled rice are specialty items and cost more than the milled white rice. Partially cooked rice is just what the name implies, but the process increases the price because of the extra handling.

Most of the short grain rice is exported. Long and medium grain types are the most prevalent in our markets. Cooking rice in milk gives added food value. To make extra fluffy rice, remove sauce pan from heat after the recommended cooking period and leave the lid on until ready to serve. The steam in the sauce pan fluffs the rice, makes it drier and keeps it hot.

Announcements

By William Lanier Hunt

Pine Straw Is Ideal For Mulch

Last week's column about growing vegetables under a deep mulch has stimulated some questions from readers. The magazine article we cited was in Popular Gardening for March 1956 on page 46. Our comment in last week's column was this method is well known to us here in the south. Even the highway banks seeded to grasses are mulched with hay. We have constantly preached in the column that "God doesn't have much uncovered dirt!"

Especially at this time of the year when sudden hot flashes and droughts are apt to come upon us, any and all freshly planted trees, shrubs or perennials need to be not only mulched but shaded if they are not too large. A cover of any kind over the soil will cut down your watering, and anything that breaks the hot sun will prevent wilting. Your columnist likes pine needles as a mulch because the air can circulate through them. They decay more slowly than other material and seem to last twice as long before they are a part of the soil. Their uniform brown is pleasant to look at, too, on beds of flowers.

Beggars cannot be choosers, however, and our advice is the same as that given by all "lazy bed" gardeners: use whatever is at hand until you can get the right materials.

If your mulch seems to deep for any of your plants, pull it back from each plant for a little distance and let the sun down to the stem. In wet seasons, some kinds of molds will develop under mulches if they are very thick. Just lift some of the mulch off the beds till our famous hot seasons come around again. This operation is much simpler than breaking your back with a hoe and maintaining a "dust mulch" with the soil.

For very tiny plants, pine straw is again ideal, for ever a thin sprinkling of pine needles prevents a lot of evaporation and keeps down the ground temperature. The tiny species of daffodils and other wee bulbs are difficult to manage in a garden without some uniform covering like this. In winter, you can hasten the bloom of the little early bulbs by sprinkling them with a light covering of needles.

Nothing is better for the newly sprigged lawn or the newly sown one than a light even sprinkling of pine needles. More even germination of the seeds and a higher percentage of survival of your sprigs will certainly result from such a covering. As the grass grows, it will cover and hide the needles from sight. In the first cutting, if there are any needles above the new green, they are easily levelled by the law mower. When heavy rains fall on the area, each drop hits the bare earth like a cannon ball. If pine straw is there, no such bombardment takes place and no erosion because the large drops are broken up into a spray. In patches where no grass succeeds, erosion is held down until the nearby grass can cover these places. Yes; it is well worth the trouble to cover a new lawn with a light sprinkling of needles.

It seems farmers are having more troubles than anybody — and in these days and times, that's a heck of a lot of troubles.

Record Review

But like Gershwin, Lecuona was an exceptional pianist long before his work as a composer was acclaimed. This talent remained hidden until a few weeks ago when RCA-Victor decided to issue an album with Lecuona at the keyboard.

This selection, "Lecuona Plays for Two, includes 16 of his compositions, including the popular "The Breeze and I." It is good listening now and may become a collector's item.

The late Eddy Duchin, a giant of the keyboard in the 1930's, has been memorialized by two companies which have rewaxed his best work.

"The Fabulous Eddy Duchin," a 12-inch LP issued by Vik, presents Duchin and orchestra on 12 selections, featuring a variety of vocalists, among them the late Buddy Clark on "Heaven Help This Heart of Mine" and "A Star Is Born."

Columbia's "A Tribute to Eddy Duchin" brings him back as a soloist for an encore on "Night and Day," "My Melancholy Baby," "I've Got You Under My Skin," "Easy to Love," "None But the Lonely Heart" and "Rosalie."

Tops in Pops — "Mr. Wonderful" by Peggy Lee (Decca), "Walk Hand in Hand" by Andy Williams with Archie Bleyer's orchestra (Cadence), "Half Your Heart" by Kitty Nation (Wing) and "The Birds and the Bees" by George Gobel (RCA-Victor).

Platter chatter—"Sweet Lips" by Scat Crothers (M-G-M) is a good Dixieland single featuring Matty Matlock's combo . . . "Soft Summer Breeze" shows off the distinctive piano of Eddie Heywood (Mercury) who is best remembered for his unusual version of "Begin the Beguine" many years ago . . . "The Charming Mademoiselle from Paris, France" should become a hit and Lou Busch's Capitol arrangement is one of the best . . . "On a Night When Flowers Were Dancing" also should click, especially Jerry Wallace's version for Mercury. But only the lyrics are new. The music comes from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

STAMPS

The music of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart belongs to the world. Although he was born in Austria in 1756 the composer and pianist won fame throughout Europe during his brief life of 35 years.

The latest of the stamp sets to commemorate the 200th anniversary of his birth comes from Belgium. There are three stamps in this set.

When Fipex opens on April 28 at the new Coliseum in New York, Great Britain will show the largest and most valuable postal exhibit ever presented outside the British Empire.

The original steel dies of the famous Penny Black and Two-penny blue of 1840 will be on display. In addition the following valuable philatelic items will be shown:

A complete sheet of the penny black 1840 from the first plate, approved and signed on the back by Sir Rowland Hill; the first sheet printed of the penny black with the series of check letters in the lower corners and full surrounding inscriptions on the margins; a frame showing a series of penny black and penny red from a large number of plates with the registration dates; a frame depicting a complete series of the one pound and five pound issues beginning with the first pound stamp in 1878 and continuing up to the present pound issue of Queen Elizabeth II.

Stamp Notes . . . Finland has issued a new 30 markka stamp showing a church in the rural community of Lammi, reports the New York Stamp Co. This is part of a three value set which commemorates their "Jubilee Year" . . . A new stamp has been issued by the Republic of Korea to honor the 81st birthday of President Syngman Rhee.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By FLETA D. LATHAM

Time marches on, Little Theatre's fourth production "The Tender Trap" is occupying a niche among the never to be forgotten plays seen at the playhouse and now plans are underway for the fifth and final production of the 1955-56 season.

Tryouts were held on Thursday and Friday for "The Rainmaker." We haven't talked with Director Ivan Uttal but we know that it will only be a few days before he has a cast for this show. There are seven parts in "The Rainmaker". One girl and six men. And every role is a good one.

If you are interested in being in "The Rainmaker" and were unable to attend scheduled tryouts, there may still be time for you to read for a part. Call Ivan at 3-8413 or 3-4263, and if the show hasn't been cast, he will make arrangements to hear you read.

Random notes: Beth Breese entertained the cast and crew of "The Tender Trap" at her home following the closing performance on Wednesday night. It was a wonderful party — good conversation, good food, good music.

Immediately after the curtain came down on the last performance of "The Tender Trap", Stan Richards left for Spokane, Washington. We wish him success in the new job there.

Little Theaterite Tommy Robert will be bringing his bride to Monroe soon. He and Carolyn "Cookie" Gough were married in New Orleans on Saturday morning. We know Cookie is interested in the theatre and we are looking forward to having both of them working with the theatre group.

The sale of memberships during the run of "The Tender Trap" was most gratifying. If you haven't bought your membership, do it soon. The drive opened earlier this year and will definitely close prior to the first play of the 1956-57 season.

BOOKS

Civil War On Western Waters, by Fletcher Pratt (Henry Holt and Co.)

The river war — the struggle for control of arterial waters — constitutes one of the most picturesque chapters of Civil War history, as well as one of the most important. Control of the Mississippi and its tributaries was a keystone of the war's grand strategy. That's one of the reasons why so many historians rate Vicksburg as a greater Union victory than Gettysburg.

The war on the rivers was no orthodox war. Both sides played it by ear. The river navies were motley assemblies of ships — river boats, barges, ferries, tugboats. When converted to war purposes, they, together with vessels newly constructed, still were a conglomerate assembly.

There was no precedent for the kind of fighting for which the river fleets were called upon. On what was then the nation's western waters, the ability of guns afloat to combat guns ashore first was convincingly demonstrated. The river navies convoyed troops, gave artillery cover for shore operations, served as mobile siege guns, fought both enemy fleets and enemy infantry.

It is not a well known story. H. Allen Gosnell's capable "Guns on the Western Waters," published in 1949, is virtually the only work to deal with it.

Fletcher Pratt has filled out the picture sketched by Gosnell. He gives the war of the river navies a stirring, dashing treatment, full of action, ingenuity, daring. It loses some pace from overly meticulous detail of armament and armor — much of which will be meaningless to the average reader, despite its acknowledge value to the student. The maps are somewhat less than adequate, too. But "Civil War on Western Waters" is lively reading and calculated to whet the appetite for forthcoming Pratt enterprise on the Civil War at sea.

CAMERA NEWS

Photography is a stimulating challenge to many camera fans who seek shortcuts or a more useful bit of equipment to suit their personal needs. Some home-grown inventions have limited use or the originator doesn't know how to put his ideas into general circulation. Others are useful to camera fans everywhere and the ingenious originator may find himself in a new business before he's aware of it.

Such is the story of Milton Revzin, an ardent camera club member of Youngstown, Ohio. All because when shooting pictures with fellow members, he was forever after an unusual angle — either higher or lower or from an inaccessible corner.

He soon became dissatisfied with the conventional tripod because it couldn't follow him up on a stepladder or under a table or into a tight corner. For his purposes, he needed a camera support that would clamp anywhere and yet be adjustable in height or direction.

Milton was a metalworker by trade so he built himself a gadget out of lightweight metal that suited his picture taking technique. It stood the test of actual operations anywhere because it could clamp to a single edge of support on chair, table, door, ledge or ladder.

It was an adjustable, single rod with a unique clamp. At first glance, the clamp resembled an ordinary hardware store "C" clamp, but it had a couple of other knobs. One controlled the raising or lowering of the rod; another knob locked the whole gadget in place solidly by applying a leverage principle.

On top of the central rod was a universal screw which accepted a pan-tilt head, a swivel top or the camera itself.

At home, Marty indulged in still life photography and portraiture. Working in close quarters, he found that he needed greater flexibility in his light stands.

He solved that problem by adapting his clamp-and-rod arrangement. He put his electric wire through the rod and attached a gooseneck lamp or a swivel-top light on top. Then the light could be clamped anywhere also and took up no floor space.

By this time, Milton's fellow camera fans were demanding similar camera clamps and clamp lamps. When not used in photography, the clamp lamps were swell for general darkroom work, for drafting and artists' tables, for home and hobby workshop corners, and children's study desks.

The bidding:

South, 1 no trump; West, Pass; North, 2 no trump; East, Pass. South, 3 no trump; West Pass, North, Pass; East, Pass.

Opening lead: Queen of hearts.

The taking of a finesse for the sole purpose of securing an extra trick is extremely poor tactics when the safety of the contract is being risked even though the danger is somewhat remote.

South's apparently innocuous attempt to secure 30 extra points cost him a game contract when he ran into a bad break of the cards in today's hand.

The opening bid of one no trump is preferable to an introductory call of one club with a balanced hand containing 18 points. Opener in this manner gives a complete description of his hand in one bid and thus avoids future problems. If the opening bid of one club is chosen, an awkward situation develops should partner respond with one spade, for example. What is the proper rebid, two no trump? That would be a slight overbid. Two spades? That would be a distinct underbid.

North, holding eight points, had the required strength for a raise to two no trump. South, of course, carried on to game.

West opened the queen of hearts which declarer took with the king. He then entered the dummy with the ace of spades in order to take club finesse and with that step lost the hand. When East showed out of clubs, he ducked, but so did West, who continued to do so on the next lead of the suit. This made it impossible for declarer to bring in dummy's long club and there was no way to make nine tricks.

While it was very unfortunate to find West with all four clubs (it would have been just as unfortunate if East had had them all, because he would have refused to put up the king until the suit was blocked), nevertheless, declarer had only himself to blame. Consideration of overtricks should be postponed until the safety of the contract has been insured. By immediately playing the ace and another club, retaining the ace of spades in the dummy, declarer could have assured himself of nine tricks. He paid for his greed.

GRACE KELLY

"The Grace Kelly Wedding," a special news production featuring highlights of the week-long festivities in the principality of Monaco in honor of the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier nuptials, will be broadcast over the CBS television network Saturday, April 21 at 10 p.m.

Sunday Highlights

Patrolman O'Hanlon and Fireman Van Outryve will meet again on the $64,000 Challenge" because O'Hanlon gave an incorrect answer at the $2,000 level. O'Hanlon who seemingly defeated the fireman at the $4,000 level belatedly discovered that Fox, the emcee, was having a case of first-night jitters and did not notice the error. Myrt Power, the champ, and the 77-year-old Walter A. Dunnett will also battle it out at the $8,000 baseline in their game of wits.

Susie MacNamara (Ann Sothern) in "Private Secretary" develops a hilarious state of the jitters when she suspects she is to be fired.

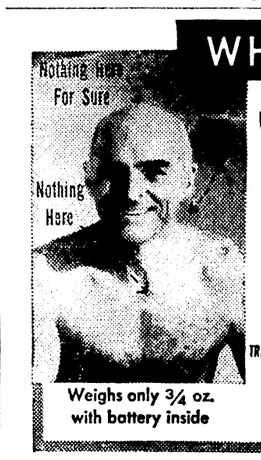

It's A Great Life — "The Return of Caroline" finds the boys involved again with the beautiful blonde movie star, and this time she has marriage on her mind.

Telephone Time will present "The Man With the Beard" — a story about the persecution of a man who wore a beard while his fellow townsmen went clean-shaven.

Despite the fact that Grace Kelly will be in Monaco preparing for her marriage to Prince Rainier II, she will be seen doing a song and dance scene with Ralph Meeker on "The Ed Sullivan Show."

Record Review

Ernesto Lecuona long has been called "Cuba's George Gershwin" because of his brilliant compositions in the popular and near-classical fields.

But, like Gershwin, Lecuona was an exceptional pianist long before his work as a composer was acclaimed. This talent remained hidden until a few weeks ago when RCA-Victor decided to issue an album with Lecuona at the keyboard.

This selection, "Lecuona Plays for Two, includes 16 of his compositions, including the popular "The Breeze and I." It is good listening now and may become a collector's item.

The late Eddy Duchin, a giant of the keyboard in the 1930's, has been memorialized by two companies which have rewaxed his best work.

"The Fabulous Eddy Duchin," a 12-inch LP issued by Vik, presents Duchin and orchestra on 12 selections, featuring a variety of vocalists, among them the late Buddy Clark on "Heaven Help This Heart of Mine" and "A Star Is Born."

Columbia's "A Tribute to Eddy Duchin" brings him back as a soloist for an encore on "Night and Day," "My Melancholy Baby," "I've Got You Under My Skin," "Easy to Love," "None But the Lonely Heart" and "Rosalie."

Tops in Pops — "Mr. Wonderful" by Peggy Lee (Decca), "Walk Hand in Hand" by Andy Williams with Archie Bleyer's orchestra (Cadence), "Half Your Heart" by Kitty Nation (Wing) and "The Birds and the Bees" by George Gobel (RCA-Victor).

Platter chatter—"Sweet Lips" by Scat Crothers (M-G-M) is a good Dixieland single featuring Matty Matlock's combo . . . "Soft Summer Breeze" shows off the distinctive piano of Eddie Heywood (Mercury) who is best remembered for his unusual version of "Begin the Beguine" many years ago . . . "The Charming Mademoiselle from Paris, France" should become a hit and Lou Busch's Capitol arrangement is one of the best . . . "On a Night When Flowers Were Dancing" also should click, especially Jerry Wallace's version for Mercury. But only the lyrics are new. The music comes from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

STAMPS

The music of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart belongs to the world. Although he was born in Austria in 1756 the composer and pianist won fame throughout Europe during his brief life of 35 years.

The latest of the stamp sets to commemorate the 200th anniversary of his birth comes from Belgium. There are three stamps in this set.

When Fipex opens on April 28 at the new Coliseum in New York, Great Britain will show the largest and most valuable postal exhibit ever presented outside the British Empire.

The original steel dies of the famous Penny Black and Two-penny blue of 1840 will be on display. In addition the following valuable philatelic items will be shown:

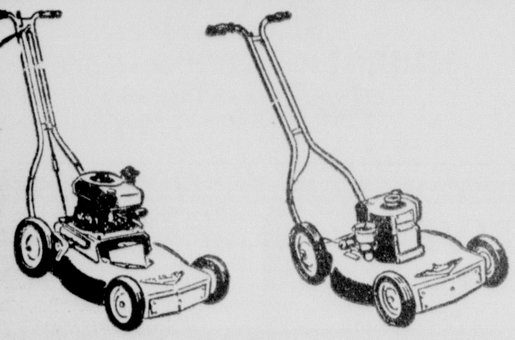

A complete sheet of the penny black 1840 from the first plate, approved and signed on the back by Sir Rowland Hill; the first sheet printed of the penny black with the series of check letters in the lower corners and full surrounding inscriptions on the margins; a frame showing a series of penny black and penny red from a large number of plates with the registration dates; a frame depicting a complete series of the one pound and five pound issues beginning with the first pound stamp in 1878 and continuing up to the present pound issue of Queen Elizabeth II.

Stamp Notes . . . Finland has issued a new 30 markka stamp showing a church in the rural community of Lammi, reports the New York Stamp Co. This is part of a three value set which commemorates their "Jubilee Year" . . . A new stamp has been issued by the Republic of Korea to honor the 81st birthday of President Syngman Rhee.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By FLETA D. LATHAM

Time marches on, Little Theatre's fourth production "The Tender Trap" is occupying a niche among the never to be forgotten plays seen at the playhouse and now plans are underway for the fifth and final production of the 1955-56 season.

Tryouts were held on Thursday and Friday for "The Rainmaker." We haven't talked with Director Ivan Uttal but we know that it will only be a few days before he has a cast for this show. There are seven parts in "The Rainmaker". One girl and six men. And every role is a good one.

If you are interested in being in "The Rainmaker" and were unable to attend scheduled tryouts, there may still be time for you to read for a part. Call Ivan at 3-8413 or 3-4263, and if the show hasn't been cast, he will make arrangements to hear you read.

Random notes: Beth Breese entertained the cast and crew of "The Tender Trap" at her home following the closing performance on Wednesday night. It was a wonderful party — good conversation, good food, good music.

Immediately after the curtain came down on the last performance of "The Tender Trap", Stan Richards left for Spokane, Washington. We wish him success in the new job there.

Little Theaterite Tommy Robert will be bringing his bride to Monroe soon. He and Carolyn "Cookie" Gough were married in New Orleans on Saturday morning. We know Cookie is interested in the theatre and we are looking forward to having both of them working with the theatre group.

The sale of memberships during the run of "The Tender Trap" was most gratifying. If you haven't bought your membership, do it soon. The drive opened earlier this year and will definitely close prior to the first play of the 1956-57 season.

BOOKS

The river war — the struggle for control of arterial waters — constitutes one of the most picturesque chapters of Civil War history, as well as one of the most important. Control of the Mississippi and its tributaries was a keystone of the war's grand strategy. That's one of the reasons why so many historians rate Vicksburg as a greater Union victory than Gettysburg.

The war on the rivers was no orthodox war. Both sides played it by ear. The river navies were motley assemblies of ships — river boats, barges, ferries, tugboats. When converted to war purposes, they, together with vessels newly constructed, still were a conglomerate assembly.

There was no precedent for the kind of fighting for which the river fleets were called upon. On what was then the nation's western waters, the ability of guns afloat to combat guns ashore first was convincingly demonstrated. The river navies convoyed troops, gave artillery cover for shore operations, served as mobile siege guns, fought both enemy fleets and enemy infantry.

It is not a well known story. H. Allen Gosnell's capable "Guns on the Western Waters," published in 1949, is virtually the only work to deal with it.

Fletcher Pratt has filled out the picture sketched by Gosnell. He gives the war of the river navies a stirring, dashing treatment, full of action, ingenuity, daring. It loses some pace from overly meticulous detail of armament and armor — much of which will be meaningless to the average reader, despite its acknowledge value to the student. The maps are somewhat less than adequate, too. But "Civil War on Western Waters" is lively reading and calculated to whet the appetite for forthcoming Pratt enterprise on the Civil War at sea.

CAMERA NEWS

Photography is a stimulating challenge to many camera fans who seek shortcuts or a more useful bit of equipment to suit their personal needs. Some home-grown inventions have limited use or the originator doesn't know how to put his ideas into general circulation. Others are useful to camera fans everywhere and the ingenious originator may find himself in a new business before he's aware of it.

Such is the story of Milton Revzin, an ardent camera club member of Youngstown, Ohio. All because when shooting pictures with fellow members, he was forever after an unusual angle — either higher or lower or from an inaccessible corner.

He soon became dissatisfied with the conventional tripod because it couldn't follow him up on a stepladder or under a table or into a tight corner. For his purposes, he needed a camera support that would clamp anywhere and yet be adjustable in height or direction.

Milton was a metalworker by trade so he built himself a gadget out of lightweight metal that suited his picture taking technique. It stood the test of actual operations anywhere because it could clamp to a single edge of support on chair, table, door, ledge or ladder.

It was an adjustable, single rod with a unique clamp. At first glance, the clamp resembled an ordinary hardware store "C" clamp, but it had a couple of other knobs. One controlled the raising or lowering of the rod; another knob locked the whole gadget in place solidly by applying a leverage principle.

On top of the central rod was a universal screw which accepted a pan-tilt head, a swivel top or the camera itself.

At home, Marty indulged in still life photography and portraiture. Working in close quarters, he found that he needed greater flexibility in his light stands.

He solved that problem by adapting his clamp-and-rod arrangement. He put his electric wire through the rod and attached a gooseneck lamp or a swivel-top light on top. Then the light could be clamped anywhere also and took up no floor space.

By this time, Milton's fellow camera fans were demanding similar camera clamps and clamp lamps. When not used in photography, the clamp lamps were swell for general darkroom work, for drafting and artists' tables, for home and hobby workshop corners and children's study desks.

The bidding:

South, 3 no trump; West Pass, North, Pass; East, Pass.

Opening lead: Queen of hearts.

The taking of a finesse for the sole purpose of securing an extra trick is extremely poor tactics when the safety of the contract is being risked even though the danger is somewhat remote.

South's apparently innocuous attempt to secure 30 extra points cost him a game contract when he ran into a bad break of the cards in today's hand.

The opening bid of one no trump is preferable to an introductory call of one club with a balanced hand containing 18 points. Opener in this manner gives a complete description of his hand in one bid and thus avoids future problems If the opening bid of one club is chosen, an awkward situation develops should partner respond with one spade, for example. What is the proper rebid, two no trump? That would be a slight overbid. Two spades? That would be a distinct underbid.

North, holding eight points, had the required strength for a raise to two no trump. South, of course, carried on to game.

West opened the queen of hearts which declarer took with the king. He then entered the dummy with the ace of spades in order to take club finesse and with that step lost the hand. When East showed out of clubs, he ducked, but so did West, who continued to do so on the next lead of the suit. This made it impossible for declarer to bring in dummy's long club and there was no way to make nine tricks.

While it was very unfortunate to find West with all four clubs (it would have been just as unfortunate if East had had them all, because he would have refused to put up the king until the suit was blocked), nevertheless, declarer had only himself to blame. Consideration of overtricks should be postponed until the safety of the contract has been insured. By immediately playing the ace and another club, retaining the ace of spades in the dummy, declarer could have assured himself of nine tricks. He paid for his greed.

GRACE KELLY

"The Grace Kelly Wedding," a special news production featuring highlights of the week-long festivities in the principality of Monaco in honor of the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier nuptials, will be broadcast over the CBS television network Saturday, April 21 at 10 p.m.

Sunday Highlights

Patrolman O'Hanlon and Fireman Van Outryve will meet again on the $64,000 Challenge" because O'Hanlon gave an incorrect answer at the $2,000 level. O'Hanlon who seemingly defeated the fireman at the $4,000 level belatedly discovered that Fox, the emcee, was having a case of first-night jitters and did not notice the error. Myrt Power, the champ, and the 77-year-old Walter A. Dunnett will also battle it out at the $8,000 baseline in their game of wits.

Susie MacNamara (Ann Sothern) in "Private Secretary" develops a hilarious state of the jitters when she suspects she is to be fired.

It's A Great Life — "The Return of Caroline" finds the boys involved again with the beautiful blonde movie star, and this time she has marriage on her mind.

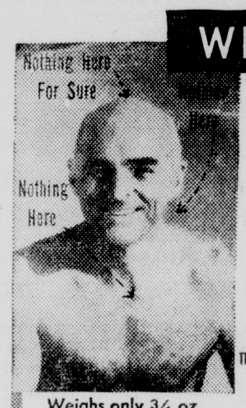

Telephone Time will present "The Man With the Beard" — a story about the persecution of a man who wore a beard while his fellow townsmen went clean-shaven.

Despite the fact that Grace Kelly will be in Monaco preparing for her marriage to Prince Rainier II, she will be seen doing a song and dance scene with Ralph Meeker on "The Ed Sullivan Show."

Ray Milland directs as well as stars in this week's "G. E. Theater" drama of a respectable man who is arrested on suspicion of robbery after he inadvertently picks up the wrong purse for his wife following a party.

SISTERS ON THE SPOT—Rhonda Fleming and Arlene Dahl, two of Hollywood's loveliest red-heads, become targets for bachelors and bullets in "Slightly Scarlet," Benedict Bogeaus-RKO production in Technicolor and Superscope. John Payne also stars.

Cain's 'Slightly Scarlet' High-Voltage Thriller

"Slightly Scarlet," a typical James M. Cain dramatic shocker of bullets, blackmail and beautiful women, made its bow at the Jim Theatre Today. It should have a highly successful engagement, for it contains all the ingredients which made his "Doubld Indemnity" and "The Postman Always Rings Twice" popular film entertainment.

John Payne, Arlene Dahl and Rhonda Fleming co-star in "Slightly Scarlet" ad Producer Beedict Bogeaus has give the RKO R-dio feature a handsome setting in Superscope and Technicolor. The hard-hitting drama and explosive excitement of the action is neatly balanced with some high-voltage love scenes in which the Misses Dahl and Fleming, two of the screen's most beautiful redheads, provide pulse quickening interest.

Payne portrays a handsome investigator for the crime syndicate boss of a city in which graft and corruption have become deeply rooted. Given an assignment to check on the background of Rhonda Fleming, secretary of Kent Taylor, a reform candidate for mayor, he discovers that her sister, Arlene Dahl, is a kleptomaniac recently released from prison. When both sisters reveal a romantic interest in Payne, a situation develops which leads to a powerful climax.

The trio of stars are highly effective, with particular interest centering upon Arlene Dahl for her portrayal of the dipsomaniac-kleptomaniac with a pronounced affinity for the male sex. Heretofore seen in roles of sweetness and light, her dramatic stature is immeasurably increased with this characterization of suprising contrast.

Kent Taylor as the reform mayor, Ted de Corsia as the crime boss, and Lance Fuller and Buddy Baer as two of his henchmen round out a first-rate cast.

Bill Holden's Career

HOLLYWOOD, April 14 — "If you had to start your career all over again, what wouldn't you have done?"

That's the question I posed for William Holden, during an interview on the set of "Toward The Unknown" at Warner Brothers' Bill's answer came as fast as a rocket ship, with rapier-like precision and the speed of light:

"There were at least ten pictures I made in the beginning of my career that I honestly didn't like doing. I wouldn't have made them-"

Now there's a switch! Most stars reflect upon their early efforts with fond, almost maudlin sentiments. Not Holden. There's nothing maudlin about him. He is, in his thinking, exactly what you'd expect him to be, if you judged him by his screen personality. Holden never "acts it up," either at work or in person.

He formulates opinions after cutting through to the heart of a subject with startlingly accurate conclusions. He's not stubborn about what he believes in, but because of the clarity and swiftness of his decisions, he doesn't have to backtrack very often.

"Do you think that by refusing to make the pictures you didn't like, you'd have furthered your career a lot faster?"

"I don't know the answer to that, Jimmie. All I know is that as soon as I got dry behind the ears as an actor, I realized I could not be happy unless I played parts I believed in. There were pictures like "Union Station," "The Turning Point," "Dear Ruth" — that I simply didn't enjoy doing because I felt they weren't for me. I wasn't convinced by my own characterizations. And if I don't have an inner conviction about what I'm doing, I don't want to do it."

"I've got to trust my own judgment, because I know what I can do best."

"Did you ever try turning down a part, as a youngster?" I wanted to know.

Holden laughed and replied: "Let's look at the record. From 1939 to 1950, I got eight suspensions for turning down parts. I decided I might suspend myself right out of the business if I wasn't careful. Besides it became a matter of economic necessity to be a little more tolerant, a little less demanding. I coasted for quite a while. Working all the time, but not really 'giving'. It finally paid off."

"What was the turning-point?"

Without a moment's hesitation, Bill said, playing with Gloria Swanson in 'Sunset Boulevard.' The role itself was a tremendous challenge. I work best under a challenge. I had always been the good buy — the clean-cut all American boy. Here was a part that demanded something else, something subtle yet obvious. This guy was a heel by all manly standards, yet there was a depth to his character that I could play with. I had to think in terms of a gigolo, which is what he actually became. I had to project the character of a gigolo and make it believable. I felt that part. It was really gratifying to work it out."

Holden went on to explain that he'd had to buck a great deal of opposition, before he reached the point in his career where his own judgment was considered sound. It was in "Sunset Boulevard" that he scored the point. The contrast between the type of character he portrayed and the type of character he'd been portraying, was so profound that at first the thought of him doing it, caused a minor panic among picture makers.

But the actor himself never doubted it. He hung on to his own standards until he won the others over. His performance of course, rated as one of the all-time greats in the picture business.

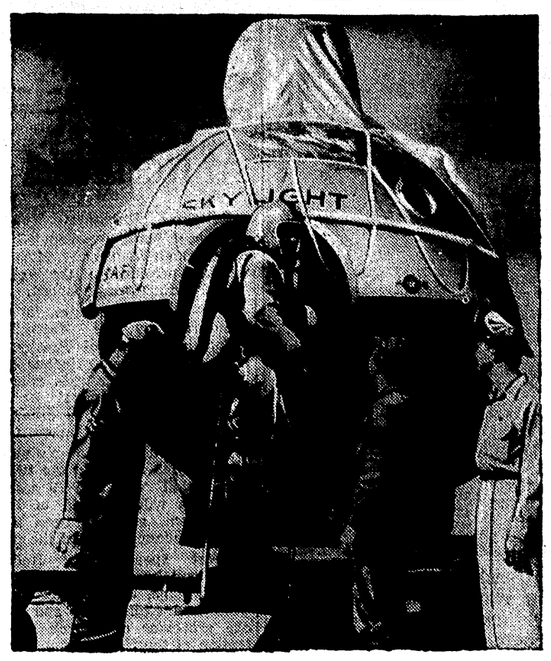

In a more recent film, "Picnic," Bill plays the part of an unattached, confused former college athlete who is confronted with his own weaknesses in everything that happens to him.

He says that it was a 'frustrating' part. His performance again rated tops.

"But," Holden tells me, "Again, it was a challenge. The character actually was supposed to be a lot younger than I am. Could I make him believable? That was the problem I faced. Instead of trying to act like a young collegiate, I simply put myself in the young collegiate's place — fifteen years later. That gave me a feeling of relationship to the boy grown up in years, still a rah-rah kid, with a lot of spiritual and mental problems to cope with that were begun in his youth. It was grim, but I enjoyed it."

And there you have the complete secret of William Holden's phenomenal career. Instead of taking anything at face value, from a movie script to a high-powered speed car — he turns it inside out in his own mind to find out what makes it tick. As soon as he believes he knows — he's got what he's looking for. . . . And twenty-four hours later, he's at it again, with the next problem.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

This is not a man from Mars but a flying medic ready to test the United States Air Force top secret project, "Skylight" in Twentieth Century-Fox's amazing CinemaScope film, "On the Threshold of Space," which opens here Wednesday at the Paramount Theater. The film, made possible by the cooperation of the USAF, reveals to the public for the first time the exciting scientific progress being gained in our conquest of space. Guy Madison, Virginia Leith, the late John Hodiak and Dean Jagger are starred in the William Bloom production which was directed by Robert D. Webb.

'The Threshold Of Space' To Open Here Wednesday

Tomorrow is of now when "On the Threshold of Space" opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre! This amazing CinemaScope film unlocks for the first time the guarded secrets of what our medical scientists are doing in their daring efforts to overcome the dangers of outer space. They are the human "guinea pigs" for the flying men of the very near future.

Produced by William Bloom and Barbara McLean with the cooperation of the United States Air Force, the Twentieth Century-Fox film dramatizes the story of these unsung heroes who ride the rocket sleds and are ejected from jet aircraft at fantastic speeds and altitudes to test the safety measures needed for the flying corps of tomorrow.

The American public will see for themselves that space men are no longer the creation of a comic strip artist's fertile imagination, but represent the youth of the nation being carried aloft into heretofore, untrespassed heights. In fact, earth takes on its planet aspect as the CinemaScope camera photographs it for the first time from the astounding height of 100,000 feet — more than 17 miles straight up into that wild blue yonder.

The principal participants in this struggle to domesticate space are portrayed by Guy Madison, Virginia Leith, the late John Hodiak and Dean Jagger. The roles of Madison and Hodiak are patterned after two holders of the Cheney Award for peacetime valor, Captain Edward Sperry and Lt. Colonel John Strapp.

The quiet Captain took part in the filming, guiding those scenes in which Madison, as an enthusiastic doctor trained in parachute jumping, performs a series of downward ejections at speeds up to 570 miles per hour and jumping free-falls knowing the least he could expect was to suffer a broken shoulder. Sperry was also on hand to guide Madison in scenes testing an ascension balloon gondola designed to carry men to altitudes above and beyond the 100,000 ft. mark.

John Hodiak's portrayal is similar to that of the real-life scientific dare-devil who is known to the press as "the fastest man on earth." Col. Stapp's experiments with the rocket sled form an important part of the film, as audiences will thrill to a thundering ride at 632 miles per hour, followed by a shattering stop as the doctor-scientist tests the human ability to withstand shock.

Lovely Virginia Leith represents that other side of a scientist's life, as the woman whose service is marked in silence and prayer. Others in the cast, cooperating with the Air Force groups at Eglin Air Base in Florida and at Holloman in New Mexico, are Warren Stevens, Martin Milner, King Calder, Walter Coy, Ken Clark, Donald Murphy and Barry Coe. Direction of the film was handled by Robert D. Webb with photography by Joe MacDonald, A.S.C. However, without the facilities and scientific assistance of the USAF personnel, "On the Threshold of Space" could not have been filmed, bringing to the public a message of tremendous significance.

The type wife who doesn't speak to her husband when she's mad with him isn't as annoying as the vituperative type, but she's far more dangerous.

Theatre Players To Present 3rd Major Production

RUSTON, April 14 — (Special) — "Teach Me How To Cry" has been chosen as the Louisiana Tech Theater Players' third major production of the year to be staged May 14-16. This play, which opened last year in New York, is being filmed in Hollywood by Universal International.

"I've got to trust my own judgment, because I know what I can do best."

"Did you ever try turning down a part, as a youngster?" I wanted to know.

Holden laughed and replied: "Let's look at the record. From 1939 to 1950, I got eight suspensions for turning down parts. I decided I might suspend myself right out of the business if I wasn't careful. Besides it became a matter of economic necessity to be a little more tolerant, a little less demanding. And there you have the complete secret of William Holden's phenomenal career. Instead of taking anything at face value, from a movie script to a high-powered speed car — he turns it inside out in his own mind to find out what makes it tick. As soon as he believes he knows — he's got what he's looking for. . . . And twenty-four hours later, he's at it again, with the next problem.

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

This is not a man from Mars but a flying medic ready to test the United States Air Force top secret project, "Skylight" in Twentieth Century-Fox's amazing CinemaScope film, "On the Threshold of Space," which opens here Wednesday at the Paramount Theater. The film, made possible by the cooperation of the USAF, reveals to the public for the first time the exciting scientific progress being gained in our conquest of space. Guy Madison, Virginia Leith, the late John Hodiak and Dean Jagger are starred in the William Bloom production which was directed by Robert D. Webb.

'The Threshold Of Space' To Open Here Wednesday

Tomorrow is of now when "On the Threshold of Space" opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre! This amazing CinemaScope film unlocks for the first time the guarded secrets of what our medical scientists are doing in their daring efforts to overcome the dangers of outer space. They are the human "guinea pigs" for the flying men of the very near future.

Produced by William Bloom and Barbara McLean with the cooperation of the United States Air Force, the Twentieth Century-Fox film dramatizes the story of these unsung heroes who ride the rocket sleds and are ejected from jet aircraft at fantastic speeds and altitudes to test the safety measures needed for the flying corps of tomorrow.

The American public will see for themselves that space men are no longer the creation of a comic strip artist's fertile imagination, but represent the youth of the nation being carried aloft into heretofore, untrespassed heights. In fact, earth takes on its planet aspect as the CinemaScope camera photographs it for the first time from the astounding height of 100,000 feet — more than 17 miles straight up into that wild blue yonder.

The principal participants in this struggle to domesticate space are portrayed by Guy Madison, Virginia Leith, the late John Hodiak and Dean Jagger. The roles of Madison and Hodiak are patterned after two holders of the Cheney Award for peacetime valor, Captain Edward Sperry and Lt. Colonel John Strapp.

The quiet Captain took part in the filming, guiding those scenes in which Madison, as an enthusiastic doctor trained in parachute jumping, performs a series of downward ejections at speeds up to 570 miles per hour and jumping free-falls knowing the least he could expect was to suffer a broken shoulder. Sperry was also on hand to guide Madison in scenes testing an ascension balloon gondola designed to carry men to altitudes above and beyond the 100,000 ft. mark.

John Hodiak's portrayal is similar to that of the real-life scientific dare-devil who is known to the press as "the fastest man on earth." Col. Stapp's experiments with the rocket sled form an important part of the film, as audiences will thrill to a thundering ride at 632 miles per hour, followed by a shattering stop as the doctor-scientist tests the human ability to withstand shock.

Lovely Virginia Leith represents that other side of a scientist's life, as the woman whose service is marked in silence and prayer. Others in the cast, cooperating with the Air Force groups at Eglin Air Base in Florida and at Holloman in New Mexico, are Warren Stevens, Martin Milner, King Calder, Walter Coy, Ken Clark, Donald Murphy and Barry Coe. Direction of the film was handled by Robert D. Webb with photography by Joe MacDonald, A.S.C. However, without the facilities and scientific assistance of the USAF personnel, "On the Threshold of Space" could not have been filmed, bringing to the public a message of tremendous significance.

The type wife who doesn't speak to her husband when she's mad with him isn't as annoying as the vituperative type, but she's far more dangerous.

Theatre Players To Present 3rd Major Production

RUSTON, April 14 — (Special) — "Teach Me How To Cry" has been chosen as the Louisiana Tech Theater Players' third major production of the year to be staged May 14-16. This play, which opened last year in New York, is being filmed in Hollywood by Universal International.

Tech will be giving one of the first college performances of the play which has just been released for production. Patricia Joudry, author of the play, has previously written for the Aldrich Family show on radio, Pond's TV Theatre and CBS stage scripts.

Religion To Be Emphasized At Northeast

Religious Emphasis Week at Northeast State is scheduled Monday through Wednesday, Miss Carol Rhodes, president of the Westminster Fellowship, announced.

This year's program is being sponsored by the Westminister group, composed of Presbyterian students. Different religious organizations on the campus rotate in presenting the annual Religious Emphasis Week, which is endorsed by the Inter-Faith Council.

The first day's assembly will begin at 10:45 a.m. and the two following will open at 9:50 a.m. All meetings will be held in Brown auditorium, and are open to the entire student body and the public.

Guest speaker for Religious Week will be the Rev. Henry Willard Quinius, Jr., director of field work and admissions, and associate professor of church administration at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Austin, Texas.

He did his undergraduate work at Schreiner Institute, Kerrville, Texas, and graduated from the University of Texas with a bachelor of administration degree. Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary awarded him a bachelor of divinity degree in 1943 and he later received the master of theology degree from Austin Presbyterian Seminary.

Prior to accepting his present position, Rev. Quinius served as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church Texas City, Texas, then he went to San Antonio where he was pastor of Beacon Hill Presbyterian Church. He is a member of the board of trustees on Schreiner Institute and serves on a number of Presbytery and synod committees.

The Rev. Quinius was a member in 1950 of the General Assembly's Quadrennial Youth Convent in Auburn, Ala. He spoke at the 1955 General Assembly's Conference on Church Extension on "Church, Labor and Management."

Farmerville Church Plans Revival Series

FARMERVILLE, April 14 (Special) — Beginning Sunday night, April 15, Elder Harold E. Cooper is to preach in revival services at the Second Baptist church. Brother Cooper is one among our most successful and promising young pastors and evangelists. He is now working with Mt. Olive Church near El Dorado.

A large throng is anticipated. Good singing will be a special feature, song services being conducted by Jimmy Tucker.

Each morning there will be a special hour of prayer held at 9 a.m. and a 20-

King Size Bottle Stirs Recollection

Biedenharn Family Here Pioneered In Coca-Cola

With the introduction of the New Family size bottles of Coca-Cola another chapter is recorded in the association of the Biedenharn family with the nationally know soft drink.

In 1894, eight years after the invention of Coca-Cola by John S. Pemberton, an Atlanta, Ga. druggist, Joseph A. Biedenharn bottled the first drink in Vicksburg, Miss.

Bottling of the first Coca-Cola was brought about after a soda water bottler failed to deliver to Beidenharn an order which he had placed to furnish supplies for a plantation party.

The old Hutchinson bottle was the type of equipment used by Biedenharn. Description of the Hutchinson showed that it was a bottle with a rubber-wire stopper in the top. In order to open the bottle the wire was struck, knocking the stopper into the bottle.

The widespread distribution of bottled Coco Cola took place in 1899 when a young Chattanooga lawyer, Ben Thomas, who had come across a locally bottled soft drink in Cuba during the Spanish-American War, hit upon the idea. He and another lawyer went to Atlanta and asked Asa Candler, who had bought the rights to Coca-Cola after Pemberton's death, if they could bottle Coca-Cola. Candler gave them the bottling rights to practically the entire country.

About this time Candler owed Biedenharn $485 and offered to pay his debt in Coca-Cola stock, but Biedenharn felt that he needed the $485 a great deal more than he needed stock in a small company.

In 1912 Joe Biedenharn purchased the Ouachita Valley Steam Bottling Works in Monroe. In 1923 the company, now known as the Ouachita Coca - Cola Company, moved to its present site, 207 Walnut.

Henry Biedenharn, Jr., manager of the Ouachita Coca - Cola Bottling Company, said that Coca-Cola is sold in over 70 countries today, having started from such a humble beginning in which Joseph Biedenharn played a major part.

Biedenharn said definitely the "big brother," the new family size Coca-Cola bottle, would not replace the standard-size bottle.

"Our aim in providing the family size bottle," he said, "is simply to make it more convenient for people to buy and serve Coca - Cola."

With reference to smoking, there are two classes of people: (1) Those who don't smoke; (2) Those who smoke too much.

SMALIN'

I'M WORRIED ABOUT JACK FLYING THAT ROCKET PLANE, G.B.!

WHY? HE FLEW IT ONCE BEFORE! JACK'S AN AIR FORCE RESERVE JET PILOT AND THE MILITARY IS CO-OPERATING!

JACK

JACK'S UPSET! HE HAD A "LONG DISTANCE" FUSS WITH HIS WIFE!

SHE READ ANOTHER COLUMN ABOUT JACK DANCING UNTIL THE WEE HOURS!

I KNOW! JACK SAYS IT ISN'T TRUE--- SLY BOY, THAT JACK!

A B-50 HAS CARRIED JACK AND THE ROCKET PLANE TO 30,000 FT.!

JACK CUTS LOOSE AND DIVES THE PLANE TO TERMINAL VELOCITY TO CUSHION THE SHOCK OF THE ROCKET BLAST BUT—

ZACK MOSLEY

AS JACK FIRES THE FIRST ROCKET, HE FEELS AS THOUGH EVERY BONE IS CRACKING!

EEOW! STOP IT, SABLE! ...ER, I MEAN... WHY DID SHE GET SO ANGRY?

90,000 FT.! FRICTION TEMPERATURE 1000 DEGREES... 2100 M.P.H! WHAT TH'?

DENNIS THE MENACE

By Hank Ketcham

THEY'RE GONNA BE SORRY THEY CALLED ME A BAD BOY!

MAYBE WE'LL WRITE 'EM A LETTER SOMETIME. WHEN WE LEARN HOW TO WRITE.

IF WE LEARN.

OKAY.

DENNIS! TURN OFF THAT WATER!

I WANTED TO TELL YOU'N MRS. WILSON GOODBY, MR. WILSON!

WHY DIDN'T YOU KNOCK ON THE DOOR?

I WAS 'FRAID IT WOULD MAKE YA MAD!

WHAT'S WRONG, GEORGE?

OH? WELL, THAT'S...

YOO-HOO! DENNIS! WAIT FOR ME!

GEE WHIZ! NOW WE GOTTA TAKE HER WITH US!

NOW FOR THE BEST IN ELECTRIC CHAIRS FOR THE HOME, I'D SUGGEST THIS UPHOLSTERED MODEL, IN SHOCKING PINK, WITH NYLON STRAPS TO MATCH! IT'LL LAST A LIFETIME!

CATALOG ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES

OKAY. JUST SO IT OUTLASTS ALVY, ME WIFE'S BROTHER! THAT LOAFER LIKES PINK.

HOW SOON CAN I GET IT?

WELL, THERE'S A DEMONSTRATION MODEL IN TOWN THAT'S NEVER BEEN UNCRATED! WE CAN GET IT NOW!

FINE! SINCE FOLKS AROUND HERE IS APT TO GOSSIP, I'D LIKE TO KEEP THIS A SECRET! ESPECIALLY FROM TH' SHERIFF!

YES, I WOULD!

MR. TUBBS, YOU AST ME TO POINT OUT ICK COBB IF HE SHOWED UP IN TOWN. WELL, THAT'S HIM!

THANKS, SHERIFF!

PRAIRIE DOG FLATS

FRAGILE

I'M WASH TUBBS, MR. COBB! I'M STUCK HERE A FEW DAYS, AN' MY OLE BUDDY CAPTAIN EASY SAID TO LOOK YOU UP.

GLAD TO MEET ANY PAL OF EASY'S, SON! BETTER COME OUT AN' VISIT US WHILE YOU'RE WAITIN'!

LATER

HOPE I WON'T BE IMPOSIN' ON YOU, MR. COBB.

NOT A-TALL! NOW LET'S HIDE ALVY'S SURPRISE IN TH' BARN. I'LL RIG IT UP SOMETIME WHEN ME FAM'LY'S AWAY!

IT LOOKED LIKE RAIN SO ALVY DECIDED TO WORK INDOORS. LOOK, HE'S FELL ASLEEP, ISN'T THAT CUTE?

ELECTRIC, EH? WHERE DO YOU AIM TO PLUG IT IN, MR. COBB? I SEE YOU DON'T HAVE ELECTRICITY!

CANYON

by MILTON CANIFF

CANYON, I DON'T KNOW WHETHER TO CONGRATULATE YOU OR REPRIMAND YOU!

WHAT PROMPTED YOU TO PUT ON A COSTUME AND BECOME AN ACTOR?

SIR, MY ORDERS WERE QUITE SPECIFIC...

.. I WAS DIRECTED TO SERVE AS LIAISON BETWEEN THE AIR FORCE BASES IN THAT AIR DEFENSE IDENTIFICATION ZONE AND THE 'SCARLET PRINCESS' MOTION PICTURE LOCATION UNIT...

...I WAS FURTHER ORDERED TO FACILITATE THE PRODUCTION OF THE PICTURE IN EVERY POSSIBLE WAY...

WHEN THE LEADING MAN WAS CALLED TO ENGLAND I LOOKED ENOUGH LIKE HIM TO STEP INTO THE PART FOR THE REMAINING SCENES —SO THE JOB COULD BE FINISHED...

BUT WE CAN'T HAVE RESERVE OFFICERS ON ACTIVE DUTY ACCEPTING MONEY AS ACTORS!

I ENDORSED THE PAY CHECK OVER TO AIR FORCE EMERGENCY RELIEF, SIR!

TELEPHONE CALL FOR LIEUTENANT COLONEL CANYON, SIR.

AND NOW YOU'RE TAKING YOUR PHONE CALLS IN MY OFFICE?

OH-OH! MY RESPECTS TO THE GENERAL AND TELL HIM COL. CANYON AND I WERE HAVING A CONFERENCE RIGHT HERE IN MY OFFICE WHEN THE GENERAL'S CALL CAME IN!

STEVE, THIS IS SHANTY TOWN... HAD A HARD TIME FINDING YOU! SOME PRACTICAL JOKER SAID YOU WERE ON LOCATION WITH A MOVIE COMPANY!.. WANT TO DO A SORT OF NASTY JOB FOR ME?

IF I KNOW YOU, SHANTY, YOU'VE ALREADY GOT THE ORDERS CUT AND SENT... I-AH-ER, YES, SIR! JUST AS YOU SAY, GENERAL TOWN!...

BRINGING UP FATHER

ARE YOU GOING TO THE AX-HANDLE MAKERS' COSTUME BALL TONIGHT, JIGGS?

YEAH - BUT I'M NOT GOIN' TO WEAR A COSTUME!

I'VE FIGURED OUT A TRICK TO SNEAK OUT---FIRST I'LL LOWER MY CLOTHES OUT THE WINDOW!!

THEN I'LL HAVE TO SNEAK OUT AND PICK THEM UP WITHOUT AROUSIN' MAGGIE S SUSPICIONS.'

BOY! THESE ARE SWELL DUDS!--I'M GONNA BE TH' BEST-DRESSED HOBO IN TOWN!

WELL, HOW D'YA LIKE THAT?--SOME TRAMP MUST HAVE STOLEN MY OUTFIT!

I HATE TO BE SEEN IN THIS GITUP, BUT I WOULDN'T MISS THAT BALL FOR ANYTHING-

AND FOR THE MOST ORIGINAL COSTUME - THE FIRST PRIZE - GOES TO OUR OLD FRIEND JIGGS!

GOOD OLD JIGGSIE!

HE DESERVES IT FOR THAT OUTFIT!

YEAH - HE'S USUALLY SO DRESSED UP!

The PHANTOM

By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY

THE ~THE WINNER~AND NEW (GULP) RULER OF THE JUNGLE~~ WOBAN THE WAMBESI!

I~BEAT THE PHANTOM?

PHANTOM DEFEATED~ IMPOSSIBLE~

STUPID WOBAN OUR RULER? TERRIBLE~

ME~RULER? I'M DIZZY.

I STILL DON'T KNOW WHAT THIS IS ALL ABOUT~

JACK, THE IMPOSTOR, UNDERSTANDING NOTHING THAT'S HAPPENED~FLEES!

BUT, I'M GETTING OUT WHILE I CAN.

PHANTOM DEFEATED

PHANTOM AFRAID!

PHANTOM RUNNING AWAY~

TOURNEY'S OVER~MIGHT AS WELL GO HOME~~

DID YOU EVER DREAM WE'D LIVE TO SEE THE PHANTOM DEFEATED?

WILSON McCOY 4-15

MEANWHILE THE REAL PHANTOM~

AND HERE'S A LETTER FROM LILA MILLS. SHE'S THE ONE WHO LOST HER HUSBAND. POOR DEAR, HOW I WISH SHE COULD GET INTERESTED IN A NICE MAN.

IS SHE PRETTY?

YOU'D LOVE HER. YOU'D--- THAT'S AN IDEA! I'M GOING TO INVITE HER DOWN FOR A NICE, LONG VISIT.

IT'S AN INVITATION FROM LUCILLE SWEENEY. AND LISTEN TO THIS, AGGIE: "BROTHER IS A PERFECT DARLING. HE'S THE RUGGED OUTDOOR TYPE, YET ALWAYS KIND, GENTLE, UNDERSTANDING... AND STILL UNMARRIED."

HOW WONDERFUL, LILA! HE'S THE KIND YOU'VE BEEN LONGING TO MEET.

I'M GOING TO MEET LILA. I'VE LAID OUT YOUR VERY BEST CLOTHES. YOU'D BETTER GET DRESSED.

JUST AS SOON AS I FINISH CLEANING THE BARN.

SLOOP!

THERE! AT LAST.

OH, MY GOSH! I'VE GOT TO HURRY. THEY'LL BE HERE ANY MINUTE.

SQUEE!

EEK! WHO'S THIS?

WHY, BROTHER! I THOUGHT YOU WERE DRESSING!

I took first prize with Robin Hood

—says Mrs. Mary Leonard Stephenson
815 Washington Ave., Eustis, Florida

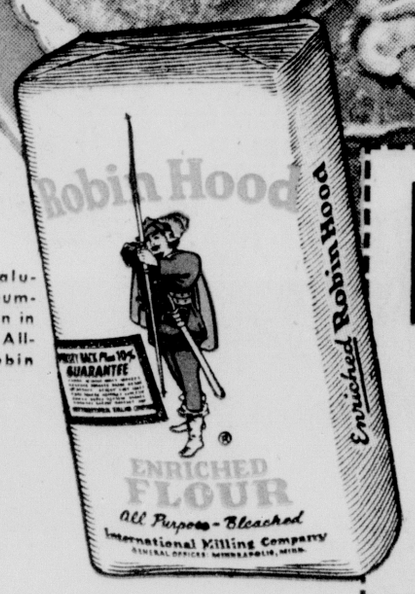

"I used Robin Hood Flour for years," says Mrs. Stephenson. "But I realized just how good Robin Hood was when one day I had to use another brand. That cake wasn't so good!

"One day I thought it would be fun to enter a Robin Hood cake in a local baking contest. I wish you could have seen how perfect that cake looked when I took it out of the oven.

"When the judges came around, you can imagine how nervous I was. But you've guessed it! I found that I had won first prize. All I could say was 'Thank you, Robin Hood'."
